FROM: Commanding Officer, Quincy Division, USNSCC
TO: Concerned Parents of Teenagers
SUBJ: Invitation to a Sensible Alternative
REF: Young Adults 14 Years and Up
WHEN: November 12, 1982 7 P.M.
WHERE: U.S. Naval Reserve Center, Quincy, Massachusetts

How often have you asked your teenager, "Where are you going?", "What have you been up to?" and often the replies of "Around" and "Nothing"? These answers often make you wonder what he is really doing. As a concerned parent you should be interested in our alternatives.

There are several organizations that offer various types of programs. No two are exactly the same. Some, although they offer adult leadership, have a club atmosphere about them. As long as everyone behaves while they're there, everything will be just fine. Our program goes far beyond that. Not only do we teach useful skills, but, we instill an emotional behavior that each Cadet carries with him the rest of his life. We train hard and play hard. Today's environment is a difficult competitor to beat and should not be taken lightly.

Although we are jointly supported by the U.S. Navy and the Navy League of the United States, no future Military obligation is incurred by participation in our programs.

YOU CAN TAKE THE BOY OFF THE CORNER, BUT CAN YOU TAKE THE CORNERS OFF THE BOY?

If you feel your teenager might be falling short of becoming a responsible, mature and independent adult, let us help you set him on a straight course toward the future. Let us explore the alternatives together. Join us at our Open House.

Forum Suggested But:

No Specific Racism Charges

By TOM HENSHAW

As far as Mayor Francis X. McCauley is concerned, the issue of racism in Quincy is dead, unless someone wants to bring it up again.

"I have no more to say on the matter," said the mayor Tuesday, shortly after a 45-minute meeting with Edward D. McClure, a community relations specialist with the Justice Department.

McClure had been in the city off and on for a couple of weeks, investigating racial relations in the wake of a remark by a state official that Quincy is "probably the most racist city in America."

"We had a nice talk," said McCauley. "We told him what we have done."

"He said he did feel that there is a problem with attitudes in the city but he made no specific recommendations except to indicate that there should be some kind of forum to discuss racial problems.

"I asked him what other communities on the South Shore have such forums so that we could get in touch with them and he was unable to tell me."

"I told him we would be glad to entertain any further recommendations he might have. Other than they, I have no more to say on the matter."

McCauley Urges Close Watch On City Budgets

Mayor Francis X. McCauley has scheduled a series of meetings with department heads over the next two weeks to monitor their financial situations under the fiscal 1983 budget.

"I have urged them to watch their budgets closely," said McCauley, "so that we won't have any deficits next June. I don't see any serious problems, not yet anyway."

The mayor already has alerted the department heads to look to level funded budgets as a starting point for fiscal 1984. Last year, the starting point was a 15 per cent cut.

The city is still faced with another year of cuts in the tax levy to get down to the level required by Proposition 2½.

"If revaluation is in on time," said McCauley, "we won't have to cut another 15 per cent. If revaluation is high enough, we won't have to cut that much. It gets harder every year."

McCauley said he plans to send budget requests sheets out to department heads shortly after Thanksgiving with a request that they be back in time to start budget sessions in mid-January.

He pointed out that there may be considerably more uncertainty on state aid for fiscal 1984 since a new administration will be taking over in the State House in January.

McCauley noted that fixed costs in the 1984 budget will not be as high as in previous years because a $2 million Blue Cross debt has been paid and the debt service figures are going down.

The city has not floated a bond issue in some time and 81 per cent of the bonds now outstanding are repayable in 10 years, said McCauley.

Sheets Asks Probe Of Parks Policing After Motor Bike Injury

City Councillor James A. Sheets has recommended "a good hard look at what is happening in our parks" in the wake of an accident at O'Rourke Field, West Quincy, in which an 8-year-old soccer player suffered a broken leg when he was run down by a dirt bike.

He recommended that Councillor Theodore P. DeCristofaro

See Related Stories Pages 3 And 18

meet with Richard J. Koch of the Park and Recreation Board and the mayor's office "to begin laying the groundwork for a full evaluation of what is happening in our parks."

"I'm not referring to maintainance or programs," said Sheets. "I'm talking about strict policing of the parks that goes far beyond the capacity of any one department to deal with."

"When we get active in the spring we do not want to face the same problems all next summer that we have faced in the years past. We should form a committee to work on this problem through the winter."

City Christmas Tree Up Monday

The official city Christmas Tree, a 35-foot balsam fir from New Brunswick, Canada, will be erected in McIntyre Mall by the Forestry Department Monday, Nov. 22.

The tree is being donated to the city for the second year by the Quincy Tourism Association and its president, Loren Strout.

Lights will be installed by Forestry Department workers in preparation for the annual Christmas tree lighting ceremonies Friday, Nov. 26, when Mayor Francis X. McCauley will pull the switch.

The Christmas Lighting Program is one of a series of events sponsored by the Christmas Festival Committee in conjunction with the Quincy Center Business and Professional Association and the city of Quincy.

George White is general chairman of the Christmas Festival activities and the Christmas tree project was one of the favorites of the late George C. Fay, former general chairman.

Transportation arrangements for the Christmas tree are being made by Alden Mingo of Maine in conjunction with the Winfield Tree Lot.

Parttime Treasury Work Hits Snag

City Treasurer Franklin Jay would like to hire some work study students from local schools at minimum wage to help out parttime in his department but it's easier said than done.

City Councillor Stephen J. McGrath told the Council Monday night that City Labor Negotiator David Grunenbaum sees potential problems with the move in view of the fact that people have been laid off in that office.

"We are under obligation if we hire people for that department to hire them back or we might face some sort of legal action," said McGrath.

He recommended that a letter be sent to Grunenwald asking his written opinion of the advisability of hiring parttime workers and his recommendations for alternatives.

Councillor Joseph J. LaRaia said he doubts if any of the former workers who had been laid off would be interested in parttime work at $3.35 an hour.

Council Tables New Accountant For Auditor

The City Auditor's office is about nine months behind on the general ledger and appropriation accounting phase of its work and Auditor Robert F. Foy III wants to hire an accountant to help catch up.

But the City Council balked Monday night at Foy's request for $9,333.60 to hire the accountant for 30 weeks when Councilor Joseph J. LaRaia objected to the order, asking an investigation by the city solicitor.

LaRaia said he was puzzled by a statement by Solicitor William Golden that, under the current ordinance, the auditor could hire all the accountants he wants, depending on the available money.

Earlier in the meeting, Foy told the Council he had been advised to bring in an ordinance creating the position next week but Golden, reversing his opinion, said such an ordinance was not needed.

"The position exists in the budget so all that is needed is a financial order," said the solicitor.

Foy said that if the accountant is hired and his or her work proves satisfactory, he would place the position in the budget next year with step salary ranging from $16,178 to $17,779.

"We would hope to get someone with a college degree in accounting," he said. "The job calls for intricate municipal accounting."

The position, he said, would have to be advertised.

Foy said work in the auditor's office is done in three sections: payrolls, accounts payable and general ledger and appropriation accounting. Payrolls and accounts payable are up to date, he said.

The Council appeared ready to approve Foy's request but LaRaia's objection put an end to discussion and consideration until the next meeting.

Boy Recovering After Being Struck By Motor Bike

By NANCY McLAUGHLIN

Eight-year-old Matthew Thompson of Wollaston joked with the nurses, read comic books, and played an E.T. card game from his bed at Quincy City Hospital a few short days after being hit by a motorbike at a soccer game.

But his parents, Philip and Leslie Thompson, don't know if they'll be as quick to recover emotionally from the sight of their son being struck.

"I wish I could erase the vision," said Philip Thompson of the accident at O'Rourke Field, West Quincy, Sunday which resulted in his son sustaining a broken leg.

Matthew, a third grader at the Montclair School, was standing on the sidelines waiting for his turn in the championship game of the Quincy Youth Soccer League.

His team, the Commonwealth Builders, was trailing 1-0 in a game with the Quincy Police team when a motor bike driven by a 14 year old juvenile roared through the group of youngsters.

Matthew was hit. He was taken by ambulance to Quincy City Hospital where his right leg was placed in traction for three weeks.

After that, he will be in a body cast for a couple of months.

The operator of the motorbike entered a not guilty plea at Quincy District Court Tuesday to charges of juvenile delinquency by reason of operating to endanger and operating an unregistered and uninsured vehicle.

A pre-trial conference will be held in about three weeks.

The Thompsons are grateful that Matthew's injuries weren't even more serious.

He's in good shape for the shape he's in," said his father.

"The tough part is when he has to have needles, or take pills."

"People have been so good, it's been overwhelming to see all the support from family, friends and people we don't even know."

Matthew's classmates made get-well cards for him.

The soccer league, which named both teams co-champions in the game, plans to do something special for Matthew according to Thompson.

MATTHEW THOMPSON

Matthew says he plans to play soccer again.

"But not at that field," he said. He'll have plenty of time to plot out his athletic future while he recuperates at home with his parents, sister, Lisa, 12, and brother, Andrew, 5.

Contrary to what you might expect, Matthew isn't that thrilled with his unexpected vacation from school.

"I hate it!," he exclaimed. "When I go back to school, I'll have so much homework!"

Editor, The Quincy Sun:

The Quincy Recreation Dept. last week announced its 23-week "winter program".

As it has done in the past, once again the City of Quincy has chosen to exclude most of the Children of Ward Two from participating in any meaningful recreational and physical activity.

While the kids in other parts of the city will be enjoying basketball, floor hockey and other games in heated gyms, our children, for lack of a building, will quite literally, be left out in the cold.

Under the Rec. Dept.'s schedule 10 gyms will be open to the boys and girls use for as many as 16 hours a week.

Atherton Hough will offer 16 hours, Beechwood Life Center 17½, Merrymount 12, Montclair 16, Squantum 16, and Snug Harbor 15½. The majority of these hours are set for after school use, where there is the greatest need during the cold winter week days.

By comparison, the kids in Ward Two, the largest ward in the city, are limited to only four hours total use, and that on only one day, Saturday, at Point Middle School. This schedule also excludes all girls in this area who have been given no time at all to use the Point Middle School. I repeat, NO gym activity at all for Ward Two girls.

Four measly hours of physical activity a week for boys only is inexcusable, especially when contrasted, with the many hours offered to children of both sexes in smaller, less populated sections.

By the same account, the ceramic course, offered at the Fore River Club House, (as well as other sites) is hardly a substitute, and I hope it isn't meant to be, for the physical activity needed by our children, who will be cooped up in the houses daily.

In all fairness, I cannot hold Recreation Director Barry Welch responsible for the inequalities inherent in the "winter program." Mr. Welch cannot institute a program where there is no facility to house it. That responsibility of establishing a facility would lie with the City Council and Mayor. Nevertheless I believe Mr. Welch would be more than willing to set up a "program for Boys and Girls, should such a facility be made available.

The availability of a site and a solution to many other problems encountered in the neighborhood can be found by the establishment of the now closed Pollard School for a community use gym.

The Pollard School at the moment is the only building in the area suitable for this purpose. The building is available and the residents more than willing to make it a vital part of this community.

Should the mayor and council members allow this opportunity (to create a gym) to pass; then a serious question arises as to whether the city officials are in effect only paying lip-service to the concept of a city-wide Recreational program and Community fairness.

Collins Eyeing Ward 6?

One of the best battles in next year's city election may already be in the works.

Close sources say School Committee Vice-chairwoman Mary Collins has her eye on the Ward 6 City Council seat now occupied by Joanne Condon.

She's reportedly giving it serious thought and will come to a decision around the first of the year.

Will she run?

She isn't saying. No confirmation. But no denial either.

"No comment," is her only comment.

Those with an eye and ear to the Quincy political scene are betting she will challenge Mrs. Condon.

Mrs. Collins would be a formidable opponent. She topped the School Committee the last time out. She lives in Squantum and would come out of there strong.

It could be a three-woman battle.

As noted here earlier, Linda Bowes, daughter of Park-Recreation Board executive secretary Richard Koch, Sr., and sister of Councillor at-large Richard Koch, Jr. is seriously thinking of running for office next year.

She's looking at the Ward 6 council seat or a School Committee bid.

If she gets the Ward 6 race, it could be an all-female battle royal between Mrs. Condon, Mrs. Collins and her.

But even if it's only between Mrs. Condon and Mrs. Collins, it would be worth staying up late for election night.

SPEAKING OF Mrs. Condon, she has just received two elective honors: elected vice-president of the Massachusetts City Councillors Association and elected to the board of directors of the Massachusetts Municipal Association. The latter represents some 330 Massachusetts communities.

THERE MAY BE some political action perking in Ward 4. Geary Pellegrini, who has a law office in South Quincy and lives on Hall Pl., West Quincy, is considering running for James Sheets' Ward 4 City Council seat.

Pellegrini's only venture into Quincy

JOHN (JOE) McKENNA whose sudden death saddened so many, is being fondly remembered. THE QUINCY FIRE Dept. probably doesn't know it, but it has a long-distance eavesdropper. He's Alden Mingo of Calais, Me., on the Canadian border about 300 miles from Quincy.

Mingo has 20,000 acres of land and grows Christmas trees where Loren Strout of the Winfield Tree Lot, Quincy, buys his trees and where Strout gets the 35-40 footer which he donates to the Quincy Tourism Council for McIntyre Mall.

Anyway, Strout was up there the other day and was talking with Mingo who, it turns out, is a call firefighter.

Mingo told him he picks up the Central Fire station calls on his police scanner. He's amazed at the number of calls involving Engine 4 and Tower 1 out of Central.

"Mighty busy Fire Department," he notes.

USS Quincy Museum Planned For City Hall

The City Council has voted to set aside its old office behind the Council Chamber at City Hall as a museum for articles associated with the World War II cruiser USS Quincy.

"We are about to place our tables and material in the museum," said Albert Levesque of Pawtucket, R.I., chairman of the USS Quincy Reunion Committee, in a letter to Mayor Francis X. McCauley.

"We hope for you to dedicate it in the near future. We wanted the Ship of Presidents in the City of Presidents."

Vern Whitman of 3 Oakland Ave., Wollaston, the local contact man for the committee, told the Council that former Mayor Arthur H. Tobin had promised them the room.

"We have been a little slow in taking up the offer," he said, "because all the stuff in the room is handmade by someone from the ship."

The first of two World War II Quinys was built in the Fore River Shipyard in 1933 and was lost Aug. 9, 1942 in action against a superior Japanese force off Guadalcanal.

A second cruiser, then under construction at the Fore River yard, was named the Quincy and she received four battle stars before being decommissioned Oct. 19, 1946.

The bell from the second Quincy is currently on display outside City Hall.

'Survival Kit' To Business Owners At Chamber's Small Business Clinic

At the South Shore Chamber of Commerce's Small Business Clinic at the Lantana in Randolph Tuesday, Nov. 16, Dr. Ronald G. Hersch, psychologist-president of The Delphi Centers, will distribute "A Survival Kit for Owners of Small Businesses" to those attending the 12:30 p.m. luncheon. He will speak on "The Human Side of Small Business."

Hersch, who operates five private mental health centers in the Boston area, will outline the characteristics of the successful entrepreneur and how those qualities need to be balanced so that a business develops a long history of success.

Ways to minimize the possibility of business failure will also be explored by Hersch, a resident of Milton who has just opened his corporate offices in Quincy.

In the last few years, Hersch has gained considerable first-hand experience with chief executives of small and medium size businesses. He has treated over 100 of them for marital difficulties, depression, tension headaches, ulcers, alcoholism, loneliness and sexual dysfunctions.

Tickets to the luncheon are $15 and reservations can be made by calling the South Shore Chamber of Commerce at 479-1111.

The Small Business Clinic is a program of the Chamber's Small Business Consulting Center.

Some 75 exhibitors are scheduled for the event, which also includes four seminar sessions throughout the day.

State Boosts Income Ceiling On Mortgages

Rep. Michael Morrissey announces that the Massachusetts Housing Finance Agency has increased the maximum income limitations for eligibility in the first-time home-owners reduced rate mortgage program.

The new maximum income limits are $35,000 for a one person household and $40,000 for a two person household with an additional $1,500 adjustment allowable for each dependent member of the household.

The purchase price limitations for existing housing have also been increased to the maximum allowable under federal law, thereby increasing the number of homes eligible under this program.

"Under the previous guidelines," said Morrissey, "families with sufficient income to be considered eligible by the banks for a mortgage would be over the income guidelines for the program."

Anyone wishing to complete listing of housing price and income guidelines, may contact Morrissey's office at 722-2470.

Council Signs Petition To End PR Voting Form

Mayor Thomas S. Burgin and his six colleagues on the City Council signed a petition to end proportional representation voting in Quincy elections and Councilor-elect David S. McIntosh said he will ask Rep. Alfred B. Keith to introduce the necessary legislation.

The legislation would not affect the city's Plan E form of government but would restore the simple plurality system of voting.

McIntosh noted that PR, which came in with Plan E in the 1949 election, had lost popularity because it was cumbersome, costly and confusing. In the city's two Plan E elections it had required the services of 130 and 70 counters for a week to determine winners.

DEEGAN FIRING DENIED

City Councillor Frank N. Orcutt denied a report that he and three other members of the incoming 1952-53 Council had reached an understanding that City Manager William J. Deegan Jr. would be fired as soon as the new Council had been sworn into office.

"In my opinion it would be a very foolish thing to do," said Orcutt. "Here we have an able man, who after two years of getting acquainted with Quincy and its problems, is now in a position to render real service to the city."

Burgin, who was retiring as city councillor and mayor, laughed at rumors that he had been picked by the dissidents to succeed Deegan as city manager.

The main reason for corrective makeup is to minimize poor features, accent good features and create the optical illusion of an oval face.

If you want to emphasize a facial feature, use a shade of makeup on that particular part of the face lighter than the original foundation. This is called a highlight. If you want to make prominent features less noticeable, use a foundation darker than the original makeup base. This is called a shadow.

For a large or protruding nose, apply a darker foundation on the nose, and use a lighter foundation on the cheeks at the sides of the nose. This will create fullness in the cheeks, making the nose appear smaller.

If you have a short, flat nose, apply a lighter foundation down the center of the nose, stopping at the tip. This will make the nose appear longer and larger.

For a broad nose, use a darker foundation on the sides of the nose and nostrils. The foundation must be carefully blended to avoid visible lines.

Be sure to blend the two tones of foundation so that there is no line of demarcation between the two.

A THOUGHT FOR THE WEEK

Did you read how a teacher was puzzled in how to answer the question a little girl asked - "Does a plastic heart have love in it?" The teacher helped the girl write a letter to a well known heart surgeon in Houston who supervised surgery on a patient with a plastic heart. The doctor's reply was a classic:

"Yes, a plastic heart does have love in it, a very great deal of love. The love in a plastic heart is the love of many people who love other people, and don't want them to die just because their hearts are not strong enough to keep beating. They work hard and they worry. They do everything they know how to do and then they study and read books and think and work hard to find out everything there is to know about a real heart and a plastic heart. If you can think of how much love there would be in hundreds of hearts, then that is how much love there is in a plastic heart."

Love is not always a romance or devotion between man and woman. It is seen in family, filial, fraternal association between people who know each other and people who don't. Actually, love exists and can be seen everywhere - in everything - for those who will only look . . .

Visitor From Outer Space At Squantum Church Sunday

There was a visitor from outer space at the First Church of Squantum Sunday.

During the opening hymn, a creature named "E.T." made his way down the center aisle of the sanctuary, bringing E.T. balloons and movie cards for everyone in attendance.

Played by Lori Ogilvie, E.T. was there for a special worship service, the theme of which was taken from the motion picture fantasy of the same name.

Until they were distributed at the end of the service, the balloons composed a festive bouquet for the celebration. A large E.T. poster was hung at the right of the sanctuary. The bulletin covers for the morning featured a scene from the movie.

During the final hymn, two E.T.s passed around to the worshippers dishes of the candy bits mentioned in the E.T. story. Melissa Stamos was the second E.T. Both of the morning services at the church were on the E.T. theme.

Susan Scott, Ann Lombardi and Sarah Mildram sang "Somewhere There's A Song" by Arlene Ydstie for the offertory. Guitarists Steve Williams, Andrew Ogilvie and Mary Ruth Scott led the congregation in singing a number of lively hymns and songs that were related to story of E.T.

Church pastor Rev. Dr. Gene Langevin preached on the topic,

"THE GOSPEL According to E.T." was the sermon title Sunday at the First Church of Squantum. Youngsters like Melissa Stamos, left, and Lori Ogilvie, center, dressed up as E.T. and distributed Reese's Pieces. The sermon was by Rev. Dr. Gene Langevin, right.

"The Gospel According To E.T."

Contending that "E.T. is a stand-in, a symbol for Jesus Christ", Dr. Langevin explained that "to a generation no longer familiar with biblical ways of speaking of the glory of God, the E.T. story expresses once again the abiding truth and joy of the Christian Gospel."

The service closed with a hymn of thanksgiving and praise to Jesus Christ.

New Cancer Nursing Program At Quincy Hospital

An innovative Oncology (cancer nursing) Program designed to return patients to a greater level of independence while providing continuity of treatment, has been implemented at Quincy City Hospital.

"As the incidence of cancer has increased nationally, Quincy City Hospital has experienced an unfortunate but significant increase in the number of patients requiring active in-patient treatment for cancer related disorders," according to James E. Lowenhagen, Hospital Director.

The hospital responded to this need by beginning to cluster Oncology patients on one nursing unit, and by providing intensive training for the staff of that unit so that they could better deal with the special needs of cancer patients.

The training program encompassed 40 hours and updated the oncology nursing staff on the most recent techniques and psychological aspects of caring for the cancer patient.

"The nursing staff is very attuned to the patients and their families, and to the special aspects of cancer nursing, and the effects of chemotherapy," said Linda Anderson, R.N., clinical coordinator of the oncology area.

"The focus of this specialized care is to return the patients to a greater level of independence, and to help the patient and family cope with the illness," she said.

The program's benefits to patients and families, says Anderson, is that they are cared for by the same specially educated nursing staff all the time, and the continuity of care they receive, first as in-patients and then as out-patients is valuable.

The program works closely in helping to follow the patient at home, after discharge from the hospital, with a visiting nurse or in a hospice environment. A 24 hour hotline has also been set up, said Anderson, to take any emergency calls from patients and families if there is any problem after a patient's discharge.

While the hospital has had an active out-patient oncology program for over four years, the integration of an in-patient program has enhanced the hospital's ability to meet the healthcare needs of its community.

REP. THOMAS F. BROWNELL (left) receives Legislator of the Year award from Mitchell Chanels, deputy chairman of the Incentive Tax League for his work in pushing for reform of the Massachusetts tax code.

Brownell Named Winner Of Tax League Award

Rep. Thomas F. Brownell of Quincy and Joseph Hermann of North Andover have been named co-winners of the first annual Legislator of the Year award by the Incentive Tax League.

"We were unable to decide between the two men," said League President Ernest Kahn. "They both had exemplary records. So we voted to name them co-winners."

The Incentive Tax League of Massachusetts is a non-partisan, public interest group working to reduce taxes that inhibit productive economic behavior.

Kahn praised Brownell's record of "consistent advocacy for measures that would put an end to the punishment of citizens who improve their communities by fixing up their homes."

"Higher taxes are clearly an inappropriate response to someone who increases the capital stock of his or her neighborhood."

Police Alert

By LT. WILLIAM MURPHY
Quincy Police Dept.

Walking Alone At Night Dangerous

Walking alone at night is a dangerous practice. But if you have to do it, you should be sure to be on the alert at all times and try to avoid uncomfortable situations.

Know where you are going. Have clear directions ahead of time, including the phone number of your destination.

Be aware of your surroundings. Walk briskly and confidently. Travel only in well-lit areas. Avoid untraveled areas, shortcuts and pathways with heavy foliage.

Notice where the public phones are.

Carry enough money for an emergency phone call or a taxi cab ride. Most cab drivers will wait for you to get the money at your destination.

Ask drivers to wait for you to get safely inside.

Do not flash a lot of money, especially if you are leaving a computerized banking machine.

Do not wear expensive jewelry and carry only the necessary credit cards and money.

Stay within sight of people if you can. Arrange to meet your friends inside a store, not on the street.

Notice and remember those stores along your route that stay open late.

Always have your keys in your hand before you arrive at your door.

If you travel often alone at night, carry a loud metal whistle or a freon screamer.

Trust your gut feelings. If you feel uncomfortable in a situation, get to a safe place immediately.

Catholic Memorial 21, North Quincy 6

Raiders Run Into Same Old Jinx

History repeated itself Sunday at Catholic Memorial's Brother McKenna Field in West Roxbury and, as a result, North Quincy suffered its second straight loss and takes a 3-5 record into the Thanksgiving classic with Quincy.

A year ago at Veterans Memorial Stadium North Quincy outplayed Catholic Memorial and had an edge in nearly every statistic. But the Knights, with the score 7-7, scored three times in the second quarter although they had only three plays from scrimmage to win 27-14.

Last Sunday North completely outplayed the Knights as it gained 109 yards on the ground to 45, added 142 yards through the air to nine and had 10 first downs to three.

But, despite the big statistical edge, North went down to a 21-6 defeat (it has now lost all five games against CM), thanks largely to two early bombs by the Knights, who improved their record to 7-2.

"We really beat ourselves today as our special teams broke down," said a disappointed North coach Ken McPhee said. "When you hold a team to 54 yards total offense and still lose, there is something wrong. It was very frustrating today and we'll have to work hard for the Quincy game."

"We have completely out-

Dave DiCarlo, Rich Brown and John Kozlowski ran well and sophomore quarterback Dave Zuroms completed eight passes for 123 yards, but had three intercepted, and two were very costly.

Vin Barry completed one of his two passes for 19 yards on the final play of the game.

At 3:21 of the game CM's Bill Farrell returned a punt 65 yards for a touchdown and John O'Rourke kicked the point.

Five minutes later Quentin Smith intercepted a pass and ran it back 52 yards for another score and O'Rourke again kicked the point.

With 44 seconds gone in the second quarter Zuroms passed to Brown for 19 yards the Raiders' only score but Mike Cullen missed the kick for the extra point.

Late in the half North drove to CM's 20 but the hosts' second interception halted the threat.

In the third quarter North took the kickoff and marched to the CM 10, with a pass to Cullen reaching that point. But Greg O'Neil came up with his team's third pass interception in the end zone.

North again went to CM's 32

but the Knights held on fourth down. North held, CM kicked to the Raider 29 and two plays later CM recovered a fumble on North's 22.

CM's only pass completion in five tries brought the team to the North Quincy two from where Garry Garland scored. O'Rourke kicked his third extra point.

Win Streak Now 31

Undefeated North Girls Cross-Country Champs

The North Quincy girls' cross country team, undefeated Suburban League champion, overcame all sorts of adversities last Saturday and won its third straight Eastern Mass. Class B championship at Franklin Park.

The Raiderettes barely edged Wakefield, 108-111, despite not having anyone in the top ten.

"I was really surprised as I felt we would be fortunate to finish in the top five," Coach Lou Tozzi said. "We had all kinds of problems, illness and injuries, and there were 34 teams in the race including seven league champions."

"Our first finisher, Linda Kennedy, fell at the start of the race, was back in 100th place but came along strong and finished 15th. Sheila Barrett had been sick for two weeks but came back to finish 16th, after falling three times. The course was a quagmire and everyone had trouble keeping their feet."

Mary Ann Kelleher, running her best race, placed 19th; Meg Leary, who had a temperature of 102 the day before, was 27th; Diane Lindenfelzer, coming back from an injury, was 31st and Tracy Corrigan 38th.

"I think the girls felt they had something to prove," Tozzi said. "We lost three of our top runners by graduation and these girls wanted to show they could do it."

They had real motivation and it was just an incredible job by them.

"I want to give my assistant, Mike Burke, a large part of the credit. He is very dedicated and has done a marvelous job all season."

The North girls will run in the all-state meet Saturday at the Green Hill Golf Club in Worcester. They finished second a year ago.

A Big Win

Quincy Rolls Over Brookline 35-6

By TOM SULLIVAN

Quincy football coach Tom Fitzgerald wanted a big win Tuesday when the Presidents hosted Brookline in a twice-postponed game at Veterans Memorial Stadium.

Quincy gave him the big win and more when it scored three touchdowns in a space of five minutes in the third period and rolled over Brookline, 35-6. The win gave the Presidents a 6-3 record and assured them of a winning season.

"We needed that one after our poor showing at Brockton," Fitzgerald said. "We were a little sloppy in the first half but we broke loose in the third quarter and I was able to give the reserves some action."

Quincy's defense was outstanding as it held Brookline to minus yardage rushing. What little yardage it did gain in the first three periods was through the air. The only noticeable gains rushing came in the final quarter when Quincy's shock troops were in action. The reserves played throughout the final quarter.

Quincy's Mike Notarangelo, Mark Righini and Ted Walsh all ran well and the Presidents had little trouble running on the visitors. However, penalties killed them as they were hit with more than 125 yards, nullifying one touchdown and possibly another. Bob Mudge played a fine game at quarterback.

The offensive line was at its best as it opened big holes for the backs. Quincy had much the better of the opening period but couldn't score.

It took the lead early in the second period when it marched from its 47. A pass for 22 yards from Mudge to Kevin Riggs set up the score and Walsh went over from the three. Joe Harte kicked the first of his five extra points.

A few minutes later with Brookline in a punting situation, the pass from center went over the punter's head and Quincy's Kevin Cabezas fell on the ball on Brookline's 20. Two plays later Notarangelo scored from the 15. Harte kicked the point.

On the final play of the half Brookline scored when Steve Doran hit Chris Seibel in the end zone for a pass from seven yards out. A rush try for the points failed.

Notarangelo broke the game open when he returned the second half kickoff 82 yards for a touchdown and Harte's kick made it 21-6.

Shortly afterward Righini ran 22 yards for a touchdown and, following a Mudge recovery of a fumble on Brookline's seven, Walsh scored from the one. Harte's kick ended the scoring.

Mudge in the first period raced 20 yards to Brookline's three but the run was nullified by one of the many penalties. In the second period Mudge intercepted a pass on his 10 and ran it back 90 yards for an apparent score but again his run was voided by a penalty.

PATTI STANZIANI, a junior from Quincy, captain of the Suffolk University tennis team, has played a prominent role in lifting her team to the top of Division 3 and the three-year veteran has been the strength of the division at the first singles position. She had a 12-2 record in match play and won the MAIAW Div. 3 state crown. The Abp. Williams graduate never played tennis competitively in high school, concentrating on basketball. In addition to playing singles, she has played the first doubles position with partner Lauren Boudreau of Arlington.

Quincy, North Sophs In Thanksgiving Preview

The Quincy and North Quincy sophomore football teams will meet in their annual game Saturday at 10 a.m. at Veterans Memorial Stadium with Quincy seeking its fourth win in a row.

The young Presidents won last year's defensive battle, 8-6, following a 26-8 win in 1980 and a 7-6 victory in 1979. The young Raiders won a 15-14 thriller in 1978.

This year Quincy played a complete sophomore schedule and has a 4-3 record. North played only one all-sophomore game, winning it, while it combined with juniors in junior varsity games the rest of the season.

"Our defense has been outstanding with 22 pass interceptions and 15 quarterback sacks," said Quincy Coach John Sullivan.

"Offensively Bill Shaughnessy at quarterback has led the team well and we moved the ball well against all teams."

Quincy's top players on offense have been ends Kevin Burke, Pat Calabro and Joe Ciardi, tackles Patrick Duggan, Rich Pettinelli and Jim Reilly, guards Jim Mayo and Jerry Pacciaretti, center Tom Boussy and backs Joe Cullen, Gerry Frazier, John Spencer and Daren Tucker.

The outstanding defensive players have been ends Calabro, John O'Callahan and Tom Foley, tackles Al Conant, Mark Campbell and Pete Gangi, corner backs Ted McCall and Mark Callahan, linebackers Mike Powell, Cullen and Pacciaretti and safeties Steve Curran and Spencer. Running back John Wholey will miss the game as a result of a broken ankle.

North Coach Ted Sadowski will have an offensive line of Gerry Coughlin and Jim Martin at end, Dave Cook and Al DiBella at tackle, John Rency and Rich Horrigan at guard and Larry Nielitz at center. Rich Brooks, Mike Barry, Joe Bangs, Steve Kelly, Bill Doherty, Jim Sullivan and Jim Cataldo will be in the backfield.

Defensively Rency and Coughlin will be at end, DiBella and John McGovern at tackle, Nielitz and John Kelly in the middle, Barry and Doherty linebackers, Horrigan, Bangs, Martin and Tony Palma at the perimeter and Scott Coyne, Bill Heffernan and Ed Kennedy backs. Mike Barry does the punting.

Ted Mulch and Steve Dever have been injured but hope to be back for Saturday's game.

QJC Off To Good Start

The Quincy Junior College basketball team got off to a good start with two wins in the Greater Boston Small College Conference.

QJC romped over Essex Agricultural, 83-48, and defeated Emerson, 86-77.

In both games the Jaguars' offense was fueled with four players in double figures. "When you have balanced scoring, it is usually a sign of teamwork and good passing," said a pleased Coach Brian Buckley. "We still have a lot of work to do but we have improved since the league jamboree."

Against Essex Paul Gill had 16 points, Co-Capt. Jim Conboy 14, Gary DiNardo 12 and Ricky Anderson 10. Brian Connolly added nine and Fran McEachern eight.

In the Emerson game QJC fell behind early, 22-16, but took a 35-30 halftime lead. In the second half the Jaguars went from the 2-3 zone which they used in the first half to a variety of defenses including a full-court press. The change caught the Lions off guard as QJC built the lead to 67-52 and it held on.

Steve Becalstro led the attack with 23 points, Conboy had 21, Gill 15 and DiNardo 11. McEachern had a strong game off the bench with nine points and Co-Capt. Ken Mann was strong on defense as well as setting up the offense.

"I am really pleased with the team's attitude," Buckley said. "The boys really pull for each other. We have a spirited group of cheerleaders, a dedicated manager and even five boys from Central Middle School helping out as assistant managers. Enthusiasm plays a big part in building a team's confidence and we have the enthusiasm."

QJC will play a home game Tuesday night at 7 o'clock at the Vo-Tech gym.

A game similar to soccer was probably played as early as 400 B.C. by the Chinese.

UNEASY RIDERS

More than 2,300 motorcyclists were killed on our highways last year. Motorcycles are basically hazardous machines. They compete with automobiles for the roadway, but they are far smaller and more defenseless. A small car comes out the worse in an encounter with a larger one. A motorcycle runs a poor third.

Anyone who rides a motorcycle (driver or passenger) should wear a protective helmet. You can also increase the chances of your being spotted after dark by applying to your helmet triangles of retro-reflective sheeting.

A second protective step is to wear goggles with impact-resistant protective lenses which should be kept clean and free of scratches. Such goggles not only guard eyes from injury, which can occur when small rocks are tossed up by cars, but also keep out vision-blurring dust.

Third: outline your cycle's wheel rims, fenders, and entire frame with retro-reflective tape. This simple step means quick, accident-preventive pinpointing by automobile drivers.

Bob Jarrett is presenting his ballroom dancing in Quincy due to the increased demand for the Big Band Sound. Bob has made many friends at the Lakeview Ballroom in Foxboro, Mass. and has been asked to also play at other locations, thus bringing him now to the Sons of Italy Hall in Quincy.

Many of today's young people are finding that Ballroom Dancing is a new experience and expression for them. Some of the more popular dances are: polka, waltz, tango, Fox trot and rumba, plus the Big Band Sound of Glenn Miller, Tommy Dorsey and Benny Goodman.

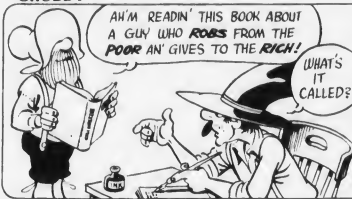

Bob looks forward to meeting old friends plus seeing new friends. Come up and say hello to Bob, he'll be pleased to meet you.

NOTICE OF INTENT TO REQUEST THE RELEASE OF FUNDS

On or about November 26, 1982, the City of Quincy shall request the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development to release Federal Funds under Title I of the Housing and Community Development Act of 1974 for the following project:

Forge O'Connell Properties III
Office Building

An Environmental Review Record for the project has been made by the City of Quincy which documents the environmental review of the project. The Environmental Review Record is on file and available for public examination and copying upon request at the Quincy City Hall, Department of Planning and Community Development, 1305 Hancock Street, Quincy, MA 02169.

The City of Quincy will undertake the project described above with Urban Development Action Grant Funds from the Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) under Title I of the Housing and Urban Development Act of 1974. The City of Quincy is certifying to HUD that the City of Quincy and Mayor Francis X. McCauley, in his official capacity as Mayor, consent to accept the jurisdiction of the Federal Courts if an action is brought to enforce responsibilities in relation to environmental reviews, decision making, and action, and that these responsibilities have been satisfied. The legal effect of the certification is that, upon its approval, the City of Quincy may use the Urban Development Action Grant Funds, and that HUD will have satisfied its responsibilities under the Environmental Policy Act of 1969. HUD will accept an objection to its approval to the release of funds and acceptance of the certification, only if it is one of the following bases: (a) That the certification was not in fact executed by the Chief Executive Officer or other officer of applicant approved by HUD; or (b) That the applicant's environmental review record for the project indicate omission of a required decision, finding or step applicable to the project in the Environmental Review Process. Objections must be prepared and submitted in accordance with the required procedure (24 CFR Part 58) and may be addressed to HUD at the HUD Boston Area Office, 15 New Chardon Street, Boston, MA 02114. Objections to the release of funds on bases other than those stated above will not be considered by HUD. No objection received after the eight day period immediately following the publication of this notice shall be considered by HUD.

7 Questions Of Law

McKeogh Case Goes To Appeals Court

By TOM HENSHAW

Dr. Robert P. McKeogh's appeal of his ouster as city health commissioner has been moved into the state appellate court without hearing in Norfolk Superior Court.

Judge George W. Cashman refused to hear the case Monday and passed it on to the appeals court for a decision on seven questions of law.

Dr. McKeogh was fired June 14 for what Mayor Francis X. McCauley called a violation of state law by failing to devote his entire time to his duties as commissioner and maintaining a private practice.

Atty. Richard W. Barry contends for Dr. McKeogh that he was available for the commissioner's duties all the time, days, nights and weekends, and he can be removed only for cause.

It is expected that the appeals court will hand down an opinion on the seven questions and then remand the case to the superior court for a decision.

The questions are being prepared in final form by Barry and City Solicitor William Golden.

"For all practical purposes, the appeals court will decide the case," say Jay MacRitchie of the Law Department, who assisted Golden with the case.

Over 60 Floats, Bands, Special Units

200,000 Expected For Christmas Parade Sunday

By NANCY McLAUGHLIN

A crowd of 200,000 people is expected to turn out for the 31st annual Christmas Festival Parade which starts Sunday, Nov. 28, at 12:30 p.m.

At least 25 bands and 22 floats as well as 14 specialty units will cover the 2.8 mile parade route which will begin at Elm and School Streets, proceed north on Hancock St. to East and West Squantum Sts. at North Quincy High School.

The parade is one of a series of holiday activities sponsored by the Christmas Festival Committee of the Quincy Center Business and Professional Association, The City of Quincy and The Patriot Ledger. Bernie Reisberg, president of the QCBA, said "It is just great that year after year the focal point for Christmas program activities is the City of Quincy."

"They have expanded much over the years and now include Turning On of the Christmas Lights, Santa's Arrival, the annual Christmas Parade, Santa's Mailboxes, the Nativity Pageant, Elementary School Christmas Poster Contest and parade awards; a lot of activity in a short span of time."

We should all be made aware that the Christmas parade is now recognized as one of the largest Christmas parades on the East Coast drawing up to 250,000 viewers annually."

Each year noncommercial float participants vie for up to $4,000 in prize money.

In addition, trophies are presented for the Best Float, "Father Thomas Tierney" trophy; the Mayor trophy, "The Best Quincy Float"; the Best Commercial Float receives the Festival Committee trophy; and the Specialty category winner is awarded the Chairman's trophy.

"In these times of adversity and tight economic circumstances, some areas have had to cut back or eliminate these types of activities," said George White, General Chairman of the Quincy Festival Committee.

"We are pleased to say we can look forward to continuing these programs because they mean so much to the citizens of Quincy and the people of the South Shore... young and old alike.

Of course, without financial help, this would not be possible. We are very thankful for this support."

Floats illustrating the theme, "Music Of Christmas" will be competing for prizes in the commercial and non-commercial categories.

Mrs. Robert Duquet of Braintree, winner of the parade theme contest, will be a special parade guest.

She will be transported along

Furnace Brook Club Vandals Target Again

Vandals have been at it again at the Furnace Brook Golf Course.

Six cases of wanton destruction, including one case of endangering small children with a motor bike, have been reported in the less than two weeks since Nov. 11.

In one incident, an unregistered trail bike was driven from Furnace Brook Parkway, through the basketball court at Furnace Brook School where small children were playing and onto the course.

None of the children were reported injured but the seventh and eighth fairways were damaged by the bike and its driver before he was chased off by angry golfers.

In other incidents:

A wooden bench, set in concrete, was broken up and used for firewood at a beer party. Three cases of empty beer cans were thrown about and a fire was set on the sixth tee.

Obscenities, the symbol "N.Q. #1" and the names Richie and Paul were spray painted on the third green in fluorescent paint.

Later the same day police were called to disperse a group of 14 youths who were drinking in the club parking lot and refused to move.

An area two feet by four feet was dug out of the sixth green by the heel of a shoe and the eighth green was torn up by the tires of a motor bike.

When that damage was repaired the next day, the repaired area was pulled up and additional damage done.

Toland Seeks State Aid For Housing Security

City Councillor Patricia M. Toland has urged the state to find some money somewhere to provide a security system for "the more troublesome state or federally subsidized housing in our city."

Toland told Byron Matthews, state secretary of Communities and Development, by letter that she plans to file a resolution with the Council to get the security ball rolling.

Police were summoned twice Sunday to the Stop and Shop area on Newport Ave., Wollaston, by reports of thieves attempting to break into trailers in the parking

The resolution, she said, will "request legislation to set up a permanent account or appropriation in the state budget whereby cities and towns could draw funding to improve security where necessary in housing."

She said her concern is prompted by "the alarming increase in complaints of vandalism of personal property, easy access to buildings, intimidation, etc."

lot. A pair of bolt cutters were found on the scene and some boxes had been removed from one of the trailers.

Quincy Trees, 'Cottages' Impress Australian

By TOM HENSHAW

Bill Burns feels that the things he will remember most about Quincy are the architecture and the trees.

As William R. Burns, chief health and building surveyor for the Lane Cove Municipal Council in New South Wales, Australia, is in Quincy to study local government, particularly fire protection.

Since August he has been touring Europe and Great Britain on a scholarship and throughout the next month he will be crossing the United States visiting cities.

Quincy was chosen for his itinerary mostly because of the National Fire Protection Association, which is one of his interests.

"I wanted to visit Boston too because it is the birthplace of the nation," said Burns, who was presented with a Quincy Sun "Historic Quincy" magazine by Arthur Foley, the mayor's administrative assistant.

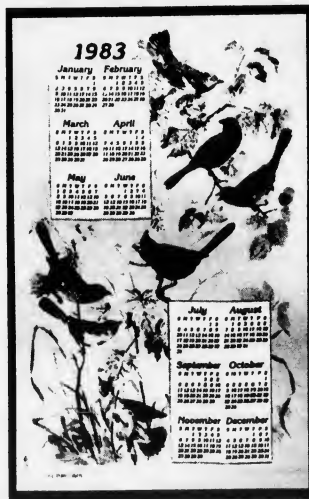

"I am very impressed by the city of Quincy, especially the new England atmosphere," he said. "It's a very distinctive area.

"It is particularly nice to look at architecture that is different from what I have known. I find your two-story cottages delightful.

"Your trees are delightful, too. We have deciduous trees, too, but not in the mass that you have here. I'm sorry I missed the leaves turning from green to yellow and red."

Burns explained that his four-month trip is financed by the Albert Mainard Scholarship which is awarded by the Local Government Association of New South Wales to a senior officer for overseas study.

Readers Forum A Tribute To Frank Keegan

Editor, The Quincy Sun:

I have had the privilege of knowing and working with Frank Keegan who died Nov. 18 after a long illness. As a teacher for the Quincy Public Schools and Principal of Pollard School, Frank Keegan had no equal. Some people give a little of themselves but Frank was a person who gave all of himself without reserve.

I have sent a small donation to the Superintendent of Schools to start the Frank Keegan Memorial Fund because it seems fitting that we help keep up the work he gave his life for - and I mean literally gave his life for. I hope a portion of this money will be used to help a child from the Pollard School area attend Quincy Junior College.

For those of you who knew Frank, I hope you will join me in this work of love. For those of you who were not lucky enough to have known this completely unselfish person, this is your opportunity to give yourself a Christmas present by making a donation.

Frank Keegan would never ask this for himself but all of this wonderful, kind, devoted man was used up for the children of Quincy. Quincy people - parents, students, teachers - you have a chance to love back.

Questions Wollaston School Location

Editor, The Quincy Sun:

Your issue of Thursday, October 18, 1982, as usual, included the regular photo and explanation of Remember When? I, not being a native of Quincy but a long time resident, was puzzled by the name of the streets on which the old Wollaston School was located.

Because Prospect Street is located in North Quincy, I must believe that Prospect Avenue would be a more correct location and the old School was where the present park is located.

Since the Sun started this weekly feature, I have clipped each one and they are all in one of my scrapbooks. After all these weekly photos of Quincy now make interesting reading. Hence my interest in the naming of the streets.

Charles L. Murphy
122 Everett St.
Wollaston

(Editor's note - Reader Murphy is correct. The Wollaston School was at the corner of Beale St. and Prospect Ave.

A Nice Honor For Jim Burke

There should be more people at the Quincy post office Dec. 5 than if first class stamps were marked down to 10 cents for one day.

At 2 p.m. that Sunday, the post office will be officially named in honor of former Cong. James A. Burke at special ceremonies.

An appropriate honor.

Burke, who lives in Milton, maintained a district office in the post office building for 20 years while representing Quincy, part of Boston and the South Shore in Washington from 1959 to 1972.

And, whenever he came up from Washington, he was always available to constituents. He liked to keep in close grass roots touch.

The naming of the post office for him is the result of special legislation introduced by his successor, Congressman Brian J. Donnelly and passed by Congress.

Donnelly is not only his successor, but one of Burke's greatest admirers.

And, if Burke had the opportunity to handpick a successor, it would have been Donnelly.

Quincy, and the rest of the 11th Congressional District, have been most fortunate having both of them.

BURKE

Central Fire Headquarters was called. No one could handle it there either.

Mrs. Oberg called a flag company. Again, no one knew how to destroy a nylon flag.

A man in Winchester, who is billed as an expert on the American flag, didn't know either, but he offered to put on a program for the society on the American flag for $125.

Someone suggested incineration.

The town of Braintree has an incinerator, and that seemed to be the solution until it was discovered that Mrs. Oberg is not a Braintree resident. Non-residents can't use Braintree's incinerator — even if Quincy was once part of Braintree.

The Navy Depot told Mrs. Oberg that it uses only cotton flags and they burn like a charm.

At last, after several days of running around in circles, Mrs. Oberg found the right man — Quincy Fire Capt. Tom Gorman.

No problem, he told her. The QFD will do it. And the mission was accomplished — at the Quincy Hospital incinerator.

GORMAN

SPEAKING OF THE Quincy Fire Department, the deputy chief's car that was recently involved in an accident on its way to a fire, is in a pretty sad state.

The other car reportedly was a just about totalled. But the deputy's vehicle — a 1977 Ford LTD — has an estimated $2400 damage and it's book value is only $2,450. The car also has 133,000 miles on it — all of it done in the city going to and from fires.

It poses a question for Mayor Francis McCauley who likes to squeeze municipal pennies: With all that mileage is it worth repairing the car or better investing in a new one?

CARMINE DiRAMIO has been re-elected president of the Quincy Police Betterment Association by the slim margin of three votes over Paul Quinn.

Dave Doherty was elected vice president, William Donnelly treasurer, and Michael Sullivan secretary.

OBSERVATION via the Quincy Kiwanis Club newsletter: "An authority is a person who can tell you more about something than you really care to know."

OBERG

It seemed like a simple task but it took Doris Oberg, president of the Quincy Historical Society, several days to get it squared away.

Seems the Society got a new flag, one that had flown over the USS Constitution, Old Ironsides, at its Charles-town berth. The donor was Jay Whyte, a member who works at Constitution Park.

The old flag, which had flown over the society's headquarters in the old Adams Academy Building every day but Sunday for the past five years, was ready for an honorable discharge.

It was fading fast and had gone through two repair jobs with Mrs. Oberg's needle and thread.

The prescribed way to destroy an old American flag is by burning. But the flag in question was made of nylon and nylon doesn't burn. It melts into a gooey residue.

Mrs. Oberg took her problem to the North Quincy Fire Station. No one knew what to do.

Amvets Present Highest Award To Donnelly

The Massachusetts Department of AMVETS, American Veterans of World War II, Korea, and Vietnam has presented its highest award to Congressman Brian Donnelly.

The AMVETS Pilgrim Award for Legislation was given to him in ceremonies in Lynn Saturday night.

The annual state convention of AMVETS elected Donnelly, who represents the 11th Congressional District, for the award, presented yearly to a distinguished state or federal lawmaker.

Donnelly was cited for his long record of concern for veterans issues in Congress and during his earlier service in the Massachusetts legislature.

Donnelly is chairman of the Vietnam Memorial Transportation Fund, which is sending the parents and widows of servicemen killed in Vietnam to the dedication of the national Vietnam memorial in Washington on Saturday, November 13.

Donnelly was one of the first federal lawmakers to propose the Veterans Administration treat veterans who were exposed to the dangerous herbicide "agent orange" in Vietnam. He also played a major role in maintaining the readjustment counselling centers for Vietnam veterans, which the administration had threatened to close last year.

He is a co-sponsor of legislation to guarantee a pension to surviving veterans of World War I.

Phone Privacy Assured Patients

Nursing homes, rest homes and long-term care facilities must provide access to telephones that insure privacy for their residents under new legislation now in effect, Sen. Paul D. Harold notes.

The new statute, which expands on an existing requirement, requires that telephones for such residents must be located so as to insure privacy during use. Located for use by wheelchair residents, and must be equipped for sound amplification, Harold said.

The Public Health Department is given responsibility for establishing regulations, extensions of time, and granting waivers to facilities which would be in hardship if required to implement the new law immediately.

The average American pays a little over $2,000 in federal taxes each year.

QUINCY LOVED a parade 20 years ago when throngs lined Hancock St. to watch Lt. Col. Stephen Keefe lead his activated 731st Troop Carrier Squadron of the Air Force Reserve in the Armistice Day parade in 1962. Squadron was recalled to active duty by President John F. Kennedy during the Cuban missile crisis and was deployed to McDill AFB, Tampa, Fla., where it remained until the crisis was over. With Col. Keefe at the head of the troops are Major Robert Cusick of 101 Sims Rd., Wollaston (left), and Major John Luongo of 29 Norman Rd., South Quincy.

Laws On Motor Bikes

Recently, an 8-year-old Wollaston boy suffered a broken leg when he was run over by a dirt bike ridden by a 14-year-old youngster at O'Rourke Field.

What are the laws involving mopeds and dirt bikes? What are the responsibilities of the parents of a child who is involved in an accident while operating such a vehicle?

A motorized bicycle, or so called moped, shall not be operated on any way within the Commonwealth by any person under 16 years of age, at a speed in excess of 25 miles per hour.

A motorized bicycle shall not be operated on any way by any person not possessing a valid drivers license or learners permit.

Persons operating such motorized bicycles are subject to the traffic laws and regulations of the Commonwealth.

A sticker issued by the Registrar is affixed at the time of purchase and must be displayed at all times.

A recreation vehicle is a motor vehicle designed to travel over unimproved terrain and which has been determined by the Registrar of Motor Vehicles as unsuitable for operation on the public way and not eligible for registration under Chapter 90. These vehicles cannot be operated on a public way. (Dirt bikes, snow mobiles, etc.)

Each vehicle shall be equipped with one or more headlights, a red rear light, a red rear reflector, and adequate muffler. No recreation vehicle shall be operated which makes an unusual or excessive noise.

No one under 14 years of age shall operate a recreation vehicle unless directly supervised by an adult, and protective headgear is worn.

A motor vehicle operator's license or learner's permit shall not be required to operate a recreation vehicle. Operators involved in an accident are required to report the incident within 48 hours to the Registry.

Operators must stop and identify himself upon the request of a landowner or authorized representative on whose property they are riding.

Unless the vehicle is registered, insurance will be hard to come by. Most insurance policies will cover damage to another person's property along with personal injury to a person other than the operator.

I would strongly urge any parent whose child owns such a vehicle or is contemplating purchasing one, to look very closely at insurance coverage and familiarize themselves and their youngsters with the laws pertaining to ownership and operation of these vehicles.

23 From Quincy Die In Fire At Coconut Grove

At least 23 persons from Quincy were killed and three others were reported missing as a Saturday night fire swept the crowded Coconut Grove nightclub in Boston with a known death toll of 478 merrymakers.

An ambulance detail of three Quincy firefighters, Lt. Alex McEachern, Waldo Lagerquist and Joseph Maguire, was the first outside unit to arrive on the fire scene and they removed 40 bodies from the charred main lounge of the nightclub.

Ten nurses were dispatched from Quincy City Hospital to Boston City Hospital to assist in treating fire victims and Hospital Supt. Dr. Joseph P. Leone was prepared to ship 84 units of frozen blood plasma from its Civil Defense blood bank to Boston.

Quincy Police Chief John J. Avery, Lt. David L. Farrell and Special Officer Ernest Hodge formed a volunteer team and spent three hours removing dead from the building and carrying the injured to hospitals on stretchers.

Quincy Red Cross workers under Capt. Eleanor Gould and Lt. Lillian Schwab mustered at the Adams Academy and dispatched two mobile canteens to the fire scene to serve coffee to rescue workers who were working in sub-freezing cold.

In the wake of the tragedy, Mayor William W. Jenness called a meeting of Chief Avery, Fire Chief William J. Sands and Building Inspector Alrick A. Weidman and promised that a survey will be made of all places where the public gathers in Quincy.

"We must be sure that such a tragedy will not happen in this city," said Jenness.

NEW RATIONING RULES

The Quincy War Price and Rationing Board announced that people who, for whatever reason, do not have War Ration Book One in their possession must register before Dec. 15 in order to receive War Ration Book Two.

The board warned that Book One "will be used to ration coffee. It will also be used to issue War Ration Book Two and may be used to ration other commodities" such as sugar.

MCGRATH PLACES FUEL BLAME

Former Mayor Thomas J. McGrath blamed the current oil shortage on the failure of the state government and Massachusetts congressmen to heed warnings during the summer that such a problem was impending.

"The matter did not get much attention until they began to think of the political consequences to them if their constituents should shiver during the cold months," he said.

Today's Hints deal with corrective makeup for the eyes. The right eye makeup is essential for creating the proper optical illusion with references to the appearance of the eyes. Eyes can be made to appear larger or smaller by the use of eye colors and/or shadows.

If you have round eyes you can lengthen them by extending the shadow beyond the outer corners of the eyes. For close-set eyes, apply shadow lightly from the outer edges of the eyes and a highlighting cosmetic at the inner corners of the eyes. If you have bulging eyes, blend the shadow carefully over the prominent part of the upper lid. Use dark shadow.

Heavy-lidded eyes require the use of shadow evenly and lightly across the lid from the edge of the eyelash line to the small crease in the eye socket, while small eyes can be made to appear larger by extending the shadow or eye color slightly above, beyond, and below the eyes.

For eyes set too far apart, use shadow on the upper inner side of the eyelid, while for deep-sunken eyes, use very little shadow on the lids nearest the temples and leave untouched the part next to the nose and inner corners of the eyes.

Good Scout Party Dec. 9 For Camp Massasoit

The annual Good Scout Holiday Party to benefit the continued innovation and improvement of Boy Scout Camp Massasoit in Plymouth will be held Sunday, Dec. 9.

The event will be held "first" in at Granite Place, 127 Quincy St., Quincy Center, cocktails and dinner will be served.

Former Mayor James R. McIntyre, chairman of the committee organizing the event, reports that proceeds from this party will allow the Massasoit Development Committee to continue their efforts to renovate the scout camp for year-round use.

"Great strides have been made over the past two or three years in converting the former summer camp of the Quincy Scouts into a year-round facility serving scouts from Quincy and surrounding communities.

Without the support of community people, who may remember their own youthful days at the camp, and the efforts of a dedicated group of volunteers who have contributed their time and talent to the renovation effort, Camp Massasoit might have been lost."

McIntyre added that during the past year over 3000 scouts and their leaders enjoyed the camp's renovated facilities along with Girl Scouts, youth leaders, religious groups, and other organizations.

Last year's party was attended by over 500 guests, scouts of all ages, and community leaders. It helped the 1982 year's party will be an even greater success," McIntyre commented.

Each year individuals who have demonstrated their commitment to youth, and in particular the Scouting program and Camp Massasoit, are recognized at the party with the "Good Scout Award."

Past recipients of the award have been Gov. Edward J. King, Congressman James Burke, Capt. Richard Stratton U.S.N., and John and Buell Fuller.

Among those to be honored this year will be Marshall Sloane, president of the Century Bank and former president of the Greater Boston Council, who played a leading role in saving Camp Massasoit from being sold a few years ago.

Tickets for the party are tax deductible. They may be obtained from any of the committee members. Checks should be made payable to the Camp Massasoit Development Fund.

Serving as honorary chairman of the Good Scout Holiday Party are Quincy Mayor Francis X. McGahey, a former Massasoit camper, Sgt. Charles G. O'Leary, and the committee is headed by Carolyn G.

A THOUGHT FOR THE WEEK

The contrasts between people and purposes of the first Thanksgiving of the Pilgrims in 1621, and people and purposes of our present day festival gives us a startling picture. The Pilgrims survived days and nights during which they were prepared to starve. They survived freezing ice and snow that blanketed the dark forests which surrounded their crude, hand made housing. Many died, without complaining, in the arms of their loved ones. The survivors carried on; kept going. They had no government relief agencies, no Red Cross, no outside help. God was their only help. And even He seemed to be giving them a rough time.

Bethany Church To Dedicate Advent Paraments Sunday

The beginning of the Advent season will be celebrated at Bethany Congregation Church, Quincy Center, with two special events during the 10 a.m. worship service Sunday.

A new set of purple paraments will be consecrated to the glory of God and to the service of the church. Purple is the ecclesiastical color for Advent, which symbolizes penitence as Christians prepare themselves spiritually for the birth of Christ at Christmas. Purple is also the royal color in honor of the coming of Christ as King.

The altar superfrontal has the earliest Christian creed "Jesus is Lord" with the ecumenical Missionary Crosses on either side. The pulpit hanging is the "Crown of Thorns" symbolic of Jesus' suffering and death; while the lectern hanging is the "Crown of Glory" symbolic of His resurrection and eternal reign.

The Bible book mark is embroidered with the "Alpha and Omega", the first and last letter of the Greek alphabet, signifying that Jesus is the beginning and end of all things.

All of these are being given in memory of Mr. and Mrs. William H. Fay, by their granddaughter, Mrs. Helen C. Cole.

The dorsal curtain behind the altar in the chapel, is made of Bemberg Damask fabric with a background Normandy pattern. It is being presented in memory of Helen E. Wetmore, by Mr. and Mrs. Harry E. Wetmore.

The Chapel pulpit hanging is the "Agnus Dei" the Lamb of God, symbolic of the sacrifice of Jesus in giving his life to save the world. It is given in memory of Mr. and Mrs. Walter E. Karlberg Sr., by Mr. and Mrs. Walter E. Karlberg Jr., and Rev. and Mrs.

James C. Marshall.

The two matching clergy stoles have the "Anchor Cross" symbolic of hope, embroidered on the front. This is also Bethany Church's 150th Anniversary "logo".

One stole is presented in memory of Otto T. Glaman, by his wife, Lillian, and by his daughter, Mary Lou Glaman. The other stole is given in memory of Edward A. and Lucy M. Bohlen, his parents, and Carl A. his brother, and Carrie M. Adams, his sister, by Edward A. Bohlen.

The Advent wreath ceremony will take place at the center of the chancel with the lighting of the first Advent candle. The Roberts family, Stephen and Kathryn, and their children Christopher and Elizabeth, will conduct the ceremony. The large sanctuary Advent wreath is being fashioned by Eleanor L. Shattuck.

Jean E. Bettinson, contralto, will sing the solo, "A Thankful People" by Osborn. Guest organist Helen Ward Mannix is from Boston. A graduate of Mt. Holyoke College, she is a student at the New England Conservatory of Music.

Senior Minister, Rev. J. William Arnold, will preach the sermon: "Awake and Ready". Associate Minister, Rev. Joel F. Huntington will serve as the liturgist.

Lay scripture reader for the 9 a.m. chapel service will be Marion Lockwood; for the 10 a.m. service in the sanctuary it will be Shirley Pyne. The sesquicentennial moment will be presented by Tora Huntington.

The Church School will also be in session from 10 to 11:15 a.m., with classes from nursery through ninth grade. A crib room is provided for parents with small children.

Pony Express A Success At Faith Lutheran

The "route riders" and "trail bosses" of Faith Lutheran Church have successfully completed their Pony Express "run" and the church's stewardship campaign has gone over the top.

"We trusted our members to act responsibly and they did," commented the Rev. James Kimmell pastor. "In these times of uncertainty, our members showed they have a great deal of faith and willingness to share what they have."

He said the Pony Express theme for the stewardship campaign sparked enthusiasm among members and resulted in the congregation working together for a common purpose.

"We all had a lot of fun — children and adults," he said.

The Rev. Kimmell said he was especially pleased that the Pony Express campaign involved the young people of the church. School age children received Pony Express coloring books and balloons and made miniature saddlebags, similar to the larger bags used by their parents in the campaign.

Each youngster was encouraged to fill in an "estimate of giving" card, just as their parents did.

"This has helped our young people to start thinking about giving to the church and hopefully they will form a habit of Christian stewardship which may continue through their lives," he said.

The Rev. Kimmell and Christine Ferguson, general manager of the campaign, praised the many route riders and trail bosses and station agents who saw that the Pony Express saddlebags carrying the "church mail" were relayed from family to family.

"Everybody worked together," she said. "It was the same kind of teamwork the original Pony Express riders displayed."

Committee Approves Use Of Standish School By Elks

By JOHN NOONAN

The School Committee by a 5-0 vote has authorized the Quincy Lodge of Elks to begin negotiations for the lease of the Myles Standish school building as a temporary clubhouse.

Before the vote was taken several questions were raised by School Committeeman Frank Anselmo, Ward 6 City Councillor Joanne Condon and Mrs. Eleanor Johnson, a Squantum resident, concerning the length of the lease, parking facilities, traffic, and acquisition of a liquor license in a building still under the jurisdiction of the school department.

Before the vote was taken, Mayor Francis X. McCauley, who is a member of the Quincy Elks, had stepped down as chairman and left the room to avoid any possible conflict of interest. Anselmo was present but did not vote. Favoring the motion to allow the Elks to proceed with negotiations were: Mary Collins, vice-chairman who was presiding, John Sullivan, Nicholas Verenis, Christopher Kennedy and Joan Picard.

Lease arrangements will be made through the Quincy City Solicitor's office with officials of the Elks. It is not known whether the lease will be for three, five, seven or ten years.

Should the Elks not complete all necessary arrangements and clear all legal obstacles the building would revert to the School Committee.

Myles Standish is one school building that has not been discounted in future school committee plans or usage. The usual procedure when a school building is no longer being used or included in plans for future use as an educational facility is to turn the building over completely to the city for final disposition.

$10,000 In Athletic Users Fees Collected At High Schools

The Athletic Department of the Quincy Public Schools reports that $10,000 in athletic users fees have been collected to date at Quincy and North Quincy High Schools.

Quincy High collected some $4,120 from 207 students who participate in cross country, football, golf, soccer, swimming, and volleyball. The 117 students who play football paid the bulk of that school's users fee, $2,340.

At North, 293 students paid $5,860 in users fees for the same sports. Of that amount $2,700 was paid by 135 students who went out for football.

Athletics Director, Carl Leone, said there has been no appreciable drop, in the number of students participating in sports since the users fee was instituted last September.

Users fees were adopted by the School Committee as a means of defraying expenses involved in the conduct of various school sponsored sports programs.

It is expected that other sports such as hockey, basketball and baseball may bring in additional user fee revenues as the seasons for sports change.

All students who sign up for sports must pay a users fee of $20 which entitles the student to play in one or more sports for the entire year. Families with more than one student participating in school sports would pay a maximum of $40 for the year regardless of the number of students in the family or the variety of sports engaged in.

School Board Postpones Action On Own Salary Issue

By JOHN NOONAN

The School Committee has voted to table action on a proposal giving members a $3,000 yearly salary and $135 a month as compensation for expenses.

The proposed salary would be effective January 1984. The compensation would start January, 1983.

Mayor Francis X. McCauley who was presiding at the meeting pointed out that the compensation proposal would have commenced half-way through the city fiscal year. It would therefore necessitate a special appropriation which could only be brought in by the Mayor for approval by the city council.

However, before any salary or compensation could be paid the City Council would have to approve a new city ordinance by a two-thirds vote.

Under the provisions of the new enabling state legislation, according to the city solicitor's office, the mayor is not entitled to receive either compensation or salary as a member of the school committee.

The motion to table followed a discussion in which it was brought out that salary negotiations with certain unions and professional groups are still going on and that it would appear inappropriate to act on a salary for school board members at this time.

It was also noted that the school board had no force in setting a figure for its salary, as the final authorizing body is the city council. The school committee could only indicate a suggested salary as the proposed $3,000.

North Sophs Roll Over Quincy, 21-0

By TOM SULLIVAN

The North Quincy sophomore football team, which had lost three straight games to Quincy, roared to a 21-0 lead at halftime last Saturday and defeated the young Presidents, 27-16, in their annual game at Veterans Memorial Stadium.

"The boys played an excellent game both ways and I just wish we could have played more games this season," said a happy North coach Ted Sadowski, in his 25th year as a Raider coach. "We had only one official sophomore game this fall, playing with the juniors in junior varsity games the rest of the season."

The young Raiders were sparked by some outstanding running by Steve Kelly and Joe Bangs, some excellent passing by quarterback Rich Brooks and receiving by Gerry Coughlin.

Defensively they bottled up the Quincy attack until the final period when John Sullivan's team scored both touchdowns on exciting long gainers.

Sadowski had good words for guards Rich Horrigan and John Rency, who played effectively both ways.

He also singled out Kelly and Bangs for their running. Brooks for his passing. Coughlin for his pass receiving, center Larry Nialetz, who was forced to play defensive end due to injuries; Joe Palmer, Mike Barry, Billy Doherty and Jim Cataldo. Barry kicked three extra points and played well, Palmer was outstanding on pass defense and Doherty ran well and scored a touchdown.

Sullivan, who praised the North players for their strong performance, singled out Darrin Tucker, Gerry Frazier, John Spencer and Joe Cullen, all of whom ran well, and quarterback Bill Shaughnessy, who did well both ways and had a key pass interception as well as throwing a long touchdown pass.

The Quincy coach also had praise for tackles Mark Campbell, Bob Campbell and Pat Duggan, and Kevin Burke, Pat Calbro, who played despite being injured. Tom Foley, John O'Callahan, punter Joe Conti, Steve Curran, ninth grader Walter Rollins, who did well at nose guard; Mike Powell, Jerry Pacciarotti, Jim Mayo and Rich Pettinelli.

Jim Reilly, who had an outstanding season, was injured on the first play and had to sit out the game.

"They were tough and came right at us," Sullivan said. "We woke up in the final period but it was too late."

North struck quickly and on the second play of the game Kelly broke loose for a 67-yard touchdown run. Barry kicked the point.

Later in the opening period Brooks passed to Coughlin, who had four receptions for big yardage, for 15 yards to the two-yard line and Brooks scored on a sneak. Barry again kicked the point.

In the second quarter Brooks hit Coughlin for a 44-yard gain to the three from where Doherty scored and Barry added this third point for a 21-0 halftime lead.

After a scoreless third period, Shaughnessy threw a bomb to Joe Clardi for 50 yards and a touchdown and he passed to Frazier for the two points.

North drove from the 50 after an on-side kick and Kelly scored on a 20-yard run. This time Barry's kick was blocked.

A few minutes later Tucker scored Quincy's second TD on the best run of the day.

He broke into the clear, shook off several would-be tacklers, was almost tripped up but kept his footing and went 68 yards for the score. Frazier rushed for the game's final two points.

Sadowski was assisted by Pete Zoia and Mark Mulvaney, while Jerry Quintiliani assisted Sullivan.

DENISE CARROLL, a North Quincy High graduate, was a leading member of the UMass/Boston volleyball team this fall. The Lady Beacons finished with a 14-5 record and were the No. 1 seed in the state-wide Div. 3 tournament. It was their best record. Only a sophomore, Denise is being counted upon heavily the next two years by Coach Mary Ann Sowell, a Quincy resident.

Quincy Girls Win E-Mass South Volleyball Title

The Quincy girls' volleyball team won the Eastern Mass. South Sectional championship last week, defeating Milford in three straight games at Brockton. The First Ladies Monday night played the North Sectional winner at Brockton.

Quincy, 13-3, during the regular season, started fast and took a 7-4 lead in the opening game. The Quincy girls forced many Milford miscues and easily won the first game, 15-4. Carolyn Leonard served up the last four winning points.

Christine Gallery was the big star of the thrilling second-game win. She hit one of her many powerful spikes to open the game and the First Ladies took a 5-0 lead. But Milford staged an impressive rally to go ahead, 9-6.

Quincy tied it at 9-9 with Gallery leading the way from the net. The teams traded points and were tied at 14 and 15 before Quincy scratched out a 17-15 victory for the South title.

Gallery kept Milford off balance with perfectly placed spikes.

Susan Beven also played a fine game at the net for the First Ladies.

Milford came out strong in the third and final game and took a 4-3 lead. But Quincy came back to lead, 6-4, and never trailed again as it won, 15-7. Ellen Deady and Gallery led the way from the front court and Leonard and Karen Marnell carried the action from the middle. Deady, Beven and Marnell were named to the tournament all-star team.

Quincy had gained the finals by defeating Case High of Swansea in a thrilling match which went the full five games. Beven, Barbara Fain, Marnell and Leonard all played well for Quincy.

Quincy Hospital Softball Marathon Raises Over $1,500

An independent group of 40 Quincy City Hospital employees recently exceeded their goal of raising $1500 from a 30-hour softball marathon at Rotary Field. The money will be used to purchase toys and amusements for the new pediatric ward.

According to Bill Stavros, marathon coordinator, the final score was Blue team 185, Red team 178. "The players were tired but cheerful for the cause" at the end of the marathon," he said.

Hospital Director James E. Lowenhagen joined the cause by playing for several hours and also donated beverages for the players.

Steve Gillig, owner and manager of McDonald's Restaurant on Southern Artery supplied players with food for the duration of the marathon. In addition, McDonald's "Hamburglar" appeared to entertain children.

Eleanor Allison of the hospital's Nuclear Medicine Dept. brought pizza for the players and Eileen McCarthy R.N., brought coffee and donuts.

"Many people from the hospital and the surrounding community came down to cheer the players on," said Stavros.

A banquet was held at Montello's when awards were presented.

Most Successful Season North Girls 'Miracle Team' Wins State Cross-Country Crown

The North Quincy girls' cross-country team, to which Coach Lou Tozzi refers as his "miracle team," capped the most successful season in history last Saturday when it won the state championship for the first time in Worcester.

Earlier the Raiderettes had won the Suburban League title again with their first undefeated record and won their third straight Eastern Mass. Division 2 crown.

"This was a real miracle team and I just can't say enough for the girls' grit and determination," said Tozzi. "At the start of the season I said they deserved to go all the way, but we were hit by so many illnesses and injuries during the season I don't see how they did it."

The top 20 teams in the state,

17 from Eastern Mass., four from Central Mass., and four from Western Mass., competed in the meet as well as several individual champions. There were 190 starters.

Sheila Barrett, who had been sick for two weeks before the Eastern Mass. meet, paced the Raiderettes with a sixth place finish.

Mary Ann Kelleher finished 18th and Diane Lindenfelzer placed 28th despite not practicing all week due to tendinitis in the hip. "She was a real key for us in this race," Tozzi said.

Linda Kennedy was 23rd, Meg Leary 47th and Tracy Corrigan 97th.

"I was sorry that Linda couldn't have done better because she is one of the best runners we have," said Tozzi. "But she suffers from asthma and the cold weather really affected her. But she stayed in there and her 23rd place finish was a tribute to her spunk and dedication."

North finished with 127 points. Haverhill, the Eastern Mass. Div. 1 champion, was second with 138. Mohawk Regional, the Western champion had 154, Wakefield 166 and Nashoba Regional 170.

"Our two seniors, Barrett and Kennedy, were just tremendous and were a real inspiration to the others," the North coach said. "All the girls were wonderful and just wouldn't give up. I'll never forget this team."

Tozzi paid tribute to his assistant coach, Mike Burke, and two volunteer assistants, Rich O'Brien and student teacher Sue Gaitey.

Defeat Panthers, 14-0

Apaches Win 3rd Straight Championship

QJC Downs Wentworth, 98-83

The Quincy Junior College basketball team, off to a fast start following a dismal 1981-82 season, improved its record to 3-0 last week with a 98-83 victory over Wentworth.

The Jaguars will be home to non-league opponent Massachusetts Community College next Tuesday at 7 p.m. at the Vo-Tech Gym and will host Greater Boston small college Conference foe North Shore next Thursday, Dec. 2, at 7.

QJC was 24 for 35 from the foul line as 48 fouls were called in the game against Wentworth.

Leading by nine at halftime, the QJC lead was cut to three with four minutes left in the game. But the Jaguars' fast break resulted in some easy baskets.

Coach Brian Buckley commented on what he thought was the key play: "Gary DiNardo kept a loose ball alive that resulted in an easy hoop for Jim Conboy that broke Wentworth's back. That put us up by five and sparked the rest of the club.

Conboy led the attack with 28 points. Steve Belcastro had 21, Paul Gill 20 and DiNardo 12 second half points.

"DiNardo didn't miss a shot and Belcastro hit some hump shots that iced the victory," said Buckley.

"It was our first home game and it was one of the best and noisiest crowds we've had in three years. It gave us a real home court advantage."

The North Quincy Apaches won their third successive Quincy Youth Football League championship Sunday when they defeated the Quincy Point Panthers, 14-0.

Defense was the big factor in the opening period with excellent performances by Dan McCarthy, Brian Durgin, Gary McNamara, Steve Miller, Tim Kelly, Wes Crowley, Chris Barry, Joe Shea, Paul Hanscom, Peter Quevillon and Paul Ruggere.

The Apaches' offense began to click late in the period with good yardage by McCarthy, Durgin and quarterback John Broadbent. McCarthy ran for 35 yards to the four from where Broadbent scored on a keeper.

The Apaches' defense again held the Panthers off in the second half with Larry Taglieri, Jim Mulvey, Mike Ainsley, Jeff Norton, Mark Carnevale, McNamara, Crowley, Miller, McCarthy, Kelly, Durgin and Barry all doing well.

In the fourth period Broadbent threw a pass to Barry for 13 yards. McCarthy added 46 yards including a 17-yard run for the second touchdown. Broadbent also picked up good yardage. Broadbent rushed for the final two points.

The Apaches were coached by Tom Carter and Paul Moody.

No Coach Yet For North Hockey Team

Hockey practice is due to start next week at Quincy and North Quincy High Schools but the North players still don't know who the new coach will be.

Kevin Lewis resigned recently as Raider coach and it was expected that a new coach would be named at last week's School Committee meeting.

The committee sent back a recommendation for the North coach.

All coaching appointments are recommended by the superintendent and applicants are screened and interviewed by a special committee and a final recommendation is then made to the superintendent.

No reason was given why the name recommended by the special committee and the superintendent was sent back for reconsideration.

A second application for the position apparently had been submitted. The names of the two contenders for the position were not revealed at the open meeting of the school board. The board later went into executive session to discuss the personalities involved.

Veteran Quincy hockey coach Bob Sylvia was reappointed and other Quincy coaches appointed were Joe Amorisino, basketball; John Franceschini, assistant basketball; Marty Finnegan, girls' basketball; Bob Dacey, assistant girls basketball; Wayne Deschamp, boys' gymnastics; Ralph Johnson, assistant gymnastics; Eileen Crafey, swimming; Jim Piccini, girls' track; Jeff Hennessy, boys' track; Carmen Mariano, wrestling; and Richard Schiarizzi and Tim Cahill, assistant wrestling.

Amorisino, Franceschini, Deschamp, Johnson, Piccini, Hennessy and Mariano all were reappointed.

GREASE GUN HAZARD

Garage mechanics and those employed in jobs where it is necessary to use high-pressure grease or paint guns should be on the alert. According to a recent report in the Journal of the American Medical Association, these high-pressure guns emit a fine spray at 600-7,000 pounds per square inch - as powerful as a rifle shot - which can drive paint or grease through the skin, where it spreads internally along the limbs. In 30 cases of grease-gun injuries, 12 resulted in amputation, and of 23 paint-gun accidents, 10 required amputation.

The initial wound is often painless because it happens so fast. The result is that people continue to work, although within a few hours the pain becomes intense, and the affected limb becomes severely swollen, numb, and the affected skin takes on a mottled appearance.

This is a surgical emergency. All grease and paint must be removed. There should be no delay. Immediate medical treatment is necessary to get the offending substance out of the body as quickly as possible.

Quincy-North 'Look' Plymouth State Finishes With 10-0 Record

Although the Plymouth State College football team, stocked with Quincy and North Quincy players, finished its season with a perfect 10-0 record and is rated the No. 1 Division 3 team in the East, the Panthers were not selected for a playoff berth.

St. Lawrence (N.Y.) (9-0) and Watner (N.Y.) (8-0-1) were selected as national representatives in the Division playoffs.

"We're disappointed, naturally at not having a chance to go," said Coach Jay Cottone, but we met all the goals we had set for ourselves at the start of the season. We finished undefeated, we defended our N.E. Football Conference title and we're still number one in the East as far as the sportswriters and sportscasters are concerned."

North Quincy's Joe Dudek had a fantastic season for the Panthers. Despite missing three games with an injury and carrying only three times for 20 yards in the final game with Curry (Plymouth led, 31-0, after a period and the starters sat out the rest of the game), Dudek broke the school record with 1094 yards rushing.

The freshman halfback averaged 8.4 yards a carry, ranking him third in the nation, and he scored 17 touchdowns.

The former North star was named ECAC Rookie of the Week three times and chosen to the ECAC Honor Roll twice.

Former Quincy end Scott Anson set school records for receptions and reception yardage in a single game. Other Quincy and North Quincy players who starred for the Panthers this year were Ed Iodice, Glen Segalla, Steve Lee, John Taglieri and Neal Fisher.

Meanwhile, another former North Quincy star, Jack Leone, finished an outstanding sophomore season at the U. of Maine, which finished 7-4 and was knocked out of a possible Div. 1-AA playoff berth when it lost its final game to Holy Cross.

Leone broke the Division record for kicking extra points as he was a perfect 45 for 45. He also kicked seven field goals for the Black Bears.

Special guests will be Lt. William Murphy, head of the Quincy Police Department Crime Prevention Bureau and Deputy Chief Carl Valenti, head of the Quincy Fire Department Fire Prevention Bureau.

Lt. Murphy and Deputy Valenti will discuss certain measures the average person can take to cut down on possible burglaries and fires in homes and apartments.

The program is of particular interest because of the approaching holidays and winter season when extra precautions may be necessary.

Cable Talk is a public affairs program sponsored by Quincy Cablesystems.

Book Character Day Held In Schools

Over 100 children from four Quincy elementary schools took part in Book Character Day in celebration of Children's Book Week recently.

Events took place over a week's time at Merrymount, Montclair, Parker and Squantum Schools as part of the media center program under the direction of Theodore G. Clarke, Elementary Media Specialist.

Children of all grades dressed as their favorite book characters and said a few lines or acted out a short part from the book.

"The children do know their book characters well," said Clarke. "They know just what it is that makes the character funny or lovable or interesting; and of course they enjoy dressing up."

"Usually the books that are portrayed become even more popular afterwards."

Book Prizes were awarded for the best portrayals at each school and on various grade levels.

At Squantum School, John McCarthy, a first grader, did a part from "Gus the Friendly Ghost". Tawnya Blum of grade three told the story of "The Old Woman Who Lived in a Bottle, and Erin Twoomey of grade four gave a presentation of "The Music Man" complete with salescards and a vocal version of "Seventy-six Trombones".

At Montclair School, Lisa Ferrara, a first grader portrayed "Little Red Riding Hood", complete with cloak and basket.

The four-player ensemble of PARKER SCHOOL students were among those taking part in Book Character Day recently. From left, front, are Kathleen McDonald, as Bo Peep; Timothy Kunz, Humpty Dumpty; Joseph Murphy, Amelia Bedelia. Back, Meghan Finnerty and Laurie Speranzo, Alice and the White Rabbit.

Eileen, Jennifer and Julie Barbuto and Julie Bernick gave a performance of "Annie" that was accompanied by taped music, singing and props.

Also winners were members of the "Cinderella" group which included Beth Ross, Kimberly Crowley, Barbara White, Debbie Hourin and Anne Fitzpatrick.

At Merrymount, first grader Janine Ekholm won for her portrayal of "Little Red Riding Hood", and her escape from the wolf. Leigh St. George and Susan McCole took the audience on a tour with "Charlie and the Chocolate Factory".

Another group with Jennifer Rydwansky, Maryann Dennis and Lori Carney gave a rendition of "Heidi".

At Parker School, first-grader Timothy Kunz won a prize as he recited "Humpty Dumpty" complete with fall. He came framed in a cardboard egg which split at the right moment.

The audience went down the rabbit hole with Alice in Wonderland and the white rabbit who were really second-graders Laurie Speranzo and Meghan Finnerty.

The part of the mixed-up housekeeper, Amelia Bedelia, a popular character in a series of books, was played by Joseph Murray of grade three who carried a valise full of tricks.

WEEK OF: NOVEMBER 25

AQUARIUS - January 21-February 19

An excellent week for professional advancement, the key is being able to cope with some giant-sized egos. Enjoy healthful pleasures, for example, swimming, walking or playing squash.

PISCES - February 20-March 20

You can make effective progress toward conquering a long-time phobia. Opportunity opens up for making extra money, but a hobby proves a lot more expensive than you anticipated.

ARIES - March 21-April 20

A few more rules than you're used to is the order of the week. To please an older relative, some small sacrifices may be necessary. Stubborn friend now sees your point of view.

TAURUS - April 21-May 22

You may have doubts about a friend's romantic situation, but don't say anything you'll regret later on. Deadlines are tightened. The key is to plan a new and comprehensive schedule.

GEMINI - May 23-June 21

Whatever it was that troubled you and a favorite friend, it looks unimportant now. As you begin to think about the holidays, willpower - in the food department - grows weaker and weaker.

CANCER - June 22-July 22

Decision requires unanimous support but a lone dissenter stops the wheels of progress. Check bills carefully and speak up quickly if charged for an expense you did not incur.

LEO - July 23-August 22

If sharing any financial venture, set all terms in writing and be aware of each party's responsibilities. Romantic indicators are positive for single and paired Leos.

VIRGO - August 23-September 22

Career decision should be based on discussion with trustworthy person in your workplace. Personal relationships improve when you allow partner to take a few more risks.

LIBRA - September 23-October 22

Though personal goals are within your grasp, you mustn't hurry the situation. Health and diet require more discipline. Favors you grant now may never be returned.

SCORPIO - October 23-November 21

There are fringe benefits when you share in a friend's celebrations. Taking inventory at home can yield some surprises. In general, the week is financially upbeat.

SAGITTARIUS - November 22-December 22

New friend of the opposite sex proves an interesting foil for your ideas. Watch leaning toward extremes in areas of health and fitness. Unusual tactic helps you reach short-term goal.

CAPRICORN - December 23-January 20

Championing a cause - one in which you profit directly - is a worthy occupation this week. Even-tempered neighbor may show an unexpected emotional side. Mechanical maintenance is a top priority.

BIRTHDAY THIS WEEK

Adventurous, adaptable, independent. Your approach to life is live and let live. But you're hard to slow down and are given to quick outbursts. New ways to make money develop after influential parties step into the picture in mid-1983.

BORN THIS WEEK

November 25th, singer Tina Turner; 26th, actor Rich Little; 27th, producer David Merrick; 28th, actress Hope Lange; 29th, singer John Gary; 30th, actor Richard Crenna, December 1st, actor Richard Pryor.

Dependable Cleaners Opens 9th Location

Dependable Cleaners recently held a grand opening ceremony marking the establishment of their ninth location.

On hand for the ceremony was Mayor Francis X. McCauley, Donald Fawcett Sr., founder of the company, Donald Fawcett Jr. and Fred Fawcett company executives.

The plant, billed as "The most modern dry cleaning and coin-op laundry on the South Shore" is located at 320 Quincy Ave., Quincy, adjacent to the Faxon Commons complex.

Rather than the traditional ribbon cutting, Mayor McCauley officiated at a "Grand Un-zipping" of the building. As Dependable Cleaners boasts the largest supply of replacement zippers on the South Shore, (for clothing repair customers), they thought it appropriate to prepare a special ribbon with a zipper installed rather than use scissors.

The new facility will ultimately house a full on-site cleaning plant, the largest in the organization. Currently dry cleaning taken at the new location is processed at their main plant at 27 Adams St., Quincy.

Additionally, the new building houses a huge coin-op laundry complex capable of serving dozens of customers at the same time. All new Speed Queen coin-operated washers and dryers provide the latest in laundry technology for the area.

Dependable started in the former Merrymount Laundry, now operates cleaning locations throughout the South Shore including four plants in Quincy, and one each in East Milton, Weymouth, Hingham, Cohasset and on Newbury Street in Boston.

Fire Dept. Warns Of Unvented Space Heaters

The Quincy Fire Department has issued a warning that the use of unvented space heaters has been prohibited in all places used for human habitation in Massachusetts since 1965.

"They were found to be dangerous then and they are still dangerous today, even with all of the so-called built-in safeguards that they have," says Deputy Chief Carl V. Valenti.

In spite of the fact that they are against the law, said Valenti, there is an ever increasing use of kerosene space heaters which presents a problem to the Fire Department as cold weather approaches.

"The danger of fire has been lessened a little but is still there," he said. "But what is more important is the pollutants that they give off when in operation."

"The fire gases that are given off are carbon monoxide, carbon dioxide, nitrogen dioxide and sulfur dioxide. On a vented stove these pollutants are vented out the chimney but on an unvented stove they are released into the room."

Valenti noted that fire must have oxygen to keep going.

"It takes this oxygen from the room where the space heater is operating therefore subjecting persons in that room to an oxygen deficiency that over a prolonged period of time could prove fatal," he said.

"The type of kerosene that is used is also important."

"There is one kind that is low in sulfur content and is water clear and then there is the other type which is high in sulfur content."

"This is the kind that most people will use because it is more readily found than the other kind that sells for up to $5 a gallon."

"When this kerosene is burning it gives off a sulfur dioxide gas that will cause respiratory problems in most people over a period of time and in some cases serious illness.

"Always present is a carbon monoxide gas. This colorless, odorless and tasteless gas will also cause serious illness and could prove fatal."

"People with asthma, bronchitis or other allergies should avoid being around kerosene heaters under all conditions."

Valenti reminded potential purchasers that stores selling the unvented heaters must have conspicuously posted a copy of the state law that prohibits their use in dwellings.

"The customers should also be informed of this by the salesperson when they purchase one," he said. "The amount of money that might be saved will never make up for the price you have to pay if an accident occurs."

"The manufacturers of these heaters recommend having a window open in the room where they are located. This obviously defeats the purpose of heating the room."

"This would also indicate that the company is concerned about the oxygen deficiency that will occur."

Valenti also urged "a certain amount of care and common sense" in the storage of kerosene.

"It should be stored in proper containers," he said. "It should be in a cool, well-ventilated area away from the living area and the garage."

"Never use a gasoline container because it could be inadvertently filled with gasoline and used to fuel the heater and cause an explosion, which has happened in other related cases."

A Nostalgic Souvenir Supplement Of A Classic Football Rivalry

Jack Donahue: A Legend With Many Fond Memories

By PETE ZOIA

The 1933 North Quincy High School football team that met Quincy on the gridiron for the first time was considered a poor relation by Coach Jimmy LeCain and his Blue and White team.

It was only North's second year of high school football under a young newcomer to the city, a former Boston College star named Jack Donahue.

This giant of a man led a team consisting mostly of seniors to an undefeated season, an impressive feat even though the schedule was not as tough as that of their crosstown rivals.

Quincy, the established team, always pointed for its big game with the Brockton - so the team at the other end of the city didn't figure as much of an obstacle to a successful season.

"Although we were unbeaten, no one really gave us a chance to beat Quincy, except the North student body," recalls Donahue. "The spirit was tremendous at North and this certainly helped to instill confidence in the players." Donahue remembers fondly how the underdog North Enders upset powerful Quincy, 6-0, and went on to a seven win, one tie season.

"I would have to say that the 1933 team was one of the best eleven I ever coached at North," Donahue said.

And that included a lot of teams, 28 in fact. The popular coach was at North Quincy from 1933 to 1960 and it was appropriate that his last team scored a 28-20 victory over Quincy, amassing 28 points in his 28th year.

"It would be hard to say which team was the best at North as there were many fine teams," he said. "The 1935 team played the first night high school game ever played in Massachusetts and was a 14 to 6 winner over Quincy."

He also noted that his 1945 team loser of only one game, played a never-to-be-forgotten battle with Quincy in the pouring rain, with North winning 7-0.

"We scored once more but a penalty nullified it. Playing conditions were horrible for such an important game," Donahue said.

Sharpening his memory, Donahue reminisced on his 1952 team which registered 460 yards to Quincy's 137, made 26 first downs to the President's five, and still lost the game 32-19.

"We never punted once. We didn't have to. Give me the score any day. You can have the statistics," he says.

Asked to compare the type of football played years ago to that of today, Donahue pointed out that more boys play today because of free substitution and the use of offensive and defensive units.

"Years ago, a player was restricted as to how much he could play," said Donahue. "If he left the game, he couldn't return in the same quarter. A substitute could not talk after he entered the game until one play was called, and all players played both ways."

"There was less scoring but at the same time the players had an opportunity to protect any lead they might have run up and not have a weaker defensive group give up that lead while they watched helplessly from the side lines."

Donahue said it seems that most boys would rather play defense than offense because they would rather hit than be hit. They also find it hard to block.

There was a great relationship between Donahue and his rival coaches Munroe MacLean and Bill Sullivan of Quincy.

"Sure, each of us wanted to win the Quincy-North game badly, but when the game was over we were the best of friends," Donahue said.

Donahue said that he could recall no player ever being thrown out of a North-Quincy game in spite of the great rivalry.

WAITING FOR the toss of the coin before the 1953 game are Quincy Capt. Tony Oriola, Quincy Coach Bill Sullivan, North Coach Jack Donahue, and North Captains Kenny Sargent and Bo Lyons. North won that game, 20-7, then came five successive wins for Sullivan's Quincy teams.

MUNROE MACLEAN

Munroe MacLean: He Won With Modesty

By TOM HENSHAW

When Munroe MacLean became head coach of football at Quincy High School in 1938, the state of the sport was at a periodic low ebb.

The Presidents had won only six games over the previous three years. The last coach, Harry Downes, left for greener pastures in Brookline after only one season.

And, worst of all, a Quincy football team had never beaten those upstarts from North Quincy in five years of trying.

When he departed, 14 years and 11 seasons later, the Presidents had been elevated from Class B to Class A, they had won 65, lost 27 and tied nine games.

And they held an 8-2-1 advantage over North Quincy in what had become one of the great schoolboy football rivalries in eastern Massachusetts.

After one of those victories, he told his triumphant squad:

"Sometimes it's harder to accept victory than it is defeat. How you react to this victory today will go a long way in developing your character for years to come."

"I don't want any of you to go boasting or bragging about winning this game. Take your victory modestly and humbly."

That was what Munroe MacLean was all about.

He was a genuine athletic hero at Quincy High School, a three letter man in football, basketball and track, long before he became a coach in all three of those sports at his alma mater.

He played tackle in what is still regarded by some as the greatest football game ever played by a Quincy High School team - the upset 3-0 victory over Brockton in 1925.

MacLean and Jack Donahue, the longtime coach at North Quincy, were friendly rivals for many years and admired each other greatly, even though the soft-spoken MacLean and the gruff Donahue appeared to be opposites in every way.

His 1942 team lost only one game (to Revere, 12-7) and beat North 27-0 and then he left to answer his country's call as Navy lieutenant commander for three years as an instructor in pre-flight schools.

His return to the coaching ranks in 1946 revived Quincy's flagging grid fortunes.

He lost the first two games of the season to Brockton and Brookline and then ran off a string of eight straight victories, including a 31-6 defeat of North Quincy.

When he resigned as football coach after the 1951 season, he was coaching football, basketball and track and carrying a full schedule of teaching classes in physical education.

"I'm going to miss football because it has been too much a part of me to too many years," he said. "But I was thinking of myself when I decided to give it up. This time it's for good."

He was director of health, physical education and athletics for the Quincy public schools when he died on Jan. 24, 1969, at the age of 61.

Sullivan Only Coach To Win 5 Straight In Series

By TOM SULLIVAN

Bill Sullivan has the distinction of leading his Quincy football teams to five straight wins over North Quincy (1954 through 1958), and he has some fond recollections of the series.

He is the only Coach in the half-century rivalry to win more than three games in a row. Sullivan was assistant to the late Munroe MacLean from 1938 through 1951, except for three years during World War II when both were in the service. Owen Webb (1943) and Danny Alvino (1944 and '45) coached the Presidents during those years.

Sullivan took over as head coach in 1952 and had a 6-2 coaching record against North. His first team won, the 1953 team lost, then came the five wins in a row before North won in Bill's final season, 1959. He was succeeded by Jack Garrity in 1960.

"My biggest thrill probably was winning the 1938 game, my first year as assistant, because it marked Quincy's first win in the series," Sullivan said. "North had won on three and tied two in the first five games."

"My second biggest thrill was the 1952 game, my first year as head coach when we won, 32-19. I can still see Tony Quintiliani taking a fumble off the shoulder of a North player and running it back 68 yards for a touchdown."

Sullivan said he learned a lot from MacLean, who was a thorough coach who had the knack of getting his teams up for games but who had a dry sense of humor that "kept everyone relaxed."

"My memories of the series go beyond the games," Sullivan said. "I remember at the luncheons the Kiwanis Club used to hold for the two teams prior to the game when Mac and Jack Donahue used to needle each other. Mac used to get Jack upset and that always gave Mac a laugh."

Sullivan said he never saw any trouble between the players in the long series. "Any trouble that developed was in the stands and did not have anything to do with the players," he said. "Since my retirement as coach I've been impressed with the many friendships which have endured between the rival players."

Sullivan pointed out that Quincy's first coach in the series, Jimmy McLean, had been his baseball coach in high school. "Jimmy was another outstanding coach," he said.

Leone's Undefeated 1966 Team Won GBL Crown

Carl Leone became only North Quincy's second coach in 28 years when he took over for the retired Jack Donahue in 1961.

Carl, one of Donahue's assistants, coached the Raiders for eight years with a 4-4 record against Quincy.

The highlight of his coaching regime came in 1966 when his Raiders were undefeated and won the Greater Boston League crown.

One of his players that year was current North Coach Ken McPhee.

"That was a big thrill for me, but all the Quincy-North games are a thrill," Leone said. "It was a great thrill to be a part of this great series as a player and a coach."

Leone, Quincy's athletic coordinator, has had a lot of interest in the series since he retired after the 1968 season. Two of his sons, Carl Jr., and Jack, starred for North.

In 1946 Carl Sr. played a brilliant game in leading Quincy over North, 31-6.

In the 1973 game Carl Jr. scored two touchdowns, passed for the other and passed for the conversion in North's 20-10 victory.

Jack was an outstanding end and place kicker for North in 1979 and 1980, kicking several field goals, including a 51-yarder and kicking the extra points. This year he set a Div. 1-AA record at the U. of Maine for kicking points after touchdown and kicked seven field goals.

In fact, the series has been pretty much a Leone affair, as Carl's daughter, Joanne, was a North Quincy cheerleader in 1976.

How Sullivan Sees Quincy's Head Coaches

Bill Sullivan, who was a Quincy coach (head and assistant) for more than 20 years and has been an integral part of the Quincy-North series, has made the following comments on the other seven Quincy coaches who have been part of the 50-year old series:

Jimmy Lecain, the Presidents' first coach in the series: A Quincy High graduate who went to Tufts. "Was a good competitor and had some good athletes."

Harry Downes: Coached one year at Quincy before going to Brookline, "a true gentleman and excellent coach."

Munroe McLean: "A great coach and great teacher. He was really great to work for."

Owen Webb: "Kept the game going during the World War II period, did a fine job and was highly respected."

Danny Alvino: "Colorful and energetic, created a great spirit and enthusiasm for the 'big game' for two years during World War II."

Jack Garrity: "Dedicated and hard driving. Brought the team into the North game with great determination and desire."

Hank Conroy: "All-around, solid coach. As a former Quincy player, he had a great feeling for the traditions associated with the series."

Tom Fitzgerald (current coach): "Experienced and a good organizer. A former North player who understands the tradition of the Thanksgiving game."

In thinking back to the Quincy-North games while he was assistant to the late Munroe McLean and later head coach at Quincy, Sullivan pointed out that the night before the game the squad would meet at the Naval Reserve Center in Hingham.

"We would review pictures, have old grads talk and try to develop ideas on the tradition of the game," he said. "Members of the Quincy Fathers Club would drive the players home for proper rest before the game."

"We introduced the idea of a queen for the game and the idea of mothers and fathers attending the game as a group with games numbers representing their sons on the team."

"We also introduced the Granville Memorial award for the best player in the game to be selected by members of the press and radio and the Fathers Club."

Conroy's 1970 Team Has Quincy's Only Perfect Record

Hank Conroy, who starred for Quincy in the early 1940s, was the Presidents' head coach for 14 years, 1964 through 1977, and had a 7-7 record against North Quincy.

BRIAN DONNELLY

11th - MA

HANK CONROY

The highlight of Hank's coaching career came in 1970 when his team had Quincy's only perfect record (9-0-0) and won the Greater Boston League championship.

"That had to be the high point, but every game with North was exciting and our wins over them meant nearly as much to me as the undefeated season," he said.

Hank's 1969 team won the most one-sided game in the 50-year series, beating the Raiders, 53-0.

And his 1977 team was the last Quincy club to beat Brockton.

QUINCY COACH Jack Garrity confers with Chris Meyer on the sidelines during the 1963 Turkey Day game in which a heavily favored North team had all it could do to come from behind for a 14-10 victory.

Quincy-North Games 'A Thrill' For Garrity

Jack Garrity succeeded Bill Sullivan as Quincy's head coach in 1960 and lost his first game to Jack Donahue, who was coaching his last game for North.

Garrity's 1961 team won but he lost his next two games to the Raiders before giving up the reins to Hank Conroy in 1964.

"Although I had only one win in four games, it was a thrill coaching in the series and being caught up in the great Quincy-North tradition," Garrity, still a teacher at Quincy, said.

Garrity came to Quincy after eight highly successful seasons as coach at Abp. Williams. He coached the Bishops' first team in 1952 and coached through the 1959 season.

During his tenure at Williams, Garrity's teams were among the Eastern Mass. football powers.

"Two of the current Quincy assistant coaches, Peter Chella and John Sullivan, played for me at Quincy," Garrity said.

Raiders Won Only Overtime Game In Series

Dave Burke led North Quincy to wins over Quincy in 1945 and 1946 and for seven years he was his alma mater's head coach.

Dave, following several years as a Quincy assistant, took over as North's head coach in 1975 and he retired following the 1981 campaign.

Burke had a 4-3 edge over Quincy as the Raider's head coach and his teams won the last two after losing the two previous games.

In his first season as head coach, 1975, Dave led North to a 9-1 record, losing only to Brockton, and the Raiders went to the Div. 1 Super Bowl, the only

DAVE BURKE

Quincy or North team to make the Bowl. The Raiders lost to Woburn in that game.

That was the 'year of the tie-breaker' for North. The Raiders won three games in overtime, twice on Ed McAleeny's field goals and then they topped Quincy, 15-8, in the only overtime game in the long series.

"I guess I'd have to rate that as the highlight of my seven years as North coach," Burke said. "But I felt all the Thanksgiving Day games were highlights. It was always a big thrill coaching in that game, just as it was playing in it."

1971 Game Ended Famine For Frazier

Ralph Frazier, a former North star himself, coached the Raiders for six years, 1969 through 1974, and there is no doubt about his biggest thrill coaching against Quincy.

"Without a doubt it was the 1971 game when we won, 30-12," said Frazier. "I had gone five years as a North player and coach without a win over Quincy. We lost all three games while I was playing and lost my first two games as coach."

Frazier's first team in 1969 was bombed, 53-0, the most one-sided game in the series. North also lost in 1970 but Frazier then won the next three games before his final team in 1974 was defeated, giving him a 3-3 coaching record against Quincy.

Frazier now is the highly successful wrestling coach at Duxbury High.

A Win For North Would 'Make' Season

Ken McPhee, in his first season as North Quincy's football coach, can't have a winning season, but a win on the holiday over Quincy would compensate for a losing record.

After completely outplaying their jinx team, Catholic Memorial, two weeks ago but losing on a long punt return and pass interception runback, the Raiders take a 3-5 record into the holiday classic.

McPhee, a former North star himself who took over when another ex-Raider standout, Dave Burke, called it quits, had an almost entirely new team this fall and installed a completely new system.

"I knew it would take a while for the boys to catch on and I knew we would have trouble in our first couple of games," McPhee said.

After losing their first two games to Milton, 28-6, and Brockton, 37-8, the Raiders came along fast and won three of their next four games, defeating Newton North, Cambridge Rindge and Latin and Brookline, while losing to Waltham. Then came defeats at the hands of Somerville and Catholic Memorial, although they outplayed both teams.

"I have been pleased with our offense and we have moved the ball well all year," McPhee said. "And the defense has been outstanding. It was frustrating to lose those games to Somerville and Memorial and we could easily have beaten Waltham.

"We won't try anything new against Quincy. They have an excellent offense and our defensive unit will have its hands full. They also have a huge defensive team and we will really have to work to move the ball against them."

McPhee will start an offensive line of Co-Capt. Jim Kelly and Peter Clark at end, Co-Capt. Gerry Connolly and Nick Gelsomini at tackle, Dave Ceurvels or Jack Hannan and Neil Leonard or Brian Maginnis at guard and Ken Wright at center.

Either Vin Barry or sophomore Dave Zuroms will open at quarterback, Dave DiCarlo and Rich Brown at halfback and John Kozlowski or Mike Cullen at fullback.

Also playing on offense will be Kevin White, John MacDonald and John Ward in the line and Scott Messina, Bob Leonard, Bryan Ellis and Mike Gill in the backfield.

Defensive coordinator Jack Raymer has been pleased with the rapid improvement in his unit.

"We have a good balance of seniors and underclassmen and the juniors have worked well with the seniors," he said. "We were very green at the start but the boys have come along well and played their best game at Catholic Memorial.

"Senior Bob Leonard has held the defense together and senior Rich Tapper has been outstanding. We have juniors at key spots and they have done very well. A couple of our losses were the result of individual mistakes and missed assignments. I think we'll be ready to do a good job against their outstanding runners."

Kelly and Pat McDonough will start at end, Connolly or Fred Peterson and Tony Befara or Rich DeLuca at tackle, Jim McNamara and Shawn Cunningham or Kevin Kelly at linebacker, Tapper or Jay Pillard and Gill or Brown at cornerback and Leonard, Jim Kennedy and Jack Bolster at halfback.

Maginnis will see service at tackle and Dave Ceurvels at linebacker.

1946 Crowd Of 18,003 Series Record

The crowd of 18,003 which watched the 1946 game seems certain to remain a Quincy-North Quincy record.

Many estimate that crowd was closer to 25,000, counting the many watching from the walls and trees and those who lined the MBTA bus garage yard.

In recent years the crowds have averaged between 12,000 and 13,000 and, with good weather this week, the crowd is expected to be around that number.

Presidents Out To Snap North's Streak

By TOM SULLIVAN

With a winning season already dined, the Quincy football team goes for the city championship and a halt to North Quincy's two-game holiday win streak Thursday.

The Presidents, who defeated Brookline in their last game, take a 6-3 record into the 50th holiday classic.

"We really needed that win after our sorry showing against Brockton," Coach Tom Fitzgerald said. "If we had lost to Brookline, I don't know what frame of mind the boys would have been in for the big one."

Fitzgerald, a former North all-scholastic and assistant coach, seeks his third win in five games over the Raiders. His teams topped North in his first two years as coach but lost the last two.

"This will be a typical Quincy-North game," Tom said. "North has come along well after a slow start and Ken (McPhee) has done an excellent job with them in his first year as coach. They have some fine running backs, a good passer and a strong defense."

Mike Miller, a standout defensive back who broke his ankle, will miss the game and two other backs, Glen Oriola and John Pickering, are questionable starters due to injuries.

Fitzgerald will start a huge offensive line of Capt. Kevin Riggs and Paul Gilbody at end, Jamie Gravales and Joe Harte at tackle, Bob Willard and Dan Mahoney at guard and either Rich Ready or John Carr at center.

Bob Mudge, who has thrown eight touchdown passes, will be at quarterback with Mark Righini or Mike Notarangelo and Chris Draicchio or Willie Cullen halfbacks and Ted Walsh at

"We won't try anything new, we'll go along with what we've been doing all season," Fitzgerald said. "If we play our game we can beat anyone as we proved against Fitchburg. And, after all, this is THE GAME and everyone is always up for it."

They've Seen Every Game

Among those who have seen every Quincy-North Quincy game either as a player, coach or just a fan, are former Quincy principal George Wilson and former coaches Jack Donahue of North and Bill Sullivan of Quincy. All three will be honored before Thursday's game.

Another who has seen every game is Elaine Zoia, wife of Pete, a star on North's first three teams in 1933, '34 and '35, and currently a Raider assistant coach.

North rolled with Tom Burke picking up 81 yards and Jack Linnahan adding 73 more on the ground for a 30-12 victory, snapping Quincy's three-game winning streak and giving Coach Ralph Frazier his first win over Quincy as a player or a coach.

If your bike breaks down, who'll fix it even if it's warranted?

# 3 BUY IT WITHOUT A SERVICE WARRANTY:

After 20 miles or so of riding, the nuts & bolts on your bicycle will loosen, speeds won't shift, brakes won't work, resulting in a severe safety hazard.

Including Pollard Mayor Wants City Take 3 Schools

By TOM HENSHAW

Mayor Francis X. McCauley plans to submit to the City Council next Monday night an order for a city takeover of three school buildings that have been abandoned by the School Department.

The order includes the Pollard School on Southern Artery in Quincy Point, which has been the center of a minor Ward 2 controversy over its future.

The others are the Massachusetts Field School in Wollaston and the Willard School in West Quincy.

Meanwhile, the Ward 2 Advisory Committee, headed by City Councillor Theodore DeCristofaro, has scheduled a meeting with Cong. Brian Donnelly Saturday, Dec. 4, at 10 a.m. in the Post Office building.

"It will be an informal chat about the possibilities of what Ward 2 may get if it were a target area for federal funds," said DeCristofaro. "The Pollard School will be a part of the discussion."

The Concerned Citizens for the Pollard School, headed by Richard Crespi, met Monday night and voted favorably on a proposal to make the school a community center with some rental units.

Members of the group plan to take the proposal to McCauley.

The mayor, however, said he intends to handle the disposition of the Pollard School in a manner similar to the handling of five other schools that have passed from the hands of the School Committee.

"We will put a development kit together describing the buildings and the grounds and advertise for proposals," he said. "We are willing to look at any proposals, including one from the Ward 2 people."

He said the thing that bothered him about the proposal by the Concerned Citizens is "where is the money coming from to maintain it? I understand it cost about $40,000 for heat and light as a school."

There have been indications that the Pollard School might be financed as a community center partly with federal Community Development Block Grant funds and partly from rentals of space in the building.

DeCristofaro indicated that the Saturday meeting with Donnelly will cover the entire subject of making Quincy Point, which makes up the major portion of Ward 2, a federal target area.

The Point was a major target area for federal funding in the 1960s and the early 1970s but since then CDBG efforts have shifted to other areas and it was thought that Quincy Point was not eligible.

Recently, however, Planning Director James Lydon said he has learned that Quincy Point may be able to resume eligibility and he has assigned some contingency CDBG funds to the area.

How much block grant money will be available from Washington in the next fiscal year, however, is questionable due to predicted budget cuts by the Reagan administration.

2 A.M. Closing For New Year's Eve

You will be able to ring in the New Year until 2 a.m. Jan. 1, at Quincy drinking establishments despite the rollback of hours earlier this year.

The License Board voted Tuesday to extend the "pouring" hours from 1 to 2 p.m. for the holiday.

In a letter to local liquor establishments with all-alcoholic common victualer licenses, City Clerk John Gillis explained that "this 2 a.m. closing has been granted for the past 30 odd years."

Gillis warned the establishments that "this is on a year to year basis and if any problems arise out of this granting, this custom will not be continued."

Hancock Bank Wins $2,300, Donates It To Charity

Hancock Bank, 1495 Hancock St., was the big winner in the second annual Christmas Festival drawing of the Quincy Center Business and Professional Association taking four out of seven prizes totalling $2,300.

The money has been donated to Quincy charities, according to William Kelley, bank president.

The bank won first prize of $2,000 and fourth, sixth and seventh prizes of $100 each.

Other winners were: Larry and John from Montilio's, 29 Chestnut St., Quincy, second prize, $500. Packy Connors, 203 Blue Hill Ave., Roxbury, third, $100.

Ferdinand (Pete) DeNicola, 927 Main St., Hingham, fifth, $100.

Re-Hearing Dec. 7 On Litre, Wedge License

By NANCY McLAUGHLIN
The Quincy License Board will hold a re-hearing Tuesday, Dec. 7, on a request from Litre and Wedge. Wine and Cheese Shoppe, Inc., 230 Washington St., for a retail store-all alcoholic license.
The board's Oct. 5 denial of the request was appealed to the Alcoholic Beverages Control Commission which has remanded the matter to the board.

Red Ford Taken

Joseph Piccarini of 23 Raymond St., Quincy Point, reported to police that his 1974 red and yellow Ford was stolen from the Twin City Laundromat on Washington St.

The license was purchased at public auction and formerly held by Capitol Liquors, Inc.

City Clerk John Gillis said Tuesday that opposition to granting the license has died down.

Attorney James Castelman, representing manager Sheila Trifone, said that the Ward 2 Civic Association has voted in favor of the license.

"There has been unsolicited outpouring by neighbors at the denial of the transfer," added Castelman. "They thought it would automatically go through."

Castelman gave the board more than 20 letters from area residents expressing that view.

"I have no objection to a reconsideration," said Building Inspector Allan MacDonald. "At the time I thought we were keeping with the wishes of the people."

License Board Briefs

The City License Board took the following action at Tuesday's License Board meeting at City Hall.

- Granted a request from Carl F. Leone for a second hand and antiques license for Mill Site Antiques, 20 Fort St., South Quincy.

- Granted a one day all alcoholic license to the Woodward Parents Club for a Christmas bazaar Friday, 7 to 10 p.m. at the school.

- Granted a request from Robert Dunn for transfer of a Motor II (used car) license for Manet Motors, 108 Washington St., to his son, Timothy Dunn.

- Granted a one day all alcoholic license to Dependable Cleaners for a Christmas party Thursday, Dec. 9, 7 to 11 p.m. at North Quincy Knights of Columbus Hall.

- Granted subject, to a routine police check, a request from Patio Coffee Shop II, 500 Commander Shea Blvd., for transfer of a common victualer license formerly held by Jordan Marsh for 6:30 a.m. to 2 p.m.

- Continued for one week a request from the Quincy High School Band Parents Association for tag day permits for Dec. 17 and 18.

In other action, the board agreed to notify the following to appear at next week's meeting:

- Manager of the Furnace Brook Golf Club with regard to disposing of rubbish in a residential area.

- Midas Muffler, 100 McGrath Highway, with regard to fencing and disposing of scrap metal.

- If a rotating sign at Dutch Treat, 388 East Squantum St., is not removed by next Tuesday, the manager of that establishment is to appear at the meeting.

Kelly Bills Would Cut City's Nut Island Expenses

City Councilor Leo J. Kelly has filed a bill with the State Legislature that would provide for local input into management of the MDC sewerage treatment plant at Nut Island.

Another Kelly bill, filed for him by Rep. Thomas F. Brownell, would give the city a credit against its Nut Island assessment for the expenses of building and maintaining pumping stations.

The deadline for filing such bills was yesterday (Wednesday).

Kelly said one of his bills would create an advisory board on expenditures at Nut Island similar to the advisory board that oversees the Norfolk County budget.

"We in the 37 cities and towns that are served by the Nut Island facility pay more to the state treasury than the MDC gets back from the state in its budget," Kelly said.

The duties of the Advisory Board would include the review of the proposed budget for Nut Island with each city or town carrying a weighted vote on its approval.

The second Kelly bill would give the city an annual credit on the cherry sheet for the "capital costs, operation and maintenance" of such facilities as the Quincy Point pumping station.

"We who are at the end of the sewer line to Nut Island have to have pumping stations in order to get into our sewerage into the flow," said Kelly.

"I believe Quincy is the only one of the 37 communities on the line that has to do it."

$92,500 Committed To Loans For Southwest Quincy Homes

Mayor Francis X. McCauley has signed a contract committing $92,500 for low interest loans to homeowners who desire to improve their properties in Southwest Quincy.

The contract, brought to $250,000 the total amount committed to the section of the city by the Quincy Neighborhood Housing Services since 1980.

"We are grateful to the city of Quincy for its commitment to Southwest," said Charles Pearce, treasurer of Quincy NHS.

In its first year of program services, Quincy NHS has made loans totalling more than $100,000 in the area under varying interest rates based on the home owners' ability to pay.

The loans vary from $1,000 up to $18,000 and are to be spent on home repairs involving such priorities as health and safety, energy conservation and exterior cosmetic improvements.

McCauley noted that "since the operating expenses of this money are paid by contributions from the banking and business community, every dollar given by the city goes directly for home improvements."

Armed Robber Nets $2,000 In Bank Deposits

An armed robber held up an emissary from Nick's Foreign Autos who was making a deposit at the South Shore Bank Monday afternoon and escaped with nearly $2,000 in cash.

Anthony Masciarelli told police he had parked on Chestnut St. preparatory to making the deposit when the man yanked open the car door and showed him a small hand gun.

"Don't look at my face," he told Masciarelli. "Give me the bag and the money."

Then he fled down Foster St. with $1,791 in the bag from Nick's Foreign Autos on Franklin St. and $155 from Masciarelli's pocket.

The man was described as a white male about 24 years old with long "frizzy" hair and a thin mustache, wearing a black leather motor cycle jacket.

Bomb Scare Empties North Quincy Supermarket

A bomb scare that forced the evacuation of the Stop and Shop supermarket on Newport Ave., North Quincy, Monday afternoon turned out to be a clock and some pieces of tar wrapped in a paper bag.

The telephone call warning that the bomb was to go off between 2 p.m. and 2:30 p.m. came at two minutes before 2 p.m. to the manager of the adjacent Medi Mart store.

An employee of the supermarket found the package consisting of a brown paper bag wrapped in masking tape.

Police ordered the store cleared while Det. Robert Crowley and Sgt. Michael Barry wrapped the package in a bomb blanket and carried it to the far end of the Stop and Shop parking lot.

Leo Vought of the State Police bomb detail was called to examine the package and when he opened it he found the clock and the pieces of tar.

The bomb scare lasted about two hours.

Enjoyed Senior Citizens Thanksgiving Dinner

Editor, The Quincy Sun:

I attended the Annual Senior Citizens Thanksgiving Dinner which, I understand, was initiated by a former Mayor, Hannon, according to the remarks made by Mr. McCauley.

Senator Harold and other "dignitaries" were introduced including Ted DeCristofaro, Council Representative in Ward 2 and others associated with the Quincy Council on Aging.

Taking their "bows", only Ted DeCristofaro remained to continue serving "we" senior citizens including, if my memory serves me correctly, a former Assessor and now Housing Authority Director replaced by one Mr. Fagurland, present Assessor for the city of Quincy.

The dinner was more than adequate and the people who served the tables were pleasant and genuinely pleased to give up a part of their day away from their families to serve us.

I was pleased to sit at a meal, talk to people I've never met before and give "Thanksgiving" to be invited to and enjoy an experience new to me.

At "our" table was "Bobo", Henry, Victoria and Marge. We talked...each of us reaching out to establish some reason for being there other than the admission that we (might be) lonely. We all said, I think, that we had other invitations but had declined, for various reasons. I know that I made up a story. Fact is, I had no other place to go.

This is my "bread and butter note", as I was taught to write.

I'm glad I read "Thanksgiving Dinner for Senior Citizens Thursday" on the 2nd page of the Quincy Sun Vol. 15, Nov. 9 * 2 sections * 56 pages dated: Wednesday November 24.

The Ayatollah And The Queen

Editor, The Quincy Sun:

Ayatollah Khomeini and his followers have officially executed 4,000 people, according to Amnesty International. Opponents of Khomeini put the number of executions as high as 20,000 and the number of imprisoned at 50,000. The pain of this situation is felt directly by the Iranian people, but what about the American people? Why isn't there a resounding cry

Happy 101, Max

Max London, the popular dean of Quincy merchants, is just 21 days away from a rare milestone: his 101st birthday.

His colleagues honored him Sunday night at the annual Christmas Festival get-together of the Quincy Center Business and Professional Association at the California.

He was presented with a big cake whipped up by George Montilio and he helped cut it but before getting in one of his famed naughty-but-nice jokes.

On Monday, however, he was admitted to Quincy City Hospital for a hernia operation. "He's doing good," reports his son Jack who owns the Quincy Furniture Co. in downtown Quincy with his father.

Max, doesn't go around giving advice on how to live to a ripe old age.

He'd rather get up and dance with a pretty girl. And, he does.

But if you really ask him, he'll tell you he probably owes his longevity to a few little things. Like:

"Don't be a worrywart. Keep a sense of humor. Eat a balanced meal and chew your food well. Enjoy people."

How about drinking or smoking?

Well, Max never drinks. But he smokes four or five cigars a day.

But perhaps the most important ingredient to his how-to-live long formula is staying active.

Max—get this—until he entered the hospital has been putting in a six-day, 61 1/2 hour work week with his son, Jack.

And is itching to get back to the store.

How does Max look?

Well, he looks so good, some people think he and Jack are brothers instead of father and son.

LONDON

CAROL PISANO, former Quincy city director of tourism, now with the National Fire Protection Association, passes along this item on Ruth Gordon that recently appeared in the Philadelphia Inquirer:

"Actress Ruth Gordon spilled the beans recently on how someone standing only 5 feet and from Quincy, Mass. — with no money, no connections, no looks and 'no nothing' — could land a career in show business.

"That's the great philosophy of life that I have learned," she deadpanned. "Never face facts."

GORDON

OBSERVATION via Rev. Keith Munson, minister, in the United First Parish Church newsletter:

You know that you are getting 'older' when: "Everything hurts and what doesn't hurt, doesn't work."

"The gleam in your eye is the sun hitting your bifocals."

"You feel like the night before, and you haven't been out."

"Your address book contains only names ending with letters M.D."

"You get winded playing chess."

"Your children begin to look middle-aged."

"Your mind makes contracts your body can't meet."

"You know all the answers, but no one asks you the questions."

"You look forward to a dull evening."

"You sit in a rocking chair and can't get it going."

"Your knees buckle and your belt won't."

"You can't stand people who are intolerant."

McCauley Wants State Reimburse On Housing

Mayor Francis X. McCauley said Tuesday he planned to file a bill in the State Legislature that would require the state to reimburse the city for taxes lost on housing owned by the state.

The deadline for filing such bills was yesterday (Wednesday).

McCauley said there are 510 units of such housing in four projects in Quincy and that the city should receive an amount in lieu of taxes equal to what it would get from private housing.

He said he didn't know how much money would be involved.

"We will be trying to get the state to agree to a philosophy under which the state would recognize and make up for the loss of taxes to the city," he said.

Homeowners' Insurance Policy Best Protection

Your basic economic protection against burglary and other types of theft, whether you own a house or rent an apartment, is a homeowners' insurance policy.

There are also special policies designed for owners of mobile homes and condominium units.

If you don't already have such a policy, you should purchase one right away.

The typical homeowners' policy will insure you against loss by burglary up to 50 per cent of the policy amount. If you rent, the protection is the full amount stated in the policy.

It is wise to make an inventory of your personal possessions, including the date each item was purchased and its original value.

Give one copy to your insurance agent and keep another in a safe place, such as a safety deposit box, outside the home. Update the inventory at least once a year.

Also save receipts and serial numbers of your more valuable items and keep them with the inventory list.

If you have a burglary loss, the list will help you to remember what was lost and the receipts will help you establish proof of value.

Especially valuable items, such as collections, furs, cameras or jewelry, should be protected by an "endorsement" or a "floater" on your policy, which provides added coverage for such items beyond the policy limits.

Former Mayor Charles A. Ross, one of the most powerful figures in Quincy politics when he served as city councillor from 1912 to 1926 and as mayor for nine years until he retired in 1949, died in City Hospital at the age of 74 following a brief illness.

A native of Scotland, he came to South Quincy when he was 9 months old and was a piano salesman when he became the youngest member of the City Council at the age of 30. His 37 year political career ended with the advent of Plan E government in 1949.

HN FIRE PROTECTION SOUGHT

A delegation of Houghs Neck residents appeared before the City Council to demand more adequate fire protection in the wake of a tragic fire that snuffed out the lives of a mother and two of her four children in their home at 254 Manet Ave.

"It is high time that Houghs Neck received a fair shake," said Herbert Morgan, spokesman for the group. "Nowhere else in the city of Quincy would a fire engine be allowed to stand so long unprepared. Too long has Houghs Neck been neglected."

Morgan was referring to the ladder truck at the Houghs Neck station which was out of service at the time of the fire. Fire Chief Thomas F. Gorman said he is trying to obtain a second hand motor for the truck while steps were being taken to buy a replacement.

Meanwhile, Francis McMillen, who survived the fire that claimed the lives of his wife and two children, was released from City Hospital after being treated for burns. Two other children, Francis, 6, and Diane, 5 months, also survived.

Chester Weeden, president of the Quincy Trust Co., said a fund being raised for the McMillen family was nearing the $4,000 mark.

Beauty Hints

By Sabina of Sabina's Beauty Schools

24 Cottage Ave. 476 Boylston St.
Quincy 472-1673 Boston 267-1581

This week's hints have to do with corrective makeup for the lips.

For a thin lower lip use a lip color pencil to extend the curve of the lower lip to balance with the size of the upper lip. For a thin upper lip, use a lip color pencil to extend the curve of the upper lip to balance with the size of the lower lip. For thin lips in general, increase the size of both upper and lower lips with a gentle, curving line.

For a small mouth, build out the sides of the upper and lower lips, and extend the corners of the mouth.

For drooping corners, build up the upper lip at the corners of the mouth, while for large, full lips, keep lip color inside the lip line. Apply a lighter color to the lips and then brush on a deeper color on the center of both lips.

If the mouth is too oval, use a lip color pencil to draw a slight indent on the upper lip, while with uneven lips, use a lip color pencil to correct the uneven lines of the lips. Fill in the areas necessary to make the lips appear more even.

Dr. Langevin preached on the topic, "Born of the Virgin Mary." The Chancel Choir sang "Call To Advent" by J. J. Williams for the offertory.

Morrissey and City Council President John Lydon.

A THOUGHT FOR THE WEEK

The touch in a handshake can mean "Hello" - "Goodbye" - "Congratulations" - "Sympathy" - and a lot of other things. Because man has a soul, his touch differs from the pawing touch of an animal. Man combines the touch of the physical with the spiritual. The loving touch of a mother's hand can ease the pain of a child's bruise. A slap can inflict pain physically and spiritually.

There are contrasts in both the physical and spiritual touch. Some are pleasant. Some are painful. In a spiritual sense, everybody touches the lives of others every day by what we say... what we do... how we act. The touch on others can be good or bad. It can bring a touch of happiness or unhappiness. A touch of moderation and mercy... a touch of harshness and hatred. Since all of us touch some one with nearly everything we say or do, shouldn't we be careful how we touch them?... (And, incidentally, we sometimes wonder how - or if - the weekly thoughts you read here, reach out to "touch" you as we hope they do?)...

OFF TARGET SPRAY

Any foreign substance entering your eyes can result in horrible consequences, ranging all the way from simple irritation to permanent blindness. Spray cans present problems because of the large number of potentially dangerous products that are now available in that form. The use of potent cleaning solvents in many garages, and oven cleaners in the kitchen can present real hazards. An inadvertent squirt of such a chemical in the eye will cause damage to the tissue, especially if not immediately flooded with water. This situation is aggravated by the fact that many spray cans have inadequate marking for the direction that the spray will be ejected.

Try to purchase cans that are designed so that it is difficult, if not impossible, to depress the valve when the nozzle is facing backwards. With all spray cans always check - and double check - to see that the arrow or other indication is pointing away from you.

4 Santa Mail Boxes In Downtown Area

Richard J. Koch of the Quincy Christmas Festival Committee announces that four Santa Claus mailboxes are available in Quincy Sq. and are located at the following sites:

McIntyre Mall, adjacent to the Quincy Cooperative Bank, at the rear of the Hancock Bank in the Ross Parking Way, in front of Colman's Sporting Goods and in front of Child World.

The special service, provided by the Christmas Festival Committee, will allow boys and girls to mail their letters and postcards to Santa directly and the mail boxes are built to allow the children to deposit their own communications to Santa.

Adults are cautioned that the smaller size mailboxes are for Santa mail only allowing boys and girls to communicate with Santa as to their wants for Christmas 1982.

Each season, hundreds of letters and notes are delivered to Santa from the special children's mailing service.

The Santa mail box project is one of the Christmas Festival Committee sponsored events. Others include the Christmas Lighting Ceremony, the annual Christmas Parade and the Elementary School Poster Contest for boys and girls in Grades 1 through 6.

The final event of the season will be the Nativity Scene Program scheduled for Sunday, Dec. 12, at 6:30 p.m. at the Church of the Presidents and the Christmas Creche located at the Hancock Cemetery.

The series of Christmas Festival Activities are sponsored by the Quincy Center Business and Professional Association.

Koch Club Receives Requests For 3,000 Toys For Needy

The Koch Club Christmas program committee has received requests for approximately 3,000 toys for needy boys and girls in Quincy, the South Shore and Greater Boston area reports Richard J. Koch, executive director.

The public is invited to participate in the holiday efforts of the group with donations of new or used toys in good condition. New or used toys in good condition may be left at Koch's home, 241 Newbury Avenue, North Quincy.

Since 1971, the Koch Club has conducted the project starting with the contribution of 300 gifts to a Boston residential area following a pre-Christmas fire that left dozens of families homeless. With the aid of individuals and organizations from Quincy and surrounding communities, the committee has provided a total of 15,000 items during the past 11 years for presentation to boys and girls during the Holiday season. Toys were also provided to several homes for abused wives and children as part of the total project.

Koch credits many individuals and organizations with the success of the endeavor as well as Koch Club members. Students and parents of Parker School, Sacred Heart School, Central Middle School, Broad Meadows Middle School and the former Mass. Fields School have all contributed to the program.

Also the North Quincy Catholic Women's Club, employees of Otis Elevator, members of Granite City Grange, Wollaston Baptist Church and members of Cub Scout Pack # 27, Girls of the Woodward School have provided Christmas wrapping and packaged hundreds of gifts for the past 10 years.

The George F. Bryan VFW Post and Auxiliary, under the direction of Thomas McDonald and Rita Kelleher have refurbished hundreds of the used toys and dolls and prepared the same for transportation to churches, charitable groups and centers for presentation to children during the past several years. Mrs. Kelleher has repaired, cleaned and dressed hundreds of dolls for gifts at Christmas.

This week, 25 large boxes of used but clean useable clothing for adults and children were delivered to an organization in the South End of Boston and is being distributed immediately to families in need of clothing.

Mrs. Clara Yeomans sorted, prepared and packaged the hundreds of articles for transportation to the center. The articles were donated and contributed by residents of Quincy. Last year, adult clothing was delivered to the Pine Street Inn and will be continued this season.

The Koch Club Christmas Charity Committee has provided food baskets along with gifts to needy Quincy and South Shore families for the past 27 years. The baskets are distributed through local charitable and community service organizations.

Assisting in the past have been Hancock Bank, Attorney George G. Burke and dozens of individuals who contribute annually.

Helen Moore Switches On NFPA Holiday Lights

Helen (Golden) Moore, 91, of Woodcliff Rd., West Quincy, switched on the Christmas lights at the National Fire Protection Association during ceremonies recently.

Robert Grant, NFPA president, asked Mrs. Moore to do the honors as the oldest area resident. She is a life long Quincy resident.

Escorting her to the platform was her grand nephew Rep. Michael Morrissey.

Morrissey's grandmother, Marion (Golden) Myers and Mrs. Moore were sisters.

The relationship also goes a little deeper as Helen's daughter Marjorie and Michael's mother married two of the Morrissey brothers, Richard and Arthur.

Grant also pointed out that Mrs. Moore's father, Daniel A. Golden, was a call firefighter for the Quincy Fire Department in the early 1900's.

Quincy Girls Win State Volleyball Crown

The Quincy High girls' volleyball team capped its greatest season last week when it defeated Arlington, 3-1, after losing the opening game, to win the state championship.

The First Ladies had won the South Sectional title and Arlington the North crown.

In a thrilling first game Quincy jumped off to an 8-3 lead behind the net play of senior Ellen Deady. The Spy Ponders came back with nine straight points before Quincy's Susan Bevins broke the streak with a spike. Arlington rallied for two straight points in a 14-14 tie to the opening game, 16-14.

Quincy came back to take a quick 6-1 lead in the second game as Barbara Fain served two aces and the front line of Deady and Theresa Munroe stopped the powerful spiking of Arlington's Chris Specht and Michelle Duma with precise hitting and sharp defense. Quincy ran off the next five points paced by junior Christine Gallery and Quincy evened the match, 15-10.

Quincy won a thrilling third game, 15-12, as the lead changed hands four times. Gallery again was the stopper at the end as she drilled two spikes to clinch the win.

Quincy now had the momentum and the spiking combine of Gallery and Beven paced the First Ladies to a big 12-1 lead and Quincy went on to a 15-7 win and the championship.

"It helped us playing such strong teams as Boston Latin and Case," said Quincy Coach Ray Whitehouse. "Arlington played well under pressure and I didn't feel comfortable even with that 12-1 lead. Our girls did a super job and it was a tremendous season." Whitehouse was assisted by Chris Predeville this season.

NANCY O'NEILL will be teaching group lessons for children and adults afternoons and evenings at the MDC rinks in Quincy and Milton. Registration information can be had by calling the Bay State Skating School at 527-1936.

QJC Breaks Even In 2 Games

The Quincy Junior College basketball team broke even in two non-league games last week, defeating Atlantic Union College, 75-51, but bowing to the Brandeis University junior varsity, 66-45. The Jaguars are 4-1 overall and 3-0 in the Greater Boston Small College Conference.

Quincy led Atlantic Union from the start. Leading 17 points were Jim Conboy with 17 points. Paul Gill with 16 and Gary DiNardo with 12. Tom Pound added seven. However, QJC trailed all the way against Brandeis and poor shooting and costly turnovers kept it in trouble.

Steve Belcastro had 11 points. QJC hosts North Shore tonight (Thursday) at 7 at the Vo-Tech gym and Saturday will play a Daniel Webster in Nashua, N.H.

JACK DONAHUE, North Quincy's first football coach, is escorted onto the field by Principal Peter Chrisom and North cheerleaders Debbie Leonard and Marianne O'Neil.

Donahue, Sullivan, Wilson Honored

Honored before the Thanksgiving game were former coaches Jack Donahue of North Quincy and Bill Sullivan of Quincy and former Quincy principal George Wilson, all of whom have seen every one of the 50 games.

The three were introduced in the center of the field. Donahue and Sullivan were presented plaques recognizing their "Dedicated service to the youth of their schools on the 50th anniversary game." A large plaque will be placed in the schools and each coach received a smaller one to keep.

Donahue was North's only coach from 1933 until he retired in 1960. Sullivan was assistant coach at Quincy for a dozen years, then head coach for eight years (1952 through 1959) and coached the Presidents to five straight wins over North, the only coach to win more than three games in a row. He had a 6-2 record against North as head coach.

A Salute To 5 Early Captains

Among those honored before the Thanksgiving game were the first few captains of the Quincy and North Quincy teams.

Introduced at midfield were Vic DiGravio (1934) and Lou Volpe

The 50th Game Closer

By TOM SULLIVAN

A look at the score of last week's 50th annual Quincy-North Quincy football game would seem to indicate that the Presidents blew the Raiders out of Veterans Memorial Stadium.

But that was hardly the case, as a crowd of 12,000 to 13,000 looked on.

Although Quincy was the superior team on the holiday, it was not as dominant as the final 26-3 score would seem to show.

Except for two gift touchdowns North handed Quincy on bad passes from center on punting situations, the game was pretty evenly played, as the statistics show.

Quincy had a net gain of 218 yards rushing to 176 for North. Neither team had too much success passing, North having 58 yards on five for 15, while Quincy had only 16 yards on two for eight. The Raiders ground out 18 first downs to 14 for the Presidents, who gained their 26th win in the series. North has 21 wins and there have been three ties.

"We overpowered them and we played our best game of the season," said a happy Quincy coach Tom Fitzgerald, who made his record 3-2 gainst his alma mater. "We played very well both ways. We knew they would gain some yards rushing, but felt we could stop them and we did just that when it counted."

"All of our seniors played very well in their final game and Mark Righini had his best two-way game of the season (119 yards rushing, one touchdown and an outstanding defensive game). I wanted to give all the seniors a chance and they responded well. We played as we are capable of playing. With any luck we could have finished 9-1 instead of 7-3. The only game we really should have lost was to Brockton."

Ken McPhee, in his first year as the Raiders' head coach, had nothing but praise for his squad.

"This is the best bunch of kids in the world and I'm very proud of them," he said. "They were much bigger than we were and just out-gunned us. But we gave them a battle and it was just too bad we had to give them those two gift touchdowns. I feel we were a better team than our 3-6 record indicates.

"We are young and have a lot of boys back next year. We also have an outstanding group of sophomores coming up and we'll be up there next year. But, give Quincy all the credit it deserves, they were more emotionally up for this game than for any game we've seen them play this year."

Senior quarterback Bob Mudge played an excellent game. Although he was only two for eight with an interception, he ran well, picked up 43 yards and played well on defense.

Righini did the bulk of the ground gaining but Mike Notarangelo, Ted Walsh and Chris Draicchio also ran well. Joe Conti punted well.

Defensive coach Bill Mavor was delighted with the way his unit stopped North twice deep in Quincy territory.

He had praise for everyone and Kevin Cabezas, Joe Harte, Chris McCray, Kevin Riggs, Righini, Brian Callahan, Jamie Gravalese, Bob Willard, Bob Burns, Frank Gaudiano, Paul Gilbody, Mudge, Ed Kennedy, Shawn Wynn, Paul Campbell, Bob McIsaac, Jim Kelly, Han Ha, John Marsters, Rich Gustin and John O'Donahue all came in for their share of the plaudits.

"They stunted a lot and we picked up their stunts," Mavor said. "They exploited our weaknesses but we had the strength to stop them when it counted. Every one was just super."

Offensive line coach Pete Chella couldn't say enough for his charges, who played their best game and did some excellent blocking.

"John Carr, despite an injured back, played his best game and was blocking two people on every play," he said. "I was surprised we were able to move so well against them, as they have a fine defense but our size wore them down."

Chella had high praise for Willard and Danny Mahoney, who worked inside; tackles Gravalese and Harte, who was a stickout both ways, Riggs and two spot guards, O'Donahue and Gustin.

North moved the ball well all morning on the ground but Quincy's huge line held twice deep in its own territory.

John Kozlowski had his best day and ran for 83 yards. Rich Brown picked up 57 yards. Dave DiCarlo, the Raiders' top scorer this year, contributed 36 yards.

The offensive line did a good job against the much bigger Quincy front wall.

"I'm very proud of every one of these boys and I thank God I had a chance to work with them," offensive coach Mark Mulvaney said. "They were young and inexperienced but came along fast and I thought they did a good job today."

He singled out his guards, Neil

Leonard, sophomore Jack Hannan, Dave Ceurvels, and Brian Maginnis, as well as Nick Gelsomini, Jim Kelly, Gerry Connolly and Kevin White.

Defensive coordinator Jack Raymer had good words for Kelly, Connolly, Pat McDonough, Fred Peterson, Jim McNamara, Shawn Cunningham, Mike Gill, Rich Tapper, Jack Bolster, Jim Kennedy and Jay Pillard.

"These kids were just great and did everything I asked of them," he said. "I couldn't have asked for anything more."

North was stopped after taking the opening kickoff and Vin Barry kicked to Quincy's 47 from where the Presidents marched to their first score. Mudge capped the 11-play drive with a seven-yard pass to Gilbody in the far corner of the end zone. Harte kicked the point.

North went from its own 13 to Quincy's 49. But, after Barry was sacked for a 12-yard loss, he went back to punt and the pass from center sailed far over his head, Quincy getting the ball on the North 10. On the first play of the second period Righini went the 10 yards to make it 13-0.

North staged a good drive from its 28 all the way to the Quincy seven-yard line, clicking off four first downs. But the Presidents held and the Raiders settled for Mike Cullen's 27-yard field goal.

Crowd Of 12,000-13,000

The crowd at last week's game, estimated at between 12,000 and 13,000, was disappointing.

Because of the 50th anniversary festivities and the perfect day for football, it was expected that the crowd would be at least 15,000.

In the third period Quincy drove from its 48 to the Raider seven and Walsh scored from the two. Harte's kick made it 20-3.

The Raiders moved the ball well again, adding four more first downs and marching to the Quincy nine. But, with fourth down on the two, Righini made the big play, tackling DiCarlo for a three-yard loss as the Presidents took over on their five.

Quincy quickly reeled off three first downs but a Mudge pass was deflected and intercepted by North's Gill on the Raiders' 12. North went to the Quincy 44 with Scott Messina going for 12 yards and Kozlowski 20. But, on fourth down, another bad pass from center, this one bouncing past Barry, gave Quincy the ball on the Raiders' 24. It took the Presidents only four plays to score with Draicchio going over from the three to end the day's scoring.

The game was unusually free of penalties, with not a single one called against North and four against Quincy, three of them late in the game.

Fitzgerald paid tribute to his assistants, Maver, Chella, John Sullivan and two of his former players, Glen Straughn and Steve Spencer, while McPhee also praised his aides, Raymer, Mulvaney, Ted Sadowski and Pete Zoia.

Fans were late in arriving. Just 15 minutes before kickoff, it appeared that no more than 10,000 would turn out.

The crowd was unable to keep track of the time and the progress of the game, as the electric scoreboard wasn't working.

MARK RIGHINI, Quincy's leading ground gainer against North Quincy, is brought down after a gain.

Burke Stars, Quincy 6 N.Q. 0 In SSL Hockey

Art Burke scored two goals and assisted on two others as the Quincy High School hockey team belted North Quincy, 6-0, in the opener of the South Shore Hockey League at Boston Arena.

Coach Bill Hutchinson's Presidents scored four times in the first 10 minutes with Ed Dwyer, Ed Houghton and Burke twice getting the goals. Then they cooled it until Don Dettoni and Walt Vient scored in the last three minutes.

The Quincy goalies, Earl Mooney and Charley Crooker, had little trouble turning back the virtually punchless attack of Coach Bob Laing's Red Raiders.

The North Quincy lineup included: Baldwin, Wood, Smart, Scanlon, guards; Grutchfield, center; Mann, Frederickson, Lemberg, forwards.

Vin Salvucci, star of the American International College team, made his first start for the Manets and scored a touchdown on a 55-yard run and Noel Reebenacker got the third score.

Quincy Symphony To Present 'Peter And The Wolf'

The Quincy Symphony Orchestra will present its first concert of the 1982-1983 season, a Holiday Concert, Friday at 8 p.m. at North Quincy High School.

The concert will feature three major works for children and adults.

"Peter and the Wolf, an Orchestral Fairy Tale" was written in 1936, after the composer Serge Prokofiev, had attended a performance of Tchaikovsky's "Nutcracker Suite" at the Moscow Children's Theater.

Dr. Stephen Levine joins the orchestra as narrator for "Peter and the Wolf." Levine is director of theatrical productions at Bridgewater State College, author of seven plays for children and adults, founder and formerly artistic director of the New England Theatre Guild for Children.

"The Clarinet Concerto in A Major" (K. 622) was composed by Wolfgang Amadeus Mozart as his last instrumental work. It was written for Mozart's friend, Anton Stadler.

Clarinet soloist for the Mozart concerto is Anthony C. Ferrante. A music teacher in the Quincy Public Schools for the last 25 years, Ferrante has devoted himself to music and music education serving as instrumental teacher, coordinator of music and, at present, director of the North Quincy High School Band.

When Ferrante first came to Quincy, Paul J. D'Angelo, the orchestra's 1982-1983 guest conductor, was one of his clarinet students.

The last piece on the program, "Symphony No. 4 in D Minor," is a work that may have been the second symphony that Robert Schumann composed.

Having completed the symphony, he withdrew it and over a period of 10 years rewrote the symphony, and at the same composed the symphonies numbered two and three.

The orchestra will be under the baton of Paul J. D'Angelo, guest conductor.

D'Angelo has a diversity of experience in musical performance, including conducting achievements in symphonic, operatic, and choral music.

A graduate of North Quincy High School, D'Angelo holds a master of music degree from the New England Conservatory of Music where he worked with Frederik Prausnitz and Lorna Cooke deVaron.

While studying for his master's degree, D'Angelo spent one summer in France, where he studied harmony with Nadia Boulanger and piano with Jean Casadesu.

D'Angelo is a resident of Plymouth, a teacher in music education in the public schools of Norwell, cellist in the Plymouth Philharmonic Orchestra, and founder of the Plymouth County Conservatory of Music in Plymouth.

Concert tickets will be available at the door, or call Mrs. Mary Vallier, 479-2408.

Quincy Condo Restriction Bill Passes Senate

A bill that would restrict condominium conversion in the city of Quincy has passed the state senate and moved on to the house.

The bill includes two amendments that would apply the restrictions only to buildings with four units or more and would exempt specifically newly constructed appurtenments.

The most important feature of the bill requires landlords to give tenants nine months notice of intent to convert to condominiums and two years notice to tenants handicapped or 62 years of age.

The bill was developed by a committee that included tenants and landlords under the chairmanship of City Councillor Stephen J. McGrath.

McGrath and the tenants and landlords, along with Sen. Paul D. Harold, worked out the amendments that Harold said were needed to get the measure by the Legislature.

Reimbursement For 2½ Loss Required Under Kelly Bill

City Councillor Leo J. Kelly has filed a bill with the State Legislature that would require the state to reimburse any city or town that is forced to cut its tax levy by 15 per cent for the third year under Proposition 2½.

Kelly noted that only a few of the older cities in the state, including Quincy, are being forced to slash their tax levies by 15 per cent for the third year in order to bring them down to 2.5 per cent of total valuation.

Mayor Francis X. McCauley said he is not sure yet that the city will have to cut its tax levy by 15 per cent to reach 2.5 since the total valuation figures under 100 per cent reveal are not yet official.

Robber Foiled

A man wearing welder's goggles and a bandana mask tried to hold up Scavo's Service Station, 552 Willard St., West Quincy, Thursday but fled when he was confronted by two men instead of one woman.

The man entered the station about 3 a.m. with his hand in the pocket of his blue jacket and told Mrs. Rosemary Gorman, who was at the desk, to "hit the floor!"

But when Jim Barry and Mrs. Gorman's husband, Bob, came around a corner to see what was happening, the man fled into the nearby woods.

PHARMACY TOPICS

by Edward David R.Ph.

Breast cancer patients who are fat, with high cholesterol levels, don't seem to survive as long after treatment as do thinner women with low cholesterol levels, says a study at Mount Sinai Medical Center in New York.

Fracture patients will recover faster with more protein in the diet, according to research at the Burke Rehabilitation Center in White Plains, N.Y. Calcium helps, too.

Researchers at hospitals in London and Washington, D.C., are using ultrasound to estimate the age of a fetus (and thus the delivery due-date). They measure the femur. New method is safer than X-ray, or any other way of "seeing" the child.

Radiation seems to be more effective against early prostate cancer than surgery, according to a recent survey reported in the Journal of the American Medical Association.

City Takes Over 9 School Buildings

Moving a trifle cautiously, the City Council Monday night accepted city custody of nine abandoned school buildings from the School Department.

The caution was expressed by Councillors Theodore P. DeCristofaro and Joseph J. LaRaia, who wondered if the School Department had not been overzealous in removing items from the buildings.

"I have noted," said LaRaia, "that certain fixtures have been removed from the Pollard School, including all the fixtures in one of the lavatories. It would cost the city a lot to restore them."

"It seems ridiculous," said DeCristofaro, "to take such fixtures out and then have to go out and get new ones."

LaRaia requested the mayor's office to inspect the abandoned buildings and report back to the Council on their condition, particularly any equipment that had been removed.

The most recently abandoned buildings, the Massachusetts Fields, the Pollard and the Willard Elementary Schools, came up for the first time at Monday's meeting.

They were quickly accepted, along with the Gridley Bryant, Adams, Quincy, Great Hill, N.S. Hunting and Cranch schools, which had been in committee since September.

Public Works Commissioner Paul Anderson told that Council that by ordinance, he is responsible for the maintenance of the buildings once the city takes over. "But," he added, "I disclaim responsibility for any item the School Department leaves behind inside the buildings. There is no way I can guarantee the security of those items."

Sometime, he said, the School Department can go too far.

"One of the previous buildings," he said, was so stripped of fixtures that one of the bidders was prepared to protest that it was not the same building that he examined."

Councillor Stephen J. McGrath was reluctant to delay acceptance of the buildings. The Mass Fields school is in his Ward 5.

"It would be a disservice to the neighborhoods to delay acceptance any more," he said. "We have been lucky so far at the Mass Fields School in that we have avoided vandalism."

"Let's get rolling on them so we can get started on the development packages. We have to have this thing moving. I'd like to vote on this tonight."

Mayor Francis X. McCauley has said he plans to put together development kits for each of the old buildings and send them out for bid proposals.

A Quincy Point group has been making plans to submit a bid for the Pollard School for use as a community center.

Mayor Plans New Job In Auditor's Office

Mayor Francis X. McCauley indicated Tuesday he plans to fund a second fulltime accountant in the Auditor's office in the budget for fiscal 1984.

"Two accountants were cut out of the budget for fiscal 1981 and we have never caught up," he said.

City Auditor Robert E. Foy III told the City Council Monday night that in the field of general ledger and appropriation accounting, his office is still working on the December, 1981, balance.

Councillor Stephen J. McGrath allowed that the office was "grossly understaffed" and the Council agreed to give Foy $9,33.60 to hire an accountant for 30 weeks to help catch up.

Foy told the Council that he hopes to be able to hire someone with a college degree in accounting who has experience in municipal finance.

McCauley, an accountant himself, said he plans to take part in the selection process and "if we get the right candidate, I'd plan to fund the position for the full fiscal 1984."

He indicated that the job will be needed even after the city sets up its Data Processing Department because data processing "will only cut out the routine detailed work."

January Wrap-up Goal Validated Parking Moves Ahead

By TOM HENSHAW

Mayor Francis X. McCauley told a group of Quincy Center businessmen Tuesday morning that he hopes to have everything in place by the first week in January for the move to validated parking in city lots.

McCauley said he told them that the city has asked for $115,000 in state aid to purchase parking equipment and they discussed a proposed agreement with Kinney Systems of Boston to operate the lots.

"We received preliminary approval for the grant," he said. "I hope to have final approval by year's end. Then we can start taking bids on capital items."

"We have the proposed agreement with Kinney now and we are trying to tailor it to the needs of the city. Hopefully, that will be ready too by the end of the month."

The Mayor declined to set a definite date for the beginning of validated parking.

He said he plans to meet again with the same group of businessmen in the first week of January to update them on progress.

The businessmen included Bernie Reisberg, president of the Quincy Center Business and Professional Association, Kenneth Fallon, its director, Mark Bertman and Robert Colman.

McCauley indicated that parking in the John Hancock and Ross parking areas will go up to 25 cents an hour when validated parking begins, with merchants paying 20 cents for validation tickets.

Monday night the City Council gave its imprimatur to a McCauley suggestion that the city rent 30 spaces in the Center Plaza Garage to individuals for $25 a month.

Arthur Foley, administrative assistant to the mayor, told the Council that the spaces are from the number allotted to Stop and Shop which has agreed to give them up.

One office building in the city, he said, has already indicated that it wants to take all 30.

Foley said that when validated parking is in effect in the areas, there will be monthly, weekly and daily spaces with Kinney expected to charge $25 for the monthly spaces.

The mayor's aide told the Council that renting the 30 spaces in the garage "will get 30 cars off the Quincy streets and that's important. Maybe we'll get additional spaces later."

Foley said he has inspected the garage and "at any given time there may be 100 empty spaces in the garage."

Council Cool To Library Post

Library Director Warren Watson would like to have an assistant but when the subject came up Monday night the City Council proved to be far more interested in using the money to improve services in the branches.

Watson told the Council that the $23,525 post would be filled by the current supervisor of adult services, whose $22,305 job would be incorporated into the assistant director's duties.

But the Council could see only the recent cuts in services inflicted on the branch libraries under Proposition 2½.

"I'd like to focus any extra money we have on the branch libraries," said Councillor Stephen

J. McGrath. "We don't need new positions. We need more hours in the branches."

Councillor Leo J. Kelly noted that the Adams Shore Library is in his ward and he said, "We will have to address the situation there before I can vote for any new jobs."

"I'll go you one better," said Councillor Theodore P. DeCristofaro. "Come down to Quincy Point. We'd like to have a library, not just increased hours."

Watson said the position of assistant director was eliminated in July 1979 with the retirement of Dorothy Newton.

"The department needs a second in command," he said. "You can

Council To Examine Dangers Of Headsets

City Councillor Theodore P. DeCristofaro would like to ban the wearing of those Walkman-type headsets in certain situations, like by joggers or bicyclists.

"They are dangerous," he told his fellow councillors Monday night. "The people who are wearing them cannot hear cars coming, even when the driver blows the horn."

DeCristofaro said he would like the Council's Public Safety Committee to look into the matter and prepare an ordinance. His colleagues agreed with him.

Licenses To Be Paid For, Picked Up

City Clerk John Gillis announces that all liquor, common victualer, motor and II, and video licenses are ready to be picked up. They can be paid for by certified check or in cash, according to Gillis.

Theresa Gacicia, License Board secretary, said that the licenses can be picked up anytime before the end of the year. She noted that city hall will be closed the Fridays before Christmas and New Year's Day.

Litre And Wedge Granted All-Alcoholic License

By NANCY McLAUGHLIN
The Litre and Wedge, Wine and Cheese Shoppe, Inc., at 230 Washington St. was granted a retail store-all alcoholic license at a re-hearing Tuesday.
The license board, with Police Chief Francis Finn absent, unanimously approved the request for a six month probationary period starting Jan. 1. It had denied the license in October.
Stipulations are that gasoline tanks for personal use be removed if the property is sold or management changed, an account of the gasoline used be kept daily, conditions at the rear of the store be improved, and the store not become solely a liquor store.
The hearing attracted nearly 50 proponents and opponents of the request which had been denied earlier because of opposition. That decision was appealed to the Alcoholic Beverages Control Commission which remanded the matter to the board.

Atty. Richard Barry, representing the Trifone family which owns the store, said that the executive board of the Ward 2 Civic Association voted in favor of the request.
Ward Councillor Theodore DeCristofaro, who said that he was putting his personal feelings aside, told the board that the majority of people favor granting the license.
Also speaking in favor were Sharyn Raymond, wife of former ward councillor and former mayoral candidate Daniel Raymond; Ron Mariano, representing Rep. Robert Cerasoli; John P. Comer, Housing Authority director; and Catherine Pattiava.
Thirty four people at the hearing signed their names as proponents of the request.
Opponents included Angela L.

Carroll, chairman of the parent advisory board at the Point Webster School, Charlotte and Tony DiGiacomo and Thomas Moore.
Mrs. Carroll and Mrs. DiGiacomo gave the board letters of opposition they said were from area residents and from clergy from Glad Tidings, Central Baptist, St. John's, Bethany, and Christ Churches, and the Salvation Army.

Atty. L. Paul Marini said as an abutter he was concerned about the gas tanks.
Fire Chief Edward Barry asked Atty. Barry what percentage the alcoholic beverages would be to the other items sold.
Atty. Barry estimated it would be one tenth.
"We don't want another Atlas Liquors", said Building Inspector Allan MacDonald.

Board Continues Hearing On Midas Muffler

The License Board Tuesday continued for 30 days a hearing on fencing and disposal of scrap metal in the area by Midas Muffler Shop, 100 McGrath Highway.
Midas general manager Sal Falletti, local manager Gary Beckwith and abutter Mrs. Annina Carlucci are to meet Monday at 10 a.m. with Building Inspector Allan MacDonald to discuss the situation.

MacDonald said that a fence which was part of the original license in 1972 and which provided a buffer zone was moved by Midas.
Mrs. Carlucci said that since then, scrap metal has been thrown in her yard and exhaust fumes from cars have prevented her from enjoying her garden.
Fire Chief Edward Barry told Falletti he realized the right of businesses to operate, "but you have to be responsive to people who have been there many years."
Barry suggested that the scrap metal be picked up and taken away more often.
MacDonald suggested that until pick-up, the scrap metal be enclosed, and a solid fence be installed to prevent exhaust fumes from being transmitted.

A Special Tribute Post Office Renamed 'James A. Burke Building'

"I always said I'd rather wear out than rust out," said former Cong. James A. Burke. "I took a little Geritol yesterday and that helped me make it today."

"This morning, my wife, Aileen, said to me, 'You're very young looking, Jim. Why you only look about 50 or 55.' Hearing that, I said, 'I'm going to announce I'm not a candidate in 1984.'"

Thus it was with a quip and a challenge to the advancing years that the 72-year-old Burke acknowledged the renaming of the Quincy Post Office building in his honor.

Ceremonies were held Sunday in the lobby of the building where Burke, who lives in Milton, maintained a district office during two decades in Congress from 1958 to 1978.

"During the past four years," said Cong. Brian J. Donnelly, his successor in Washington, "I have heard many times, 'If you are the young man who took Jim Burke's place, you have big shoes to fill.'"

"There is no greater truth than that. The respect in which Jim Burke is held in the district and in the Congress is unparalleled in the history of American politics."

Attendance at the ceremonies, which were co-hosted by Donnelly and Philip L. Sullivan, postmaster of Boston, read like a who's who in Massachusetts politics.

There was Senate President William Bulger ("Jim's entire career reflected great credit on the public service"), Mayor Francis X. McAuley, James Ferguson, aid to House Speaker Thomas P. "Tip" O'Neill Jr. and telegrams from Sen. Edward M. Kennedy and Rep. Edward P. Boland.

"On a number of occasions," said McAuley, "I called on Jim Burke for help and his batting average was 100 per cent.

"One Monday I received a call from a constituent who had a son in the Air Force. He wanted to take a firefighters exam on Thursday and he had to be there or lose it."

"I told Jim the story. He asked me where the young man was stationed. I said Juneau, Alaska. This, I thought, is where Jim's batting average goes down."

"But Jim didn't bat an eyelash. He said he would take care of it. That boy got home in time to take the firefighters' exam. That's the kind of service Jim Burke delivered to Quincy."

A plaque in the lobby of the post office was dedicated to Burke and President Reagan sent along the pen that was used to sign the legislation creating "The James A. Burke Building."

"It is," said Postmaster Sullivan, "to the best of our knowledge, the first post office-owned building in the Greater Boston area to be named for an individual."

If necessary, we can even provide custom programming for unique applications, but in every case, we support what we sell from initial design through on-site training.

A Tribute To Louis S. Cassani

Editor, The Quincy Sun:

The Rotary Clubs of Quincy and Braintree in a combined meeting with the Quincy Kiwanis Club joined in a minute of silence to the memory of Louis S. Cassani.

Needless to say our thoughts were of this fine man who will no longer be with us.

The long list of causes he was involved in bears testimony to his life of "Service above Self". His life truly exemplified the highest ideals of Church, Rotary and the community.

We are grateful for his life and that it touched ours.

Quincy-North 50th Supplement 'One Of The Finest Histories'

Editor, The Quincy Sun:

I am grateful for the Thanksgiving Day Insert which was part of the Quincy Sun. I believe it is one of the finest single histories of a great annual event.

It is evident that much labor and research was necessary for such a fine piece of journalism. The accounts of the fifty games were most appreciated, and the photographs added a great finishing touch.

I'm sure that many Quincy residents of long standing can find something in that issue to which they can relate in your account of the past fifty years.

Please accept my sincere appreciation for a job well done.

Sincerely,
Mary Collins,
Vice Chairperson
Quincy School Committee

Quincy North Football Supplement 'A Job Well Done'

Editor, The Quincy Sun:

Your special edition of the 50th Anniversary of the Q-N Thanksgiving game was just wonderful. The stories, the pictures, the sentiments expressed, the colors — all contributed to the excitement and the nostalgia of the event.

I'm sure that many people have told you how much they enjoyed re-living old times, old memories, and reading the names and records of former star players. I have talked with large numbers of people who have mentioned these things to me.

The publicity given to this special day by your paper made the game one big happy reunion of teachers, players, coaches and classmates.

Thanks again and congratulations to you and your staff for a job well done.

Sincerely,
Bill Sullivan

No Mayoral Challenger?

The first robin of spring isn't expected for another three or four months.

But that other early bird — the early bird of politics — should be putting in an appearance soon. If, that is, there is going to be one-male or female.

The early bird, of course, if you're a politician watcher, is a mayoral challenger.

McCAULEY

Mayor Francis McCauley is running for re-election even though he hasn't formally announced it. In fact, he says if he is re-elected, he'd like to serve a third term, too.

Will he get a free ride to a second term?

There has been talk of a "name" candidate to oppose him. One name frequently mentioned is that of City Clerk John Gillis.

GILLIS

But neither Gillis nor anyone else has made any move to look like a potential mayoral candidate.

Time really is running out. McCauley made his official announcement in early January, 1981 that he was running regardless of whether Arthur Tobin would seek re-election or not.

It takes time to mount an effective campaign and to raise enough money to finance it. Maybe $100,000.

By getting in as early as he did in 1981, McCauley beat former Mayor Joseph LaRaia to the political draw. LaRaia has always dreamed of returning to the mayor's office and observers are convinced that if McCauley hadn't gotten into the ring so early, LaRaia would have. Especially after Tobin decided not to seek re-election.

If you like your speculation a bit on the wild side, there are some observers who think LaRaia might surprise everyone and challenge McCauley next year. McCauley and LaRaia reportedly aren't as close as they were a year ago.

But if there is a challenger standing in the wings — he or she better step to center stage by January. Or forget it.

And, if no one does make a move, McCauley would become the first mayor to go unchallenged since former Mayor Thomas Burgin in 1940.

The first one in 43 years.

THREE CITY WORKERS, all of whom studied nights at the New England School of Law, have passed the Massachusetts Bar examination.

They are Jay McRitchie, the equal opportunity administrator in the city solicitor's office; Police Officer Robert Curtis and Kenneth Shine, a teacher at North Quincy High School.

VETERAN School Committeeman

Christopher Kennedy, who is also dean of students at Northeastern University, now is wearing another hat. He is the new president of the Quincy Symphony Orchestra of which he has been a member of the board.

KENNEDY

MAYOR Francis McCauley will be a guest tonight (Thursday) on Keith Westerman's "From The Source Show" on WUMB-FM (91.9 FM). The program starts at 6:30 p.m. and listeners can call in on 929-7930. McCauley will discuss Quincy government and take calls from 7:45 to 9 p.m. You might say it's a small world. Westerman was Daniel Raymond's P.R. man when the latter ran against McCauley for Mayor.

FORMER City Councillor Thomas Gilmartin didn't do that well with his political predictions in the state election. He had Michael Dukakis winning but forecast victories for Margaret Heckler over Barney Frank and Jack Conway over Gerry Studds.

But he was pretty much on target on a non-political prediction. In the Oct. 28 Sunbeams column he forecast: "The New York Post (Rupert Murdoch) will buy the Boston Herald American in 1983." (He was only off by a month.)

GOVERNOR'S Councillor Peter Eleey is holding his third annual Christmas party tonight (Thursday) from 8 to 11 p.m. at the Quincy Neighborhood Club, Glendale Rd., Quincy. Tickets $6 per person.

OBSERVATION via the Quincy Kiwanis Club newsletter: "An authority is a person who can tell you more about something than you really care to know."

Parking Rules Suspended For Christmas Season

The Quincy Chamber of Commerce and city officials worked out a plan under which "nobody coming into any of the Quincy trading centers for legitimate shopping need fear that his car will be tagged or any inconvenience be imposed upon him."

"We want shoppers from Quincy and surrounding districts to understand that they can come here this Christmas season to do their shopping and leave their cars wherever they can find room without interference," said Chamber President Dennison.

"This city will cooperate with the shoppers because we expect also that the shoppers will cooperate with us and do all in their power to avoid dangerous crowding or long delays in the parking of cars."

The move came after businessman A.H. Remick assailed the city for lack of action in suspending parking restrictions, saying "Brockton has not only suspended its rules but has published the fact up and down the South Shore."

"I believe it is only reasonable for our city to take action that will put us on a par with our competitive cities in this matter."

EX-MAYOR BATES LOSER

City Hall followers of Mayor Perley E. Barbour rejoiced in the fact that all but one of the candidates for City Council supported by former Mayor Gustave B. Bates went down to defeat in the municipal election.

Only John P. Flavin in Ward 2 among the Bates-supported candidates won, ousting incumbent Frank D. Coffman. Re-elected were Thomas S. Burgin in Ward 1, Alexander Clark, Ward 3, William P. Hughes, Ward 4, Robert E. Comins Ward 5 and Welcome G. Young Ward 6.

NEW SENATE SEAT

Col. Henry L. Kincaide, Russell T. Bates and ex-Mayor Joseph L. Whilton were reported ready to run for the new state senate seat that joined Quincy, Braintree, Milton and Randolph. Quincy currently was represented by Sen. Walter Shuebruk of Cohasset.

HOW MONEY WAS SPENT

City Auditor Henry O. Fairbanks issued his annual statement of expenditures showing that, out of every $1, the city spent 25 cents on schools, 13 cents on protection of life and property, 12 cents on state and county taxes and 12 cents to service the city debt.

Workforce Now 1,400 Union Head Proposes Non-Ship Work To Keep GD Busy

By TOM HENSHAW

Jonathan Brandow, president of the Local 5 union at General Dynamics Shipyard, says he feels that if the yard is to survive "we need to begin looking for other possibilities for work" in addition to shipbuilding.

Brandow was interviewed on the Quincy Cablesystems program "Quincy Newsmakers," which may be seen tonight (Thursday) at 8:30 p.m. and tomorrow at 3 p.m. on Channel 3.

Brandow said that current contracts held by the General Dynamics yard "will bring the work force level to a fairly stable number of about 3,000 production workers over the next 2½ years."

He said the work force is now 1400.

"Beyond that," he said, "shipbuilding is chancy."

"We're not sure the military program is going to be funded. We know for a fact that Reagan's deregulation program of shipbuilding subsidies has gutted commercial work for the foreseeable future."

"We have a broad range of skills and machinery in the shipyard. If shipbuilding is not available, there are skills that can be used to fabricate a wide range of industrial products.

"Some shipyards today are building oil rigs. Others are looking into the possibility of box cars. There is a funding study out regarding ocean-going thermal energy conversion plants which we could build."

"The problem is to get the company interested in diversifying, to get them interested in looking at alternatives to strict shipbuilding and strict military work as its future."

Brandow said some economists have suggested that shipyard workers be polled to "get an inventory of the skills and the machinery that actually exist in the yard."

"I think we're going to do that anyway but it would be much easier to accomplish if we had the company's cooperation to do it."

Brandow also made these points under questioning by Henry Bosworth, publisher of the Quincy Sun; Herb Fontaine, news director of WJDA, and Ray McEachern of the Patriot Ledger.

He would bet the new military program is going through Congress "and we would get a slice of that work. I'm not sure the yard would be functioning at full capacity five years from now but I would guess it would be open."

• The union would be willing to sit down and talk to the company about concessions in the current hard times if General Dynamics were open with the union. "We're not willing to trust the company with our livelihoods without seeing some openness on their part."

• Although the union and the company, which are often at odds, have worked out some issues "I wouldn't say that we've come to a working understanding. The union can and will only accept a relationship that is based on mutual respect. We won't be run over."

• The Quincy yard is not one of GD's more profitable divisions and the company has divested itself of some other unprofitable divisions. "It would be naive of us not to know that St. Louis is taking a calculated look at Quincy and asking 'Are we going to give up this place?'"

• Over the next few months, prior to the expiration of the union contract in October, 1983, he is going to stress to members that the important issues are contract language and control over working conditions in "the second most dangerous industry in the country."

Board Approves Restaurant Plans At Darcy's Pub

By NANCY McLAUGHLIN

The License Board approved plans Tuesday for alterations at Darcy's Village Pub, Inc., 93 Willard St., West Quincy to include a restaurant on the second floor.

Owner John M. McDonald told the board the restaurant, for "shirt and tie customers", would have seating for 100 people.

That would bring total occupancy to 180, according to McDonald, who also said that about 30 new jobs would be created.

Target date for opening the restaurant is May of next year said McDonald who stressed that there is a need in the neighborhood for such a restaurant.

Several area residents questioned whether there would be sufficient parking.

McDonald said that he was interested in more property to be used for parking.

Ward Councillor James Sheets said the proposal would be an asset to the area.

Sheets suggested that parking was a legitimate concern, but suggested the board with McDonald to correct any problem.

"It will be good for the neighborhood," said Sheets.

"It would be a shame not to grant it (the license) because of parking."

'Very Positive' Meeting Between Donnelly, Ward 2 Advisory Group

"Very positive" is the phrase used by Councillor Ted DeCristofaro to describe a meeting held Saturday between Cong. Brian Donnelly and members of the Ward 2 Advisory Committee.

The informal meeting was to discuss what Ward 2 could get if it were a target area for federal funds.

"He said he would work with us to keep us informed of what money is available and when," said DeCristofaro, committee chairman.

DeCristofaro also said that Donnelly wanted to take a walking tour of the area and the Pollard School soon.

While the group discussed the possibility of monies for all of Ward 2, "the Pollard is a prime concern", said DeCristofaro.

The Concerned Citizens for the Pollard School, headed by Richard Crespi, met recently and voted favorably on a proposal to make the school a community center with some rental units.

On hand for the meeting with Donnelly were: DeCristofaro, Crespi, Rep. Robert Cerasoli, Jane DiMeo, Carl Soderstrom, Daniel Raymondi, Ron Iacobucci, Dick Crespi, Owen Eaton, Tony DiGiacomo and Frank Bill.

The Planning department will hold meetings at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday, Dec. 15, at St. John's Church, and Thursday, Dec. 16, at the Fore River Clubhouse, to allow input from the community as to where money should be spent.

A THOUGHT FOR THE WEEK

One of the most knowledgeable and successful men we know, listed some of the reasons for his success.

He explained how he set out to learn the facts of life - and then learned to live with those facts. He learned life is a mixture of good days and bad days, of victory and defeat, of give and take. He learned not to carry a chip on his shoulder because he was neither prepared or willing to fight over foolishness. He learned buck-passing always turned out to be a boomerang. He learned that any job or business could operate without him, as eventually it must anyway. He learned people stationed below him are human, have flesh and blood, heart and sentiment the same as he. He learned it does no harm to smile and say "Good morning" - even if it is raining. He learned other people are just as ambitious, just as capable as he. And he also learned some people have more brains than he has. He learned to sympathize with youngsters in his business because he remembered how bewildered he was when he started out. He learned most people are generally alike and that "getting along" depended about 99% on his own behavior.

With that sort of blue print for learning, is it any wonder he is so knowledgeable and successful? ...

Christmas Play At First Squantum Church

A Christmas play was performed in place of a sermon Sunday morning at the First Church of Squantum during the early service.

The chancel drama, which depicted the story of a good Christian man coming to deeper insights into the meaning of Christmas, was acted by Steve Williams, as the central character Jack; Susan Scott as his wife; Ann Lombardi as a neighbor; and David Williams as the stranger.

Melissa Stamos and Kristin Reister assisted the pastor, Rev. Dr. Gene Langevin, in lighting candles in the Advent wreath.

During the second service Dr. Langevin preached on the topic, "Preparing The Way." The Chancel Choir sang "Slumber, Infant Jesus" by E. Engler.

The Lord's Supper was observed. Seated at the Lord's Table with the pastor were Deacons Don Frazer, Evelyn Ahearn, Ralph Dougherty, Katherine Hansen and Tom Williamson.

Jason Deary and Deborah Stohlberg helped the pastor light the Advent wreath candles during the second service. Greeters for the morning were Silas Porter and Eva Martin. The Fellowship Hour was hosted by Barbara Fluhr and Pat Olson.

This Sunday there will be services at 8:45 a.m. and 10:30 a.m. The first service will include another Christmas play.

Chanukkah Most Joyous Festival For Jews

By LESTER H. GLASSER

Chanukkah, the Feast of Lights or the Feast of Dedication, is a minor festival but one of the most joyous on the Jewish calendar.

Chanukkah celebrates the occasion when the Temple in Jerusalem was consecrated anew to the service of God after it had been defiled by Greek conquerors.

This year the first Chanukkah candle is lit on Friday evening, Dec. 10, and continues for eight nights, with two candles lit on the second night and three on the third and so on until the final night, Dec. 17.

The following traditional benedictions are recited upon the kindling the lights:

"Blessed be Thou O Lord our God, King of the universe who hast sanctified us with Thy commandments, and commanded us to kindle the light of Chanukkah."

"Blessed be Thou O Lord our God, King of the universe, who wroughtest miracles for our fathers in days of old at this season."

Only on the first night, the following is added:

"Blessed be Thou O Lord our God, King of the universe, who hast kept us in life and hast preserved us and enabled us to reach this season."

After kindling the lights, songs are sung in honor of the occasion. The popular "Mo'oz Tsur" (Rock of Ages, but different from that used in Christian churches) is the best known of these.

The story of Chanukkah is this:

For a century after the death of Alexander the Great, Palestine found itself the coveted territory of the Syrians in the north and the Egyptians in the south. Finally Syria gained possession of the little land.

The Jews naturally resented the presence of the foreign invader, but undertook no active resistance until the Syrian king, Antiochus Epiphanes, attempted to destroy the Jewish religion and spirit by a campaign of cultural and religious imperialism.

This tyrannical imposition of a decadent Hellenic culture and cult upon the small nation was met by revolt, initiated primarily by a priest of the town of Modin, Mattathias, and his five sons. They organized guerrilla bands and successfully fought off the stronger armies of Syria and achieved independence for Judea.

In the meantime, the sacred shrine in Jerusalem had been violated by the setting of a pagan altar in the Temple. Judah Maccabeus, son of Mattathias, was the foremost leader of the struggle.

On the 25th day of the month of Kislev, 167 BCE (Before the Christian Era), the Temple was cleansed of every trace of heathen worship and rededicated.

In order to re-establish the Jewish Temple service, pure olive oil was needed for the kindling of the lamp that burned steadily and continuously in the Temple. The oil used by the Jewish priests had to be absolutely pure. It was pressed from special olives and then placed in small vials and sealed by the High Priest. After a prolonged search, Judah found one small vial of this pure oil. It was sufficient for one day's burning. However, this one day's supply sufficed for eight full days.

By that time, Judah obtained fresh oil prepared by the Jewish priests, which was pure and undeffiled.

Little yellow wax candles or wells of oil with threads folded together are used as a rule, and the lamp is generally placed on the window sill or in some other conspicuous place where it may be seen from the outside.

It is generally agreed by scholars that if Judaism had been defeated by the Syrian Greeks, the religious foundations upon which Christianity was later established would have been lost to the world, and neither Judaism nor Christianity would have exerted their influences upon civilization.

Today, children love this holiday, and not only because it has become a time for the giving of small gifts - very often distributed on each of the eight nights.

Chanukkah is the traditional time for playing the "dreidel" game. The dreidel is a small four-sided wooden or metal top that is spun by hand. The sides are inscribed with the four Hebrew letters which begin with the words: Nes gadol haya sham (A great miracle happened there).

It is also traditional to serve latkes (potato pancakes) at Chanukkah parties.

With the passage of centuries, the Chanukkah candles have taken on a deep meaning for Jews. They symbolize the light of religious freedom that Judah Maccabee and his followers kept alive.

In the glow of the candles, many Jews rededicate themselves to the ideals of their faith as once the Maccabees rededicated the Temple to the service of the One God.

Because Chanukkah symbolizes the triumph of faith in God over brute force, it has long been a source of inspiration to the weak and small in number who fight for liberty and justice against stronger and tyrannical foes.

It strengthens the conviction that religious freedom is the right of every people and that God desires man to worship Him in freedom.

Koch Santa Visit Set For Dec. 18-19

The Koch Club's 26th annual Santa Claus visit to shut-in children will be conducted Saturday and Sunday, Dec. 18 and 19, between 2 p.m. and 5 p.m. This program is conducted for children who are shut-ins year round.

Only parents of the shut-in children may make the request for Santa's visit and should contact Richard J. Koch, 241 Newbury Ave., North Quincy, 328-8286, and arrange a convenient time.

Richard M. Morrissey and Thomas P. Koch have been members of the committee for the past number of years.

The Koch Club's 27th annual Christmas Basket Program continues and members of the Koch Club wishing to donate canned goods or non-perishable foods are requested to leave them with the officers of their respective leagues, the executive or district director.

Members may also donate money toward the turkeys that are given with each basket.

The food baskets are distributed through local charitable organizations and through the Koch Club to needy families. Thomas F. Nestor is Chairman.

Deadline for donations is Monday, Dec. 20.

Koch Club Seeks Dolls

Mrs. Rita Kelleher, chairwoman of the Koch Club Dress-A-Doll program, announces that some 75 used dolls have been collected, washed, hair groomed, dressed and gift wrapped for presentation to needy girls at Christmas.

About 150 dolls are needed to fulfill the request of church and social service agencies who serve the needs of families at Christmas time. New or used dolls may be donated to the program by contacting Mrs. Kelleher, Mrs. Ginny Derringer of South Weymouth or Mrs. Simone Koch of North Quincy.

Clean or used clothing for adults and children is also being accepted by the Koch Club for sorting, packaging and distribution to needy families for the holiday season.

Mayor Plans New Job In Auditor's Offices

Auditor's Office now is Sarah Saccone, who was budget coordinator in the administration of Mayor Joseph J. LaRaia.

She was laid off under the administration of Mayor Arthur H. Tobin but restored to the job by Civil Service and the courts. Her salary is $17,779 a year plus a $15 a week bonus.

Foy told the Council that if a new accountant is added, his or her salary would go to $16,478 in four steps, a situation that perturbed LaRaia, now a councillor.

"This highlights an inequity," he said. "There would be less than a $1,800 difference in salary and the current accountant (Saccone) has been there for 16 years.

"There could be a morale problem here that will surface again."

Council Cool To Library Post

delegate all you want but you have to have someone with the authority."

Councillor Richard J. Koch noted that the library has gone from more than 100 employees to 38 under Prop. 2½ and "with those reductions I fail to see the need for a second in command."

The Council sent the matter to its Ordinance Committee for further consideration.

Only 2 Starters Return North Lacks Size But Will Have Speed

By TOM SULLIVAN
For the last 6-7 years the North Quincy basketball teams have had good size but lacked speed. This year the Raiders' script will be different with a lack of size but more quickness than usual. "This is one of the things I like about coaching," said Eddie Miller, who hopes to improve upon last season's 12-8 record. "You have to adapt and change to fit the personality of your team. It's this challenge that makes the job interesting."

"We are going to be a lot smaller than in the last few years and we are going to miss Chip Bunker (6-10 center now at the U. of Maine). But we will be quick and I think we will do better than a lot of people think we will."

Miller has only two starters back from last season, John Furland (6-3), senior center, and John Phelan (5-8), senior guard. Tim Ryan (5-11), senior guard, saw some action a year ago. Coming up from the junior varsity are Chris Bunker, Chip's brother (6-1), a forward; Steve Racette (5-8), guard; forward Pat McDonough (6-2); Paul Ryan, Tim's brother (5-10) guard, and center Nick Gelsomini (6-2). Rounding out the squad are Garry Grown (5-10), Steve Hogan (5-8), Mike O'Hare (5-9) and Ken Runge (6-2), a fine looking sophomore who is expected to stick with the varsity.

"We are not very experienced but this team has one of the best attitudes of any squad I've had, they are really hustling and putting out," Miller said. "We will be relying on our speed."

Miller's assistant this year is Paul Fitzpatrick, a former Quincy High player and former coach at Boston, State College.

The Raiders will open on Friday, Dec. 17, hosting Stoughton, a strong Hockomock League team which has virtually its entire squad back. North will play Cathedral High of Boston in another non-league game Dec. 22 at the Daniel Marr Boys' Club in Dorchester.

After Tough Season

Bleak Future For Quincy Soccer?

The Quincy boys' soccer team suffered through its worst season ever this fall, losing all 15 games, and unless there is a decided increase in interest, Coach Bob Jack sees a bleak future.

"One of the principal reasons for our record was a lack of personnel," said the veteran player and coach. "We had fundamentally weak players and there is a distinct lack of interest in the sport at the high school level. Only one player out of the Quincy Youth Soccer League came out for the school.

"We play, as North Quincy coach Paul Bregoli said, in a tough league (Suburban) and half measures and lack of dedication will go nowhere here. My assistant coach, George Cochrane and I have been associated with the game all our lives and have played, coached, managed and officialled games for 30 years or more and unless we get help quickly I'm afraid that soccer at Quincy High School has a long way to go."

Jack singled out some players for their dedication and their performances. They were John Cassani, Pat Ward, Marcello Cabrera, Steve Thurston, Eddie Boyle, Andy Eames and Jim Norton.

Mudge, Riggs, Connolly, Kelly Suburban All-Stars

Quarterback Bob Mudge and end Kevin Riggs of Quincy and lineman Gerry Connolly and end Jim Kelly of North Quincy were named to the Suburban League all-star football team.

All were named to the first team on offense. Named to the second team on offense were Dave DiCarlo, Rich Brown and John Kozlowski of North Quincy and Mark Righini and Ted Walsh of Quincy.

Selected on the first defensive team were lineman Jamie Gravales and back Paul Gilbody of Quincy and back Bob Leonard of North Quincy. Pat McDonough of North Quincy was named to the second team.

Flynn Elected Springfield Soccer Captain

Joe Flynn of North Quincy was elected captain of next year's Springfield College soccer team by his teammates.

Flynn has played in the Chiefs' midfield for two seasons and he will lead an experienced squad as only five players will be graduating from this year's squad.

Flynn is president of the Newman Community, an active community service group and is also an active member of the Ministers of the Eucharist. He is a junior and an English major.

Craig Leads Army Hockey

Robbie Craig of Quincy leads the Army hockey team with 15 points on six goals and nine assists in the Cadets' first eight games.

Craig, former Quincy high star and a product of the Quincy Youth Soccer Association, scored two goals, including the tying one, in a 3-3 tie with Oswego State.

St. Joseph's A basketball team defeated St. John's C team, 35-31, in a South Shore Church Basketball League Goliath Division game at the Quincy YMCA.

But St. Joseph's wouldn't say die and, led by Co-captains Steve Austin and Dennis Cronin, came back to pull out the decision.

Austin, who led all scorers with 14 points, also was outstanding defensively and had many key

Sylvia Coaching QHS-NQHS Until North Hockey Post Filled

Veteran Quincy coach Bob Sylvia coaching both the Quincy and North Quincy hockey teams?

He won't be when the season starts, but for the present, Sylvia is the interim North coach until a new coach is selected to succeed Kevin Lewis, who recently resigned.

For the second time last week the Quincy School Committee failed to appoint a new coach, voting 4-3 against appointing Kevin Jago, the Raiders' assistant coach who was recommended by Supt. of Schools Dr. Lawrence Creedon and a screening committee of school officials and parent and student representatives.

The only two applicants for the job are Jago and Jack Crowley, assistant coach at Quincy for several years.

The four school committee members who voted against Jago said they feel Crowley should get the job because he has more coaching experience and is a former Quincy teacher.

Creedon said he supported Jago because he is already a part of the hockey program at North and has the support of players and school parents.

Under state law a school committee can accept or reject a superintendent's job recommendations but it can't pick a candidate not recommended by him.

Creedon said he would form a new screening committee and make a new recommendation as soon as possible. The next regular school committee meeting is scheduled for Dec. 15.

Hockey practice started Monday, Nov. 29 with Sylvia the interim North coach. Athletic Coordinator Carl Leone said he doesn't know if the veterans' Presidents' coach will remain as interim coach.

School committee member Mary P. Collins, who supported

Jago, said the committee's action will hurt the team. "It's very unfair for these students to have to go into the season without a coach."

The others voting for Jago were John J. Sullivan and Nicholas Verenis. Those voting against him were Francis Anselmo, Christopher P. Kennedy, Joan Picard and Mayor Francis X. McCauley, committee chairman.

Picard said, "I am very disappointed with the way the screening committee handled this particular case. The man who did not get the nod is far more qualified than the man who did."

Collins said, "Just because a person has more experience doesn't mean his is more qualified. I have a great deal of confidence in the screening committee."

Kane's edged Kelly's Pub &

Grub, 4-3, with Dave Peters having two goals and Mark Paolucci and Tom Cahill one each. John Cooney had two goals and Jim Sayers one for Kelly's.

Esquire Neckwear topped Joe's Pub & Grub, 7-2, with Pat Clifford, John Hassenfuss, Dan Flaherty, Joe DeLuca, Dave Gendreau, Dave Hassenfuss and Ed Curley having the goals. Frank Guest and Jim Shea scored for Joe's.

GAS + KIDS=DANGER

Since the gas shortage and consequent hoarding of gasoline, the rate of gasoline-caused burns in children has skyrocketed. Last summer this resulted in a number of extensive burns to children who found and spilled gasoline.

Research has shown that children are less apt to note the distinctive smell or even the taste of gasoline and thus, fail to be warned of its potential dangers. It is also hazardous to breathe the fumes from the fuel.

In fact, what makes gasoline so dangerous is that the fumes as well as the liquid are combustible. Gasoline vapor expands and tends to fill all the available space in a container. The pressure can split the seams of an unvented can or plastic vessel, but the vapors can even leak from a vented "safety" can. All that is needed are sparks from a light switch, electrical appliance, car ignition, or a short in the tail-light or brake-light circuit combined with the fumes to trigger an explosion. The explosive power of one gallon of gasoline equals that of 14 sticks of dynamite.

Sun Survey Shows:

Merchants Cool To Sundays

By TOM HENSHAW

Massachusetts may repeal its 300-year-old blue laws that restrict business on Sunday but downtown Quincy merchants as well as Mayor Francis X. McCauley are far from enthusiastic about it.

"I don't want to see us turn into another California, going full blast seven days a week," said McCauley. "Sunday should be a day apart."

Almost all of the merchants contacted by The Quincy Sun in a mini-survey agreed wholeheartedly with the mayor.

"I'm unhappy about the prospect," said Burt Cook, proprietor of Tag's Discount Furniture and Sleep Shop. "It only means that I would have to work harder and I don't want to do that. I want to enjoy myself and Sunday is the only day I've got left."

Cook said he isn't sure if he would stay open on Sunday "but if local furniture stores stay open then I will have to think a little harder about closing my own store."

Repeal of the blue laws is not yet an accomplished fact but the measure has been passed by both the House and the Senate and needs only Gov. Edward J. King's signature to be official.

Jack London, who runs the Quincy Furniture Co., is not sure if he'll open Sunday but he doesn't want to.

"I'm opposed to repeal 100 per cent," he said. "I will not open on Sunday, at least not until I see what my competition does. It wouldn't be worth it."

"A small business would find it hard to increase its hours. Prices will have to go up."

"Personally, I don't like the idea," said Bob Colman, who has Colman's Sporting Goods stores in Quincy, Danvers, Canton and Woburn.

"It's too big a strain on manpower. I'd have to staff the place with inexperienced people on Sunday and service would not be as good. It would not be fair to the customers."

"I don't plan to open Sunday in Quincy but Danvers may be a problem area. It's close enough to the New Hampshire border so I'm in competition with Sunday sales up there."

Colman said he wasn't sure if even Sunday openings in Massachusetts would enable Bay State stores on the border to compete with New Hampshire because that state does not have the 5 per cent sales tax.

"Sunday opening may have an appeal to the shopping centers, particularly in the border areas," said Mark Bertman, proprietor of Rogers Jewelry. "It's not going to have an effect on downtown Quincy."

Bertman said he does not plan to stay open on Sunday, except for the current period between Thanksgiving and Christmas.

In North Quincy

Water Main Burst Spills 2 Million Gallons

Public Works crews toiled into the darkness Tuesday night to repair a broken water main on West Squantum St. that forced many North Quincy residents to do without water for several hours.

The 16-inch water main burst at the intersection of West Squantum and Arlington Sts. about 4:30 a.m. Tuesday, dropping water pressure to near zero.

The affected areas included Squantum, Montclair, the State Street South complex and most sections of Atlantic.

Public Works Commissioner Paul W. Anderson said that most of the pressure was restored by about 11 a.m. and the situation was expected to be normal in the early evening.

Anderson said about two million gallons of water were lost before the break was brought under control.

Five schools in the north end of the city — Atlantic Junior High School, Montclair, Squantum, Parker and North Quincy High School — were closed for the day.

Six streets were closed to traffic — Arlington, Fayette, Farrington, Safford, Newport Ave. and West Squantum St. — at the height of the flood.

All but West Squantum St. were reopened within a matter of hours. West Squantum St. was expected to be reopened Tuesday night when the main break was repaired and holes filled in.

Anderson said the break was in a 16-inch main at the corner of West Squantum and Arlington Sts. The West Squantum St. roadway was badly undercut by the gushing water.

Anderson said it took some hour and a half to pinpoint the leak although it was not determined whether it was in a relatively new section of pipe or where it had been joined to an old section.

Some 20 public works employees, drawn from the Sewer, Water and Drain and Highway Departments worked on the leak throughout the morning.

As of 12 noon only a small section of the main at West Squantum and Arlington Sts. was closed off and water pressure was gradually building in the rest of the affected area.

David Coltin, an aide to Anderson, said that once the main is repaired the water would remain shut off until 10 a.m. Wednesday morning just in case there are more problems.

Police Visibility To Be Increased In Downtown

Mayor Francis X. McCauley has asked that police make frequent checks of the parking areas behind downtown Quincy stores in the wake of a series of small breaks.

The trigger for McCauley's request was four breaks in seven days into the Book Haven store at 1552 Hancock St., where, in one break, $100 in cash and two cameras were taken.

Following one of the burglaries, police said, a number of screws were discovered to be missing from the bottom of the glass front door. All the breaks were through the rear of the store.

McCauley said he asked for frequent checks to improve the police presence at night, particularly in the rear of the stores, and especially at Christmas time.

PUBLIC WORKS employees survey repairs being made to West Squantum St. following break in big 16-inch water main that left much of North Quincy without water Tuesday.

David Player Acting Chief Court Officer

David S. Player of Squantum, a court officer for the past eight years, has been named to the post of acting chief court officer by Judge Albert L. Kramer.

The position of chief court officer was eliminated by court reform legislation but Kramer, presiding justice at Quincy District Court, said his busy court needs an acting chief.

Kramer said he considers the work of court officers "a very important part of the court's operation and I intend to work closely with the new acting chief to help strengthen that organization."

The post, effective Dec. 10, carries no increase in salary.

Morrissey Denounces Foreign Ship Subsidies

The Massachusetts House, at the urging of Rep. Michael W. Morrissey, has asked the U.S. Congress to preserve operating subsidies for American-built ships and not extend them to foreigners.

"The U.S. Senate," said Morrissey, "recently adopted a maritime bill that would be the first step toward displacing U.S. shipbuilding in favor of foreign-owned, foreign-manned, foreign-built fleets."

"Massachusetts and Quincy in particular have a vital interest in the building and maintenance of American commercial ships."

"To encourage foreign construction of merchant ships at a time when employment is at disastrously low levels is unthinkable."

Morrissey pointed out that merchant ship construction has declined more than 80 per cent since 1972 and the employment of skilled workers in U.S. shipyards has gone down by 50,000.

A Pontiac reported stolen Sunday by Kathleen Spillane, 139 West St., West Quincy, was recovered Monday in Dorchester with the wheels and battery missing and the windows smashed.

Child Care Center For QJC

Mayor Francis X. McCauley has signed an agreement permitting Quincy Junior College to use space in the John F. Kennedy Health Center as a child care center for children of students.

A survey conducted by the college indicated that many part time students had a strong interest in attending classes fulltime if some provisions could be made for their children.

The child care center, which will be open from 8 a.m. to 2 p.m. and staffed by a teacher and an aide, will occupy the space formerly used by the dental clinic and could handle 20 children.

An hourly rate of $2 will be charged.

The Center is expected to be opened in time for the spring semester that begins Jan. 24. The agreement was written for one year with four automatic one-year extensions.

McCauley said the junior college, which recently was taken off the city budget and given an enterprise account of its own, feels it can pick up registrations by having the child care center.

Adams Building Renovations To Be Completed By Jan. 1

Renovations inside and outside the Tudor style Adams Building in Quincy Sq. should be finished by Jan. 1 according to architect Paul J. Donnelly of Boston.

Stagings for the $1.2 million renovation project came down last week revealing restored 1890's storefronts.

Donnelly said that the slate roof has been cleaned and chimneys rebuilt. Special inside storm windows will be installed which won't take away from the reflective quality of the old glass.

He also said that 1890's style awnings will be installed.

Four duplex offices with 1,200 to 2,200 sq. feet of space are nearly completed, according to Donnelly who also said developer Harvey Gertel of Newton has not decided when he will change the basement for commercial use.

Police Alert

By LT. WILLIAM MURPHY
Quincy Police Dept.

Auto Thief

Holiday Opportunist

Thefts of and from automobiles are more prevalent during the holiday season than at any other time of the year.

The auto thief is an opportunist.

Every time you park your car, be it for shopping or for the night in your driveway, and you fail to lock it, you are extending an open invitation for it to be stolen.

In order to safeguard your car, particularly during the holiday season, try to remember the following:

No car can be made 100 per cent theft-proof but you can make the thief's job more difficult than it's worth.

Lock all doors and the trunk of a hatchback and shut the windows tightly. Even a tiny gap will allow a thief to insert a wire to pry up the lock-button.

Never leave your car running unattended even for a minute. Your car can easily be stolen while you run in to buy a newspaper.

Don't conceal a spare key inside or outside the car. Thieves know all the hiding places. Don't leave keys with garage or parking lot attendants.

Be choosy where you park your car. Avoid side streets and areas that have poor lighting.

Don't advertise where you live by leaving letters with your name and address visible in the car. It's an invitation to home burglary.

Keep all packages in the trunk of the car. Packages in full view on the seats can be awfully tempting to thieves and encourage him to work harder.

Turn your wheels sharply to the right or left when parked to make it harder for your car to be towed by enterprising thieves.

Replace standard lock buttons with tapered ones, which are inexpensive and much harder to pry up.

And two facts should be remembered about car theft.

Most stolen cars were left unlocked.

One in five stolen cars had the keys in the ignition.

Anselmo Ready Again At 85

Frank Anselmo will be 85 before next year's city election but don't try to park him in a rocking chair.

He might throw it at you.

He's due up for re-election to the School Committee. Will he go again?

"If people aren't tired of me and I see any friendly gesture from them — I'll run again," he says.

Anselmo is completing his 21st year as a school committeeman who likes to tell it like he thinks it is.

He's like his first name — frank.

"People don't always agree with me," he says. "But they know where I stand. They don't have to wonder."

He's not shy about telling you he'll be 85 Sept. 22.

"Age itself doesn't mean a thing," he says. "It's how you feel. And I feel good."

Actually to two members of the family, he's still "the kid". He has an uncle who is 96 and an aunt 99 looking ahead to 100.

Anselmo thinks School Committee members are entitled to a salary, "but I don't personally care for it."

School committee members put a lot of time into their service and face rising costs — gasoline for their cars — purchasing tickets for functions — other solicitations — campaigning for election, etc.

He says the School Committee puts as much time into their duties as the City Council does — and thinks a $3,000 salary — same as that of the council — would be "extremely fair."

But, if a $3,000 salary or any other figure is approved, he says he won't take it if he is re-elected.

"If a salary is approved and I am re-elected, I'll give my salary to charity," he says. "What I would do is match it dollar for dollar for a scholarship."

In other words if the School Committee drew a $3,000 salary, he would put that into a scholarship and add another $3,000.

Over a four-year term, that would add up to $24,000.

Also due up for re-election next year are Christopher Kennedy and John Sullivan.

No word yet on what they plan to do although observers expect them to run again.

And it appears Frank Anselmo, too.

Just say the word and he'll be off and running.

STORK REPORT: Rep. Robert A. Cerasoli and wife, Jo Ann, are parents of a little constituent, Robert A. II, born Dec. 9 at Beth Israel Hospital, Boston. Weighed in at six pounds 14½ ounces. Mom, baby and Pop all doing fine.

Morrissey Bill Would Open House To TV, Radio

Rep. Michael W. Morrissey is co-sponsoring a bill that would open formal sessions of the State House of Representatives to coverage by commercial and public television and radio.

"I can't think of a more productive reform than to allow the general public to monitor the day-to-day proceedings of their state government," said Morrissey.

Currently there are 35 state legislatures, plus the United States Congress, that permit some form of limited electronic media access to their deliberations.

"There is no question in my mind," said Morrissey, "that this should have a dramatic and positive impact on the way we conduct the public's business."

"State policy issues would be more clearly defined by articulate spokespeople on both sides and, as a result, citizens would have a much greater depth of understanding of what we do and why."

Morrissey co-sponsored the bill with Rep. Nicholas A. Paleologos of Woburn and it is endorsed by more than 80 of their colleagues.

If the House rejects the proposal in January, it will be a dead issue until 1985, since the rules of the House are adopted only once every two years.

Nutrition Awareness Program For 6th-8th Graders

A nutrition awareness and weight management program for sixth, seventh and eighth graders will be held for eight weeks beginning Monday, Jan. 10.

Classes will be held 3:30 to 4:30 p.m. in the community room of the Manet Community Health Center, 1193 Sea St., Houghs Neck.

Jacalyn Newman, nutritionist, will lead the program.

Comer Hopes For State Security Aid Wollaston 'Worst' Area For Housing Harrassment

By TOM HENSHAW

Wollaston has more problems of violence and harrassment around its public housing complexes than any other section of the city, says John P. Comer, executive director of the Quincy Housing Authority. "People think of Wollaston as being sacrosanct with no problems," said Comer. "I want to let you know that it's my worst area of the city, the worst problems I have to deal with surround Tobin Towers."

Comer appeared on the Quincy CableSystems interview program, "Quincy Newsmakers," which was taped last week for broadcast tonight (Thursday) at 8:30 p.m. on Channel 3.

Comer said that the youngsters who hang out in the area of Tobin Towers, the elderly complex in Wollaston, "are something that you wouldn't believe what they do to those poor people."

"Eggs are thrown at them," he said. "On Halloween night they dropped eggs and gum wrappers and gum balls down their gas tanks and flattened their tires and stole their batteries."

"Those elderly people are really in fear."

"What we need is security around the clock, at least on weekends. I understand that I'm not going to get it from the city of Quincy nor would I expect it with 2½ the way it is."

The solution, Comer said, lies in legislation proposed by City Councillor Patricia Toland and filed by Rep. Michael W. Morrissey that would have the state pay for security for its own housing.

Comer said Joseph Flatley, assistant secretary for Communities and Development, explained to him that no money for security will be coming out of the existing budget.

"The way to go is legislation," he said. "As money is put aside for modernization and for the building of new units so money must be put aside for security, too."

Comer said the problem of harrassment is particularly acute with elderly people.

"Fear is the problem," he said. "That's why you can't put a price on the vandalism and crime. When you're talking about security, you're talking about more than money."

"Take the new O'Brien Towers in Snug Harbor-Riverview. I have eliminated the placement of female tenant on the first level in all these units. They are set aside for men only."

"Shortly after I arrived last March, one night there was a husband and wife having supper in their kitchen. A couple of young hoodlums got in through the bedroom window and stole their Social Security checks."

"That's when I put a stop to placement of any but males in that first floor."

Comer said he feels that the Germantown section of the city has acquired an undeserved reputation as being a hotbed of crime and violence, particularly the public housing complexes.

"They're wonderful people in Germantown," he said. "These people are not living in a family development because they like being there. They're there because they have to bring up a family."

"I can't speak highly enough of the good people down there. It's just that there are 10 hoodlums and 10 hoodlum families down there and it won't be long before I get rid of every one of them."

Comer said that since September, 1979, the QHA has had a tenant selection plan under which one minority family is placed for every four families in federally subsidized housing.

In spite of that, he said, there are four cases charging discrimination, one filed by the South Shore Coalition for Human Rights and three by tenants, pending before the Massachusetts Commission Against Discrimination.

"The three cases have been combined into one," he said, "and we are meeting with the MCAD to see how we can resolve the problem."

"The MCAD has ruled that we are discriminating in the way in which we select our tenants. They are looking for a higher percentage of minorities in the authority's housing."

Comer said he was "very upset at the time" when state official David Harris called Quincy "the most racist city in America," a charge from which he later backed off slightly.

"It's certainly an unfair statement and I would say that to his face," said Comer. "Someday I hope to have the opportunity to let him know what I thought of his statement. It was ludicrous."

Comer was interviewed on the program by Henry Bosworth, publisher of The Quincy Sun; Ray McEachern of the Patriot Ledger; and Herb Fontaine, news director of WJDA.

Council Votes Censorship Of Comic Books

The City Council passed an ordinance regulating the sale of comic books and paperback reprints in the city and authorizing the mayor to set up a committee of three to censor literature "tending to corrupt the morals of youth."

Under the ordinance, literature banned by the censors would be reported to the chief of police who was then authorized to order distributors to cease its sale. If they failed to comply, the chief was to turn the matter over to the city solicitor.

Councillor Frank N. Orcutt said he felt that the board of censorship should be made up of three clergymen who were best fitted to decide what the youth of Quincy should read.

The Council also passed two ordinance amendments authorizing the health commissioner and the building commissioner to take an active role in reporting violations of codes in bars but is refused to give the same approval to the wire and plumbing inspectors.

Councillor David J. Crowley told his colleagues that if all four officials had the authority and did 100 per cent job enforcing the law almost everybody in Quincy would be in jail.

"There's violations in most Quincy homes right now because of the Christmas wiring," he said, pointing to a light wire strung between councillors' desks. "Here's a violation right here."

SINGLE SESSION FAVORED

Parents of Quincy elementary school children voted 3,304 to 2,289 in favor of a single session plan over the present double session school day. School Supt. Dr. Paul Gossard said he would give the results to the School Committee for whatever action it chose to take.

"This proves beyond all doubt that Quincy parents think for themselves," said Earl Lanter of Montclair, a leader of single session proponents, "because the evidence presented to them was slanted toward the two session idea with the superintendent taking the two session side."

A. Wendell Clark, vice chairman of the School Committee, said the vote would be taken into consideration when the committee made a decision at the Dec. 28 meeting.

SCHOOL BUDGET UP

The School Committee completed its deliberations and was prepared to submit to Mayor Charles A. Ross a budget of $2,429,845 for 1949, an increase of some $295,000 over the previous year. Supt. Gossard said he expected about $200,000 in state school aid.

Police To Seek Injury Restitution

Police Chief Francis X. Finn announces that the Police Department is starting a policy of aggressively seeking restitution from those who cause injury to police officers in the performance of their duties.

Finn cited three recent cases in which assaults on officers cost the city more than $27,000 for medical bills, lost man hours and damage to a cruiser.

Proposition 2½ has mandated severe cutbacks in the police budget," said Finn. "These cutbacks have had an effect on the quality of police services provided by the department."

"In these times of tight funding it is unfair to the law abiding taxpayers of the city of Quincy to have to bear the burden for those who do not respect the rights of individuals."

Recently, said Finn, an officer was assaulted in the line of duty and incurred medical bills and lost time amounting to $3,000. The case will be heard in Quincy District Court Tuesday, Dec. 21.

In another case, an officer was injured apprehending a felony suspect. His medical bills and lost time totalled more than $12,000.

In a third case, said Finn, a parked cruiser was struck by another vehicle, causing injury to two officers with medical bills, lost time and damage to the cruiser totalling more than $12,000.

Among the number of COSMETICS used for a manicure, are nail cleansers, which consist of some form of soap and nail polish removers which are used to dissolve old nail polish. Cuticle oil and creams soften the skin around the nails while cuticle removers allow the nail cuticle to be easily removed. Nail bleach is used to remove stains while nail whiteners keep nail tips looking white. You may use dry nail polish for a gloss during buffing while liquid nail polish or lacquer is also used to color the nail. Other cosmetic items include nail polish thinner, base coat applied before the liquid nail polish, a top coat applied over the nail polish and a nail dryer for protection against stickiness and dulling. Finally, nail strengtheners prevent splitting and peeling of nails, and hand lotions soften the hands after manicure. Among the MATERIALS required for a manicure are absorbent cotton for application of cosmetics to the nails, soap and warm water for the finger bath, a chamoin for the nail buffer, and paper cups for replacing used paper cups in the finger bowl. Antiseptic is used in the finger bath as well as disinfectant, a spatula removes creams from jars, removing tissue paper repairs torn nails, while perforated adhesive tape is used for compresses on injured nails or tissues. Next week we will start with the preliminary procedures for a professional manicure.

QJC Accepting Students For Second Semester

New students can start their college education in January at Quincy Junior College.

Applications are currently being accepted for full-time or part-time studies from people who are attending school for the first time or those who wish to transfer from another institution.

Dr. Linda Wilson, Dean of Students, said "Many of the College programs are designed to allow students to enter in mid-year as well as the traditional Fall beginning. We realize that many high school graduates take a few months off before deciding on a career and college. Thus, once they decide they can take immediate action and enter in January".

Programs that accept admissions for second semester, which begins Jan. 24, are: Accounting, Marketing, Management, Retailing, Hotel-Restaurant Management, Criminal Justice, Early Childhood Education, Secretarial, Health Careers Preparatory and Liberal Arts.

Anyone interested in full-time study should submit an application form and high school transcript to the Admissions Office.

Dean Wilson also noted that many homemakers are returning to school in January. After putting their last child in school this Fall, they now find the time to building career skills.

With the new Child Care Center Quincy Junior College has just established, women don't have to wait until all of their children are in school. Children age 2.9 to 6 years can be cared for by a professional staff while their mothers attend classes.

For more information or an application form call the Admissions Office at 786-8799.

Some last minute gift suggestions

There is still time to give just a few more things in the real spirit of Christmas. And all they cost is a little of you. You can probably think of many more, but these are just a few suggestions to start with.

- ★ Ask someone who's far from home (or has no home) to share your Christmas dinner
- ★ Use your mistletoe generously
- ★ Say thank you a lot
- ★ Take one of your favorite presents to that kid in your class you suspect Santa might miss
- ★ Take a thermos of hot chocolate to your school crossing guard
- ★ Pick someone up and take them with you to Christmas services
- ★ Put out bread crumbs for the birds and nuts for the squirrels
- ★ Pull out your mother's chair for her when she sits down to dinner
- ★ Offer to say 'grace' yourself
- ★ Invite someone who has no fireplace over to enjoy yours
- ★ Call your doctor and ask how he's feeling
- ★ Help the little kids in your neighborhood build their first snowman (if there's snow)
- ★ Tell someone you love them

Merry Christmas from the people who care

But beware of fire. Because of seasonal lighting, Holiday candles and Christmas trees, residents of Quincy must take every precaution to prevent fire. It is even more important this Holiday season, because never before has the Quincy Fire Department had so few Fire Fighters responding to fires and calls for help. Citizens of Quincy no longer enjoy the fire protection they had in the past.

A THOUGHT FOR THE WEEK

If you faced a difficult problem and desperately needed instant help, would you rather approach a friend or someone you knew, instead of a stranger? Do you agree that when you use two lawyers, two doctors, two plumbers or whatever - the cost is greater than it would be for the cost of one? If two lawyers, doctors or plumbers were NOT needed and one could do the job as well as or better than two, would you not hire one instead of two? Common sense dictates an instant YES to these sorts of questions.

Answering these questions is one thing. Facing a situation where these sorts of questions are applicable is another thing. Frankly, from our own personal experience, we have seen cases where grievous mistakes were made because the questions and answers were unanticipated. We refer to deaths while out of town on business trips, vacations, etc. These things can and DO happen. As a sensible precaution, would it not be well to remember your answers to these questions... AND... remember a collect phone call to us from ANYWHERE, day or night, will assure your peace of mind and protect your pocketbook?...

Christmas Pageant At Church Of Presidents

The fifth annual Christmas Pageant and Nativity in Scripture and Song was held Sunday at 6:30 p.m. at the Church of the Presidents in Quincy Sq.

Despite the severe cold weather, participants, parents and others joined in the finale in the series of events sponsored by the Christmas Festival Committee to commemorate the 1982 Holiday Season.

The Rev. Keith Munson, pastor of the church, was host while Rev. Charles Higgins, associate pastor of Sacred Heart Church in North Quincy, directed the program. Rev. Munson and Fr. Higgins each gave readings from the Scriptures revealing the Birth of the Christ Child.

The Sacred Heart Church Youth Choir provided a number of musical selections while the first and second graders of Sacred Heart School sang "Silent Night" and "Go Tell It On The Mountain".

Upon completion of the program in the church, several of the children depicting Mary, Joseph and the Wise Men in costume carried the Christ Child Statue from the Church to the Hancock Cemetery across the street and placed the statue in the manger. Students had conducted a Pageant during the afternoon at Sacred Heart School Hall for parents and parish members.

Following the program all were invited into the Parish Hall with refreshments provided by the Quincy Center Business and Professional Association.

The Pageant and Nativity in Scripture and Song was initiated in 1978 by the committee with the cooperation of the First Parish Church of the Presidents and Sacred Heart Church, North Quincy. Previous activity consisted of a brief pause in front of the manger outdoors with several Christmas Carols and the placing of the Christ Child.

Assisting on the committee were George White, General Chairman, Thomas Barry, Robert Noble and Richard J. Koch Sr.

Caddy Detachment Holds 207th Marine Birthday Ball

The William R. Caddy Detachment, Marine Corps League, joined Marines and former Marines world-wide in celebration of their 207th birthday recently.

A Birthday Ball was held at the Morrisette Legion Post, West Quincy, with over 100 former Marines, friends, relatives and guests in attendance.

Highlight of the ball was the cake cutting ceremony. A five-layer cake, made by Montilio's Bakery of Quincy, was donated along with $250 to the Veterans Hospital, Brockton, for a Veteran's Day Celebration.

The hospital veteran's program director Bill Leary was in attendance to accept both donations.

The Caddy Detachment has been a key benefactor to the hospital patients by having at least four parties and other events yearly. The Christmas Party is highlight of the year.

The Veteran's Day Parade the next day had the Caddy Detachment, with color guard, leading the parade as has been the practice for many years.

Following the parade and annual ceremony at Adams Academy, the group attended the Hall of Hags Ceremony at the State House, Boston.

The Caddy Detachment held installation of its officers recently at the Fore River Clubhouse, Quincy Point.

New commandant of the detachment is Joseph J. Zona who relieved past state and twice past detachment commandant Leo P. Cardarelli.

Installing officers were the state department commandant Robert McCann and his sergeant of arms Ronald Kater.

Following the ceremonies, a reception was held with some 100 people in attendance.

Zona enlisted in the early 1930's and was a Commissioned Warrant Officer with the Marines on Guadalcanal and other Pacific Campaigns of the World War II.

Senior vice is Dick Walsh who served with Zona in the 1930's and also saw action in the Pacific Islands campaigns and later in Korea.

The detachment, which is active in veteran affairs, was recently awarded the National Best Detachment of the Year Award Trophy, at the National Convention in Dearborn, Michigan.

Merchants Cool To Sunday Openings

Gary Leibert of Hart's Jewelry said he is for repeal personally but against it as a businessman.

"For some people it's the only day that they have a chance to do some shopping," he said, "but I don't know how far people will stretch their dollars."

"I don't think that we'd stay open. We need the time off ourselves."

The Quincy Center Business and Professional Association has not taken a vote on the Sunday openings but its president, Bernard Reisberg of Bernie's Modern Formal, said he does not plan to open his store.

"I frown on Sunday opening," he said. "We put in a very full week and Sunday is the only day we have to relax. I would not want to put my people through a seven day week."

"I'm not against Sunday opening but I would leave it up to the individual merchants. I sympathize with those in certain communities who have competition from New Hampshire and Rhode Island."

"I'm against Sunday openings philosophically," said Cindy Ryder of Ryder Curtain Shop. "For the small business owner it will be tough. It's the only day we can be at ease, put our minds on something else."

She said she and her husband, Charles, may be open on an occasionally Sunday, if the repealer is signed.

"We'll have to," she said. Ray Schmidt, manager of Remicks, said he is personally against Sunday opening but he is not sure if the owners of his store, who are based in New York, will open.

"It's the one day that I treasure," he said. "We have been open for the Christmas season and Sunday business has been fairly good so that indicates that people will come out."

Marion Feldman of Jason's Luggage and Music store, said she just got back from vacation and hasn't given much thought to the question of Sunday opening.

"But I'm not for it personally," she said.

The Quincy City Club held its annual Christmas breakfast meeting recently at the Venetian Room of the Sons of Italy Social Center to outline its 1982 projects for the holidays.

Richard J. Koch, president, listed the following agencies that will be aided during the Christmas season:

Pine Street Inn, socks, hats, gloves, pillow cases and large restaurant type canned foods.

Rosie's Place, paper goods, canned goods and 12 dozen coffee mugs.

Medfield State Hospital, socks, gloves, handkerchiefs and wallets for both men and women.

The City Club will again provide gifts for the annual Christmas party for the retarded sponsored by the Quincy Recreation Department. The Faxon House will receive five dozen pairs of men's pajamas.

Major gifts include a $1,000 contribution toward the purchase of a portable tympanometer in conjunction with the Parents Association at the Wrentham State Hospital to be used in the Hearing and Communications Department at the hospital for the retarded.

A large item has also been proposed for the DOVE Home in Quincy, a haven for battered women.

The City Club Christmas Charity Committee solicits the wants and needs of each group preceding the purchase and presentation.

Donald E. Conboy and Paul Lee, Chairmen of the organization's Christmas Ways and Means Committee, announced that 80 members and three non-members have personally contributed $4,000 to date for the variety of projects.

'No Silent Night' Play Held At Quantum Church

Worshippers at the First Church of Quantum Sunday saw a Christmas play during the morning service.

The play, "No Silent Night", was performed by David Williams, Ann Lombardi, Sarah Wildram, Steve Williams, Cal Bumpus, Ed Noreen, Si Porter, David Scott, Susan Scott, Robert Dixey, Chris Dixey, Diane Ahearn, Bonnie Adams and Deborah Stohlberg.

Rev. Dr. Gene Langevin, pastor, concluded the play with a Christmas meditation.

Karin Reister and Blythe Bumpus assisted the pastor in lighting the third candle in the Advent wreath.

During the second service, Dr. Langevin preached on the topic

"The Other Side of Christmas." The Chancel Choir sang "In the Bleak Mid-Winter" as the offertory. Michael Stamos and Jason Deary assisted the pastor in lighting the third Advent candle during the second service.

Greeters for the morning were Ellen Ogilvie and her children, Andrew and Lori. The Fellowship Hour was hosted by Joan Hansen and Mary Scott.

There will be only one worship service at the First Church of Quantum Dec. 19, at 10:30 a.m. Three choirs will sing.

At 9:30 a.m., the young people of the church are sponsoring the annual Christmas Breakfast for members and friends of the church.

The breakfast includes orange juice, scrambled eggs, bacon, muffin and a beverage. Call 328-6649 for reservations.

After the service, adults and children are invited to the Baby Jesus' Birthday Party. Visitors are encouraged to bring mittens to place on the Mitten Tree. The mittens will be given to poor children during the week. Birthday cake and refreshments will be served.

On Christmas Eve, there will be two services at the First Church of Quantum.

At 7 p.m., there will be a Family Service and at 11 p.m., the traditional Candlelight Service. Whichever service they attend, worshippers should bring a bell with them to jingle during the hymns and carols. The public is invited.

Karen DeLorey On Atlantic Honor Roll

Christmas Sunday Service At Bethany Church

Bethany Congregational Church will celebrate the Christmas Sunday Service Dec. 19 at 10 a.m.

The early Chapel Service will be omitted so that all members and friends of Bethany Church may gather in the sanctuary for one joyous service of praise and celebration.

The Rev. J. William Arnold will preach the sermon, titled "To Complete Our Joy", based on the text found in 1 John 1:1-4.

The Advent wreath candle-lighting ceremony will be conducted by Joseph and Carolyn Leuchte, and their children, Eric, John, and Elizabeth.

The new set of white paraments and clergy stoles will also be dedicated.

New members will be received into the fellowship of Bethany Church. Special Christmas music will be provided by the Chancel Choir, the Children's Choir, and Bethany's contralto soloist, Jean E. Bettinson.

Banked around the altar and the chance to beautify the sanctuary will be over 100 red memorial poinsettias. Later many of the plants will be taken to those members and friends of Bethany who are confined to home, residents in rest homes, or patients in one of the hospitals.

New do-it-yourself dosage system for post-operative pain medication lets the patient regulate the amount of analgesic dispensed by IV. Reports indicate that patients use less narcotics and feel better.

Boston researchers report that vegetarians metabolize estrogen differently from meat eaters. This may be a clue to breast cancer development.

Doctors may be able to remove arterial plaque with carefully directed laser beams in the near future, say researchers at the University of California, Davis. Should reduce the incidence of heart attacks, they believe.

Most children are vaccinated against tetanus, but protection wanes without boosters. Doctors recommend revaccination every ten years.

New "invisible" braces, devised by Beverly Hills, are attached to the tongue side of the teeth. They require more care, but adult patients - especially those in high-visibility professions - feel they're worth it.

Have A Safe Christmas, Urges Fire Dept.

The Christmas season is a happy time of the year that can easily be turned into tragedy by fire.

Christmas trees and holiday lighting that gladdens the heart can become monsters.

Here are some Christmas safety rules and precautions that are advised by the Quincy Fire Department:

Buy a tree that hasn't dried out from prolonged storage and when the needles become dry and start to shed, dismantle and discard the tree immediately.

Cut the end of the tree one inch up from the original cut and place the tree securely in a stand that has a water receptacle for the cut end.

Place the tree away from fireplaces, radiators and stoves and make certain that it does not block a door or exit.

Do not use candles on or near the Christmas tree.

Use only electric lighting sets that bear the Underwriters Laboratory (UL) label and check them for frayed wires, loose connections and broken sockets.

Avoid plugging too many cords into one outlet.

Turn off all tree lighting before retiring or leaving the house.

Decorate the home with non-combustible material and if combustible material has to be used make sure it is flame-retarded.

Dispose of Christmas wrappings immediately after the gifts are opened but do not use the fireplace or the stove to burn them.

Electric buying toys that are operated by flammable liquids such as alcohol, kerosene, gasoline.

Electric trains or other electric toys should not be used under or close to a natural Christmas tree where a spark can result in a fire.

The Christmas tree is the most dangerous object in your house during the holiday season.

Avoid smoking near the tree. Have a fire extinguisher within easy reach near the tree. In case of a small fire, call the Fire Department immediately.

Ending 32 Year Career

Fitzgerald Stepping Down As Quincy Football Coach

By TOM SULLIVAN

Tom Fitzgerald is resigning as Quincy High's football coach after five years at the Presidents' helm.

He confirmed reports circulating in the city that he has submitted his resignation.

He led Quincy to a 26-3 win over North Quincy on Thanksgiving and finishing with a 7-3 record. It was Fitzie's best season since his 1979 team had a 7-2-1 mark.

"I've enjoyed coaching Quincy but I think it's time I called it quits after coaching for 32 years," Tom said. "I felt this was one of my best teams and feel we should have finished 9-1 instead of 7-3. The Brockton game was the only one we really should have lost."

Fitzgerald, a former all-scholastic at North Quincy High, was appointed Quincy coach in 1978, succeeding Hank Conroy, after being backfield coach and offensive coordinator for nine years at North.

Fitzgerald led the Presidents to a 3-2 record over North.

As backfield coach and offensive coordinator at North, Tom was responsible for the development of several outstanding backs who went on to star in college.

Since moving to Quincy a large number of his players also have gone on to college.

Fitzgerald was an outstanding center for Coach Jack Donahue at North Quincy in 1942 and 1943 and was all-scholastic in his junior year. He left school to enter the Navy and played for the Sampson Naval Station team. After two years in the Navy he returned to North and graduated in 1946.

He played for a year at Thayer Academy and was named to the All-New England Prep School team. He played two years of varsity football at Boston University and graduated in 1951.

Fitzgerald also played for the Quincy Manets in the New England Professional League.

His first coaching job was at St. Catherine's High in Detroit, where he was assistant coach.

He went on to become head coach of football and baseball at Austin High in Detroit for five years. While there he coached Dave DuBusschere, former NBA standout with Detroit and New York, who was also a fine pitcher. At one time he was pitching for the Chicago White Sox and also playing in the NBA. He now is the New York Knicks' general manager.

Next came three years as football and baseball coach at St. James High in Hempstead, N.Y. While assistant coach for a year at Plainview, N.Y., he also was assistant freshman coach and scout for Hofstra College.

Fitzgerald moved to Newfield High in Centereach, N.Y., where he coached for four years before coming back to his native city as assistant at North.

While at Austin High in Detroit, he was named the High School Coach of the Year.

"I've had some excellent assistant coaches at Quincy and I thank them all for their help, they made it much easier for me," he said.

His assistants this past season were Peter Chella, Bill Maver and John Sullivan, all former Quincy stars, and two of his former players, Steve Spencer and Glen Straughn.

QJC Wins 8th, Avenges Defeat

The Quincy Junior College basketball team continues its early success and has improved its record to 8-4.

The Jaguars are 6-1 in the Greater Boston Small College Conference.

QJC avenged an earlier loss by bombing Daniel Webster College, 80-52. Steve Belcastro led the way with 22 points and Ricky Anderson sparked the defense that ignited the QJC fast break.

"Ricky and Ken (Mann) play aggressive defense from their guard spots," Coach Kevin Buckley said. "They really complement Paul Gill and Gary DiNardo, who carry the offensive load from the guard spots."

The Jaguars also won a key conference game from the Mass. College of Pharmacy, 76-66.

Leading at the half, 43-34, QJC went cold and didn't score for nine minutes as MCP tied it at 43.

Starting center Jim Conroy, with 20 points, fouled out as did 6-4 forward Keith Realini with five minutes to play, but the Jaguars held on for the win.

"Tom Deegan came off the bench to give us some key rebounds," said Buckley. "The team didn't fold when we lost two key players, they only got stronger."

QJC had five players in double figures, Conboy with 20 points, Belcastro with 17, Gill with 13, DiNardo with 12 and Realini with 11.

The Jaguars will play at Emmanuel Friday, then will be idle until Jan. 7 when they play at Blue Hills.

Only 3 Starters Back

Presidents Open Season Friday At Natick

Last season Quincy's basketball team suffered through a frustrating 4-16 season as Coach Joe Amorosino never had his full strength available until the last two weeks of the season.

When the Presidents open their season Friday night at Natick (8 p.m. junior varsity 6:30), Amorosino will have only three starters back and will be relying upon a good looking crop of underclassmen.

The lone returning starters are seniors Paul Gilbody (6-0), Bob Mudge (6-0) and Kevin Riggs (6-1). All played football and have had to get their basketball legs.

Mike Bates (6-3), Jim Stasio (6-0), Jerry Britt (5-3) and Denis Downing (6-3) are fine junior prospects.

The Quincy coach will carry five sophomores, including his two tallest players, Pat Faherty from Central and Mike Flynn from Broadmeadows, both 6-5. The others are Dean O'Malley from Central (5-7), Mike Dracchio from Sterling (5-6) and Bill Shaughnessy from Point (5-10).

"We are inexperienced with only three returnees and we have to depend on the sophomores for our height," Amorosino said. "The boys have shown steady progress and we looked better in each of our scrimmages against Walpole, Weymouth North and Hanover. The seniors must be patient and it will depend upon how fast the underclassmen progress. The seniors are eager to get going."

"I have been teaching fundamentals and hopefully, after two weeks, we are ready to set up our offensive and defensive strategies. Riggs is coming off an injury but has been rounding into form and he, Mudge and Gilbody have gradually been getting their basketball legs after the football season."

Quincy will play in the annual Hingham Christmas Tournament Dec. 21 and 27. The Presidents, who have won the event the last two years, will open against Randolph in the opener and will meet the winner of Arlington - Hingham on the 27th.

John Francheschini is back as assistant coach and Amorosino has a volunteer assistant, Tom Atkins, former Eastern Nazarene College player who played his high school ball in Florida.

Pasquale Leads Quincy To Win Over N. Quincy

Al Pasquale threw in 17 points to lead the Quincy High School basketball team to a 50-32 victory over North Quincy, its first win on the Raider Court since 1945 and the most points amassed since the intra-city series began in 1933.

Coach Munroe MacLean's Quincy squad simply dominated North from the time that Pasquale scored the first basket shortly after the opening tap off until substitute forward Bob Keefe tallied the final two points just as the final gun went off.

If the Presidents had any problem at all it was from the free throw line where they were successful in only eight out of 23 attempts.

Coach Jack Mullarkey's inexperienced young North Quincy club scrapped against the odds right down to the final minute and unveiled two promising future standouts in Dick Worthley, who scored eight points, and sophomore Gus Cuneo, who had five.

The Quincy lineup included: Wheelock, Keefe, Pasquale, Lawrence, forwards; Beaton, Steele, Campbell, centers; Lura, Salvaggi, Pettinelli, Drake, guards.

The North Quincy lineup included: Worthley, Draheim, MacLaughlin, McGuiggan, Leary, forwards; Kilpatrick, Kralaca, Marr, centers; Cuneo, Parsons, Oliver, Gilbody, Welch, Sproberg, guards.

WILSON MOVING UP

Jackie Wilson, the left handed boxer from Quincy, proved that he was ready for the big time with a unanimous decision over Mike Saad of Manchester, N.H., in the semi-final bout on the Callahan A.C.'s weekly card at the Boston Arena.

Matchmaker Sam Silverman all but promised Wilson, who has lost only one of 27 fights, a main bout with Don Williams, the sensational hard-punching choirboy from Worcester.

Wilson was originally scheduled to fight Torpedo Reid but the protege of former champion Henry Armstrong was forced to bow out with a hand injury on the afternoon of the fight. Saad was in Silverman's office at the time and agreed to fill in.

MERCHANTS BOW

Dick Luciano scored the three goal hat trick to lead the Weymouth Wildcats to a 5-1 victory over the North Quincy Merchants in a South Shore Hockey League opener before a large crowd at Freeman's Rink in South Weymouth. Bert Noglar scored the North Quincy goal.

The Merchants lineup included: Noonan, goal; Nicholson, Berrard, defense; Pitts, McNeice, Thompson, forwards; Smith, McCarthy, Rogers, Armstrong, Noglar, Shafe, Boyle, spares.

CEDRONE RETURNS

Sid Cedrone, who also sold tickets before the game, returned to the North Quincy Columbus Club lineup and his 16 points provided the spark that led the Columbians to a 56-32 victory over the Bertocci Memorial Club of Brockton at the North gym.

The Columbus Club lineup included: Bergman, Moody, Reilly, Donovan, McCauley, forwards; C. White, R. White, Humphrey, centers; Cedrone, Sullivan, Johnson, Clauss, Dunlop, Higgins, guards.

End Charley Pappas and guard Don Salvucci were elected honorary captains of the 1948 Quincy High School football team . . . Pete Lura scored seven points and the Quincy High School basketball team erupted for 15 points in the final quarter to outlast the Alumni, 29-22 on the Point Junior High School court . . . Phil Donovan's 11 points were in vain as the North Quincy Columbus Club dropped a 29-27 decision to the Winthrop Gulls in the North Quincy gym . . . Second year center Ed Sandford of the Boston Bruins was sidelined for a week with a shoulder separation suffered when he was checked by Doug McCaig of the Chicago Black Hawks . . . # Jago Succeeds Lewis As North Hockey Coach North Quincy finally has a new hockey coach.

After twice rejecting the recommendations of School Supt. Lawrence Creedon and a special screening committee, the School Committee, at a special meeting last week, voted, 5-2, to appoint the Raiders' assistant coach, Kevin Jago.

Kevin Lewis resigned as North coach and he, Creedon and the screening committee recommended Jago as his successor.

However, at two meetings the school committee rejected the recommendation and Creedon appointed a new screening committee, which also recommended Jago.

After voting 4-3, against Jago, two weeks ago, two committee members changed their vote and the committee appointed Jago by a 5-2 vote.

At its meeting two weeks ago four members of the school committee voted for veteran Quincy assistant coach Jack Crowley.

While the appointment hung in the balance, Quincy's veteran coach, Bob Sylvia, handled the Raiders' practices as well as his own.

"I'm very relieved it is over, I was really sweating it but," Jago said. "I'm very happy at the appointment and will do all in my power to make North a competitive team."

At last week's school Committee Meeting Frank Anselmo and Christopher Kennedy, who had voted against Jago Dec. 1, changed their votes. Both said they were persuaded by the fact that two screening committees had recommended Jago.

Also voting for Jago were Committee Vice-Chairwoman Mary P. Collins, Nicholas Verenis and John J. Sullivan. Still voting against him were Mayor Francis X. McCauley and Joan Picard, who said they felt Crowley should get the job because he has more coaching experience than Jago and is a former Quincy teacher.

"To hold this thing up at this point is another case of adults getting in the way of kids," Verenis said.

"I am happy Kevin was appointed," Lewis said. "Jack Crowley and I have been friends for a number of years but I felt Kevin deserved the job because he has been my assistant for the past four years, knows all the players and is familiar with North's system. I wish him all the success in the world."

North had only a 3-12 record a year ago and Jago hopes to improve on that record this season. The Raiders, who played Hingham in a jamboree in Hingham last Saturday night, open their Suburban League season Dec. 29 at Cambridge. Jago didn't take over until two days before the jamboree.

Jago played for North Quincy for three years under Coach Ron Erikson. He then played for Bob Sylvia's South Shore Braves, perennial New England Junior League champions, for two years, followed by two years in a Hingham senior league.

"I have some good players back from last year," he said. "I feel we have some outstanding goalies who could be the keys to our success."

North has found it difficult competing with such powers as Brookline, Brockton, Waltham and the Weymouths.

North lost to Hingham, 3-2, in last week's jamboree at the Pilgrim Rink in Hingham.

North Girls In Winter Track Opener

A year ago the North Quincy girls' winter track team continued its phenomenal success as it won the Suburban League title with an 8-0 record and won the state championship for the third year in a row.

The Raiderettes have a 27-0-1 record the last three years but lost 75 percent of their points by graduation.

"We lost an incredible amount of talent from an era that probably represents the greatest indoor girls' team in state history," said Coach Lou Tozzi, whose team opens Friday at Cambridge Rindge and Latin the overwhelming league favorite, at 3:30. Next Tuesday North will face Weymouth South at Newton at 5:30.

"However, we have some talented people remaining from those teams and have strong leadership from Sheila Barrett, Linda Kennedy and Mary Gannon. The team has something to prove and can surprise a lot of people. What we have to do is develop some new young talent and, more importantly, the motivation that goes with it."

The Raiderettes will be strongest in the distance runs with returnees from this year's state cross country champions.

Running the distances will be Barrett, a senior who runs any distance from the 1000 to 2-mile who holds the school record of 11:18 in the two-mile; Kennedy, a senior, a versatile three-year veteran specializing in the mile and two-mile and holder of the school record of 5:12.7 in the mile; Meg Leary, a sophomore who runs the 600, 100 and mile; Mary Ann Kelleher, a fine freshman who is the big surprise and who made the league all star team in cross country; Tracey Corrigan, a junior veteran of the two-mile, and Regina Nagle, a senior veteran.

Also running the distances will be freshmen Laura and Sharon Barrett, sophomore Kathryn Goryczka, junior Kelly Coutts and senior Nancy Wildes.

"We suffered an important injury to Diane Lindenfelzer, one of our finest young runners, who is out indefinitely," said Tozzi.

North also will be strong in the mid-distances, led by Gannon, a senior who has come back from an injury and should have a fine season; Julie Alibrandi, a junior, a newcomer and unexpected surprise; Senior Lisa Reynolds, presently injured; Joan Climo and Joanne Zdzankowski, sophomores, and junior Liz Toland.

Also running the middle distances will be seniors Donna Gelsomini, Cindy Olson and Monika Reilly, juniors Beth Ciardi, Susan McGrail, Alice Reilly and Donna Stein, and freshmen Patricia Leary, Cheryl McCarthy, Liz O'Brien and Cheryl Sullivan.

North has no experience in the sprints and the best looking prospects are sophomore Lisa Fitzgerald, sophomore veterans Jean O'Nare and Michelle Palmerio, sophomores Lisa Lynch, junior Rita McLaughlin and seniors Janet Zdzankowski and Diane Flynn.

Junior Marie McGurl is the best hurdler and freshman Lori McGrath and sophomore Georgia Traficante also look good.

North lost state champion Kara Crehan in the high jump but Traficante, runnerup to Kara last year, should be among the best in the league. Fitzgerald also high jumps.

In the shot put the amazing Michelle Millane is gone but sophomores Denise Shields and Missy Silkwood, junior Doreen Connelly, O'Hare and Palmer all show promise.

Tozzi is being assisted by Mike Burke, winner of the City of Presidents Marathon, who did a fine job with Tozzi in cross country, and Jeff Hennessy, coach of the Quincy Track Club. Bart Petracca, a former North Quincy and Cornell standout, is coaching the boys' team.

Quincy Wrestlers Eye Fifth Title In Row

By TOM SULLIVAN

The Quincy High wrestling teams have had phenomenal success under Coach Carman Mariano since the sport was revived in 1975 and this season the Presidents will be seeking their fifth successive Suburban League title.

Quincy won its fourth league crown in a row last year with an 8-0 record and has a 34-0-0 league record since last losing on Jan. 28, 1978.

The Presidents were 18-2 overall last season, losing only to the two top — ranked teams in the state, Norwood and Lowell. They missed their fourth straight South Sectional title, finishing third. Since the sport was revived in 1975 Quincy is 125-27-1.

Quincy opened its season last night (Wednesday) against Foxboro. Saturday it will host Stoughton, Plymouth-Carver and Newton North at 11 a.m. at the Vo-Tech gym in a homecoming meet, next Tuesday will be at Dedham at 3:30 and next Thursday at Needham at 4 o'clock.

"We have by far our biggest squad ever," Mariano said. "I see us carrying between 55 and 60 wrestlers throughout the season, including our newly-acquired ninth graders.

"These boys ordinarily would be in the junior high program but, since there is no longer junior high sports, they are with us."

The Presidents are led by senior tri-captains Joe Madden, Glen Oriola and Bill Rollins, who combined for more than 40 wins and less than 10 losses last season.

"They not only provide ability but indispensable leadership," Mariano said. "They are joined by returning three-year veteran seniors Bob Williams, Jamie Gravalesse, Mario Venturilli, Darrin DeCoste, John DePolio, Shaun Wynn, Bill Marston, Mike Miller, Fran Gaudiano and Paul Silcox."

Also back are Mike Notarangelo, a state place winner as a sophomore; Kevin Cabezas, a sectional place winner as a sophomore; Joe Monahan, Dave Coulter, John Cacciatore, Chris Constat, Ed Dilworth, Dan Kenney, Dan McCauley, Gary Minassian, David Kerr, Rich Boyle and Charlie MacIsaac.

"Our first-year wrestlers come to us with a lot of good experience in junior high," Mariano continued. "We had an excellent junior high program."

Sean Cahill, Matt Colby,

Anthony Venturilli, Marcello Savage, Larry Bonome, Steve Brennan, Al Conant, Jim Folk, John Heath, Robbie Legrow, Ron Luisi, Brian Mahon, Paul Miller, Mike Southwick, Walter Rollins, Ken Southwick, Tony Souza and Larry Taglieri all come with valuable, quality experience gained through the fine junior high program.

Other first-year wrestlers, including David Barnard, Chris Connor, Steve Curran, Mike Fay, Ray McLaughlin, Frank Menz, Chuck Morgan, Dave Murphy, Joe O'Brien, Mike O'Connor, David O'Keefe, Brett Satkus, Dave Shannon, Mark Stephens and Jim Thompson, are learning quickly and will be making a contribution this season.

"Developing so many wrestlers in sport as technically demanding as ours is not easy, but I have plenty of top quality help," said Mariano. "Joe Streadwick, Tim Cahill and Rich Schiarizzi are back as assistants and are more valuable than ever. Gerry Quintiliani is with us for the first time as a coach, after supporting the team in many other ways for years and is a big asset."

Quincy faces one of its strongest schedules with several of the top teams in New England coming up.

Quincy Artists Find Home After 20 Years

The Quincy Art Association has found a home at last after some 20 years of wandering around the city.

And for $1 a year, no less. The City Council Monday night listened to an eloquent plea by Bernard Reisberg and then voted to lease the old (1852) high school building on High School Ave. to the association for two years.

"It has been the dream of the association to have a home of its own," said Reisberg, a businessman whose wife is active in the QAA, "a place to exhibit arts, keep materials and teach."

He pointed out that the building is now used for storage by the city and is open to vandalism. The QAA would keep it in repair and enhance the neighborhood.

Camp Fire Members Attend Square Dance

More than 100 Camp Fire boys and girls and their families attended a square dance recently at Memorial Congregational Church, Quincy.

Caller Bob Johnson and his wife, Ruth, led the young people and their families through a variety of circle, line, and the traditional four-couple square dances.

Everyone attending brought a non-perishable food item to be donated to DOVE during the holiday season. Blue Birds Gretchen O'Hare and Rebecca Chin decorated the food collection box in Camp Fire colors of red, white and blue and Adventurer Quincy Ruggere supervised the collection.

A ceramic Santa Claus, donated by Carol's Crafts, was a door prize won by Nicole Perone.

Munchkins and punch were served.

Club Consultant Linda Ruggere, who organized the event, presented Bob and Ruth Johnson with a hand-painted tree ornament in recognition of the 11 years the pair has led the dance for Quincy Camp Fire.

A FLEA MARKET was held recently in the parking lot of Roxie's, Quincy Center, to raise funds to send the undefeated Quincy Bantam A Youth Hockey team to Lake Placid this winter. ## BIGGEST TEENAGE KILLER

The combination of drinking and driving is the biggest killer of all teenagers. Forty percent of all fatal accidents involving people under 25 also involve drinking and the automobile. The percentage gets worse as you go down the age ladder. Although drinking drivers of all ages are more likely to contribute to serious auto crashes than non-drinking drivers, the problem is aggravated when the driver is in his teens or early 20's.

Younger drivers who drink are statistically likely to become more involved in traffic crashes than older, more experienced drivers. Unfortunately, 18-year-olds are still learning the driving task at the same time they are learning how to drink. The results are proving to be tragic.

This factor is especially evident in the states which have reduced the legal drinking age to 18. Without exception, the number of fatal crashes involving drivers between the ages of 18 and 20 have increased significantly.

Shots Fired In W. Quincy Robbery

Two men held up the Old Colony Gas Station, 1230 Furnace Brook Parkway, West Quincy late Saturday night and escaped with an estimated $140 after firing a shot at a pursuing officer.

Officers Gerard Nichol and Edward Kusser were driving by the station in their cruiser just as the holdup men were leaving. One of the men fled in a car, the other on foot.

Kusser chased the man on foot into the Cross St. area where he turned and fired a handgun at the officer. The man was described as a Spanish male, six feet tall and weighing about 200 pounds.

The shot missed Kusser. Ten Quincy police officers, MDC police, state police with K-9 unit dogs and Milton police were involved in the hunt but the two men escaped.

Cigarettes Taken

A plate glass window was smashed at the Presidential Liquors, 1222 Hancock St., early Monday morning by thieves who fled with three cases of cigarettes.

Quincy vs. MDC, Boston

Action On Sewage Suit Next Month

Mayor Francis X. McCauley said Tuesday he expects that some court action will be taken about the third week in January on the city's suit to halt the dumping of raw sewage in Quincy Bay and pollution of the city's beaches.

"Most people feel this action is long overdue, including the people we are suing," said McCauley. "Because of the magnitude of the problem and the cost involved there has been a lot of talk and little action. We've got to get this beyond the talking stage."

The suit was filed Friday in Norfolk Superior Court against the MDC and the Boston Sewer and Water Commission charging that they violated the law in the disposal of raw sewage, particularly by the discharge of more than 3.5 billion gallons in 1982 alone.

McCauley said he expects that the defendants will be served with the papers by the end of the current week or early next week and they will have 20 days to respond to the charges, hence the expected mid-January court date.

Meanwhile, Rep. Michael W. Morrissey announced that he has filed several pieces of legislation for the 1983 legislative session that would enable the MDC and the 43 communities on its sewer system to take steps to correct the problems.

"Polluted storm drains and combined sanitary and storm sewers which dump untreated sewage directly into the harbor right at the shoreline is one of the problems which must be addressed," said Morrissey.

"I have filed a bill which would authorize the MDC to issue bonds to provide matching funds to identify and correct these sources of pollution."

"The MDC shall also be empowered by this legislation to implement a penalty against those cities and towns that neglect to correct these polluted drains."

Other Morrissey legislation would enable the MDC to impose sewer bans on member communities for the purpose of controlling the intake capacities of the MDC sewer lines and treatment plants.

Such legislation, said Morrissey, "would force the cities and towns to consider the effect on the treatment plants of the sewage generated by large scale development."

"It would also force the ocean-front cities and towns to keep their tide gates in good working condition, thereby eliminating the millions of gallons of sea water which are processed by the treatment plants unnecessarily."

In filing the city's suit against the MDC and Boston, City

15 Units Proposed

Mayor Favors, Residents Oppose Cranch Condos

By TOM HENSHAW

Mayor Francis X. McCauley said Tuesday he feels that it is in the best interests of the city to sell the abandoned Cranch School for $150,000 for conversion into 15 condominium units.

The Planning Board has given its approval to such a plan and the proposal was taken before the City Council Monday night and sent to the Land Conveyance Committee for hearing.

But a group of Cranch Hill residents, who would like to see the area converted into open space, have served notice that they are not going to give up the fight even as it goes down to the wire.

They have had a proposal to rezone the area for open space pending before the Council's Ordinance Committee since June 21.

"It's upsetting," said Ralph Freeman, president of the Cranch Hill and Presidents Hill Association.

"We have gone through due process and hearings and we have been totally ignored. I think they are hoping that we will crawl away and hide. But we have been there every time."

The group has presented a petition with 200 signatures of residents from neighboring streets in favor of open space.

Mary Maki, vice president and community representative of the association, said the group feels that the city is ignoring them but it is listening intently to similar groups around the city.

"It bothers us that a parcel of the Great Hill School was saved for a ball park," she said, "and a playground was saved at the Massachusetts Field School. It appears that the Pollard School will be used as a community center."

"But the Planning Board is just going ahead with plans and ignoring our wishes."

Ruth Lenehan, secretary of the association, said the group claims the support of four City Councillors -- John J. Lydon Jr., Joseph J. LaRaia, Patricia Toland and James A. Sheets -- in its bid for open space zoning.

"Our last hope to convince the others that we deserve equal treatment is a public hearing before the City Council," she said. "What has been going on is a poor example to our children of government but a good example of politics at work."

Mayor McCauley, however, said he likes the condo proposal that was presented to the Council Monday night.

"I'm a great believer in open space," he said. "It's important that the city not be overbuilt. But there is adequate open space there now. It's in the best interests of the city to increase the supply of dwelling units."

McCauley said that if the Council approves the sale of the school "I plan to sign it."

Early Goal Set For Classification

Mayor Francis X. McCauley said Tuesday he hopes to get started soon on the thorny job of classifying property in Quincy for taxation purposes.

McCauley said he hopes that Municipal Appraisal Corp. of Fall River will be through updating 100 per cent revaluation by the middle or the end of January.

That is necessary before the city can start classifying property uses in anywhere from two to five categories.

McCauley indicated that he is leaning toward a three category situation with one residential, a second open space and a third with commercial, industrial and personal property lumped together.

The mayor said that, according to the Law Department's reading of the state statute, the classification plan will be devised by the assessors and forwarded to McCauley and then the city Council.

No Live Parking On West Side

The Traffic Commission has turned down a proposal to create a 10-minute live parking zone on the west side of Hancock St. between Granite and School Sts.

Parking is currently forbidden on that side of the street and no parking is a lot more easier to enforce than live parking, ruled the commission.

"I plan to work closely with the City Council on this," said McCauley.

"When the plan is advanced it will be advertised in the newspapers and we will hold public hearings on it, possibly two or more in various sections of the city, to accommodate the people."

NICHOLAS DURGIN, 4, son of Mr. and Mrs. Russell Durgin of Sea St., Quincy, checks out the size of his own Christmas tree which he suggested his parents consider. The Durgins visited the tree lot outside the Winfield House to make their selection for the holidays.

Snow Storm Costs $25,000

Last weekend's moderate but prolonged snow storm cost the city about $25,000 for snow removal, Public Works Commissioner Paul Anderson reported to the City Council Monday night.

About half the money was spent on overtime for work crews because the storm struck on a weekend, about $2,000 went for hired equipment, and the rest went for sand and salt.

Anderson's estimate of the storm cost was contained in a verbal report made to the Council's Public Works Committee on his department's state of readiness and plans for snow removal.

"One highlight of the storm," said Anderson, "was that, as old as the equipment is, our preventive maintenance program did an outstanding job. There were few equipment failures."

If there was a notable failure, he said, it was in cleaning up the dead end streets.

"We try and we're getting better," he said. "But the dead end streets bother me. We spent a lot of time preparing but we didn't do it. We will try to address the dead end street problem more promptly."

Anderson said the weekend storm was particularly difficult to come to grips with because, while the snowfall was not really heavy, it just kept falling and falling.

"If we knew it was going to be as strung out as it was we would have called in more equipment to clean up earlier," he said.

Anderson said his department divides storms into three categories. The first requires little more than sand and salt and six pieces of equipment. The third requires equipment to cover all 38 snow plow routes. The weekend storm was Class 2, he said.

He also told the Council that he will put together a list of recommendations for ordinances and ordinance changes that would aid him in snow removal.

"We should put together a system of snow removal arteries where no parking is strictly enforced or where we have opposite side of the street parking like Boston," he said. "I would like to see that."

Council Seeks Parley On Senior Citizen Security

The City Council Monday night passed a resolution asking the Police Department and the Housing Authority to get together and discuss the problem of security at the city's senior citizens' housing complexes.

The Council action came in the wake of a Quincy cable TV interview with QHA Executive Director John Comer, reported in The Quincy Sun, and on WJDA in which he spelled out the serious security problems.

Comer noted that the "worst problems I have to deal with surround Tobin Towers" in Wollaston and it was that area's Councillor Stephen J. McGrath who brought the subject up.

"We need state and federal money to pay for security because the projects are built and maintained with state and federal money," he said.

"The money is there. It must be there when we see pay raise bills and pension bills going through the legislature so easily. I'm sure they can find some for senior citizens' security."

Mayor Francis X. McCauley suggested that, in the absence of large doses of state and federal money, perhaps the Housing Authority should do as one private development in Quincy does.

"They have made arrangements for a retired police officer to live there," he said. "He goes around and checks the doors and locks up and generally puts on a show of security presence."

"Maybe the other senior complexes could look into making some arrangements with people who have police or security backgrounds."

Otherwise, said the mayor, there is just no city money under Proposition 2½ to supply security.

"The state and federal governments subsidize the developments," he said. "They should also supply the funding for security."

Water Main Repairs Will Cost About $15,000

Highway Supt. Robert Federico estimates that it will cost the city about $15,000 to repair the damage from a water main break Dec. 14 on Newport Ave.

An estimated two million gallons of water spilled in the break which undermined a section of Newport Ave. near West Squantum St.

About $5,000 was spent by the City Sewer, Water and Drains unit in repairing the water main.

Construction of a new 50 foot section of roadway, rebuilding catch basins and repositioning sidewalk curbing will cost about $10,000, according to Federico.

The city might also receive an increase in its MDC water bill because of the water main break.

In another break last Friday, hundreds of gallons of water spilled onto Adams St. early Friday after a water main break, the second in the city in a week.

Water dept. employees were able to find the shut off valve in time to prevent any major damage from occurring.

A policeman discovered the break about 2 a.m. Water spilled about 200 feet from cracks in the sidewalk in front of a field between the Adams Mansion and the Eventide Home.

While repairs were made, water service to residents was cut for about 10 minutes.

The age of the 12 inch pipe, installed in 1906, as well as the change in temperature probably caused the break, according to Matt Morriano, water dept. operations foreman.

Thomas Kelly Re-elected President Of NAUPA

Thomas F. Kelly, of Wollaston, assistant state treasurer was re-elected president of the National Association of Unclaimed Property Administrators (NAUPA) at its recent convention.

The association, composed of representatives of 49 states that have unclaimed property laws, is actively involved with financial assets that have been dormant by its owner for an extended period of time. The most common of these assets are lost or forgotten bank accounts.

Increasingly many state governments are focusing attention on their unclaimed property laws as a major source of consumer protection. The Massachusetts Abandoned Property Division leads the country in collecting and returning unclaimed property to its residents and taxpayers. The division has received national acclaim as a model operation. The states of Connecticut and Maine have developed programs similar to those of Massachusetts.

Kelly is a member of the Quincy Knights of Columbus and also serves as Massachusetts co-chairman of the United States Olympic Committee.

He lives on Sims Road with his wife, Nancy and sons, Scott and Mark.

The Christmas Story

Luke, 2, 1-14. At that time, there went forth a decree from Caesar Augustus that a census of the whole world should be taken. The first census took place while Cyrenus was governor of Syria.

And all were going each to his own town, to register.

And Joseph also sent from Galilee out of the town of Nazareth into Judea to the town of David, which is called Bethlehem - because he was of the house and family of David - to register, together with Mary his espoused wife, who was with child.

And it came to pass while they were there, that the days for her to be delivered were fulfilled.

And she brought forth her first-born Son, and wrapped Him in swaddling clothes, and laid Him in a Manger, because there was no room for them in the Inn.

And there were shepherds in the same district living in the fields and keeping watch over their flock by night.

And behold, an angel of the Lord stood by them and the glory of God shone round them, and they feared exceedingly.

And the angel said to them, "Do not be afraid, for behold, I bring you good news of great joy which shall be to all the people; for today in the town of David a Savior has been born to you, Who is Christ the Lord.

And this shall be a sign to you; you will find an infant wrapped in swaddling clothes and lying in a manger."

And suddenly there was with the angel a multitude of the heavenly host praising God and saying, "Glory to God in the highest, and on earth peace among men of good will."

Two Christmas Eve Services At Bethany Church

Christmas Eve is a special evening at Bethany Congregational Church, Quincy Center, with two unique services of worship to celebrate the coming of Christ.

The early service, at 7 p.m., will be oriented toward family worship. The four Advent candles and the Christ candle of the Advent Wreath will be lit by the Mortimer family — Frank, Pat, Cindy, Jason, and Kate.

Kathleen Cronin and Tora Fernald Huntington will sing two Christmas duets accompanied by Miss Huntington on the guitar. Rev. J. William Arnold will read a Christmas story for children called "The Christmas Grump", and Rev. Joel F. Huntington will give a brief Christmas message for the children and their families. The story of Christmas will be read from the Bible and all present will join in singing the familiar and well-loved Christmas carols.

Christmas Eve Services At Point Congregational

Christmas Eve Services will be held at 7:30 and 10 p.m. at Quincy Point Congregational Church, 444

Washington St. There will be "The Celebration of Christmas" at the 10 a.m. family service Dec. 26.

The late service of carols and candlelighting will begin at 11 p.m. and close at midnight. The story of Christ's birth will be recalled in readings from scripture and a short meditation by Rev. Arnold. Rev. Huntington will assist in worship. Bethany's contralto soloist, Jean E. Bettinson will sing "Sweet Little Jesus Boy", by MacGimsey, and "As Lately We Watched", an Austrian carol. The congregation will join in singing many familiar carols.

This will also be the first service in which Bethany's new organist, Peter Krasinski, will be playing. The Prelude will be "Noel" by Daquin, and Improvisations on "Divinum Mysterium".

As the midnight hour approaches, prayers and the candlelighting ceremony will hail with quiet reverence and joy the Birth of the Christ Child. Each person will receive a candle and, after lighting it from the Christ Candle, the worshipers will form a large circle around the sanctuary and the glow will gradually fill the House of the Lord.

In keeping with the spirit of this celebration, there will not be a formal collection, but offerings may be left in the plates at the rear of the sanctuary. The offering will be sent to the Boston City Missionary Society, appropriately to support their continuing ministry among under-privileged inner-city children of all races.

Fred Sisti, 70, Sign Painter Former Council Candidate

Private services were held Wednesday for Fred Sisti, 70, long-time Quincy resident and former political candidate. Burial was in Pine Hill Cemetery.

Mr. Sisti is survived by his wife, Edna (Baumeister) Sisti; a son, Paul Sisti of Quincy; and three sisters, Mildred Rizzo, of Quincy, Anna Dillon of California, and Idea Genine of Vermont.

A self-employed sign painter, his business was located on Copeland St., West Quincy.

During World War II Mr. Sisti was employed as a machinist technician at the Fore River shipyard owned at that time by Bethlehem Steel Company. Mr. Sisti was involved in the exact machining of gun turrets, armor plating, and gun carriages on some of the Navy's most important vessels including the battleship USS Massachusetts, under construction at the local shipyard.

Mr. Sisti had a keen interest in Quincy politics and on several occasions sought a seat as a city councillor from Ward 3. In one contest he won the primary nomination in 1959 but lost out in the final election to James S. McCormack. He lost by 250 votes in the final election after defeating McCormack in the primary. McCormack later became State Senator.

Mr. Sisti maintained his interest in local and national affairs with frequent calls to WJDA's "Party Line" when he would voice his frank opinion on a wide variety of subjects making the news of the particular day.

Funeral arrangements were by Buonfiglio Funeral Home, 116 Franklin St., Quincy.

A THOUGHT FOR THE WEEK:

Christmas comes but once a year. Many people say once is enough. But is it? Really? What's wrong with accepting the spirit of Christmas as a state of mind - an every day way of life? What's wrong with having that spirit in our hearts every day? What's wrong with appreciating love of family, warmth of friendships - God's blessings every day? What's wrong with an every day gift giving of SELF - and ejecting selfishness and greed? What's wrong in allowing the true significance of Christmas to dominate our hearts and minds every day? What's wrong in avoiding drabness and living in an atmosphere of Christian conviviality every day? What's wrong with a softening of attitude towards others every day? What's wrong in relying on - "Yet in the dark street shineth the everlasting light; the hopes and fears of all the years are met in Three tonight." What's wrong in accepting that glorious gift, that eternal truth and joy every day?

We hope all of you who read these thoughts have a Very Merry Christmas; that you enjoy the meaning and spirit of Christmas every day - from this Christmas to the next...

"The Visited Planet" Sunday Sermon At Bethany

The Sunday after Christmas will be a joyous day at Bethany Congregational Church, Quincy Centre.

The service of worship will be at 10 a.m. and will contain a number of special events.

The lighting of the Advent wreath and Christ candle will be done by three generations of the Crofts' family. The sacrament of Christian Baptism will be given to Christopher Jon Wilbur, the son of Jonathan E. and Michele M. Wilbur. A set of white paraments — cloth hangings for the chancel — which will add color and symbolic richness to the church will be dedicated. And the last sequentennial moment of Bethany's 150th anniversary year will be presented by Jean C. Smart.

There will also be special music for this day of celebration. Guest organist, Hedy Mattson, will present "Darmstadt" by Fritsch as a prelude and "In Dulci Jubilo" a fourteenth century melody, as a postlude. She will direct the Chancel Choir in singing "Glory Be To God In Heaven" by Snow. And the youth singers, led and accompanied by Tora Fernald Huntington on the guitar will present "Hey! Hey! Anybody Listening?" by Avery and Marsh.

Worship will be led by Rev. Joel Huntington and Rev. J. William Arnold, with the sermon by Pastor Arnold, "the Visited Planet". This day at Bethany looks to be an exciting and truly celebrative event.

ALL
AGENTS ARE

ALIKE, RIGHT?

WRONG! The way we see it, there are two basic types. There's the kind who works for an insurance company... and the kind who works for you, like the BIG 1 GUYS at KALAFATAS INSURANCE.

Your BIG 1 Agent is different. He's someone you can get to know. In fact, you may already know him, as a fellow member of your PTA, church or civic group. He may even live next door to you!

Your BIG 1 Agent doesn't work for a company. He lives and works in the community he serves, helping his neighbors pick the right coverage at the right price, choosing the best from several strong, reliable companies. And, he keeps his customers informed on changing economic factors that effect their coverage needs.

So, if you think an insurance agent is a company salesman who calls once a year at renewal time, talk to the BIG 1 GUYS at KALAFATAS INSURANCE. You'll see that there is a BIG difference!

Be Careful With Credit Cards

One of the latest scams that is bilking merchants and consumers in the Greater Boston area begins with the careless disposal of a credit card slip.

All a person with a criminal turn of mind needs is the credit card number from that slip in order to put his plan into action.

The person calls a local television store and asks if they accept credit card orders over the telephone.

If the answer is yes, the person gives the salesman a name and card number and orders an expensive brand of television set.

The salesman is told that a cab will be sent down to the store in a few minutes to pick it up.

This only gives the salesman a short time to check out the card number, which is usually only checked to see if it is stolen.

The television set is picked up by cab, whose driver has been given a delivery location in an apartment building or a housing project.

Up to this time, no one has seen the person who placed the order.

When the cab driver gets to the delivery location, the person is waiting outside for him with the fare and a generous tip.

He vanishes and, of course, no payment is ever made on the credit card sale.

There are two ways to nip this scam in the bud.

First, dispose of all credit card slips and numbers in a safe way. Second, for merchants, do not take credit card orders over the phone.

CRIB SAFETY

It is estimated that some 200 infants die each year and another 40,000 are injured in accidents involving cribs. If you are buying a new crib, here are some things to look for: Buy a crib with as narrow a space as possible between the slats. Be sure that the mattress you buy fits the crib very snugly. This will prevent baby from wedging its head between the mattress and crib. If you can fit more than two fingers between the mattress and crib, the mattress is too small. Buy a crib with a latch or lock for the drop side that can't be easily tripped by baby. Most accidents occur when infants fall when climbing out of their cribs. So buy one with as large a distance between the top of the rail and the mattress support. Check the crib's metal parts and edges of crib frame for sharp or rough edges. Buy bumper pads and make sure they run around the entire crib and that tie or snap in place.

Dear Santa:

DEAR SANTA:

Well, here I am again -- late again, as usual. I keep promising to write sooner and I keep trying to write sooner, but I'm always late.

If you could see my desk, you'd understand. It looks like the city dump. I have so much junk piled on it, I even lost the typewriter in it.

I know I'm late and I promise to be a good boy next year and write you early. But I would really appreciate it if you could squeeze these last minute gifts into your sleigh for delivery Christmas.

As you know, Santa, some of these gifts this year -- as always -- are being asked for in fun and a few in a serious vein. Please do your best to get the following to the following:

Mayor FRANK McCauley, at least one challenger next year. Competition keeps an incumbent mayor in shape. (Also, Santa, HIS HONOR is running out of brown paper lunch bags... City Clerk JOHN GILLIS, a coin to toss to decide whether to run for mayor or not... Health Commissioner M. GRACE HUSSEY, a whole summer of clean beaches... Police Chief FRANK FINN, a sparkling new police station... Fire Chief EDWARD BARRY, smoke detectors in every building and every home... RON ZOOLECK, executive vice president of the South Shore Chamber of Commerce, a Christmas card from FRANK RICH... WIN BETTINSON of WJDA, many happy years of retirement and an open line to "Party Line"... School Supt. LAWRENCE CREEDON, a guarantee of no more school closings... Quincy District Court Clerk Magistrate ARTHUR TOBIN a black robe... RUTH GORDON, completion of the Ruth Gordon Amphitheater in Merrymount and a proclaimed "Ruth Gordon Day" for her to come home to dedicate it. (Santa, I've asked for this the past four years, but no luck yet. So, I'm giving it another try. Whatta ya say, Santa!)... GENERAL DYNAMICS, a super duper aircraft carrier or a super duper anything to keep the Quincy shipyard humming... Councillor JOE LARAIA, the JOE WINKLE Award... DOWNTOWN QUINCY MERCHANTS, a new neighbor in the old Sears store... DICK KOCH, SR., another day in the week to keep up with all his charitable activities.

Quincy merchant MAX LONDON, School Committeeman FRANK ANSELMO and former Quincy High School Principal GEORGE WILSON another 100 proof gallon each from the Fountain of Youth... Senator PAUL HAROLD, new jogging shoes... Rep. TOM BROWNELL, a large box of stationery to keep those written complaints going to the MDC... Rep. MIKE MORRISSEY, an airplane noise monitoring set... Rep. BOB CERASOLI, and City Councillor DICK KOCH, JR., precious time with and early "Da Da's" from their new sons, PETER and BOB, JR.... City Council President JACK LYDON, an alarm clock to keep the city council meetings from running over-time on the nights they are televised... STEVE DODGE, BARRY LE MIEUX, DAVE KEEFE and JOHN KING of Quincy Cablesystems, many more hookups... QUINCY TAXPAYERS, slight impact when revaluation is implemented... JOHN (JAKE) COMER, Quincy Housing Authority executive director, a "well done" for his stand and action on harassment problems... BILL AUSTIN, BILL KELLEY, JOHN HERBERT and CHARLIE PEARCE, low interest rates to pass along to their bank customers... DEBBIE ORMON of the Mayor's Commission on the Status of Women, another Benny Goodperson record... And, Santa, drop one off also to ALICIA COLETTI of the Quincy Junior College Women's Center... HERB FONTAINE of WJDA, his very, very own news scoop... City Councillor JOANNE CONDON and School Committeewoman MARY COLLINS, good luck in Ward 6... ARTHUR CHANDLER, a SRO at least once or twice a week at the Wollaston Theater, Quincy's last picture show in town... Assistant City Clerk TOM BURKE, his traditional supply of darts... DR. GILBERT DANIELS, DR. CHIVAN WANG, DR. SHELDON KAUFMAN, DR. GERRY ROSENBLATT, DR. TED GORDON and DR. MICHAEL GORDON, a sincere "thank you"... And thanks to all of you who give of your time, money -- and heart -- to help Jerry's Kids.

And to everyone, a very Merry Christmas and a happy and HEALTHY New Year.

Handicapped Woman Faces Holiday Eviction

A 54-year-old Quincy woman, who suffers from a nervous disorder but is able to work part-time and pay her own way, is faced with post-holiday eviction from the home she shares with another woman in Wollaston.

Miss Gretchen Grant is seeking a room or an apartment in which she and another woman can share expenses or a home where she can work doing domestic chores in exchange for a place to live.

She must be out of the apartment she has shared for the past three months by the end of January.

Miss Grant got into her current predicament inadvertently through the kindness and compassion of her cousin, Owen MacDonald and his wife, Paula, who live at 133 Elmwood Ave., Wollaston.

She was lonely living by herself in New York so the MacDonalds arranged that she should live and share expenses with an 88-year-old woman who lives across the street from them.

"My husband and I are the only family she has," Mrs. MacDonald explained.

Unfortunately, the plan did not work. Miss Grant and her new room-mate did not hit it off. Their temperaments clashed. They could not agree on how expenses should be shared.

The other woman got a lawyer and Miss Grant was ordered out by the end of January.

"We just got in over our heads," said Mrs. MacDonald. "We would like to take her in but, with two young children, we just don't have the room."

"She loses patience with the kids very easily. My 2½-year-old creates stress for her just by acting like a normal 2½-year-old."

Mrs. MacDonald has tried without success to relocate Miss Grant. She has gone through such agencies as Back Bay Aging Concerns, South Shore Mental Health, St. John's and other churches.

She has advertised in the newspapers and in women's club and church bulletins.

Miss Grant, who is a victim of Tourette's Syndrome which brings on occasional seizures, collects a disability payment and is able to pay $140 to $150 a month for lodging.

She can also work at domestic chores for short periods of time.

"Perhaps there is a woman somewhere in similar circumstances who needs someone to share expenses," said Mrs. MacDonald. "Or perhaps there is a family somewhere with a room who needs someone to work around the house."

Christmas Eve Promenade Draws 10,000

More than 10,000 people strolled up and down a darkened Hancock St. singing carols in the city's first Christmas Eve promenade in downtown Quincy.

Vehicular traffic was blocked at Washington and School Sts. and street and store lights were turned off leaving only the colored lights of sidewalk Christmas trees.

The Granite Trust Co. bell ringers gave a special yuletide program on the bandstand on Chestnut St.

Mayor Thomas S. Burgin called the promenade "one of the most beautiful activities ever held in our city."

Reddish bronze Christmas bells grouped over the decorated doorway at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Ryan of 8 Samoset Ave. won the $5 first prize for decorations offered by the Merrymonth Association.

"Nowhere in Quincy have more beautifully decorated homes been seen during the current holiday season than in Merrymonth," said a member of the prize committee.

Christmas babies were born at City Hospital to Mr. and Mrs. John Balducci of 30 Roberts St., Mr. and Mrs. Sherman Schofield of 113 Butler Rd., and Mr. and Mrs. John Melanson of 96 Montclair Ave.

100 PER CENT REVAL

Chief Assessor Nathan G. Nickerson disclosed that State Tax Commissioner Henry B. Long has directed that the city place a 100 per cent value on all taxable property instead of the current 90 per cent.

Nickerson said the state edict would add about $440,000 to the Quincy tax levy by raising the total valuation to more than $135 million. The tax rate stood at $32.40.

PARKING LOT HAILED

City Councillor Aldo Della Chiesa called the purchase of the municipal parking area to the west of Hancock St. between Granite and School Sts. "one of the most progressive steps the City Council has ever taken."

"I have been through the parking area many times recently," he said, "and observed with satisfaction the hundreds of cars which fill the spaces there."

Sewage Action Next Month

Solicitor William B. Golden called the current condition of Quincy Bay "outrageous and a disgrace to both the city and the Commonwealth of Massachusetts."

"The city does not intend to indict the defendants but only to throw down the gauntlet to them and to challenge them to begin today to decide the fate of Quincy Bay," said Golden.

The suit also charges that the MDC and Boston have violated federal and state discharge permits, resulting in a public nuisance that threatens the health, safety and welfare of Quincy residents.

Many of the city's beaches were closed for varying periods of time last summer when discharges of raw and partially treated sewage drove the coliform counts to unhealthy heights.

Golden, who is chairman of McCauley's Water Pollution Task Force, emphasized that the suit is an attempt by the city to focus attention on the deterioration of Quincy Bay.

"It would be wrong to say that there were any good guys or bad guys with respect to the pollution problem and the city is not pointing its finger at the defendants to say that they are the sole cause of the problem," he said.

"On the contrary, the problem has developed over many, many years despite substantial efforts to turn the situation around by individuals and agencies, including the defendants."

Golden noted the recent commitment by the MDC of $8 million to rehabilitate the Nut Island Sewage Treatment Facility as an indication of good faith efforts on the part of MDC officials.

McCauley said the suit was prepared in cooperation with Atty. Peter Koff, an environmental law specialist, who has been hired to work with city officials on the case.

Golden said extensive work on data to support the case was done by Rep. Thomas F. Brownell and City Councillor Leo J. Kelly as well as Health Commissioner Dr. M. Grace Hussey and Wintrop Wade of the Health Department.

Rep. Morrissey noted that he has already filed legislation that would establish a commission "to determine what type of agency should be charged with the running of the entire sewer system and how that agency should be administered and funded."

"It is important to remember that the MDC was originally established as a water commission," he said. "The police division was added to protect the water works. The sewage treatment division was added to an agency that had already grown far beyond its original purpose."

"It would appear that it is now the time to either reorder the MDC's priorities or remove sewage treatment from MDC control."

This week we will cover the PRELIMINARY PROCEDURES involved in giving a professional manicure.

Remove old nail polish with a plectrum of cotton moistened with nail polish remover. If desired, use one cotton pledget for each nail, moisten another cotton pledget with nail polish remover and press over the first pledget. This acts as a blotter and does not leave a polish smear on the cuticle.

Shape the nails with an emery board into graceful oval tips. File each nail from the side to the center, from right to left and from left to right. Filing them in this way avoids nail splitting.

With a thin layer of cotton wound around the blunt edge of an orangewood stick, apply cuticle solvent around the cuticles of the left hand. Gently loosen the cuticle with the spoon end of the cuticle pusher. Remove dead cuticle with the cuticle pusher. Be careful not to scratch the nail plate. Push the cuticle back with a towel over the index finger.

QUINCY FIRE FIGHTERS

"Happy Holidays"

But beware of fire. Because of seasonal lighting, Holiday candles and Christmas trees, residents of Quincy must take every precaution to prevent fire. It is even more important this Holiday season, because never before has the Quincy Fire Department had so few Fire Fighters responding to fires and calls for help. Citizens of Quincy no longer enjoy the fire protection they had in the past.

New Seniors' Fare On MBTA Lines

Senior citizens began riding for 10 cents on MBTA rapid transit lines and local buses and for half price on commuter rail, express and zone bus routes on Monday.

The new senior citizen fare plan replaces the old one under which seniors rode free from 9:30 to 4 p.m., the non-rush hours, and half fare at all times on all services.

Special needs persons will pay the same fares as senior citizens except from 7 a.m. to 9 a.m. and 4 p.m. to 6 p.m. weekdays when they must pay full fare for all services.

In order to be eligible for senior citizens' (65 or over) and handicapped reduced fares, MBTA photo ID cards must be shown to the driver or the toll booth collector.

For those who do not already have ID cards, they may be obtained for a 50-cent fee at the Washington St. station in Boston, Orange Line concourse, from 9 a.m. to 12 noon and 1 p.m. to 3:30 p.m.

Proof of age or disability must be shown.

Papils in Quincy's public elementary and middle schools again have submitted articles on the themes, "What Christmas Means To Me" and "What Chanukah Means To Me."

The Sun is happy to share their unedited thoughts with you.

We were swamped with entries this year and because of space limitations are unable to print all of them. We are very sorry about that because there were many, many others worthy of publication.

Christmas means love joy cheer presents christmas stocking christmas trees and decorations.

Farhad Meskoob
Montclair - Gr. 3

Hanukkah means a lot to me. We light nine candles on a menorah that are all different colors. We take turns lighting the candles after supper. We do this eight days in a row. On the last day all the candles are lit.

Scott Levine

Christmas means happiness, a great holiday, and lots of presents. It's time for love, fun, and laughter.

Michelle Disher

Christmas is a time for giving and sharing with other children that do not get as many presents as you do. It is nice to share with other children. It shows that you care about other children and not just yourself. Merry Christmas.

Michelle Manning
Lincoln-Hancock - Gr. 3

On Hanukkah we get to pick seven little presents and on the eighth day we sometimes get a big present. Hanukkah means love, giving, and happiness. I sometimes have a party. This year we are having a family party. It will be very fun. I get lots of presents.

Joshua Wood
Parker - Gr. 4

Christmas is a day of joy and happiness. It's a day of laughs and kisses. It's also a day of presents and toys. But most of all it's a day of love.

Michael Yee
Montclair - Gr. 3

Christmas is a joyful time of year. The overwhelming cheerfulness is as immense as the ocean. Christmas joy rubs off on everyone that comes near it. It spreads across town like an epidemic, making people happy and cheerful in their giving and receiving of gifts. There is no adjective now or then that could describe the cheerfulness on that first Christmas evening or on Christmas in this age.

Fred Cawthorne
Grade 7
Central Middle School

Christmas is a happy time full of joy and love.

Christmas is a time when families get together and sing happy songs. I like Christmas because everyone is giving and you get lots of presents. Everyone is happy on Christmas.

I like Hanukkah because we spin dreidels and light the candles each night. Each night we also get a gift. My mother bakes latkes and turkey for dinner. Last night we all went over my aunt and uncle's house for Hanukkah. I got a quart of bubbles, poster art and magic sand. That's why I like Hanukkah.

Maureen Silverman

Christmas to me, is a merry jubilee.

It is dancing, laughter and lots of fun. It is just about everyone. It is a day for sharing. Not just for tearing open all those gifts.

It is a day to say without fuss, We are lucky the Lord sent Jesus down to us!

The greatest gift is giving. The greatest gift is me. I give love to most every one. I can help in every way. Once when my mother was sick, my friend, Juli, and I cleaned the dishes, and cleaned the counter. Then we asked her to come see it. She was so grateful. She must have thanked us a million times. She didn't pay us but I knew why. We helped because it was our job. She loves me and I love her.

Christmas cookies are fun to make. My Mother shows me how. We share them with our friends. Merry Christmas!

Ricky Pascarella

Christmas means a lot to people because of the happiness we all have. I like Christmas because of the presents and the decorations on the Christmas tree. When we gather around the tree and sing Christmas Carols, I think back to the first Christmas. My mother starts to bake Italian home made Christmas cookies and she also makes ham and other kinds of things. Then, all my relatives come over and we gather together. We say a prayer to God and thank Him for all the blessings. That's what Christmas means to me.

Christmas is a time for, caring, a time for, giving and a time for sharing.

So, when something goes, wrong just remember,

"Through good times and, bad weather, Christmas lasts forever".

Beth Roberts

I love to give presents. I will get nice presents for my Mom, Dad and brothers.

Adam DeBoer
Parker - Gr. 1

Christmas means to be nice to one another - even to my little sister. (Six days after Christmas is her birthday).

Remembering Jesus is most important. On the closest Sunday to Christmas we go to church, and I sing in the choir or participate in a play. After church we go home and have a hearty dinner with our grandparents.

Chuck Hughes
Broad Meadows - Gr. 7

Christmas means caring, sharing and giving. Christmas means joy also. Christmas is a special time for me and probably you. Do you know where we get the holiday Christmas from? We get the holiday Christmas Jesus Christ our Lord. We get the name Christmas from the name Christ. Jesus was born on that special day. That's when we celebrate his birthday. On that same night a man called Saint Nicholas came with eight little reindeer. He gave everyone a gift.

Melinda Barbour
Squantum - Gr. 5

Hanukkah means to me being with my family and sharing. It is a time to give presents. On Hanukkah we get eight presents; one for each day. Sometimes we go on trips on Hanukkah to places like Cape Cod and spend Hanukkah there. We go to Hebrew book stores and buy books about Hanukkah. I read them on Hanukkah. I like them a lot. Sometimes we celebrate Christmas too. We don't get a Christmas tree; we just hang up stockings. In the stocking we get jewelry and thing like that.

Amanda Baler
Furnace Brook - Gr. 3

Christmas to me means a time to love and a time to give and receive, not necessarily presents. Christmas doesn't mean you have to buy every one a present. You could give them a gift of yourself.

This reminds me of a time when all of the other members in my family were very busy buying gifts for their friends and relatives. I wanted to buy and give presents to my friends and relatives but I didn't have any money. I thought I was letting everyone down not getting them gifts. When Christmas finally arrived my family and friends said to me "You are the best Christmas gift we could ever receive." I was very happy for I knew now that gifts weren't the only thing to Christmas.

Tricia Flaharty
Point Middle - Gr. 8

To me Christmas is a family gathering to have a big celebration. We have lots of things to eat and after we eat, we all go out sledding. When we come in, we sit down and wait for Santa to come and give us our presents.

Michelle Anderson
Squantum - Gr. 4

Christmas means to me a day of joy and glee. It is a time for mom and dad to rest and not to be a little pest. Christmas is that special day when little boys and girls get new toys to play. It is also a time to laugh most happily and that's what Christmas means to me.

What Christmas... And Chanukah Mean To Me...

Chanukah is a time for rejoicing over the Festival of Lights. The Jews celebrate the Maccabees beating the Syrian Greeks for the freedom to practice our own religion. Chanukah is a time when we had enough oil for one day and it lasted for eight days.

Chanukah is a time for dreidels. The letters on the Dreidel are, ahlef, hay, nwn and hay.

Christmas is fun, but there is something special that we do every Christmas Eve. I'll tell you how my mother gets the family together and what I do every Christmas Eve. First my mother calls the family and tells them to come over. Next my mother gets the table ready. Then we go to see the pretty decorated houses. Finally we get home and we open the presents. # What Christmas... And Chanukah Means To Me ...

Chanukah means many things to me. I like when my family gets together on Holidays. I like to light the candles because it helps me to remember the good things during the past year. I also like getting presents every night. Sometimes I get sad because my friends talk about how much fun Christmas is, then I remember how much fun Chanukah is!

Jonathan Stein

I love making ornaments. I love choosing my tree. I'm filled with love for my family. I have such good feelings.

Joshua Knowles

Christmas, to me, is a time for joy. It is a time for giving & receiving presents. Sometimes, for some people, it's not just the giving & receiving of presents, but the giving & receiving of warmth, happiness, and love.

At times though, people may overdo their joy, as in too much to drink. Then, others around that person, or people who are so innocent may be harmed. It is times like this, that Christmas is not such a joyous occasion.

Beth Marini
Central Middle - Gr. 8

Christmas is a time for joy and laughter. It is a time for presents. It is a time for loving.

Thomas Polvere

Hanukkah means to me the lighting of the menorah candle.

Alyssa Gilman

When Christmas morning is here, Peter and I go down stairs, sit on the love seat very quietly and look at the gifts. This year, I will give gifts to people that are very ill. I wish I could help them, but my mother does because she's a nurse.

Gennifer Haviland

What Christmas means to me. Christmas means love, it means sharing and giving also. It's full of joy. Santa comes on a special night and gives us all the gifts we like. Christmas is a time to care. We celebrate Christmas for the day Jesus Christ our Lord was born. We get the name Christmas from name Christ.

Melinda Barbour

Heather Grimm

Christmas is a time for being happy and being with your family and friends. I hope it will snow this Christmas so Santa will be able to come in his sled to my house. Our family will go to church and be happy that Jesus was born.

At Hanukkah on the first day we light only one candle. Then we say a prayer and give each other a gift. We keep doing this for eight days. I'd rather have Hanukkah than Christmas because you get something every day!!!

Jason Dressler
Grade 4

Christmas is a time to go to church and pray and be thankful for all we have. Be thankful you're not a person who is poor or a needy child. Think of how fortunate you really are! Christmas is a time to be joyful! Think of how fortunate you are! When you go to church or someone that collects money for poor families, give a little extra because you're fortunate.

Brian Glennon
Parker - Gr. 5

Christmas is a time to be close to your family and rejoice the birth of our Savior, Jesus Christ. I love to decorate the tree every year with my family and watch the Christmas lights go on. Christmas isn't just getting presents though, it is also the time to give, giving to people less fortunate than you, not just giving gifts but giving yourself and your time. If everyone had the Christmas spirit and the spirit of giving all year long, this world would be a better place.

Andrea Ayer
Central Middle - Gr. 8

I like Christmas because we decorate the tree.

I like Jesus. Christmas is about Jesus, not just about Santa Claus. It is Jesus's birthday on Christmas. We hang up stockings.

Christmas is a time of giving, sharing and caring. It is also a time when Rudolph the Red Nose Reindeer and Frosty the Snowman come on T. V. Santa Claus goes around the world in one night delivering presents to children. The most important of all is Jesus was born on Christmas Day. This is "What Christmas Means To Me."

David Young
Atlantic Middle - Gr. 8

Christmas means being good and kind and generous to every one you know. I love Christmas very much.

Martin Shields
Parker - Gr. 1

I think Christmas is one of the few words in the english language, with an infinite number of definitions. Everyone has a special definition of Christmas. Some people just think of it as Santa Claus coming down the chimney to deliver presents; others think of it as getting the right present for family and friends.

Like everyone else, I have my own definitions of Christmas. To me, Christmas is a time when families get together to celebrate the birthday of Jesus Christ. I notice that every Christmas, people seem to be more at peace with each other and I can't but think that Jesus is with us.

All the decorations are the signs of happiness during the season. They create a bright and cheerful atmosphere that seems to reach out and touch me and all who look at them.

Families seem much closer than most times. Every present or smile exchanged shows just how much they really care about each other. Although there is really no, one, solid definition for Christmas, we will always know what it feels like. All and all, I think that Christmas is anything we want it to be.

Christmas means gathering with your family, talking with them and having fun. It means giving presents and receiving presents. It means singing carols, sending cards to your friends and family. It means decorating your house and tree. It means celebrating Jesus's birth.

When you get a lot of toys.

I like this holiday very much.
Because it has a loving touch.
It's a time to give and get presents.
It's a holiday must pleasant.

Christmas is to give and to receive gifts. It's a time when you could spend time with your family. It's a time when you could share and love. "Christmas is also special because Jesus was born on Christmas day. It's also fun to put up decorations on the tree. Christmas is having fun and having a merry Christmas.

Christmas is a very special time. I like giving and getting; but little kids of course only like getting. This year my family and I are mostly making Christmas presents. Most important - we love each other very, very, much.

Erin Kinnally

Christmas to me is a time of joy and cheer. For little children it is a time to get presents and see grandparents and other relatives such as aunts, uncles, cousins etc.

Diana Dabrowski

Christmas is a very special time for me. It is not just the giving and receiving of presents, not the wintery weather outside or the beautiful decorations hanging about other peoples houses. It is a time to spend with your family and friends, so that you can share your happiness and love with others.

Lauren Standing
Central Middle - Gr. 8

I like Christmas because I like the Christmas trees and getting Christmas gifts from my friends. I like Christmas because it gives me a good feeling.

Everyone's beaming.

Hoping everything will go right,
For Santa is coming tonight.

Cary Brooks

Christmas is full of joy. On Christmas eve, Santa comes to give children toys. He comes down the Chimney. Down, down, down, on Christmas eve. He puts the toys in our stockings. Then up he goes; up, up, up, on Christmas eve. He rides on his sleigh pulled by reindeer. When it's Christmas again, Santa will come back.

Kristen Bruno

To me Christmas is a time when our whole family gets together to celebrate the birth of Christ.

Christmas is a very special time of year and we exchange gifts to show how much we care about each other. The lights during the Christmas season help contribute to the cheerfulness of some people. Although giving and receiving gifts is fun, and the lights make houses look wonderful, I think everyone should remember the actual reason for celebrating.

Brenda Campbell
Central Middle - Gr. 8

Christmas is my best holiday not because we get gifts but because everyone in your family gets together. All your grandmothers and grandfathers come too. You have a Christmas party. That's what Christmas means to me. That's why I like Christmas so much.

Veronica Mulken
Montclair - Gr. 3

Christmas is a lovely day and a time to enjoy ourselves. We also go to church to sing and pray. It is Jesus' Birthday.

Gerard Neal
Atherton Hough

Christmas means to share and to help other people. Christmas means to buy gifts and give kind thoughts. Christmas means to care. But the most it means, is to remember the birth of Christ.

Lee Giordano
Squantum - Gr. 3

Christmas means a time of love and happiness. At Christmas time you should not only think of you and your family but of the poor people that don't have anyone but themselves. Sometimes at Christmas it is necessary to say a prayer for the poor people. You should not only receive but give. Christmas means having relatives joined together and having Christmas dinner and exchanging presents. Most of all Christmas means being together and caring for other people.

Megan Gannon
Div. 7-1
Central Middle School

Christmas is giving and not receiving. It's a day of laughter and fun. It's a day when the stockings are hung. It's a day of gathering around the Christmas tree and singing Christmas carols.

Merry Christmas.

Melissa Stamos
Montclair - Gr. 3

Christmas is the time of year. I like Christmas. It is fun to play with our new toys we get from Santa. Christmas means a lot to me. Not only toys we get, we get love and every thing else.

Rose Marie Harris
Montclair - Gr. 3

I think Christmas is a time to share. When all of us give our love and care. For those who do not have a present I'm sure Santa will give them one. If Santa does not know about it I feel sorry for that little one.

Yvonne Lam
Montclair - Gr. 4

What Christmas means to me? I think that it's a time for love and care for others. Any don't be bad because you'll never get toys. So be good this Christmas!

Stephen Oakes
Lincoln-Hancock - Gr. 3

Christmas is a time of love and a time of peace. A time when the arguing will finally cease.

Christmas is when you buy gifts for your friends. A time when the cruelty comes to an end.

Laura Chiampa
Atlantic Middle - Gr. 8

Christmas is a time for giving and receiving, for singing and playing games and imagining how Santa and his reindeers deliver all of the toys in one night to all of those little children that have been good.

Robert Austin
Sterling - Gr. 6

Christmas is a time for joy. Its a time for receiving toys. Christmas is a time to relax. To light up candles made of wax. Christmas is a time to jump and shout. And not a time for one to pout. For the young ones around Christmas. Its a time to be good for St. Nickolas. Christmas is a time to set up a tree. And sing favorite carols with harmony.

Jonathan Brosnan
Broad Meadows - Gr. 6

Christmas means loving things like my parents.

Joseph Ruscio
Parker - Gr. 1

Christmas means being happy because you get lots of toys and clothes. It also means we could have a snow storm and use the sled that we got from Santa Claus.

Susan McGonagle
Atherton Hough

To me Christmas is a holiday of love and joy, gifts and presents and best of all Love.

Eugene Krass
Montclair - Gr. 3

Christmas means a special holiday. You get lots of presents from Santa. And Rudolph is on top of the roof.

Anthony Licciardi

Christmas is when Jesus saved the whole world.

Chucky Billikas

What Christmas Means To Me. The baby was born on the first Christmas we had. Mary was so happy on that day. That was the best gift Mary ever had. And Mary named the baby Jesus. And she loved him so much. And Jesus got a gift too he got so much love from every person. In the world. Every person comes to the Baptised Church.

The end
Dorothy Colleton
Snug Harbor - Gr. 3

Christmas time is my Favorite holiday. I like Christmas because you get presents.

I ride in Santa's Sleigh. I like the music. On Christmas Eve there is not a sound. You could not hear a dog.

On Christmas I got a silver dollar.

Jennifer Masters
Furnace Brook - Gr. 3

What Christmas Means To me. Christmas is when you get presents and the family is together and all get presents. You go to someone's house and also you celebrate Jesus' Birthday.

Kelly Reilly
Snug Harbor - Gr. 3

Christmas is a giving season. People think you just receive. It is a tradition in our house that every Christmas Eve relatives come to visit. It's something like Christmas "Italian style". All the younger relatives take time to sit down and respect older relatives. There is food all over the place. It is mostly Italian. Around nine o'clock we open presents. We don't get settled until ten. I kiss everyone goodbye. Christmas means to me LOVE.

Christine Carroll
Grade 5
Daniel Webster School

Christmas means believing in Santa Claus; buying presents for my mom and dad, and calling my grandmother and grandfather.

Dawn McMurdy
Atherton Hough

Christmas means thinking about the baby Jesus in his cradle with Mary at his side, and the shepherds giving Him gifts.

David Campbell
Squantum - Gr. 3

I like Christmas because it's quiet and pleasant. It's a holiday. You can go outside and go sledding. You get presents. You sing songs and go outside and shovel.

George Duncan
Furnace Brook - Gr. 3

Christmas is a time of joy. For every little girl and boy. The Christmas tree is bright. It gives off a tremendous amount of light.

All the stockings filled with toys. For all little girls and boys. Everyone filled with glee.

And that's what Christmas means to me.

Jeff Ward
Central Middle - Gr. 8

Christmas means the time of year, when there's joyful thoughts, full of cheer.

Being thankful for what you have, and not being vain about what you should have had.

Decorating takes careful thought, a beautiful Christmas tree is what we sought.

Getting into the spirit of things, what a happy feeling this brings.

A million gold coins, that's what it's worth, celebrating this day of Christ's birth.

Beth Ryan
Central Middle - Gr. 8

I think Christmas is very nice. This Christmas I might write a letter to Santa. Every Christmas to me is fun and I think this Christmas will be just as much fun! I hope to get a mini-Galaxian game this Christmas. I am very hopeful. Christmas is full of joy.

Samuel Kwan
Furnace Brook - Gr. 3

Christmas means when there is a christmas tree to decorate, and stockings filled with toys. There are lots of gifts under the tree. That day we visit my grandmother and open our gifts.

What Christmas Means To Me...

Christmas to me is very special. When Christmas comes, it's a time for families to come together to share the love and happiness they have for each other. It's a time to think of Jesus' birthday and for what he did for us. It's a time to be grateful for what we have when Christmas comes. People think of buying presents and exchanging them to show their love, but to me Christmas is more. It's having my family all together and having fun opening the Christmas presents all together!

Adriana Bagie
Daniel Webster - Gr. 4;

What Christmas means to me is people praying at dinner time and relatives giving and receiving presents happily. It also means friends and relatives sitting near the decorative tree talking pleasantly with soft Christmas music playing. That's what Christmas means to me.

Denis O'Connell
Montclair - Gr. 5

I love Christmas time, not because of all the presents, but because it's just a special holiday to me. I usually get together with my whole family and celebrate. I also love all the decorations. The lights are so pretty and bright. I like the way they shine in the night. Merry Christmas.

Kelly Lawdy
Lincoln-Hancock - Gr. 2

Christmas is a time when families get together and give their loved ones presents, a time when we have a nice dinner celebrating on the day when Christ was born. Christmas is a time when we give, not expecting a return. Christmas makes me feel happy and sad; I feel happy when I get presents, sad when I think about starving people with no money. I'm very fortunate to be getting presents where there are kids who get nothing. I figure that I have much to be grateful for.

Ann Anderlionis
Atlantic Middle - Gr. 8

Christmas means giving and sharing gifts with other people. When giving gifts, its not the price that counts but it is the thought that counts the most.

When receiving, the thing that counts the most is thanking the person that gave you the gift. Christmas is a time for families to rejoice and see people they haven't seen in a while.

Christmas is a special time of the year. It's a time to get together with the family. It is a time to think of sick and poor people. People go shopping at Christmas time. It's a time when little children go to whisper in to Santa's ear.

Laurie Lund
Squantum - Gr. 5

Christmas is a time to love and share. When I put up my Christmas tree, I have a nice feeling. I just think it's Christmas time again! It's time to give and share. It's time to get presents. Christmas is beautiful.

Angela Favaloro

What Christmas means to me is Santa and love and gifts and Jesus' birthday specially love and Santa.

Kelly Stewart
Snug Harbor - Gr. 2

Christmas means a tree all decorated and all my relatives coming over. All my little cousins hop out of bed and rip open their presents.

All Christmas day my mother is cooking turkey, macaroni, and the desserts.

Helping my mother set the table and getting all dressed up is what Christmas means to me.

But most of all, it means loving and caring.

Kristen Luosy

Christmas means to love each other.

Kim Low

Christ is born on Christmas. He and Mary were in a manger. Jesus said, "It is nice to share". Santa Claus said, "Merry Christmas". I hope everyone gets the gifts they wanted and I wish everyone a very Merry Christmas.

What Christmas Means To Me...

Christmas is a time of love, beauty, and worshiping. It's a time for enemies to become friends, problems to be solved, and Christ's magic to fall upon us.

Christmas Day brings many, "Merry Christmas's," many, "Thank You's," and many thoughts to be shared with your loved ones. That's what Christmas means to me.

Matt Norton
Grade 7
Central Middle School

On Christmas you should be delighted because of all the things you get. Christmas is a time when people give presents to each other. When Christmas comes around every year, we give presents to poor people around the world. I like Christmas because I get presents and it's a time of sharing. Christmas is special to me because my family gets together to open presents. I hope that all the poor kids around the world have a nice Christmas, also Merry Christmas to all the kids everywhere.

Jimmy Bryan
Parker - Gr. 5

I think Christmas is important when everyone gets together. When Christmas is coming I am joyful. Christmas morning I always wake my mother, father and my baby brother at 6:00. But my father says to wait till 7:00. I am very happy when I see what I get. The next day I play with my toys.

Lisa Garcia
Furnace Brook - Gr. 3

Christmas is when we thank the Lord for all the gifts he gives us. We thank Him for food and most of all for our Mother and Father.

James Shaw
Squantum - Gr. 3

Christmas is a holiday. We get Christmas trees. A lot of people eat a big dinner. I have fun putting the bulbs on the tree. Christmas trees are pretty. I get gifts under the Christmas tree. It is a lot of fun. I give gifts to my relatives. I like to give cards to people.

Jesus was born on Christmas and that's why we have off from school. That's also why we celebrate Christmas and give presents and give gifts.

Christmas is a day to forget and forgive other people who hurt you. To remember good things not bad. To be happy not sad. It's also a day to remember Jesus on his birthday.

Christmas is good because you can love people! And, you can be with your family and love them. Also, Christmas is fun with your family! If you don't have your family there won't be any Christmas!

Christmas is a fun holiday which lots of people like. They get a lot of toys even a bike!

Christmas is fun to play in the snow. They'll all want to stay and never want to go!

Baby Jesus was born on Christmas day. Everyone knows in everyway!

All the boys and girls want it to stay. But it can't because it has to go away.

What Christmas Means To Me...

Love, giving. I love it. I rip open presents.

James Townsend Jr.
Snug Harbor - Gr. 4

Christmas is when Jesus was born. We're celebrating to give Jesus thanks. We give and sometimes get presents. Christmas is fun. Jesus made our lives and we thank him. When we are born we get baptized to go into Jesus family.

Kristen Richards
Snug Harbor - Gr. 4

Roses are red
Violets are blue
Here comes Christmas
And St. Nicholas too.

Down the chimney he will come to leave for Johnny a shiny new drum
For Jane he'll leave a brand new doll
And to us he'll shout
Merry Christmas to all

Brian Celluci
Broad Meadows - Gr. 6

I'm dreaming of snow falling,
And Santa Claus calling, Ho Ho Ho,
As the bell jingles
And my heart tingles
From dreams of candy canes and presents.

James Allen
Sterling - Gr. 6

Christmas is a time for fun
It is the day that Christ did come
We celebrate this in many ways
From singing songs to watching plays.

Francine Musse
Broad Meadows - Gr. 6

To me, Christmas means happiness when putting up the Christmas tree for presents to be under it and for poor people to at least have some food to eat. Christmas also is the joy of giving and being with your family. The enjoyment of seeing my family opening there presents makes me happy.

Robyn Hemphill
Central Middle - Gr. 6

On Christmas day our family is together. We have a nice Christmas and get lots of nice gifts on Jesus' birthday.

Michelle Merrill
Squantum - Gr. 3

Christmas means going to a large hall, meeting all of my cousins, seeing Santa Claus, eating candies, and singing. I just love Christmas!

Scott Campbell
Sterling - Gr. 6

See the baby in the manger sleeping.
As the shepherds kneel before him,
And angels sing loud praises from above.

The wise men saw the star and followed it far.

To find the baby in the manger.
And when they found him they gave him,

Gold, frankincense and myrrh.
Julie Feurtado
Montclair - Gr. 4

I think Christmas is fun.
I like to have a role and a bun.
It is fun to leave cookies for Santa and yarn for his wife.
Santa will soon come down the chimney with his pipe.

I will give the reindeer carrots.
Laura Felker
Furnace Brook - Gr. 3

Christmas means happiness, having relatives to visit, having my sister home from college. Christmas also means having a Christmas tree and sometimes snow. It's giving and seeing someone's face light up with pleasure. Christmas is beautiful and everyone is happy during the Christmas Season.

Robin MacInnis
Daniel Webster - Gr. 5

Jolly old Santa,
Ornaments on the trees,
Lollypops to eat,
Laughing children.

You having fun opening presents.
Kristen Belmont
Sterling - Gr. 6

On Christmas we should be joyful and thankful for the family we have, the clothes we wear, and the house we live in. It means to have decorations up so everyone can see them. We can receive and give presents too. Some people do not have these things and don't have a Christmas like us. That's why we should be thankful for the things we have.

Linda Ellis
Parker - Gr. 5

What Christmas Means To Me. It means giving and receive, but the best of all Jesus was born. I believe Jesus is nice because his father was very nice and they make miracles happen. I am glad Jesus came in the world.

Jennifer Ryan
Snug Harbor - Gr. 3

Christmas is a time to share with people you love. It's a time to wake up and share the gifts you received. It is a time to go over your relatives to have dinner and play games all night and go home real late.

Sonya Gruchy
Broad Meadows - Gr. 6

There it was the perfect gift, a handmade maple wood doll house. Something I always wanted. It had every thing from real glass windows to a garage door that really opened. It wasn't that it was that expensive but it was mine and just the right size for the dolls I had in mind.

Later on that day the people started coming, one after the other, all admiring my perfect doll house. But the whole time all I observed was the way my 6 year old cousin looked at the house her eyes seemed to light up. The present I had gotten her wasn't that bad but deep inside I knew what I must do. When it came time to give out the presents I told my cousin to close her eyes then I led her right to my doll house. When she opened her eyes she knew what I ment, the doll house was hers to keep. That's what Christmas means to me, more giving not receiving.

Pam Joruch
Point Middle - Gr. 8

It is fun to celebrate Christmas. It is Jesus' birthday. We give thanks to Jesus.

Carl Boomhower
Lincoln-Hancock - Gr. 3

Christmas means happiness and joy because Jesus was born on Christmas in a stable. You give love to Jesus and share and play with others. I hope I get lots of presents. I am going to give lots of presents.

Brenda Stapleton
Lincoln-Hancock - Gr. 3

Christmas is the time when it is Jesus' birthday but I get the presents. But the true meaning of Christmas is having Christmas spirit and giving to other people. On Christmas Eve we go to our grandmothers' house and on Christmas we go to our other grandmothers' house. Christmas is a time to get together with your family and friends. Christmas is a time to remember your good times!

Matthew Sullivan
Daniel Webster - Gr. 4

One night I heard Santa Claus come down my chimney. I came down stairs from my bedroom and saw him. I left him some cookies. He ate them all. Then he went out side, got on his sled, and flew away.

What Christmas Means To Me...

Christmas is a time of joy
For laughter and giving
And fun for every Girl and Boy
It makes people happy
To know someone cares
It makes things great
For a person who shares
It isn't a time nor a place
But, yet, a feeling
That shows on your face.

John Lutts
Central Middle - Gr. 8

Jesus was born in a cradle on Christmas. You get presents on Christmas. When you stand under mistle toe someone might kiss you.
Heather McMurdy
Lincoln-Hancock - Gr. 3

I like opening my Christmas presents the best. Our family always does a lot that day. We open our presents in the morning. After we've all opened our presents we go to church. Then we go over to my grandmother's for roast beef dinner. There's one more thing I'd like to say - Merry Christmas!
Robert Dodd
Daniel Webster - Gr. 5

Christmas means to me something that might be red or green, purple or blue or maybe something that might do; like a new pair of shoes or even a toy soldier or maybe a calculator that tells the answer to 1+1 or 1+2. But when I think of Christmas I think of joy.

John O'Connor
Snug Harbor - Gr. 4

Christmas
A day
you get toys
you decorate the tree
it's a very special day.
Stephen Hennessy
Snug Harbor - Gr. 4

Christmas is a time to give and get. A day to share love with loved ones. We love Christmas for it comes once a year.
We get gifts from a guy named Saint Nick. That's what I know.
Mary Ann Collerton
Broad Meadows - Gr. 6

Christmas is a day of joy. People get together and start to carol in the night. Then the next morning our family will visit and exchange gifts with one another. After the day is over, we remember this day and wait for this jolly day to come back again.
Beth Ross

Do you know what Christmas is for? Santa Claus but the most important is Jesus's birthday. I want Santa Claus to come on my

Robert Wilkovsky
Daniel Webster

Christmas means giving presents to your friends and them giving presents to you. Christmas also means caring

Christmas Day.

Scott Conant
Snug Harbor - Gr. 4

Christmas means love and joy and getting lots of presents but the greatest thing about Christmas is being home with your family.

Sean Donovan
Montclair - Gr. 5

Christmas is a time to give and to receive. It is a time to care about others. It is the time to put milk and cookies on top of the fire place.
Christmas is a time to visit relatives.

Marie Leslie
Squantum - Gr. 4

What Christmas means to me
Is Santa Claus and a Christmas tree. Helping others who really need it. Christmas time, you just can't beat it!

Rachael Kipp
Daniel Webster - Gr. 5

Christmas is a very happy day.
Children sing and play.
Snow glistens in the sun.
It is a sight for every one.
Though it only comes once a year
Give Christmas one big cheer.

Lisa Brangiforte
Grade 6

Yesterday I asked my mother if I was going to get a lot of presents this Christmas. She said it's not the amount of presents, it's the spirit of Christmas that counts.

Kristin Egan
Grade 6
Sterling School

To me Christmas means the time when Jesus was born. I should be thankful and I am. It also means to me loving and caring for each other.
Christmas doesn't mean just toys under the tree. To me it means a lot of other things too.

Joetta Hauser
Squantum - Gr. 4

I like Santa because he gives us toys. Christmas is fun because Santa has toys for us. Santa puts candy on the tree. "Hi Santa, can I have a doll for Christmas?" asked Colleen.

Colleen Gallagher
Daniel Webster - Gr. 2

Christmas means that I'll have some joys and get some toys, then celebrate Jesus' birthday with food and cheer. On Christmas I will see my grandmother, she will come to my house. I also like Christmas because we have no school and that gives us more time to play with our new toys.

Ricky Cashman
Daniel Webster - Gr. 4

Christmas means a lot to me.
When every one is happy then I am happy too, especially when everyone opens their presents. It is fun to find out what they got. That's what Christmas means to me.

John Quilman
Broad Meadows - Gr. 6

Christmas is a time to love someone. It is a time to be happy and to do good things.

Keith DeJoy
Squantum - Gr. 4

Sharing and caring and helping people is what Christmas means to me.

Jonathan Madden
Squantum - Gr. 3

Christmas means to me.
A lot of cheer and glee.
It means children singing.
and lots of giving.

It means Santa with a rosy cheek
And children trying to catch a peek.
It means love and honor with heart and soul
And money put into the Christmas bowl.

Hatred and cruelty are far away.
Because every one loves this day.
Christmas means children laughing around the tree
As far and wide the eye can see.
Being alive and free on this day.
Makes it a true holiday.

Anyone who has a heart can tell.
That this day will forever dwell
Christmas means the most to me
Not just the receiving and giving It means love and charity are still here.
And will forever stay year after year.

Kevin DiCesare
Central Middle - Gr. 7

Every Christmas essay I've read always starts the same way.
Christmas isn't Santa Claus and the Christmas tree. It's generously accepting what you get and giving what you can and so on and so on.
Well I think is a bunch of junk when people say that.

I think trimming the tree and decking the halls is every bit as much important. Santa Claus I think is great because it gives kids something to dream about and talk about. Decking the halls and decorating the house makes me feel Christmas when I see my house.
Trimming the tree is just plain old fun! And the Christmas dinner brings the family together and gives me a warm feeling inside.

Christmas celebrates Jesus's birth and of course that's important. But we must all remember that it's the Christmas spirit that counts. We are still honoring the birth of Jesus Christ the son of God.

Danny McLaughlin
Central Middle - Gr. 7

Christmas means a lot to me because it's a time when Christ was born and let peace come to the world. Christmas is not just giving and opening up presents. It's christ's birthday and we should be happy for all the things he has done for us.

Debbie Hall
Broad Meadows - Gr. 6

To me, Christmas means.
The spirit of giving.
Spending time with my family.
Sharing the joy of living.
Wrapping up presents.
To give to mom and dad.
Hoping Santa will forgive me.
For the times I was bad.
There's a special feeling.
No one can buy.
No time for pouting.
No time to cry.
Singing with Caroleers.
Laughing with a friend.
Wishing that Christmas
Would never end.

Jennifer Fay
Central Middle - Gr. 7

I like Christmas because it is fun.
Christmas is a special time. Santa likes kids.

Matthew Dwyer
Daniel Webster - Gr. 2

Christmas is about people. All people think about things like toys but some people think about God.

Jason Keith
Squantum - Gr. 3

Christmas means that the lord has been born. And when he was born everyone adored him as he lay there in the hay. Christ, their king made them want to sing. Everyone brought gifts that he would adore.

Paula McDonough

What Christmas Means To Me...

Christmas is a very special holiday. Not just to me but to everyone. Christmas is a time for caring and thanking the ones you love. We give them presents to show them how much we care. The most important thing about Christmas is that it was the day Christ was born.

Robin Oyer
Broad Meadows - Gr. 6

Christmas means to give the people you love a gift and say thanks for being there. It means to go to Mass on Christmas night and thank the Lord for all the good things you have, and for having people who care about you a lot. It means happiness and love to me.

Carly Macaulay
Broad Meadows - Gr. 6

Christmas is not just buying and getting gifts. It is Jesus' birthday.

Christopher Connor
Squantum - Gr. 3

Christmas is a time to give. It is very fun on Christmas day. When you come down stairs, you can see all the presents under the Christmas tree. Some people like to have real Christmas trees, and some have fake. Either way it's good.

Kerry Torney
Montclair - Gr. 5

I think that Christmas is not just receiving gifts. It is giving gifts too. You can have fun getting the gifts for other people because you get to go shopping. There are other things about Christmas, also, like decorating, singing Christmas Carols, trimming the tree, and most of all, thinking about Christ and his birthday. I like Christmas because the family gets together. That is what Christmas means to me.

Maria Passalacqua
Furnace Brook - Gr. 3

When Jesus was born. It also means for us to be kind and loving and to care for one another.

Mark Rische
Squantum - Gr. 4

Christmas is the best time of the year and it is my favorite holiday. People say that it is better to give than to receive. Our family puts lights in the windows and a wreath on the door. We have a Christmas tree and decorate it with candies and tinsel and many other ornaments. Christmas is a lot of fun and I like it very much! I wish it was every month.

Justin Doyle
Montclair - Gr. 5

What Christmas means to me is getting together with my cousins, aunts and uncles, and Grandparents. Christmas is not just a time for getting gifts. It is also a time for giving gifts. When Christmas comes I like to decorate the tree and wrap gifts. I also like it when we sit in the living room and open presents. I like to open the gifts, and it is fun seeing other people having a good time. I like having a Christmas feast!

Jeannette Currie
Furnace Brook - Gr. 3

I Believe in Santa Claus. I Believe that Santa Claus is a spirit of love and giving that Covers the earth every December.

God's own son was a gift of love to us in December. I Believe that our gift to him should be to carry the wonderful Christmas spirit of love and giving thru-out the other eleven months.

What Christmas Means to me you get lot of toys. It is Jesus' birthday on Christmas.

David Greenwood

Christmas is my favorite holiday. It is a time when people get together at my house for a party and people are in good cheer. It is a time when people, even strangers, say "Hi" to each other on the street. I think it is a holiday that brings people together. Christmas is that time of the year when wars are stopped and arguments are held off until another day. It is a time when the whole world is at peace at the same time. This is what Christmas means to me and why it is my favorite time of the year.

Melissa Flaherty
Central Middle - Gr. 6

The crimson colored star, Upon the manger shone. And as a weary world looked on, Oh, how that star it glowed!

Soft was the baby sleeping, While all the animals looked peeping. Around the manger walls, To catch a glimpse of him, Golden banners flowing, Golden trumpets glowing, While every single angel, Sang praises to his name!

Nicole Mahoney
Montclair - Gr. 4

It is a time when Christ was born. We celebrate Jesus' birthday.

What Christmas Means To Me...

Christmas is a time when I care. It is a time when I love my family and when I pray for anyone who is sick. I pray because I care about people, especially my family. When I buy presents I pick some that are nice, not ones that I don't think they will like. I love everyone and I care for them, especially my family.

Christine Salton
Squantum - Gr. 5

Christmas is very jolly. It's a time to give presents. It's a time to receive them. People say it's better to give. But it's sure fun to receive.

Elise Last
Broad Meadows - Gr. 7

Christmas is a time of year that you give presents and feel good. I like Christmas because it is a time of year that you feel Christmasee!

Paul Kilrow
Snug Harbor - Gr. 4

What Christmas means to me is giving love and care and being happy and joyful. You get presents that you will love and take care of. I like playing in the snow and going to parties, singing Christmas songs, dancing and laughing. I think we should help the poor people and give them presents. We should be kind to everybody. We should greet people kindly and say, "Hello or How do you do". Christmas is the beginning of a new season of caring, loving, being happy and joyful. That's what Christmas means to me.

Soyon Park

Christmas means to have a happy holiday.

This is the first Christmas that I am at America. I feel a little happy and a little sad, because every year in Hong Kong, I have presents because I have friends. I am happy because this is the first Christmas that I can see snow.

Bartholomew Jae

Christmas is a special time to show love and appreciation. It is a time you see your family.

Children get their pictures taken with Santa and whisper in his ear to tell him what they want, and then they wait for him to come down the chimney and give them what they want.

Christmas means to me, a lovely, green, decorated tree.

The presents under it are piled high. I love to look out the window to see snow falling down from the sky.

On Christmas Day I am so delighted. There are so many presents I'm so undecided.

I love the presents my family gives me. I thank them for giving me some. They thank me back for the presents I give them. I never can wait for next Christmas to come.

Rachelle Crowley

Christmas means to me when you celebrate Christ's birthday. The way you celebrate is by giving presents to the ones you love. It is being with the ones you care about. You think about the good in people. That is what Christmas means to me.

$2.5-M Office Building Planned For Norfolk Downs

North Quincy restaurateur Peter Kelly is planning to build a $2.5 million office building, employing some 100 people, on the site of the current Arch Gear Works, 97 Holmes St., Norfolk Downs.

Arch Gear, which employs between 40 and 50, is moving to Wareham.

The project was disclosed at Monday night's City Council meeting by Planning Director James Lydon after the Council has voted to approve a CARD (Commercial Area Revitalization District) for the site.

The CARD, which is an extension of one that already exists covering most of the Norfolk Downs business area, enables developers to float low interest bond issues to obtain building money.

The CARD, which still needs state approval, was passed without mention of the Kelly project until Councillor Patricia Toland demanded an explanation of the need for the zone.

Lydon then explained the project, which will be carried out by Kelly, who has invested considerable money in the development of the area, and his partner, Donald McNally.

Lydon said Arch Gear has leased land in Wareham and plans to move next spring.

"Values have been escalating in North Quincy because of development," he said. "It is now too expensive for industrial users so many of them are selling to commercial users and relocating."

Congress Moves Ahead On Town Brook Project

The long-awaited Town Brook flood control project took a long step forward Monday when the U.S. Congress approved a $1 million appropriation for final design and engineering work.

It covers the last stage prior to the start of actual construction which includes a tunnel under Quincy Center and culverts under the proposed Burgin Parkway Extension.

"This vote of Congress puts the Town Brook Project at least two years ahead of every other water project in the country," said Cong. Brian J. Donnelly.

"We will be ready to start construction as soon as a comprehensive water bill is passed."

The last water project legislation was approved by Congress in 1976.

The Army Corps of Engineers has been working for 12 years to develop the flood control project and Donnelly, a member of the House Public Works Committee, has been on it for four years.

"Flood damage from Town Brook has cost millions of dollars," said Donnelly. "In the long run, it will save money to get the project done and done as soon as possible."

"When we pass a comprehensive water projects bill, other projects around the country will be getting approval to do the engineering and design work that we'll be doing in Quincy now."

"In other words, we're designing while they're waiting and we'll be building when they're designing."

Navajo Twins Visit Quincy As Woodward Guests

Joline and Jodine Watchman, 14-year-old twin sisters who have never been off the Navajo Indian Reservation in New Mexico, spent a holiday week in New England as guests of the student body at the Woodward School for Girls.

The girls, who were born in Thoreau, N.M., and go to school, work and play within 25 miles of their home, were made honorary citizens of Quincy Thursday by Mayor Francis X. McCauley in ceremonies at City Hall.

Thursday evening they were special guests at the annual Christmas concert at the Woodward School. They lunched and attended classes at the school on Wednesday.

Joline and Jodine arrived at Logan Airport in Boston Tuesday evening where they were greeted by Headmaster Robert L. Johnston and Michele Dennis, president of the student government. They spent Tuesday night at a student's home.

The students at the Woodward School have been sponsoring the Watchman sisters for eight years, contributing about $250 each year towards school books, clothing and food. This year it was voted to bring the girls to Quincy.

"This entire project was conceived and is being funded by the students," said Johnston. "The administration heartily endorsed it. It will be a valuable experience for Joline, Jodine and my students."

Besides Quincy, visits were planned for Plymouth Plantation, the State House, Faneuil Hall Marketplace, the New England Aquarium and various museums in the area.

They departed for New Mexico Tuesday, Dec. 21.

Senior Olympics Set For June 11 In Quincy

The task force that is planning the 1983 Senior Olympics have set June 11 as the date for the first such event ever held in Massachusetts, it was announced by chairman Don Strong.

Participation in the day-long program of competitive sports will be open to men and women 50 years old and over who are residents of Quincy or members of Quincy teams.

Plans are being made for individual and team competition in 15 or more track and field events with five age categories and separate medals for men and women in some events.

The Council on Aging has sent survey questionnaires to all senior clubs, churches and civic organizations asking for the reactions of the older residents to the proposed plans.

Inexperienced Quincy Bows To Veteran Natick

With only three veterans and the only height coming from two sophomores, the Quincy basketball team couldn't have picked a more formidable opponent to open the season with last Friday night.

An all-veteran Natick team rolled to a 31-19 halftime lead and outscored the Presidents, 37-9, in the third period to roll, 84-41, at Natick.

Joe Amoroso's Presidents faced Randolph Tuesday night in the Hingham Holiday Tournament and next Monday will meet either the Arlington-Hingham winner for the title or the loser in the consolation game.

"Natick is really strong and has its entire starting club back from last year," said Amoroso. "They are 12 deep and they have boys who played on the state tournament baseball team last spring and the Super Bowl winner this fall in football. They are experienced and have been through a lot of pressure games."

"It was an awful lot to expect our boys to play a team like that in their opener and I'm not discouraged. I saw a lot of things I liked and feel we will come along with a little more game experience."

Bob Mudge and Paul Gilbody, two of Quincy's three veterans, scored eight points apiece. Gilbody fouled out early in the third quarter.

"I had five sophomores playing at one time and every player got a chance to play," Amoroso said.

"Pat Faherty, Dean O'Malley and Billy Shaughnessy, three of the sophomores, played well. Faherty (6-5) scored eight points and grabbed seven rebounds. O'Malley had five points and six assists and Shaughnessy grabbed five rebounds, pretty good for someone who stands only 5-10."

Stoughton Too Strong For Raiders, 66-50

Sun Sports

The North Quincy basketball team found Stoughton too experienced last Friday night and the Raiders bowed, 66-50, in their season's opener.

Ed Miller's North team, with only two veterans and no size, faced Cathedral last night (Wednesday) and next Thursday will be home to Somerville at 8 o'clock.

"They were just too experienced for us," Miller said. "They have their entire team back from last year and they also had the size on us.

"They outclassed us in the second period to take a big half-time lead and, although we came back and cut the gap a bit in the third period, we couldn't catch up.

Chris Bunker paced the Raiders with 16 points and John Purland had 12. John Phelan contributed seven assists in an excellent two-way performance.

• Girls Track

Raiderettes Upset Cambridge Rindge

Although several of its top scorers last year graduated, the North Quincy girls' track team is off to another fast start and last week upset the Suburban League favorite, Cambridge Rindge and Latin, 44-42, in the opening meet.

The win improved the Raiderettes' unbeaten dual meet string to 29-0-1.

Coach Lou Tozzi's North girls, who faced Weymouth South Tuesday, will be idle until Jan. 7 when they face Waltham at 3:30 at Newton.

The Raiderettes trailed Cambridge, 38-34, with two events remaining. Lisa Fitzgerald won the 50-yard dash but, with Cambridge taking second and third, North still trailed, 42-39. North then won the relay to clinch the meet with Fitzgerald running the lead leg and joining Sheila Barrett, Meg Leary and Julie Alibrandi on the winning team.

"I was really worried going into this meet because Cambridge has so many outstanding runners and was a solid favorite to win the league this year," Tozzi said. "And we lost about 75 of last season's points by graduation.

But these girls, as usual, are just terrific. They turned in a tremendous performance."

Cambridge's brilliant Thayer Plante, one of the outstanding distance runners in the state, won the two-mile with North's Mary Ann Kelleher second and Tracey Corrigan third.

North's Linda Kennedy won the mile. Sheila Barrett won the 1000. Leary took the 600. Alibrandi was second in the 300. Fitzgerald won the dash. Georgia Traficante won the high jump. Marie McGurl was second in the hurdles and Doreen Connolly was second and Jean O'Hare third in the shot put.

Kennedy's 5:36.1 mile, Barrett's 2:51.5 1000 and Traficante's 5-2 high jump were all league records.

QJC Takes Top Spot

The Quincy Junior College basketball team completed the first half of its season last week defeating Northern Essex Community College, 69-67, and taking over sole possession of first place in the Greater Boston Small College Conference.

QJC is 8-1 in the conference and 10-4 overall.

The Jaguars will be idle until Jan. 12 when it hosts Bunker Hill Community College.

Northern Essex had been unbeaten in conference play going into the Quincy game and started fast, taking a quick 19-8 lead.

When center Jim Conboy picked up his third foul eight minutes into the game it looked bad for QJC, but Keith Realini and Tom Deegan came off the bench to give the Jaguars the needed rebounding and Quincy closed the gap to 34-30 at halftime.

The second half was a game in itself with both teams taking turns in the lead. Ricky Anderson sparked a pressing defense that wore down the bigger Knights. With Conboy playing the entire second half and scoring 17 of his 19 points during that time, QJC pulled out the win on a Gary DiNardo jumper.

"It sure is a lot of fun when you beat a strong team like Northern Essex," Coach Brian Buckley said. "We needed a total team effort and that's what we got."

QJC also defeated Mass. College of Pharmacy, 72-63, led by DiNardo, who had a game high 24 points and several assists.

"Jim Conboy played a super all-around game," Buckley said. Conboy had 17 points and 13 rebounds.

The conference standings after the first half of the season: Quincy, 8-1; Northern Essex, 5-1; Bunker Hill, 5-2, and Mass. College of Pharmacy, 3-2.

Morton, Erwin Schofield Star In Scoreless Tie

Defensemen Ken Morton and Charlie Erwin and goalie Paul Schofield turned in magnificent performances as the Quincy High School hockey team skated to a 0-0 tie with Watertown in the opening Bay State League game at Boston Arena.

Morton almost scored the game-winning goal in the third period when he broke into the clear and rifled the puck past the Watertown goalie but teammate Cliff Stevens, who had just come into the game, had stepped offside and the goal was called back.

Schofield then came up with two big saves on near breakaways in the last five minutes to insure the scoreless tie.

The Quincy lineup included: MacAndrew, Gullickson, Erickson, forwards: Morton, Erwin, defense: Schofield, goal: Martin, DiBona, Goodhue, Stevens, Powers, Larkin, McKenna, Condos, Dicardi, Buckley, Malloy, Sleeth, spares.

'HOODED STRANGER' WINS

Joe Beston's latest wrestling sensation, the "Hooded Stranger," won his third consecutive match when he used a drop kick, a body lift and slam and a body press to whip Myer (Curly) Donchin in two falls on Newman Savage's mat card at the Quincy Arena.

Beston and his partner, Lou Brouillard, were touting their wrestler, who had never taken his mask off in the ring, as the coming champion of the world and Beston promised that he would earn more than $100,000 before he was defeated.

MacLEAN OPTIMISTIC

The Quincy High School basketball team scrimmaged Brintree even and Coach Munroe MacLean said he may have found the successors to the famed Granite Chips of last year in the combination of Sonny Nicholson at center, Warren Broberg, Frank Saldi, Randy Mathieson and Red Maver.

MacLean said the rest of the squad would be chosen from these candidates: Don Buckley, Bob Osborne, Mando Regianini, John Ojala, Flip Vergobbi, Lou Kotzen, Roy Marucci, Harold Beston, Ernie Caddy, Bob Mathieson and Eddie Buckley.

MULLARKEY PESSIMISTIC

The North Quincy High School basketball team, with its opener against Brintree only five days away, went through what Coach Jack Mullarkey called its most miserable practice session of the season in a scrimmage with Rindge Tech.

Don Dowling, Bernie Killoran and Clayton Sheppard found themselves benched before the session ended and Tom Underwood, Ken Simpson and Eddie King were far off form. George Hawce, Artie Smith, Tiny Porter and Henry Smith played well defensively.

'Y' COMEBACK WINS

Paul Lovell and Bob Meyer clicked in the closing minutes of the game as Coach Gilbert (Crum) Crofts' Quincy YMCA basketball team overcame a one-point disadvantage at the end of three periods and took a 36-32 victory from the Newton YMCA.

ELLIS UNOPPOSED

Eddie Ellis, Quincy's welterweight boxer, was set to make his first start in Boston since winning the Golden Gloves tournament a year ago, but his opponent, Freddie Cabral of Cambridge, refused to enter the ring for their four-rounder at Mechanics Building.

Sal Bartolo of Boston, the New England featherweight champion, scored a split decision over Abe Denner of Boston in the feature bout.

SECOND SHUTOUT

Goaltender Laban Whittaker scored his second successive shutout as the Wollaston Barons recorded a 10-0 victory over the Holbrook Standpipers. Eddie Acker had five goals and three assists for the winners.

The Wollaston lineup included: Whittaker, goal: Pray, Burdakin, defense: Acker, Laing, Walter, forwards: Carroll, Knowles, Lynch, spares.

Jago Pleased At North's Jamboree Showing

By TOM SULLIVAN

North Quincy finally has its new hockey coach and Kevin Jago, whose Raiders open Wednesday, Dec. 29, against Cambridge Rindge and Latin at 3 o'clock p.m. at Boston University, was pleased with what he saw in a recent jamboree at Hingham's Pilgrim Arena.

"Considering how long it was before they had a coach and the limited workouts, the boys made a good showing," Jago, North's assistant coach the last four years, said. "We led Hingham, 2-0, but weren't physically at our best and ran out of gas. Hingham came back to win, 3-2, but I saw a lot of things I liked."

North has some experience at forward but is very green on defense. Jago has three fine looking goalies, any one of whom could start at Cambridge.

The first line has senior co-captains Dave DiCarlo and Dean Phillips and junior Keith Smith, all veterans.

On the second line are junior Scott Messina and senior Rich Tapper, both veterans, and sophomore Rich Horrigan, who played junior varsity hockey a year ago.

The tentative third line comprises senior Mike Cullen, a veteran, and juniors John McGlame and Kevin Tenney.

Also striving for forward spots are sophomore Barry Miller and freshmen Dave Tapper and Dave Fasano.

"Our first two lines look good but we need help on the third line," Jago said.

Senior veteran Kevin White and sophomore Dave Cook are the top defense pair and freshman Greg McGlame, a fine looking prospect, and either of two senior veterans, Steve Denelsbeck or Bobby Lynch, make up the second duo. Also looking for defense spots are sophomores Peter Furtado and Colin powers.

The goalies are senior Shawn Cunningham, who played both varsity and jayvee hockey last winter, and sophomores Matty Higgins and Billy Cahill.

"All three look very good and I am not sure who will start our first game," Jago said. "I feel we will be strong in goal but the defense is questionable and it will be up to our forwards to keep the puck out of our zone."

While the coaching job was up in the air, Quincy coach Bob Sylvia handled the Raiders' first few tryouts. Then Rich Hutchins, Jago's assistant, former Quincy player Rick Avery and Dennis Doherty, who played for UMass-Boston, took care of things.

Jago is disappointed that he has been unable to arrange any non-league games. With Weymouth North and Weymouth South dropping out of the Suburban League, the teams have only a 12-game league schedule.

"It took so long to name a coach that by the time I contacted various schools for non-league games, they were all booked up," he said. "It is tough playing only a 12-game schedule."

The Raiders had only a 3-12-1 record last year, Kevin Lewis' last season as coach, and Jago has high hopes of improving on that mark this season.

In the Hingham jamboree Messina scored the first goal with Horrigan and White assisting, and Horrigan scored the second with Messina and Tapper assisting.

STEVE SORKIN of Quincy, a Thayer Academy graduate, a four-year veteran of the Wesleyan University football team, received the Thomas W. Eck Jr. Memorial Award as the member of the team who demonstrates an extra measure of devotion and loyalty to his team, his coaches and the game of football. Sorkin made 43 solo tackles and had 27 assists, placing him second on the club. For his career he collected 89 total tackles.

Executive League

Boyle's Hat Trick Gives Budget 4-4 Tie

Art Boyle scored his first hat trick of the season as Budget Rent-A-Car tied Adams Sports, 4-4, in Executive Hockey League action Monday night at the Youth Arena.

Dave Towle scored the other Budget goal. Joe Verlicco, Chet Brunstrom and Ted Ahola had assists. Paul Bausmer, Kevin Glynn, Bob Simonelli and Paul O'Brien scored for Adams. Bob Murray had two assists and Simonelli and Don Fawcett one each.

Goalie Chuck Hughes had the shutout as Beau's Place blanked Grogan Business Machines, 6-0. Paul Gallivan had two goals and Jack Hurley, Don Bonito, Don Costa and Jack Aldred one each. Steve Dymond had two assists and Bonito, Kevin Noone, Costa, Bob Carroll, Gallivan and Ken Gardner one each.

Jim Conso scored twice to spark Luke's Lounge to a 6-1 victory over Dayce's Place. Bob Martell, Kevin Sullivan, Mike Owings and Rich Gibbs had the other goals. Al McKay and Mark Mataneus had two assists each and Martell and Ed Lenihan one apiece. Kevin Lewis scored for Dayce's with Jack Duffy and Dick McCabe assisting.

Quincy Has Punch But Goaltending A Question

Last year Bob Sylvia had his first losing season (7-9) in his 17 seasons as Quincy's hockey coach.

If Sylvia can solve his goal tending problems, he could return to his winning ways this season and may be qualify once again for the state tournament.

"We will score plenty of goals but we have two very inexperienced goalies," Sylvia said. "They are hard workers but we may have trouble keeping the other teams from scoring. I feel if we can give up three or four goals a game we can still win."

The Presidents, following a 5-0 win over Rockland in a recent jamboree, opened their season with a 6-5 win over Hanover in a non-league game. Last Saturday against Hanover again, they won a wild one, 10-9.

Quincy opens its Suburban League season next Wednesday, facing league favorite Newton at 6:40 at the Quincy Youth Arena.

With Weymouth North and Weymouth South dropping out of the Suburban League, teams have only 12 league games. In addition to the two game with Hanover, coached by Sylvia's brother Jim, Quincy will play Rockland on Feb. 12 at the Quincy Youth Arena.

Sylvia has two excellent lines and feels his first or navy blue line of Steve Baylis, Capt. Mike Chenette and Doug Concannon, all seniors, will be as good as any line in the league.

"They all are fine skaters and can score," the Quincy coach said. "I can't see a better line in the league."

Frank Reynolds, who will be on our second or yellow line, is on a par with them and could be playing on that line. He is a veteran as are all those on the navy blue line."

Reynolds is playing with senior Jim McSweeney and junior Ed Boyle on the yellow line. Both played junior varsity last season.

A third or green line is made up of seniors Mark Lamie, Rich Monahan and Mike Nourse, all of whom played with the junior varsity.

A fourth or blue line has junior Bryan Provenzano and sophomores Mike Hays and John O'Connor.

Mike Bille, a freshman, is an outstanding prospect, and probably will stay with the varsity.

The defense is inexperienced with senior veterans Brian Silcox and Ted Walsh making up the first duo and juniors Brett Loud and Greg Keele, up from the jayvees, the second pair.

Seniors Rick Miller and Bill Campbell, juniors John DiPietro and sophomores Marc Abboud and Tom McGrath all new, round out the defense corps.

The goalies are seniors Tom Good and Al Carpenter, who have no experience.

"These boys are working awfully hard and should improve as we go along, but this is our big problem this year," Sylvia said.

Jack Crowley is back as Sylvia's assistant and Bob Troup will handle a freshman program which is being planned.

The Presidents were fortunate to top Hanover in their first game as Hanover scored what looked like the tying goal after pulling its goalie. But the referee ruled that the goalie was still on the ice and disallowed the goal.

Concannon had a hat trick and an assist for Quincy. Reynolds scored the winning goal, Baylis had a goal and two assists and Chenette a goal and three assists.

In the second meeting Lamie and Monahan scored two goals apiece and Baylis, Boyle, McSweeney, Nourse, Chenette and Concannon one each.

STARSCOPE

Clare Answell

WEEK OF: DECEMBER 23

AQUARIUS - January 21-February 19
A deceptive trend dominates; don't let first impressions become lasting ones. Behind-the-scenes activities are leading to new prestige, new challenges and new responsibilities.

PISCES - February 20-March 20
If traveling, remember the old maxim that getting there really can be half the fun. Children respond to the incentives you provide them. Week is prime time for exchanging ideas.

ARIES - March 21-April 20
In personal relationships, take a cue from older role models. Financial news may need additional clarification. Educational expansion is spotlighted; you can break new ground in field of interest.

TAURUS - April 21-May 22
Placid friend becomes more enterprising and determined. Romance enters a quiet period with partner involved in intellectual interests. Family reconciliations are accentuated through the weekend.

GEMINI - May 23-June 21
A newly launched partnership, professional or personal, demands more attention and imagination. You may be nominated for a controversial spot that puts you in the public eye.

CANCER - June 22-July 22
Younger friends mingle with older ones; it's a generally successful week for playing matchmaker. Job news is encouraging but don't put all your eggs in the proverbial basket.

LEO - July 23-August 22
Last-minute patchups make for an affectionate, sentimental week. Business ideas that sound too true to be good require ample investigation. Cancelled event may be back on the boards.

VIRGO - August 23-September 22
Persistence pays dividends in work-related areas. Where romance is involved, however, take a low-key approach. Business mixes nicely with pleasure from Monday on.

LIBRA - September 23-October 22
Read between the lines of documents that come your way, but don't analyze informal conversation too closely. Financial ideas are on the right track but they need refinement.

SCORPIO - October 23-November 21
Week has an exotic flavor. If not traveling, then you may be meeting some travelers from faraway lands. Shut-ins benefit from your cheer and your optimism.

SAGITTARIUS - November 22-December 22
Romance shows its comic side through the week. Academic interests are a common ground for a new friendship. Professional priorities are rearranged as the year closes.

CAPRICORN - December 23-January 20
Delays in transportation and communication can lead to a last-minute rearrangement of timetables. A message from a long-ago friend touches you more than you realized it could.

BIRTHDAY THIS WEEK
You're reliable, determined and over-exacting. Ambition and drive are powerful, and they relate to your desire for material security. Intellectual interests dominate the next six months. And though the accent after July is on friendship and romance, they're largely on a mental plane.

BORN THIS WEEK
December 23rd, actor Harry Guardino; 24th, actress Ava Gardner; 25th, singer Barbara Mandrell; 26th, actor Richard Widmark; 27th, singer Laverne Wilson; 28th, actress Maggie Smith; 29th, actress Mary Tyler Moore.

If you desire to object to the allowance of said petition, you or your attorney should file a written appearance in said Court at Dedham on or before ten o'clock in the forenoon on January 19, 1983.

In addition you should file a written statement of objections to the petition, giving the specific grounds therefor, within thirty (30) days after the return day (or such other time as the Court, on motion with notice to the petitioner, may allow) otherwise the Court may upon its own motion or on motion by the petitioner, the guardian ad litem, (if any), or any person whose appearance is on file (with notice to any person whose appearance is on file and, if applicable, the guardian and petitioner), order the appearance struck.

Witness, ROBERT M. FORD, Esquire, First Justice of said Court at Dedham, the third day of December in the year of our Lord one thousand nine hundred and eighty-two.

Koch Club Delivers Food Baskets To 50 Families

The Koch Club of Quincy is completing its 27th season of Christmas charitable endeavors in the Quincy area this week as food baskets including turkeys, fresh fruits and vegetables and canned foods are being delivered to more than 50 families in the Quincy area along with gifts for those with children and hand knitted articles of clothing for wearing and warmth included for the same boys and girls.

The baskets are channelled through church, community and social service agencies to families in need of assistance during the holiday season.

Initiated in 1955 with two families, the program has assisted hundreds of others during the Christmas season since.

Richard J. Koch, executive director of the Koch Club, announces that several thousand new and used toys were distributed to agencies in Quincy, the South Shore and Greater Boston area for presentation to children in need of remembrance.

The Toys For Children In Need Project was established in 1971 when a pre-Christmas fire in the Uphams Corner section of Boston left dozens of families homeless with most belongings destroyed.

The Koch Club channeled 300 gifts through a church organization to replace the children's gifts lost and the organization has continued and expanded the holiday activity to include a total of over 20,000 items of new and used reconditioned toys delivered to boys and girls in the Quincy, South Shore and Greater Boston areas during the past 12 years.

Koch stresses that numerous organizations, families and individuals have been responsible for the program's success and it would be impossible to conduct the extensive project without the help of many. The Koch Club acts as a coordinating agency collecting, packaging, contacting and distributing the many new and excellent used toys with the aid of a total volunteer staff.

1982 In Review

What Kind Of A Year Was It?

By TOM HENSHAW

Well, what kind of a year has it been?

It was a year in which Quincy got its 27th mayor, Francis X. McCauley, and he stirred political passions by pruning from the city payroll Health Commissioner Dr. Robert P. McKeogh, Labor Negotiator Joseph P. McParland and Water Supt. Owen Eaton.

It was a year in which Quincy was accused of being "probably" "the most racist city in America" but the accuser had nothing to back it up and when some aspects of racism reared its head in a housing project, the Housing Authority slapped it down.

It was a year in which the city rolled back its 2 a.m. liquor licenses to 1 a.m. to promote traffic safety and the mayor proposed a raise in pay for himself and the City Council only to have the idea shot down by nervous councilors.

It was a year in which the city collected $220,000 in parking fines and penalties only to have to give back $141,000 because it was illegal and the first steps were taken to lease the city-owned downtown parking lots for a system of validated parking.

Here now is a final and perhaps nostalgic look at the year 1982 in Quincy.

JANUARY

The year started out in an atmosphere of political cordiality unusual in Quincy in recent years.

Francis X. McCauley was sworn in Jan. 4 as the city's 27th mayor with the pledge that he will try not to blame its current ills on previous administrations.

"It has been customary in recent years for the incoming mayor to spend some of his time laying a little criticism on his predecessors," he said in his inaugural address.

"I do not plan to take that approach this morning. We're going to approach the problems; we're going to define them; and then we're going to solve them."

For his part, the outgoing mayor Arthur H. Tobin passed up an opportunity to fight with McCauley over the appointment of three members to the Hospital Board of Managers.

It was never determined who had the authority but, said McCauley, "I met with Mayor Tobin before Christmas and he told me that, since I was going to be mayor for two years, I should have the appointments."

That set the political tone for the year for there was a notable absence of the opening bickering of previous years.

McCauley reappointed David B. MacIntosh to the Hospital Board and named Rosemary Wahlberg and John W. Kane to replace Ruth Danis and Simon Fireman.

John J. Lydon Jr., a veteran of four terms on the City Council, was elected Council president, and Mary P. Collins, just elected to a new four-year term, was named vice chairman of the School Committee.

John J. Sullivan, who had been defeated in November in his bid for a third term on the School Committee, was chosen by his colleagues to replace Patricia Toland, who moved up to the City Council.

The initial School Committee meeting of the new year was highlighted by a plea from its oldest member, Frank Anselmo, not to forget that the school children are their constituents.

"We speak of reorganization," he said. "We speak of budget reductions. Please, in wisdom, for our own preservation of an honest community, do not cheat the kids who are entitled to an education."

Once firmly ensconced in office, Mayor McCauley set about righting some of the things he thought had been handled wrongly by the previous administration.

He offered her old job as executive secretary of the Rent Grievance Board back to Jane Reikard, who had been laid off by Mayor Tobin despite the fact that $5,795 to cover her salary was budgeted. Reikard accepted.

After three weeks in office, McCauley moved to fire City Labor Negotiator Joseph P. McParland, an old antagonist, for alleged insubordination, and practicing law for clients other than the city.

McParland, whose $23,501 job was protected by Civil Service, had been ousted once before by Mayor Joseph J. LaRaia some five years before but he had won the post back through Civil Service.

Mayor To Stress Accomplishments, Goals At Mid-Term

Mayor Francis X. McCauley will stress the accomplishments of his first year in office Monday, Jan. 3, when he delivers his mid-term address to the City Council at 10 a.m. in City Hall.

"I will also look ahead to 1983 and discuss the problems and aims of the administration," said the mayor, who declined to elaborate on the problems and aims.

Some of the accomplishments he will undoubtedly point to include implementation of a sewer user charge to comply with state and federal guidelines and the successful compliance with Proposition 2½.

Some of the pending items that probably will be touched on are validated downtown parking which is due after the first of the year and development of the Old Colony Crushed Stone property in West Quincy.

The rest of the program, which includes the first City Council meeting of the year, is expected to be routine.

John J. Lydon Jr. is virtually assured of re-election to a second year as Council President. He will not be eligible for re-election in 1984 due to a new Council rule against consecutive terms.

For the first time, WJDA will broadcast live the mayor's mid-term address. In the past, the address was taped and rebroadcast at 12:30 p.m. the same day.

Break At George's Market

A black and white TV set and a cash register were stolen and later recovered after a break early Monday at George's Market, West Squantum St.

Police said entry was gained through a three by five foot front window which was smashed. A party wearing a blue jacket fled before the police's arrival.

Parked in front of the market was a brown 1978 Cadillac Fleetwood listed to Henry Hildreth of Hollis, N.H., which was reported stolen in Dec. 5. The keys were still in the ignition.

Meanest Thief

The meanest thief of the holiday season stole a four-foot Santa last week from the front porch of John Ridge, 81 Belmont St., Wollaston. Also taken were two 10-speed bicycles from the Ridge garage. The Santa was valued at $100.

Trucks Carrying Rubbish Must Be Covered

Trucks carrying rubbish and debris must now have their loads covered before traveling on public streets, Senator Paul D. Harold warns.

Under a new law now in effect, the same rules that formerly applied to sand and gravel trucks requiring covered loads also apply to loads of loam, dirt, stone, rubbish and debris, Senator

Harold said.

The law requires loads of such materials that could fall on other vehicles or cause litter or hazards on the highway to be "fully and adequately covered."

Harold said the minimum fine, formerly $10, has now been increased to $50, and the maximum has been doubled from $100 to $200 for each violation.

'Their Responsibility'

Pasquerella: School Committee Should Fund 1979 Raises

By NANCY McLAUGHLIN

The State Appeals Court may have absolved the City Council of appropriating $1.6 million for a 1979 salary increase for city teachers, but the head of the Quincy Education Association doesn't feel that lets the School Committee off the hook.

Hank Pasquerella, QEA president, feels the court's decision "doesn't alleviate the responsibility of the school committee."

"They negotiated, it's their signature, and their responsibility to pay the raises," said Pasquerella.

"They shouldn't sign contracts with other parties if they're not willing to pay."

"They have some control over the budget. Let them make arrangements."

The School Committee and teachers signed a contract in 1979 which called for a 5 per cent raise, subject to funding. Saying the city couldn't afford it, former Mayor Arthur Tobin and the City Council refused to approve the raises.

The case then went to court. Asked whether the teachers plan to further pursue the raises legally, Pasquerella said, "we would like them (the school committee) to do it (fund the raises) of their own volition."

Pasquerella said the QEA was "definitely disappointed" with the court's decision.

"We felt since it had gone so long — three years in the waiting — that there was a better than 50-50 chance it (the decision) would go with us.

"We got the decision on Christmas Eve.

"It was some Christmas present. The raise that never was."

Pasquerella continued, "now they're asking for raises subject to funding next year."

"They must think we're daft."

"It will be 1979 all over again."

Mayor Francis McCauley had mixed feelings about the court's decision.

"I voted to fund the raises at the time because it was a good faith contract," said McCauley.

"It lost, 5-2. It was in the courts when I became mayor and I had to pursue the matter for the city."

"Now under Prop. 2½ we have no funds to pay for it."

In addition, he is a medical examiner for Norfolk County's Third District and is a Surgical Consultant to the Commonwealth of Massachusetts' Medicaid Program.

Previously, Dr. Ridder served as vice president, president, and acting president of QCH's medical staff, as well as the division head for the Department of Surgery, and chief of the Emergency Room.

School, Ridder interned at the U.S. Naval Hospital in Chelsea. He then had residencies at both Quincy City and Boston City hospitals. He has also been an associate clinical professor of surgery at the Boston University School of Medicine.

Dr. Ridder's practice is located on Furnace Brook Parkway in Quincy. He and his wife, Helen, live in Milton. His son-in-law, William Helfrich, M.D., was recently elected director of the hospital's Division of Urology.

Mayor Assures Point Group Pollard Available

Mayor Francis X. McCauley met with members of the Concerned Citizens for the Use of the Pollard School Monday and assured them that they are still in the running to obtain the building in Quincy Point as a community center.

"I have an open mind," said McCauley.

"The group was concerned that their proposal for the school would not stack up against those of commercial developers. This is not so. But I told them I must look at all proposals. I can't choose one without looking at all."

The mayor said his chief concern is that "the plan for the school is financially viable. Where is the money coming from? I asked them to do their homework so that they will be sure to have the facts to back up their proposal."

McCauley said he hopes to have action underway in June on the future of the Pollard as well as the Willard and Massachusetts Field Schools.

He said he has asked Planning Director James Lydon to have a development kit put together on the schools after the first of the year so that sale of the buildings can be advertised around April 1.

Then, he said, developers and other potential purchasers will have 60 days to put their proposals together for review by the mayor's committee on school uses, headed by Arthur Foley, his administrative aide.

"I hope to start action on disposing of the schools in June," he said.

McCauley said the Concerned Citizens gave him five proposals for retaining the Pollard School for use by the city or the local community.

Three of them, he said, involved the use of the second floor on the front of the building facing Southern Artery as a community center with the rest of the building used as a recreation area or rental spaces for other groups.

A fourth use would have the entire building taken over as a cultural arts center by a group including City Councillor Joseph J. LaRaia.

The fifth proposal would give the building back to the School Department for use as an elementary school. The proposal would close Central Middle School, move the students to Point Middle School which would take over the adjoining Webster School whose students would move to the Pollard.

McCauley offered the Concerned Citizens the aid of several city departments in putting together their final proposal.

Court Cracks Down On Drunk Drivers

This time, however, McParland decided that he had had enough aggravation and did not contest the firing.

In his place, McCauley hired David F. Grunebaum, a Sudbury attorney who specialized in labor law, as a private contractor and set about to have the negotiator's job taken out from under Civil Service.

Judge Albert L. Kramer, presiding justice of Quincy District Court, announced a stiff new policy for dealing with drunken drivers who were appearing in his courtroom for the first time.

For the first offense: 30 days in the House of Correction, with a minimum of three and a maximum of nine days committed to be served on weekends when appropriate.

"I think we have an obligation to protect the community from the enormous amount of damage, injury, carnage and needless deaths that occur," said Judge Kramer.

An hour and 45 minutes after the judge's edict went into effect on Jan. 15, James Vey, 18, of Montclair was arrested for drunken driving on Beal St., Wollaston.

Vey pleaded innocent and his attorney, George Burke, promised to test the constitutionality of Kramer's penalties all the way to the U.S. Supreme Court if necessary.

After several months of "sweating it out," former Mayor Tobin finally got the job he had been waiting for less than two weeks after leaving his City Hall office.

Gov. Edward J. King sent his name to the Governor's Council for appointment as clerk-magistrate of Quincy District Court, succeeding the late Dennis Ryan. The Council approved with dispatch.

John P. (Jake) Comer resigned as chairman of the Board of Assessors to succeed Clement O'Brien as executive director of the Quincy Housing Authority. The $32,000 opening drew 64 applicants.

A long-standing problem confronted Mayor McCauley almost as soon as he took office: money with which to run the city and, more important, where to get it.

Proposition 2½ required a 15 per cent cut in the city budget for fiscal 1983, which meant $8.5 million in hard figures.

McCauley who had until the first Council meeting in April in which to formulate the 1983 budget said he planned to cut $3.8 million from general government, $3 million from the schools, and hopefully make up the rest with increased state aid.

Joanne O'Malley, president of the Quincy Education Association, said she estimated conservatively that a $3 million cut would mean 75 teacher layoffs, closing of the Lincoln-Hancock pool and large cuts in the athletic budget.

Deaths during January included:

Guy S. Faiella, 77, longtime registrar of voters of the Republican persuasion, Jan. 8 in a Rockland Nursing Home.

Roberta M. Crowley, 73, retired city treasurer and widow of the late City Councillor David J. Crowley, Jan. 2.

Harriet Sears, 86, widow of the late Edward H. Sears, who built the Wollaston Theater, Jan. 24.

Dr. William M. MacPhee, 83, retired surgeon who was associated with City Hospital for 50 years, Jan. 5.

Joseph McDonough, 79, attorney and former regional director of the Office of Price Administration, Jan. 5.

John J. Sweeney, 91, former owners of the J.J. Sweeney and Son Plumbing and Heating Co., Jan. 1.

Mark A. Sissons, 79, who graduated from Quincy Junior College at the age of 74, Jan. 30.

FEBRUARY

There were rumblings of discontent from several quarters as new details of Mayor McCauley's proposed budget cuts were made public. Criticism of planned school closings was particularly strong.

More than 500 people jammed the resource center at Quincy High School for a 2½ hour hearing in which 50 individuals spoke in opposition to further budget cuts and school closings.

"We're mad as hell and we're not going to take it anymore," said Robert Sullivan of Quincy Point.

As the School Committee debated several plans to reorganize the school system, parents of children at the Pollard School made strong pleas to keep their school open. Spokesman Richard Crespi noted that enrollment was increasing at the school.

Meanwhile, McCauley was pushing for an early School Committee decision on reorganization.

The Dental Clinic in the Public Health Department also felt the budget knife.

Health Commissioner Dr. Robert P. McKeough said that closing down the Dental Clinic, whose staff of four treated between 3,000 and 4,000 patients a year, would save $68,000, equal to the 15 per cent cut demanded in the whole department's budget.

"I don't see any way of saving it," said McCauley. "The city does not belong in the dental business. The money we save will go to save a few police and fire jobs."

Key members of the McCauley administration team were sworn into office with a couple of old faces, Public Works Commissioner Paul Anderson and Assessor Elmer (Mike) Fagerlund, returning to posts they lost during the last administration change.

Newcomers included City Solicitor William B. Golden, Asst. Solicitor Dean Nicastro, Legal Counsel William E. Hicke, Recreation Director Barry J. Welch and Purchasing Agent Robert F. Denvir Jr.

When the appointment of Mrs. Pamela Craig of Houghs Neck to the Quincy Youth Hockey Board was questioned, McCauley confessed:

"You got me on nepotism. She's my wife's nephew's wife."

Another new policy of the McCauley administration came to

Few Openings In Ice Skating Program

The Quincy Recreation Department announces it has limited openings in the Instructional Ice Skating Program.

Registration is now being taken at the Recreation Office, 100 Southern Artery, from 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. daily. The first class is scheduled for Wednesday, Jan. 5.

The instructional program is co-recreational and is open to children ages 6 through 16.

Instruction is offered according to skating ability under the direction of Mrs. Anne Eagles, a United States Figure Skating Professional. Classes are based upon the USFSA standards and testing is done at the conclusion of each nine week program.

The program is conducted at the Quincy Youth Arena off Sea St. in Merrymount.

The classes are available

Wednesday 3:10 to 4 p.m. and 4:10 to 5 p.m. Registration is done on a first come first serve basis and enrollment is limited. Total fee of $20 is payable at the time of registration. The winter session runs for nine weeks.

Additional information, including starting dates, is available by contacting the Quincy Recreation Department at 773-1380, ext. 204.

Speech Communication At QJC

The Continuing Education Department of Quincy Junior College is offering speech communication classes in the second semester with the three-credit course beginning Wednesday, Jan. 26.

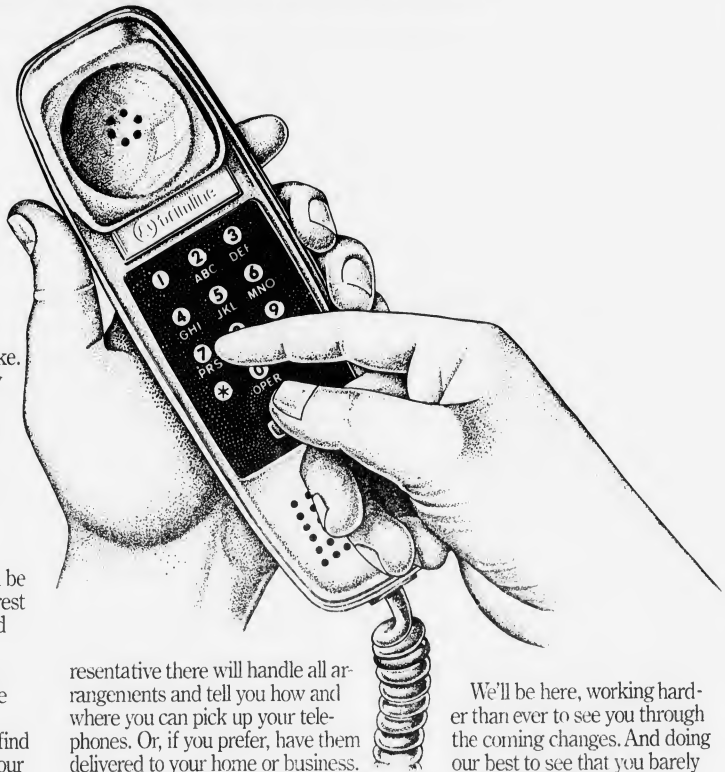

The student is guided through a variety of speaking situations involving subjects familiar to him, starting with a large group discussion, then small group encounters, then individual speeches to the class.

"The course has proven to be one of the most popular offerings in the Quincy Junior College curriculum," said Richard Mula, dean of continuing education.

Walk-in registration is open at the college or students may call 786-8741 for further information.

As of January 1, to get service or phones call your Telephone Business Office.

It's the first call you should make.
And in some cases, it's the only call you'll need to make.

How do you get service?

The best way to arrange telephone service is to call your local Telephone Business Office. Why? Because we're going to eliminate all our PhoneCenter Stores on January first (some will be going to American Bell, and the rest will be converted to New England Telephone Service Centers).

So, making that one phone call to your Telephone Business Office is all you need to do.

And it's very easy to do. You'll find the number on the first page of your phone bill, or listed in your telephone directory.

How do you get telephones?

New England Telephone is still providing phones, subject to availability. But we don't have PhoneCenter Stores any more. So how do you get phones from us?

Simple. Just call your Telephone Business Office. The Service Representative there will handle all arrangements and tell you how and where you can pick up your telephones. Or, if you prefer, have them delivered to your home or business.

What's next?

This is one of several changes that have resulted from a ruling of the Federal Communications Commission, which affects how you'll get service or telephone equipment from New England Telephone.

But despite these changes, New England Telephone will still be your local phone company.

We'll be here, working harder than ever to see you through the coming changes. And doing our best to see that you barely notice any change at all.

But to do our job right, we need to stay in touch with you. So let's talk. If you have questions, call us on our "Let's Talk" line 1 800 555-5000. We've got the answers.

The Telephone Intruder

The Telephone Intruder is growing bolder.
Lewd, larcenous, mysterious or just plain annoying telephone calls are on the increase.

If you receive one of those calls, here are some practical steps to take to protect yourself and your home:

Use your telephone on your terms. You are not forced to respond to questions and suggestions by the caller.

You would not reveal personal facts about yourself to a stranger on the street and you are not required to respond to a stranger on the phone either.

Any person who asks you for information should be prepared to identify himself. If he doesn't, terminate the call.

Instruct your children and baby sitters not to give any information to anyone who calls when you are out.

Tell them not to engage in conversations with a stranger on the phone but get his number or ask him to call back.

When a strange voice asks, "What number is this?" or "Who is this?" ask the caller what number he is seeking or with whom he wishes to speak.

Many people have acquired steady telephone nuisances by giving their numbers or identifying themselves to a stranger caller.

If your telephone rings and the caller remains silent after you have said, "Hello," twice, hang up. If not, you may be encouraging a psychotic who gets his kicks by talking.

In 1983 You Won't See ...

It's that time again when all the experts like to tell you what to expect in the new year coming up.

But, of course, not me. With all my usual humility and modesty I again confess I'm not an expert. Even though a few people still think I'm an opinionated know-it-all.

But, I know you'll insist that I predict something. So, I will. I'm usually pretty good at predicting what won't happen. So, in 1983 you can safely look ahead to the following things that definitely won't happen:

You won't see Mayor Frank McCauley or the City Council bringing home bigger pay checks.

You won't see a movie at The Strand Theater.

You won't see anyone buying a round of drinks at 2 a.m. — not in Quincy, anyway.

You won't see anyone as young at heart and with more enthusiasm as Quincy Furniture's
Max London entering his 102nd new year.

You won't hear Frank Anselmo saying that what the School Committee really needs is youth — not experience.

You won't see Arthur Foley running for mayor.

You won't see a day without motorists sailing through pedestrian lights in front of City Hall, at Temple and Hancock Sts., and Temple and Washington Sts.

You won't see the Quincy police station winning the Good Housekeeping award.

You won't see Owen Eaton or Joe McParland signing a Frank McCauley political ad.

You won't hear Public Works Commissioner
Paul Anderson singing, "Walking In a Winter Wonderland" after a heavy snow storm.

You won't see Helen Duffy sanding Paul Anderson's front walk after an ice storm.

You won't hear anyone crying, "Let's save the gypsy moth caterpillar."

You won't see anyone with more humility than Rabbi Jacob Mann of Beth Israel Synagogue.

You won't see anyone with more courage than Martha Donaghue.

You won't see Joe LaRaia moving to Brookline.

You won't see Jim McIntyre in a rush to eliminate himself as a candidate for Congress if Brian Donnelly should run for mayor of Boston.

You won't see everyone jumping with joy when reevaluation is implemented.

You won't see Leo Kelly or Tom Brownell swimming off Nut Island.

You won't see any closed schools reopening.

You won't see the Patriots in the Super Bowl except maybe as spectators.

You won't see the Red Sox in the World Series.

You won't see name of the Women's Center at Quincy Junior College changed to the Person Center.

You won't see a woman mayor next year.

You won't see General Dynamics turning down an aircraft carrier contract.

You won't see Ruth Gordon doing a nude scene.

You won't see Mary Collins and Joanne
Condon endorsing one another in Ward 6.

You won't see Ed King and Tom O'Neil stepping out together for a cup of coffee.

You won't hear Dick Koch, Sr. saying "no" to a worthy cause.

You won't see Fr. William McCarthy of St.
John's Church, closing the door on anyone in need.

You won't hear Judge Albert Kramer at Quincy District Court asking, "What'll you have, boys?"

You won't see another street anywhere like Chestnut alias Nut St.

You won't see any 4 per cent mortgages.

You won't see the price of anything worthwhile going down.

And, one thing you can be certain of: you won't ever see 1982 again.

And, a lot of people really don't care.

Crime Victims Now Heard On Parole

Crime victims now have the right to appear at the parole hearings of their assailants and make recommendations, Sen. Paul
D. Harold notes.

The new law, now in effect, gives victims of crime the right to testify personally, submit written recommendations, or be represented by others at such hearings.

Harold said the former law only required that law enforcement officials be notified when a parole hearing was scheduled.

Under the new law, a victim must be notified at least 30 days before the hearing and given the right to recommend whether a parole should be allowed.

Where a victim has died, his relatives may appear and make recommendations in his place,
Harold said.

The law includes as victims persons who have suffered injury, including mental anguish, or property damage as a result of a crime.

Does Not Believe In 'Concession Fever'

Editor, The Quincy Sun:

My brief response on contract concessions reported in The Sun (Union Head Proposes Non-Slip Work, December 9, 1982) may have been misleading.

Any responsible union is, of course, prepared to sit down and discuss issues with an employer at any time, but I do not believe, frankly, that "concession fever" has helped the labor movement in this country. Recent events have shown the futility of a concession talk. Chrysler, which "couldn't afford" a raise to sub-parity auto workers, somehow came up with a $1.15 raise. On the daister side, newspaper workers pressured into concessions by the Murdoch conglomerate, now find that The Globe is eager for the same without even a claim to economic desperation. In New Bedford, Gulf and Western's Morse Cutting Tool last spring (unsuccessfully) demanded concessions while an independent study showed that

Morse's problems were caused entirely by G&W's disinvestment and "profit milking" policies.

Because of its responsibilities to its membership and the community, Local 5 is, of course, interesting in working out its problems with the Company, but our membership has fought long and hard for what we have: We won't let go of it easily.

Thank you for your article.

QJC Continuing Education Brochure Available

The second semester Quincy Junior College Division of Continuing Education brochure is now available, announces Richard Mula, Dean of Continuing Education.

Over 120 credit and non-credit courses are being offered.

"The Saturday morning program continues to grow and is popular for those unable to attend the College at other times or for those who want to accelerate their program," Mula said. "Also, to assist students who find it difficult to attend the Quincy Junior College main campus in Quincy Square, we offer courses at our extension centers at Braintree High School, Scituate High School, Hanover High School, Weymouth Naval Air Station, and North Quincy High."

New this year are commuter hour courses for those who find it easier to take courses right from work, beginning at 5 p.m. "Truly whatever time a student wants to take a course Quincy Junior College has one to offer," Mula said.

Among the Associate Degree programs available in the Evening Division are Hotel Restaurant Management, Criminal Justice, Early Childhood Education, Liberal Arts, Electronics Technology, Computer Science, Secretarial, Business and Health Careers Preparatory. Students may take courses leading to a degree or choose a random selection for their own interest or career advancement.

Business courses continue to be the college's most popular according to Mula. "More women who are returning to school have decided that business is a good career for them," he added. "Many have already had business experience through managing the home, doing the budgeting, assigning tasks, etc. Business students can major in Management, Marketing, Retailing and Accounting, Real Estate/Insurance and Hotel/Restaurant Management."

Another area of recent interest at the College is the preparatory health career program. This is designed for students who want to prepare to enter a health career program but need additional course work before admittance into such a program. Students would take courses in Biology or Anatomy and Physiology, Chemistry, Psychology, Basic Math and English. Students interested in this field should consult with an advisor at the College.

Anyone interested in Evening Credit or Non-Credit Courses may call Mula at 786-8741 for a brochure.

Ross Warns $33 Tax Rate Will Rise

Mayor Charles A. Ross warned in his inaugural address that Quincy was faced with an increase of $1.5 million in the cost of running the city government in 1948. He predicted a $7 or $8 boost in the tax rate.

"I would like to maintain our present tax rate ($33) but I can readily see that such cannot be done," he said.

Ross listed a new municipal health center and widening of Revere Rd. and Canal St. as two of the chief objectives of his administration, the last before Plan E goes into effect.

He also promised a city-wide recreation program, construction of more stands and a garage at the municipal stadium and completion of plans for a proposed new surgical and medical addition to City Hospital.

Amelio Della Chiesa was chosen president of the City Council and A. Wendell Clark was re-elected vice chairman of the School Committee for the fourth year by a 5-1 vote over Mrs. Helen Spencer.

RAISE MORATORIUM ASKED

William M. Edmonston, executive secretary of the Quincy Taxpayers Association, asked that the Mayor, the City Council and the School Committee declare a moratorium on pay raises for city employees.

Said Edmonston:

"Unless the Quincy homeowner becomes articulate in regards to telling his councillor and the School Committee that he is opposed to any additional pay expenditures it will become too expensive for him to own a home in Quincy."

"What Quincy needs in 1948 is a majority of the Quincy City Council and members of the School Committee with fortitude enough to say 'no' to all suggestions of pay raises."

GALA NEW YEAR'S EVE

Quincy's smart set welcomed the New Year with a midnight show at the Art Theater - "Golden Earrings", with Marlene Dietrich and Ray Milland, the movie that asked the question: "Was there a man bold enough to earn the tigerish caresses of wild and fabulous Lydia?"

Less daring celebrants danced to the music of Lundin's Orchestra at the Finnish Temperance Hall, Suomi Rd. and Nelson St., West Quincy, and Vick Vill's Band in the Brewster Boat on the Neponset River near the bridge.

A THOUGHT FOR THE WEEK

Donald M. Deware
Director

Cheerful voices, sad voices, young voices, old voices, soft and loud voices are once again saying, "Happy New Year." It is a pleasant tradition. But just exactly what does Happy New Year mean? A wish for continued good health, or better health? A better job? More money? More comfort, more conveniences? Or perhaps less worry? Less fear? Less uncertainty, less anxiety? Whatever it means to you, your friends wish you well when they say, "Happy New Year."

But, as the saying goes, "Wishing won't make it so." Your friends can't help you to be happy, but they can't guarantee it. It depends on you, not them. The reason is clear and known. GENUINE happiness can never be found in self centered thoughts. If we would make and keep a New Year resolution to think less of our private satisfactions . . . to more willingly think and act in a way to bring happiness to those whose lives we touch . . . then and then only can we be truly happy. Impossible? No! Our voice joins others in wishing you a Happy New Year - and may it be genuine . . .

Don't Pass The Buck Out Of Town...

...Keep our community prosperous and growing!

Dollars spent in local stores and businesses generate more dollars for everyone.

Part of those dollars will sooner or later return to you one way or another...through your wages, a strong retail community, city parks, recreation programs, and community growth and improvements.

Dollars you spend OUT of town just go to make some OTHER community healthy. No

"We are going to change that policy," said McCauley. "All appointees of the McCauley administration are going to take the vacation time entitled to them during the calendar year."

An impressive number of high state officials turned out at the North Quincy High School auditorium as former Mayor Tobin was sworn in as clerk-magistrate of Quincy District Court.

The celebrities included Gov. Edward J. King and Lt. Gov. Thomas P. O'Neill III, heated rivals for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination, who sat two seats apart separated by the Rev. William McCarthy, pastor of St. John's Church.

The Stop and Shop Co. moved some 400 employees into its new headquarters in Quincy Center Plaza and the South Shore Chamber of Commerce pulled out all stops for a two-day series of orientation programs to acquaint them with downtown Quincy.

"What we are seeing is the first big step in the revitalization of the Quincy Square area," said Ron Zooleck.

A further step toward restoring downtown Quincy to its place as the shopping center of the South Shore was hinted at by Mayor McCauley when he said he was looking into a system of validated parking in place of the meters in the John Hancock and Ross parking lots.

Also, he said, there were no plans to give illegal parkers the "Denver boot" which was becoming the course of Boston shopping areas.

"We don't have the same objectives in parking as in Boston," said the mayor. "I think Mayor White's ploy is to try to pay the salaries of his public relations staff. We do not want to discourage people from coming to Quincy."

Another deadline for 100 per cent revaluation was approaching and once again it looked as if the city was not going to make it.

McCauley said he had been promised by the State Department of Revenue that the city's real figures would be approved or disapproved by the end of the month, which meant that the city could not meet the deadline for getting out second half tax bills.

Treasurer Robert E. Foy III said it would cost the city about $200,000 in short term loan interest if the bills were not paid by May 1 and McCauley noted that the city had already overspent the budget by $500,000 for such interest.

For the seventh time in five years the Norfolk County Recreational Area in North Quincy applied for a liquor license and this time the common victualer wine and beer permit was granted to Rosie's for 9 a.m. to 9 p.m., March through November.

The Beachcomber on Quincy

Shore Drive did not fare so well when its plan to serve free beer on Valentine's Day came before the board. There was nothing illegal about free beer but the board's concern for drunk driving was such that the Beachcomber withdrew the plan.

The Quincy Sun got Channel 8 on Quincy Cablesystems as a 24-hour a day, seven days a week new channel and experimental newscasts began on Feb. 11.

"It is an exciting new venture — an adventure — for us at The Sun," said Publisher Henry Bosworth, who made the announcement jointly with David J. Keefe, general manager of Quincy Cablesystems.

Court Rules City Overassessed Shipyard By $15-M

MARCH

The long-awaited court decision in the General Dynamics tax abatement case came down and the city was jolted to its financial roots.

Superior Court Judge Hiller B. Zobel ruled that Quincy had overassessed the Fore River shipyard by some $15 million in the years 1977 through 1981 and must refund an estimated $16 million.

The city had raised the General Dynamics assessment from $12,670,000 in fiscal 1976 to $20,724,600 in 1977 following a multi-million dollar renovation to the yard. General Dynamics claimed the value was $15,735,000. Judge Zobel said it was $5,231,748.

"When the city's largest taxpayer, who pays 7.5 per cent of the city's tax levy has its bill reduced 75 per cent it is obviously a severe financial problem for the city," said Mayor McCauley.

Since Judge Zobel's formula was "not normally accepted as a method of assessing property," City Solicitor Golden said the city planned to appeal.

Later, Golden said errors in the judgement had been acknowledged by both Judge Zobel and General Dynamics that would reduce the refund by some $2.5 million.

On another tax front, some 200 property owners who owe $385,000 in real estate and personal property taxes were put on notice by the city to pay up by March 12 or else.

"The property will be placed in tax title which is the equivalent of foreclosure," said McCauley.

Solicitor Golden also was instructed to move swiftly against a dozen taxpayers who owe more than $2.9 million for the years prior to 1980 and whose property had already been placed in tax title.

The city also drew a bead on those who were delinquent in paying up for parking tickets as the City Council appropriated $40,000 to help City Clerk John Gillis, who also wore the hat as parking ticket clerk, go after an estimated 80,000 overdue parking tickets.

Gillis was stunned by the response.

By the end of the month, collections of parking fines were running at a rate of $4,000 to $5,000 a day and Gillis said the city probably will collect as much as $400,000 of the $500,000 owed in fines since 1978.

"The motivating force to pay these back tickets is the fact that the delinquents can lose their licenses and registrations if they don't pay," explained Gillis.

Parents picketed City Hall in an attempt to prevent the closing of four more schools — Willard, Wollaston, Pollard and Massachusetts Fields — which was approved by the School Committee in its last February meeting.

The Committee, which was under the gun to trim $3 million from its budget and submit it to McCauley by April 1, got a reprieve of sorts when a new state law granted a 30 day extension.

When School Committeeman Frank Anselmo tried a parliamentary move to delay a vote on one budget item, McCauley, who serves as chairman in his role as mayor, exploded.

"You have continually disrupted the School Committee since I've been here the past three months," he told Anselmo, "and I've just about had it with you!"

Mayor McCauley named James P. Papile, a former assessor who lost his job in the Tobin administration, to replace John P. Comer on the Board of Assessors and elevated Mike Fagerlund to Comer's old post as chairman.

The mayor had minor problems with another appointment, that of the Rev. John J. McMahon of St. Mary's Church to replace the Rev. William McCarthy of St. John's Church on the Quincy Housing Authority.

When Fr. McMahon came before the Council for its approval, Council President John J. Lydon Jr. moved to put it into committee, saying that at least three people had asked to speak on the priest's qualifications. The Council rejected Lydon's move, 8-1.

State approval of the city's new 100 per cent revaluation figures was delayed at least another 30 days when Jane Malme of the State Department of Revenue notified Mayor McCauley that state investigators would not be in the city until March 31.

David Grunebaum, the city's new labor negotiator, announced that some long labor disputes with city employees had been settled with $30,000 in back pay going to three engineers and $55,500 to live other workers who had been illegally bumped from their jobs.

Deaths during March included: Gustaf E. Westhryn, 86, a 50-year member of the Kiwanis Club with perfect attendance, March 3 in New Smyrna Beach, Fla.

Dr. T. Vincent Corsini, 83, retired doctor who was a staff member at City Hospital for more than 50 years.

APRIL

Alarmed by the growing number of drunken driving accidents, a group of Quincy residents, led by City Councillor Joanne Condon, moved to roll back to 1 a.m. the dozen or so 2 a.m. liquor licenses that had been granted in the city.

The first effort before the License Board failed on a 2-2 tie vote with Health Commissioner Dr. Robert P. McKeogh voting "present." He asked for a two-week continuance to study the matter, saying, "I have to have solid information."

"Round one is over but round two has just begun," vowed Councillor Condon, who promised to seek a rollback ordinance in the Council.

When the License Board refused to reconsider its vote, Condon introduced a home rule petition asking the State Legislature to give the Council permission to put limits on licenses and heavy pressure was brought against Dr. McKeogh to change his vote.

Condon introduced a letter from Augustin J. Goslin of Walker St. North Quincy, to McKeogh noting that the doctor had delivered Goslin's son, Peter, who was stabbed to death at 2:15 a.m. Dec. 27 outside the Beachcomber, a 2 a.m. bar on Quincy Shore Drive.

"I hope," wrote Goslin, "this will help you decide between the desires of disreputable commerce and the desires of the people of Quincy for a more peaceful existence."

On the other hand, Carl Miranda, proprietor of California, a 2 a.m. bar in downtown Quincy, said the rollback would hurt his $1.5 million investment and that he would have to lay off more than half of his 72 employees.

MDC Commissioner Terrance Geoghegan appeared before the License Board to testify on traffic conditions on Wollaston Beach in the area of the Beachcomber and he stirred up protest when he referred to it as a "killer bar."

"The Beachcomber has far more problems than any establishment in the MDC Old Colony District," he said.

Geoghegan told the Board that the MDC is taking steps to make traffic safer around the Beachcomber by installing new high intensity solar lights and making new curbs cuts. But he declined to station a man at the site or install traffic lights.

"I don't want them to have baby sitters or crossing guards," he said. "People do what they want to do. You're dealing with a human problem. You have to be careful that things you do are capable of success."

The extra job of collecting fines and penalties for overdue parking tickets, some of them dating back four years, finally got to City Clerk

Gillis, who announced that he was resigning as parking ticket clerk as of July 1.

"It's been one constant headache since we took on the job," he said. "All the energies of this office have been on parking tickets. We are going wacky with phone calls. I fully intend to resign as soon as we get this backlog of tickets out of the way."

Gillis said there was a backlog of 119,000 overdue tickets and notices had been sent to about 30 per cent to pay a $2 fine and $5 penalty.

"And that's only the tip of the iceberg," he said.

Purchasing Agent Robert Denver was named to replace Gillis as parking ticket clerk in July and Sean Mulvaney, who was laid off in the Election Department more than a year ago, was rehired temporarily to help with the backlog.

Mayor McCauley said he had received two proposals for validated parking in downtown Quincy and bidding specifications were to be drafted from the proposals.

"Basically," said the mayor, "the net cost of the areas to the city is now $40,000 a year. We are looking at a plan to run them at a profit and get out the meters."

Sandy Rounseville, proprietor of Beacon Fabrics and a longtime foe of parking meters, gave the campaign for validated parking a push by riding a elephant named "Nellie" down Hancock St. to present to McCauley a petition signed by 100 businessmen.

"The meters are going!" shouted Rounseville as he rode, scattering bags of peanuts to the crowd.

The School Committee approved a $24.2 million budget, with John J. Sullivan voting in opposition, but only after McCauley had threatened to veto a Council order that permitted the School Board to carry a $350,000 surplus over into fiscal 1983.

"I was concerned that there was an attempt to bust the budget," said the mayor. "I'm satisfied now that that is not the case. The thing I'm concerned about is the integrity of the bottom line."

McCauley named a nine-member committee to study the operation of the mayor's office, with particular emphasis on the mayor's salary ($25,000) and whether or not the city's chief executive should serve a four year term as opposed to the present two years.

"Two years is really not enough time to accomplish anything in this office," he said. "A man should have a chance to do the job and get a track record before he is forced to run for re-election. I'm only four months into this term and soon I'll have to think about running again."

Just as everyone had taken the snow tires off their cars and the city had put away its snow removal equipment, a freak near-blizzard struck Quincy on April 5-6 with up to nine inches of snow.

The City Council passed a condominium conversion ordinance and passed it on to the State Legislature for approval despite the pleas of landlords for more time to present new information on the issue.

"Everytime we turn around new concessions are asked," said Councillor Leo J. Kelly. "You can go on forever with this if every week someone comes in with new changes."

Deaths during April included: Ira Francis (Frank) Murdock, 83, of Squantum, a pioneer in the development of uses for plastics and formica, April 6.

Max Orenberg, 71, of West Quincy, a practicing attorney for 40 years, April 8.

E. Joseph (Slum) Salvati, 65, star lineman for Quincy's pro football team, the Manets, in the 1930s and 1940s.

million from the previous year and representing a loss of 32 city jobs. The mayor said full funding of the budget would depend on the city getting an additional $5.3 million in state aid.

No firefighters or policemen would be laid off, McCauley said, but 22 firefighters would lose their jobs after Labor Day if extra money were not found to keep them.

The possibility of increased state aid was considered to be good since Gov. Edward J. King had proposed a formula that would bring the city an added $5.7 million and the Legislature had a plan that would mean an extra $7.8.

"But I don't want to spend any additional state aid until I have it," cautioned McCauley.

The Citywide Parents Council, however, had plans for it. Members presented the City Council with a petition containing 5,000 names urging that 50 percent of any increased state aid be given to the beleaguered school system.

Robert Wilson, president of the Parents Council, pointed out that since Proposition 2½ became law the school budget was down 28 percent, classroom teachers were down 27 percent, book purchases were down 88 percent and a dozen neighborhood schools had been closed.

The big controversy of the month of May began innocently enough when the city started spraying for gypsy moths in the West Quincy woods with the controversial chemical "Sevin."

Forestry Supt. John Koegler called it "probably the most studied pesticide that we have. There is no concrete evidence that there are any problems with it." Mayor McCauley said his office had "received no calls, one way or the other" about it.

City Councillor Patricia Toland conceded that it was too late to stop the spraying this year but she emerged as a possible leader of anti-Sevin forces in the city in the future.

"May be the evidence against it is (Cont'd on Page 19) not conclusive enough to ban but it's scary enough to make its use questionable," she said. "It even smells like poison to me. We'll be much louder about it next year."

A real controversy developed at the end of the month when a group of Wollaston children, following the Sevin truck on their bicycles, were "drenched" with the chemical and, although none suffered apparent ill effects, their mothers descended on City Hall.

McCauley apologized for the incident and promised that residents will be warned loudly before a Sevin truck entered their neighborhoods. But he indicated he still felt that Sevin was safe to use in the city.

The General Dynamics Quincy shipyard won a $1.25 million Navy contract, to be shared with the Todd Shipyards in Seattle, Wash., for Phase 2 design work on conversion of container ships and the award held the promise of more work ($60 million per ship) in Phase 3 construction.

General Dynamics applied for and received City Council approval for creation of a foreign trade zone at the Fore River shipyard so that the company can bring in foreign-made parts and install them on ships without paying import duties.

"We have to take advantage of every opportunity to reduce the cost of building ships here," said Carter W. Eltzroth, general counsel for GD. "We hope that this will give us a competitive edge."

With 100 per cent reval facing further delays, the state agreed to let the city use the old valuations for one more year in order to get tax bills for the second half of fiscal 1982 in the mail before the end of the year.

The State Department of Revenue approved a $205.60 tax rate for 1982, down $37 from the previous year due to the mandatory 15 per cent cut in the tax levy under Proposition 2½.

The long-awaited sewer user charge plan demanded by the state and federal governments was worked out by the McCauley administration, dividing the city into three categories - residential, large commercial and tax exempt - for sewer charge purposes.

Under the plan, residences and small business establishments would be billed on the basis of the tax rate while seven major commercial users and tax exempts would be charged according to water use.

Public Works Commissioner Paul Anderson urged the City Council to move swiftly on the plan to insure federal funds to rehabilitate the city's ancient sewer system.

"We are 40th on a priority list of 40," he said. "If we don't move forward in the future we will close ourselves out. We are not eligible for federal funds at this time because we have no ordinance."

Dr. Edward F. Pierce announced that he will step down Aug. 6 after 10 years as president of the Quincy Junior College to become head of a college in Pennsylvania.

A fire that was described as suspicious in origin swept a block of stores in the business heart of Wollaston, causing a half million dollars damage and destroying the Roberts Hallmark Shop, Mr. Frank's Hair Cutters, Pizza Chef, and Head Start Beauty Salon.

The coming sale of the historic old Strand Theater on Chestnut St. was revealed when the License Board called off a hearing to show cause why the theater license should not be revoked following incidents at a Led Zeppelin movie in March.

JUNE

Mayor McCauley fired Health Commissioner Dr. Robert P. McKeogh on grounds that he was not devoting full time to the $37,180 post but others saw the move as political involving Dr. McKeogh's vote on the 2 a.m.

liquor license rollback issue.

City Solicitor William B. Golden ruled that he was in violation of state law by maintaining a private practice.

"The statute is clear," said McCauley. "It calls for a public health commissioner who devotes his full time to the city, supervising the department from 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. Dr. McKeogh's problem is that he is conducting a private practice four or five days a week."

Dr. McKeogh, who had more than three years left in his five year term, said he works a 110 to 120-hour week, with 40 hours devoted to the Public Health Department, although he is not necessarily in the office all that time.

"The only way he can be removed is for cause," said Richard W. Barry, the doctor's attorney as he prepared to fight the case. "State law says that he shall be employed the entire time as commissioner and we contend that he is available all the time, days, nights, weekends."

City Councillor Joanne Condon moved to settle the dispute by abolishing the post of health commissioner and replacing him with a board of health.

"The Health Department has gotten out of the business of directing health services, which called for a medical doctor," she said. "We are now in the business of code enforcement and things like that. An administrator, not a medical doctor, could perform those duties."

The city's collection of overdue parking fines and penalties was moving along fine until it came to collect a $630 surfine from Jeffrey Grossman, a Patriot Ledger reporter from Wellesley. He went to court, claiming the penalty was illegal. The judge ruled he was right.

The city, which had collected $220,000 in fines and penalties, had to refund $141,000 to those who had paid penalties and Mayor McKeogh and the City Council moved swiftly to close the loophole with an ordinance legalizing the penalty.

"The reason this was submitted by the mayor is to clarify what appears to be a defect or a gray area with regard to parking fines in Quincy," said Solicitor Golden, with lawyerly understatement.

Gov. King signed a bill authorizing the City Council to appoint an auditor and the Council quickly named City Treasurer Robert E. Foy III to the $34,884 post. Mayor McKeogh began accepting applications for the $26,478 job of treasurer.

In one of his last official acts as health commissioner, Dr. McKeogh ordered all Quincy salt water beaches closed when the bacteria count rose to unprecedented numbers due to heavy rains that backed up Boston sewage in the MDC system.

"I've never seen counts this high since I've been here," said Winthrop Wade, the department's director of environmental services. "It's done an awful job on the water in the bay. The water even looks discolored. It stinks to high heaven."

Wade said a 700 coliform count is the maximum permitted for swimming in salt water. Some sections of Wollaston Beach had counts of 34,000.

The City Council voted 8-1 to accept the sewer user charge plan advanced by Mayor McKeogh, the first step in freeing $2.5 million in federal funds to rehabilitate the city's ancient sewer system.

"We have to get the money committed by the end of the federal fiscal year, Oct. 1," said Public Works Commissioner Paul Anderson. "I figure if everything goes well we'll be able to get the project moving in the fall or summer of 1983."

Councillor Theodore P. DeCristofaro cast the only vote against the plan.

"I feel that when 100 per cent valuation rolls around, the people with small families and older people will get hit," he said. "There should be a user charge right down the line."

That 100 per cent valuation moved a little closer when the State Department of Revenue announced that its appraisers would be in Quincy July 6 to check on the work of the PRC Jacobs appraisers and McKeogh said impact notices would be in the mail by Sept. 1.

The city's personnel director, Mary McGinty, retired after 28 years with the city and 23 in the personnel department. Mayor McKeogh set about finding someone to fill another city job.

this one paying $24,450.

Quincy unveiled in the foyer of the new city Hall a scroll honoring 1,700 veterans of the Vietnam war from the city, including 42 who gave their lives.

"We are tempted to want to put the Vietnam war out of our minds because it was such a painful period for all Americans," said Frank Brillo of Quincy Point, a wounded Vietnam veteran who spoke at the dedication of the scroll.

"But it is important that we remember honestly and with humility. It is important too that as we do today we must remember those who answered their nation's call with full measure of their valor and loyalty."

JULY

Owen J. Eaton lost his $26,000 a year job as water superintendent when the water and sewer departments were combined under one head, who turned out to be Russell P. Eranio, the sewer superintendent.

Some suspected that there was a little politics involved since Eaton was a close friend and ally of Daniel G. Raymond, who lost to McKeogh in the fight for mayor in 1981.

"Mr. Eaton's competence is not at question," City Labor Negotiator David Grunbaum told a Civil Service hearing into the dismissal. "This is a consolidation of departments for economy. The one who got the position was the senior of the two."

McKeogh maintained that Eaton's demise was not a dismissal since he was eligible to bump down to the post of general foreman in the department if he wished to do so.

Eaton's attorney, Deirdre Harris, charged that "the abolition of Mr. Eaton's job was not done in good faith."

"We are trying to establish that there was a systematic effort by Mr. Anderson and Mayor McKeogh to eliminate those who disagreed with them politically," she said.

When the Civil Service hearing failed to change McKeogh's mind, Eaton filed suit in the U.S. District Court charging that his civil rights had been violated.

The substance of the suit was that the proposed termination of the water superintendent's job was politically motivated and violated his freedom of speech and freedom of political association.

Dr. M. Grace Hussey, a retired Merrymount physician, was named to replace Dr. Robert P. McKeogh as health commissioner and right away she refused to say how she planned to vote on the controversial issue of the 2 a.m. liquor license rollback.

She told interviewers that she would keep an open mind and listen to both sides of the question before she made up her mind.

"I think I owe that to the city of Quincy," she said, adding that she was aware Mayor McKeogh favored the rollback even though he has not spoken to her about it.

The Cherry Sheet for state aid to Quincy came out showing an increase of $7.1 million plus a decrease of $727,000 in charges for a net gain of $7.8 million. That was $2.5 million more than the city expected.

The McKeogh administration had planned on getting some $5.3 million more in state aid and the figure was programmed into the budget but there were still the 22 firefighters who faced loss of their jobs after Labor Day. Would the new windfall save them?

"The picture is brighter," said Mayor McKeogh, "but it would be premature to make a statement right now. The schools and the fire department were heaviest hit by cuts in the fiscal 1983 budget and we will certainly give priority attention to them. But we are not making any commitments now."

Donald W. Hansen, 33, of Weymouth, executive assistant to Police Chief Francis X. Finn, who had supervised the acquisition of some $1.5 million in federal funds for the past five years, was named to replace Mary McGinty as city personnel director.

"This has been a Civil Service position," said McKeogh. "We have requested that it be taken out and subject to appointment by the mayor so that my successors will be able to appoint their own people. I believe that taking it out of Civil Service will upgrade the position."

Taking the job out from under the strictures of Civil Service also would allow the mayor to expand the director's duties to include such related fields as data processing and, yes, McKeogh allowed that he had that in mind.

The final curtain rang down on an old entertainment landmark when the 57-year-old Strand Theater, the big first run motion picture house to three generations of Quincy movie goers, was sold to the South Shore National Bank. The theater, which was built in 1925 by former Mayor William Bradford and showed the city's first talking picture ("The Lion and the Mouse," starring Lionel Barrymore), later was torn down and the lot left vacant while the bank decided what to do with it.

The committee that had been studying the mayor's office made its report, recommending that the mayor's salary be boosted to $48,500 a year from the current $25,000 and that the stipend for City Councillors be upped from $3,000 to $4,500 a year.

McCauley said he would make his proposals, not necessarily adhering to the committee's guidelines, to the Council in August.

Christine McGrath, an 18-year-old dark haired beauty from West Quincy, was selected Miss Quincy Bay for 1982 from a field of 36 candidates. A student at Labourer Junior College in Boston, she has aspirations of being a respirator therapist.

Rooting for her in the crowd was her boy friend, Mark DeLuca of Dorchester, an aspiring professional boxer who fights under the name "The Italian Bazooka."

"If I can sit through his fights, he can sit through my pageants," said Chrissie.

Pollution and high bacteria counts kept opening and closing Quincy's salt water beaches until Mayor McCauley and Health Commissioner Hussey announced that, while bacteria counts will be published as a warning, there will be no more closings.

"This business of closing beaches, opening them and closing them again is very confusing," said the mayor. "It's hard to enforce, too. We're not equipped to go down and pull people off the beaches."

Deaths during July included:

Thomas F. Gorman Sr., 80, fire chief of Quincy from 1947 until his retirement in 1967, July 3.

Muriel Chandler, 57, administrative assistant to former Mayor Arthur H. Tobin, July 10.

Kenneth W. Recanzone, Quincy Sun advertising executive who was "Ken from the Sun" to scores of advertisers, July 14.

July 25.

AUGUST

She did not, said Health Commissioner Dr. M. Grace Hussey, want to pick up a newspaper and read of a drunk driving fatality which might have been prevented had she voted differently.

Thus the newly appointed health commissioner voted along with Building Commissioner Allan MacDonald and Fire Chief Edward Barry to provide the majority in a 3-2 vote of the License Board to roll back 2 a.m. liquor licenses to 1 a.m. in Quincy.

"I think it can make a difference," said Dr. Hussey. "You will be drinking less if the bar hours are reduced, it stands to reason. You can't compare anything to a life."

Speakers at the 2½ hour License Board hearing were weighted heavily against the 2 a.m. closing.

Law-abiding citizens, said Mayor McCauley, "should be able to reasonably expect to be able to drive home and not get maimed or killed" by other motorists who are "fried to the eyeballs" or "stewed to the gills."

"All 12 bars open to the public (with 2 a.m. closings) have operated in the past with 1 a.m. closings successfully," said City Councillor Joanne Condon. "I honestly believe they can be successful again with uniform closing hours in the city of Quincy."

"I felt a little bit like Custer at Little Big Horn," said Richard Barry, attorney for the 12 bars.

"There were too many Indians."

"I feel we did a good thing," said MacDonald. "We'll know one year from today if it works."

The mayor proposed and the City Council quickly approved an appropriation of $425,000 from state aid to preserve the jobs of 22 firefighters who were scheduled to be laid off Sept. 1. Council President John J. Lydon Jr. called it "the most overriding issue in the budget."

"This alleviates the fear that any fire stations will be closed, at least for another year," said Councillor Leo J. Kelly.

Mayor McCauley also proposed that the School Department receive $400,000 from the $1.7 million that was left once deductions had been made from the $2.5 million the city got in additional state aid.

"Since the School and Fire Departments suffered the largest cuts in the budget," said McCauley, "I am allocating the largest amount of additional funds to those two departments."

One hundred per cent revaluation struck another snag and McCauley said he has asked the Board of Assessors to seek approval from the State Department of Revenue to send out estimated bills for the second year in the row.

"Final completion of the property revaluation program in Quincy will not be done in time to set a tax rate and mail out real and personal tax bills to meet the Nov. 1 payment date," he said.

The problem?

"The values determined by PRC Jacobs, the real firm, reflect those in the fall of 1980," said the mayor. "Already they are out-dated. They're probably 10 per cent higher now. We will have to hire another company to update them as required by the state every two years."

Ousted Water Supt. Owen Eaton's suit against the city for violating his Civil Rights in dismissing him from his job went to trial and, in a last minute move, Eaton's attorney had McCauley and Public Works Commissioner Paul Anderson added as defendants.

McCauley and Anderson decided to act as their own attorneys despite the admonitions of Federal Judge Robert Keeton that "there are substantial risks involved."

"This exposes you to liabilities as individuals for damages and attorneys' fees," said the judge. "They are seeking judgements not only against the city but against you for which you will be responsible."

Judge Keeton warned that City Solicitor Golden could not properly defend them as well as the city because his primary responsibility was to Quincy.

"There are conflicts of interest between you and the city," he said. "It is possible for the city to win and you to lose. Mr. Golden may have to shift responsibility to you in order to defend the city."

But McCauley and Anderson persisted and eventually won out when Eaton lost his case before Judge Keeton.

The General Dynamics Quincy shipyard, where the work force had been cut to some 3,000 production workers by lack of contracts, got a shot in the arm when it landed contracts totalling $272.6 million to build ships for the Navy's rapid deployment force.

There was also an option to build three more with the five ships totalling $770 million.

General Dynamics called the contracts "a significant breakthrough in re-establishing Quincy as a builder of auxiliary ships for the Navy."

The five ship program, the company said in a statement, "will provide the Quincy Shipbuilding Division with approximately 6,000 man-years of work in the years 1983 through 1986."

Mayor McCauley sent to the City Council his proposal for the establishment of a Data Processing Department in the city government headed by a $42,000 a year director, who the mayor said will be Robert Brennan, present head of the schools' computer department.

Council President Lydon, who said he had some problems with McCauley's proposal, set up a committee headed by Councillor Richard J. Koch Jr., to study the issue.

Franklin C. Jay, 60, of Wollaston, a senior accountant in the State Comptroller's Division, was named to succeed Robert E. Foy III as city treasurer and tax collector.

McCauley proposed a system of validated parking in downtown Quincy under which the city's lots would be turned over to the management of a private firm, which would charge 25 to 50 cents an hour for parking, with merchants providing validated parking for customers.

Deaths during August included: Rev. John J. Dacey, 65, pastor at St. Boniface Church, Germantown, from 1970 until 1975, Aug. 13.

Jimmy Gardner, 85, retired boxing manager and founder of the Quincy Boys Club, Aug. 17.

SEPTEMBER

Mayor McCauley asked the City Councilors to give him and themselves a hefty raise but, instead of being grateful, the councilors tiptoed warily around the proposal when it hit them for the first time.

The mayor was seeking a raise for himself from $25,000 to $37,500 in 1983 and then to $48,500 in 1984 and an increase for the City Council from $1,500 to $7,500 per councilor, effective Jan. 1, 1983.

"The mayor should be the highest paid official in the city," McCauley told the Council's Ordinance Committee. "It's ridiculous that the office of mayor is a fulltime job yet pays less than other city jobs."

"In recent years, we have taken on some heavy responsibilities, particularly under Proposition 2½. We have dealt well with it. We have not cancelled any areas of city government."

"Yet we have reduced the tax levy by $18 million of 27.6 percent over the past two years. The time is right. We have earned the money and we will continue to earn it."

The mayor said his recommendation to raise the Council stipend from $1,500 to $7,500 was not an attempt "to buy my raise by sweetening the pot for the councilors."

"I don't think that's an excessive amount of money for nine people," he said.

The nine people listened politely to McCauley's plea and then returned the raise proposal to the Ordinance Committee without comment.

The Quincy Housing Authority moved swiftly to nip in the bud what appeared to be growing racial problems in the Germantown housing projects where six black families had recently moved in among 580 predominantly white tenants.

Executive Director John Comer sent letters to all tenants in public housing in Quincy pointing out that the authority will not hesitate to evict tenants who are found guilty of harassing the black families.

"We are starting to have serious racial problems," said Comer. "There are some hoods down there who are throwing rocks, making racial slurs and harassing people with phone calls at night."

"We are not going to take any of that baloney."

Comer suggested that the real problem in the city's federal and state-funded housing complexes went beyond just racial incidents.

"The real problem," he said, "is that the state and federal governments consider security the last priority. They've got to realize it's important. They've got to give us money for security."

An angry and "depressed" Police Chief Francis X. Finn told the City his department, particularly the condition of the more than 50-year-old police station that "I am even considering resigning."

"The Fire Department got 22 men back," he said, "and I got nothing. My men are out there night after night. We don't even have enough men to protect ourselves let alone the public. That was the final thing for me."

"We can't go on much longer with a police station that absolutely stinks. It is putrid. I mean the smell is beyond belief and it's not the fault of the custodians. The cell block goes back to the turn of the century. The boilers have not worked in some time."

"How much more are we going to take?"

Finn proposed that the abandoned Pollard School on Southern Artery be retained by the city and converted into a new police station but local residents raised such a storm of protest that the plan was abandoned before it got off the ground.

The State Department of Revenue certified the 100 per cent revaluation job on the city that was done by PRC Jacobs Co. of McLean, Va., which placed the city in the $1.5 to $1.6 billion valuation range.

When the mayor asked the City Council for $120,893 to help pay for an update of the $600,000 job done by Jacobs, Councilors Leo J. Kelly and Joseph J. LaRaia voted against it.

"It's an endless process that goes all the way back to 1965," said LaRaia. "We have seen any final product yet and we keep pouring money into it."

"People are confused by reval already," said Kelly. "This will just make it more confusing."

Mayor McCauley selected

Kinney Systems, Inc., of Boston to operate the city's downtown parking lots, the Hancock and Ross and the Ross Parking Garage under a $67,000 a year lease plus a percentage of the gross over $300,000 for a period of five years.

Proposed rates would be 25 cents an hour, $2 a day, $25 a month.

"If this works out," said McCauley, "it could change the image of Quincy and a place where shoppers get parking tickets."

Councilor LaRaia failed in his bid for the Democratic nomination for Norfolk County Clerk of Courts, losing to Nicholas Barbadoro of Quincy, the veteran assistant clerk, even though he came out of their home city with a 900-vote lead.

Gov. Edward J. King was favored by Quincy voters for reelection but statewide it was former Gov. Michael S. Dukakis who took the nomination to run for that office.

Mayor McCauley moved to counter complaints about the condition of the city's cemeteries by naming Park Department Chief Richard J. Koch to overall charge of the Cemetery Department with J. Vincent Smyth continuing as superintendent.

The mayor, who thought he had created a Sewer, Water and Drain Department through the budget, moved to wipe away questions of its legality by introducing an ordinance that would rearrange the divisions under the Public Works Department.

Deaths during September included:

Gordon E. Nelson, 71, retired insurance man and unofficial historian of Squantum, Sept. 12.

Francis L. Sullivan, 60, retired director of the city's veterans services, Sept. 11.

OCTOBER

"I have traveled over the entire country," said David Harris of Randolph, deputy commissioner of the State Department of Commerce, "and Quincy is probably the most racist city in America. It is certainly the most racist city in New England. I can attest to that."

If the words were designed to stir things up, they sure did, coming on the heels of some racial incidents in the Germantown housing projects.

Harris, who is also executive director of Minority Business Assistance, made the charge as he visited Quincy to accept the Citizen-of-the-year Award from the South Shore Coalition for Human Rights.

Harris' charge drew a "put up or shut up" response from Mayor McCauley. The Quincy Sun called on him to document his charges.

"There is nothing to investigate," McCauley said. "We have gotten no calls whatsoever reporting racist activities in Quincy. If there are, we'd like to hear about it. We certainly don't want that to happen to anyone."

"I have asked Mr. Harris to document his charges. Unless he comes forward with specific incidents there is not much we can do. Those were rather broad statements he made against the residents of Quincy."

Later, Harris backed up a bit in his charges, but not much.

"Maybe Quincy is not the worst," he allowed, "but it's certainly among the top five."

He did not name the other four.

City Charged As 'Racist'

The charge did, however, bring to Quincy a community relations specialist from the U.S. Department of Justice, Edward D. McClure, who circulated around the city for a few days, came up with the suggestion that perhaps the city should have a commission to talk about racial relations.

"From what I could glean," said McCauley, "no one has come forward to make a formal complaint. I think it was Harris' remarks that touched it off. The press picked up on it, the Boston media and television. There was not a heck of a lot of substantiation."

The South Shore Coalition, which provided the forum for Harris' remarks, did have praise for the manner in which John P. Comer, executive director of the Quincy Housing Authority, handled the racial incidents in Germantown and elsewhere.

Comer's action, said the Coalition in letter to McCauley, "was correct in bring the problem into the open and handling it publicly. By following Mr. Comer's example and bringing the issue of racism in Quincy into the open we can improve this unhealthy situation."

McCauley's proposal for pay raises for the mayor and the City Council was crushed by the councillors themselves, even after the mayor had watered it down a bit to make it more palatable.

"My conversation with individual members of the City Council indicated that there was not sufficient support among the members to adopt my recommendations," said McCauley, dropping his request to $45,000 for the mayor and $6,500 for councillors.

The vote was 9-0 against the council raise and 5-4 in favor of the mayor's pay hike with six votes needed for passage.

"We all agree that the mayor is underpaid," said Councillor Patricia Toland, but for some reason the councillors also agreed that he should not get any more money.

"I don't plan any further action in 1982 or 1983," said McCauley. "That ends the situation as far as I'm concerned."

The issue of a mayor-Council pay raise was hardly cold in its grave before the School Committee popped up with the suggestion that perhaps its members, who received nothing for their services to the city, should be paid.

TIPS FOR THE OLDER DRIVER

About 8½ million, or nearly 8% of all U.S. drivers are over the age of 65. More than one million of these older drivers were involved in motor accidents last year. Here are some suggestions for older drivers to consider:

If your eyes do not adjust well to night driving, limit your driving to the daytime. If your hearing is not quite as keen as it used to be, you will need to be especially alert. Keep your window cracked open and your radio down. If you get tired easily, take only short trips. If emergency situations and heavy traffic frighten or confuse you, avoid driving during rush hours. Driving requires complete attention. On long drives, take frequent rest periods or change drivers regularly. Use seat belts EVERY TIME you ride. Recognize that certain medications may make you an unsafe driver temporarily. Ask your doctor if any medication might make you sleepy or dizzy or blur your vision. If the answer is "Yes" or even "Possibly" don't drive while using them.

Quincy, North Mark 50th Football Year

The Committee opened the door to being paid by voting 6-0, with Chairman McCauley absent, to accept the provisions of a new state law which authorizes the city to compensate its school board. McCauley was all for it.

"When you compare the responsibilities of the School Committee with those of the City Council," he said, "I would have to say the School Committee is deserving of compensation. But I'm not prepared to say how much it should be."

And neither could members of the committee. A motion by Frank Anselmo to set a salary for School Committee members at $3,000 a year was tabled and so was a motion by John Sullivan to provide $135 a month expenses for each member.

There was labor unrest at the General Dynamics Quincy Shipyard, where lack of work had cut the production force to 2,300 people.

Jonathan Brandow, president of Local 5, said 57 workers were suspended for three days, seven were suspended indefinitely and 300 others received disciplinary warnings for refusing to work overtime to cover for the lack of help.

Brandow accused General Dynamics of mismanaging the shipyard and "trying to get the people to wildcat (strike) so they can close the yard and blame it on the workers."

General Dynamics had no comment.

Mayor McCauley floated the trial balloon that he is considering the possibility of purchasing insurance policies to cover city officials in the event that they are sued as individuals for their acts as city officials.

"The litigious nature of our society has brought an epidemic of law suits against public officials," said City Solicitor William Golden. "The question has to be addressed. The time is now."

McCauley disclosed that the total value of the city calculated by the real firm of PRC Jacobs was $1.7 billion and when Municipal Appraisal Services of Fall River, the firm hired to update the appraisal, got through the figure would be around $1.8 billion. Deaths during October included:

ALL SET FOR THE BIG GAME — Benjamin Byrnes, 15 months, son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Byrnes of 70 Viden Road, and Patrick Creedon, 1, son of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Creedon of 52 Kendall St., work up a little spirit for the 50th year Quincy-North game Thanksgiving. The youngsters, grandchild and nephew of School Supt. Dr. Lawrence P. Creedon, respectively, are wearing sweaters made by Helen Ross, Quincy Junior College placement director. If the boys make these school's their alma maters, they could oppose each other in 1996.

Cornelius F. Moriarty, 66, retired superintendent of the Highway Department, Oct. 1.

Richard J. Flynn, 38, Quincy police officer who died of a heart attack while jogging, Oct. 21.

NOVEMBER

The state election in Quincy had most people yawning for lack of local contests but 70.9 per cent of the city's 48,530 registered voters turned out at the polls, possibly attracted by the lure of several referendum questions.

In the only local contest, Rep. Robert A. Cerasoli easily defeated Gerard Lawlor of Weymouth to win a fifth term in the state legislative seat shared by Quincy Point and Weymouth.

Quincy voters went along with their counterparts throughout the state in most contests.

The closest race in Quincy came on referendum question No. 1 which would have removed the present constitutional prohibition against public aid to private schools. The negative won but by a much smaller margin than statewide.

Former Gov. Michael S. Dukakis defeated Republican John Sears to win the governorship; Sen. Edward M. Kennedy survived what some people thought was a lackluster campaign to win another term at the expense of Ray Shamie, the GOP candidate.

Referenda that won in Quincy as well as the rest of Massachusetts were the death penalty, restrictions on nuclear waste, the bottle bill and the nuclear freeze.

One of the few newcomers to win election was Nicholas

Barbadoro of Quincy, who was unopposed for the post of Norfolk County Clerk of Courts which was being vacated by John Concannon of Braintree.

North Quincy and Quincy High Schools met on the football field for the 50th time with Quincy on the winning side of a 26-3 score amid ceremonies attended by many of those who took part in earlier games. The series now stands at a close 26-21-3 in favor of the Patriots.

Quincy Point got back in line for federal funds when Councillor Theodore P. DeCristofaro announced that the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development had once again designated the Point as a target area for neighborhood improvement work.

DeCristofaro said one of the first priorities would be an examination of the abandoned Pollard School for possible use as a neighborhood center.

Robert E. Federico of Weymouth was named highway superintendent succeeding acting Supt. William Gilcoyne, and Mayor McCauley said he was considering taking the $26,995 post out of Civil Service as he did before with the personnel director.

"It gives me more control over them if they don't work out," he said. "It will also give my successor an option of whether or not to keep them on the job."

City Sues MDC, Merchants Oppose Sundays

McCauley directed City Solicitor Golden to start legal proceedings against 103 real estate tax delinquents who owe the city a total of $1.2 million in back taxes. Earlier, the top 12 tax delinquents had been targeted and the move brought in more than $1 million.

"The taxpayers who dutifully pay their taxes on time should no longer be expected to bear the burden of those tax delinquents who year after year force the city to borrow funds to pay their share," said the mayor.

Deaths during November included:

Carol Dunlop, 36, the Quincy girl who grew up to be a novelist in France, in the Paris home.

Joseph E. Fitzgerald, 74, retired Quincy police captain, Nov. 13.

Francis W. Kegan, 42, of Weymouth, principal of the Pollard School for 13 years, Nov. 13.

Louis S. Cassani, 73, retired vice president of President Chevrolet, Nov. 27.

Dr. Abraham Alter, 77, a Quincy dentist for 49 years, Nov. 28, in Florida.

DECEMBER

Long years of frustration bubbled to the surface as the city prepared to take on the MDC in an effort to halt or control the raw and partially treated sewage that was polluting Quincy Bay, whose beaches had been made unsafe for most of the summer.

Mayor McCauley filed suit in Norfolk Superior Court against the MDC and the Boston Sewer and Water Commission charging they violated the law in the disposal of raw sewage, particularly by the discharge of more than 3.5 billion gallons in 1982 alone.

"Most people feel this action is long overdue, including the people we are suing," he said. "Because of the magnitude of the problem and the cost involved there has been a lot of talk and little action. We've got to get this beyond the talking stage."

City Solicitor William Golden, who is chairman of McCauley's Water Pollution Task Force, called the current condition of Quincy Bay "outrageous and a disgrace to both the city and the Commonwealth of Massachusetts."

"The city does not intend to indict the defendants but only to throw down the gauntlet to them and to challenge them to begin today to decide the fate of Quincy Bay," he said.

"The city is not pointing its finger at the defendants to say that they are the sole cause of the problem. On the contrary, the problem has developed over many, many years despite substantial efforts to turn the situation around by individuals and agencies."

At the same time, Rep. Michael W. Morrissey filed several pieces of legislation that would enable the MDC and the 43 communities in its sewer system to take steps to correct the problems.

"Polluted storm drains and combined sanitary and storm sewers which dump untreated sewage directly into the harbor right at the shoreline is one of the problems which must be addressed," said Morrissey.

One of his bills would authorize the MDC to issue bonds to provide matching funds to identify and correct the sources of pollution and another would empower the MDC to impose a penalty on communities that neglect to correct polluted drains.

City Councillor Leo J. Kelly also filed bills that would provide for local input into the management of the Nut Island Sewage Treatment Facility and credit the city for the expenses of maintaining its pumping stations.

Massachusetts passed a law repealing its 300-year-old Blue Laws to permit stores to open on Sunday but downtown Quincy merchants were far from ecstatic about it.

"It only means that I would have to work harder and I don't want to do that," said Burt Cook, proprietor of Tag's Discount Furniture and Sleep Shop. "I want to enjoy myself and Sunday is the only day I've got left."

"Sunday should be a day apart," said Mayor McCauley. "I don't want to see us turn into another California, going full blast seven days a week."

John P. Comer, executive director of the Quincy Housing Authority, continued to press for greater security measures in the city's federal and state funded housing projects. The problems, he said, were not confined to Germantown.

"People think of Wollaston as being sacrosanct with no problems," he said. "I want to let you know that it's my worst area of the city, the worst problems I have to deal with surround Tobin Towers."

"I understand that I'm not going to get money for security from the city nor would I expect it. The way to go is legislation. As money is put aside for modernization so money must be put aside for security, too."

Stephen J. McGrath, the city councillor from Wollaston, echoed Comer's plea for federal and state funds to security.

"The money is there," he said. "It must be there when we see pay raise bills and pension bills going through the legislature so easily. I'm sure they can find some for senior citizens' security."

The Quincy Post Office on Washington St. was named the James A. Burke Building in honor of the longtime congressman who maintained an office on the second floor from 1958 to 1978 while he was in Congress.

"I took a little Geritol yesterday and that helped me make it today," cracked the 72-year-old Burke at the ceremonies.

The Quincy Center Business and Professional Association held a little Christmas get together at which Max London, of the Quincy Furniture Co. was honored on his 101st birthday.

"Don't be a worrywort," advised London. "Keep a sense of humor. Eat a balanced meal and chew your food well. Enjoy people."

The city officially took over possession of nine abandoned school buildings from the School Department, with special attention being paid in the City Council to the future of the Pollard School.

A group of local residents were prepared to submit a bid on the building as a community center but some fear was expressed that there wouldn't be much left when the School Department got through tearing out fixtures for use in other schools.

"It seems ridiculous," said Councillor Theodore P. DeCristofaro, "to take such fixtures out and then have to go out and get new ones."

Planning Director James Lydon explained that in the past some developers had purchased school buildings only to find the School Department taking out fixtures later. The schools were instructed to take everything first, said Lydon.

Deaths during December included:

Albert R. Crayton, 49, owner of Olindy's Quincy Ave. bowling lanes, Dec. 8.

Fred Sisti, 70, the sign painter who narrowly missed election to the City Council in 1959, Dec. 20.

What Christmas... And Chanukah Mean To Me...

Editor's Note: Because of the tremendous response to articles written by Quincy public school youngsters on the themes "What Christmas Means To Me" and "What Chanukah Means To Me", we are publishing more of them in this issue of The Sun.

We regret that we cannot use all that were submitted even though they were worthy of publication. Space limitations prevent it.

It means a lot of love, happiness, peace, and joy. It is the birth of Jesus Christ which means a lot to me.

Merry Christmas to all of you!

Kelly Lee Wilson
Atherton Hough - Gr. 4

Christmas means to me when Joseph and Mary crossed the desert to reach Bethlehem. There was no place for them to stay. Finally an innkeeper felt sorry for them and let them stay in a stable. There Jesus was born with all the animals around him.

Eileen Joyce

Theresa Brady
Daniel Webster - Gr. 4

Christmas is a time to care and give. It is a happy time. People get a lot of presents. You share things and have a lot of fun doing it. It is a lot of fun to have a day of love with your family. Christmas is a time to worship Jesus.

Arthur Nurse
Parker - Gr. 4

Christmas means going caroling and giving presents.

Meghan Finnerty
Parker - Gr. 2

Hanukkah is celebrated to remind the Jewish people of when the Temple was destroyed, and the Jewish people got it back and cleaned it. Somebody found a Menorah and a jar of oil that would only last one night, but by miracle it lasted eight days. That is why we light eight candles. The story about the oil that last eight days only a legend, but could be true. Hanukkah to me means lighting candles, playing games, singing songs, and being with my family, and that's what Hanukkah means to me.

John Brady
Merrymount - Gr. 5

"Christmas is..." Christmas is when Jesus was born. The word Christmas comes from the two words Christ and mass. Now we celebrate Christmas by giving presents to our families and friends.

There is a saying that Saint Nick, otherwise known as Santa Claus will fly through the air with lots of toys fill your stockings and leave toys for you. Chanukah is celebrated differently. For the Jewish people Chanukah lasts eight days. For each day they have a candle. Each night they light one. During this celebration they may give presents. They may play games and have parties too.

So there are two ways to celebrate this season either Chanukah or Christmas. I like both.

Merry Christmas or Happy Chanukah to you!

Kathy Kane
Merrymount - Gr. 5

What Christmas means to me is the beautiful Christmas tree sparkling and spectacular with the breathtaking and brilliant lights. I love the snow glistening and fluffy, the crackling of the fire and hearing the pets playing around the Christmas tree. It's a lot of fun on Christmas. Eve watching Scrooge and preparing for Christmas morning. It's fun hearing all the Christmas carols on Christmas Eve. And sitting in your bed and drinking hot chocolate. But the best part is coming down and opening your presents.

Matt Cocuzzo
Atlantic Middle - Gr. 6

To me Christmas means having a good time with my family. Seeing the tree glitter and the bulbs shining brings a good Christmas spirit. I love to see the snow falling on Christmas Day. I like to go to church and see all the beautiful decorations. I like to wrap presents and pile them under the tree. That's what Christmas means to me.

Chris Abate
Atlantic Middle - Gr. 6

Christmas means happiness and enjoyment. Christmas has a lot of curiosity and excitement. One thing that is so beautiful about Christmas is the Christmas tree and the beautiful ornaments. But the thing that brightens up the Christmas tree are the colorful blinking eye catching lights. Most of all, Christmas really means loving and caring for each other.

Elizabeth Holt
Atlantic Middle - Gr. 6

To me, Christmas means having a good time with my family and friends. I love it when we put up the Christmas tree, towering and majestic, and the whole family helps decorate it with colorful ornaments on Christmas Eve. Then the beautifully wrapped presents with silky bows are placed under the tree. Before we go to bed, we open one of our presents. Christmas time is the best time of the year because we are all together.

Barbie Murphy
Atlantic Middle - Gr. 6

I think Christmas is when Jesus was born. The tradition of my family is on Christmas we go to my aunt's house and give each other presents, then eat dinner. I also like Christmas because there are many presents and I have time to be with my family and friends.

Julie Buckley
Merrymount - Gr. 5

What Christmas means to me is being together with my whole family and friends. It means opening gifts. It means waiting for Santa at night and thinking how lucky I am that Jesus was born. I am happy on Christmas Day, the whole day through.

Christmas is a special time. Christmas is a time to share. Christmas is a time to care. Christmas is a time when families get together. Christmas is my favorite time of all.

Kim Basu

Christmas is a very special time of year. It means Christmas cookies, hanging stockings and people hiding wrapped presents. On Christmas evening, Jesus' birthday, Kris Kringle comes to your house and leaves presents. You also give other people presents. Christmas is very special indeed.

Heather Hartford
Central Middle - Gr. 6

It's spending all of time with your family and being good. It's a time of loving and caring and decorating the Christmas tree.

It's giving presents and saying thank you but don't be greedy now will we?

It's nice to look at all the pretty lights. That's what I love about Christmas most of all and saying happy birthday to Jesus Christ.

Amy Buchan Czarnoski

Christmas means so much about love, sharing and caring. Christmas is a special holiday to celebrate the birth of Christ. It means families get together and share presents. I love Christmas. I think it's the best holiday of the year.

Ellen Barrett
Merrymount - Gr. 3

Christmas day is Jesuses birthday. It is a time for everybody to be happy. It's a time to be with your family and it's a time to be nice to each other and it's a time to be cheerful.

Joseph Lencki
Merrymount - Gr. 3

Christmas is a time when you give people presents and people give you presents. You decorate your house and you buy a tree and you put lights on it. It's really fun to decorate.

On Christmas Eve Santa Clause will come and give you a whole bunch of toys and gifts but you must not (to) go to church. It wouldn't be good to miss church.

Salvatore Manganaro
Parker - Gr. 5

On Christmas morning I am happy to receive presents.

Sometimes I forget as I open all my presents that Jesus was born today. They call it Christmas because Christ was born that day. I've always wondered why we get presents on someone else's birthday, but I don't mind.

Kim Highfield
Parker - Gr. 5

Christmas is my favorite holiday. I like Christmas because it is a time for family and friends. I go over my grandmother's house for Christmas. She usually gives me clothes and jewelry. We have a lot of fun. First we wait for everyone to get there and then we open the presents. Then we have supper. I love Christmas.

Erin Ford
Parker - Gr. 5

Christmas reminds me of fun in the snow. You go out and feel a cold wind blow. In the silence you hear a sound. Is it Santa or a hungry hound? You run in and tell your father. He feeds the hound. Then you don't hear a sound. Oh well I'll still wait around. For Santa.

Rachel Marshall

Christmas is a fun time. It is getting gifts, giving gifts, and sharing gifts. It's a time when we show our love for each other.

John Witham

Christmas is getting presents. It's building snowmen and snow women. Singing songs inside and out, not a time to pout, but to shout. "Merry Christmas to you!"

Christmas is Jesus' birthday. It is a time for expressing your feelings for others. It's also a time for love and joy and happiness. It's not just for giving and receiving gifts it's a time that we should all be happy if it wasn't for our "Savior Jesus" we wouldn't be here. Christmas means a lot to me.

North Girls Win Streak Snapped At 30

Weymouth South girls' track team ended North Quincy's 30-meet unbeaten streak last week by coming from behind to win the relay and top the Raiderettes, 48-38.

Lou Tozzi's North girls had a 29-0-1 streak going into the meet. It was the first loss since Tozzi took over as girls coach, including three straight state meets and three straight state relays.

The Raiderettes will face Waltham Friday, Jan. 7, at Newton North at 3:30.

"We have a very young team and only two seniors, Linda Kennedy and Sheila Barrett, have scored for us," Tozzi said. "We had the misfortune to face the two top teams in the Suburban League, Cambridge and Weymouth South, in our first two meets. The girls did very well beating Cambridge and just missed tying Weymouth. Actually, this takes quite a burden off our shoulders. We can now relax and not worry about our streak and I think we will surprise a lot of people the rest of the way."

In the Weymouth South meet Kennedy won the 2-mile in the fine time of 11:47.2 and Linda Lindenfelzer was third.

Mary Ann Kelleher, a freshman, won the mile with Tracy Corrigan second.

Julie Alibrandi won the 300, Meg Leary was second in the 600, Georgia Traficante second in the high jump, Barrett won the 1000, Noreen Connelly, a freshman, was second and Jean O'Hare third in the shot put, Marie McGurl was third in the hurdles and Lisa Fitzgerald was nipped in a photo finish in the dash, running an excellent 6.6.

North's relay team of Alibrandi, Leary, Barrett and Fitzgerald led all the way until Elizabeth O'Connor came from behind on the final leg to pull out the win. A North victory would have given it a tie.

"O'Connor is by far the finest athlete in the league and is the league's best in four events," Tozzi said. "Weymouth has an excellent team and deserved the win."

North Girls Off To Fast Start

By TOM SULLIVAN

The North Quincy girls' basketball team is off to a fast start and took a 2-0 record into Tuesday's game against Revere.

Paul Bregoli's Raiderettes, hoping to make the Eastern Mass. tournament for the third year in a row, will play at Canton today (Thursday) at 2:30 p.m. and next Tuesday will play at Quincy at 5 p.m. in their first Suburban League game.

The North girls opened with a 49-39 victory over Canton and last week topped Whitman-Hanson, 33-21, in a defensive battle played at Whitman.

The Raiderettes bowed to a strong Alumni team, 50-42, with Julie Watts scoring 20 points and Simone Koch 12 for the graduates. Joann Runge, Tricia Mechan, Joyce Flynn, Maureen McAleney and Mary Ellen Timmins also played for the Alumni.

In the win over Canton Chris Choukas scored 23 points and had 11 rebounds and Karen Bridges had 16 points and eight rebounds. Also playing well were Mary Holleran, who came off the bench in the second period and sparked the team with several key steals; Karen Boutillier, Debbie Cavanaugh and Joanna Keenan.

In the victory over Whitman-Hanson Choukas led the scorers with nine points and took down 12 rebounds.

The Raiderettes, behind the pressing defense of Cavanaugh, Holleran and Boutillier, limited the Panthers to their first half field goals.

Choukas (5-10), senior co-captain, was a Suburban League All-Star as a junior and averaged 11.6 points a game. She is an excellent shooter and rebounder, a fine defensive player and Bregoli expects her to score 15-20 points a game.

Bridges (6-1), senior center is the other co-captain and is much improved over last year when she started as a junior. She is a fine offensive rebounder and probably the best center in the league. She is very quick for a big girl.

Boutillier (5-1), senior guard, runs the offense. A super ball handler and excellent passer, she also is a fine shooter and a good defensive player.

Michelle White (5-5), senior guard, is returning after a year off. She is quick and a good passer and should get better as the year goes along and she gets her timing back.

Cavanaugh (5-8), junior forward, is an outstanding defensive player with exceptional quickness. She is a fine shooter and was the leading junior varsity scorer a year ago.

Holleran (5-8), junior forward, is an aggressive player both offensively and defensively. She is a key player and had extensive varsity experience as a sophomore. Much more mature this year, she is capable of scoring big and is a good defensive player and rebounder.

Keenan (5-3), senior guard, is probably the best shooter on the team. A good off guard, she can also play point guard.

Chris Donovan (5-10), junior forward, was the jayvee's second leading scorer a year ago. She is an excellent shooter and a good rebounder.

Sandra Whitehouse (5-3), junior guard, is probably the best defensive player on the team. She has good speed and quickness.

Lynda Feeney (5-10), junior forward, has improved her shooting greatly and plays with great enthusiasm.

Karen Koski (5-8), junior forward, is a fine rebounder and defensive player.

Eileen Crehan (5-9), junior forward, is a first-year player, having run track last year. A good rebounder who jumps well.

"Hopefully we will mature quickly as we are a bit inexperienced," Bregoli said. "Choukas and Bridges will carry us early and we should get better as we go along."

Last season North finished 14-6 and in the tournament defeated Attleboro before losing to top-seeded Needham.

Dudek On All-American Second Team

North Quincy's Joe Dudek, who broke all school rushing records in leading Plymouth State College to a 10-0 season, was named to the Div. 3 All-America second team selected by the Sports Information Directors, climaxing a brilliant season.

The outstanding freshman previously had been the ECAC Div. 3 Rookie of the Year and was selected on the New England all-star team.

Dudek, who led North Quincy to wins over Quincy the last two years, gained 1094 yards rushing and scored 17 touchdowns this fall despite missing three games with injuries and carrying only three times in the final game.

The Panthers' standout freshman, one of seven Quincy and North Quincy players in the lineup, averaged 8.9 yards a carry and helped lead the team to the N.E. Football Conference championship and a share of first place in the final Lambert Bowl voting with NCAA Div. 3 playoff semi-finalist St. Lawrence.

Dudek was ECAC Div. 3 Rookie of the Week three times this year and was named to the ECAC Honor Roll twice.

Dudek, who was named winner of the Gold Helmet Award as the Div. 2 and 3 Player of the Year, and two former Quincy High stars were among 12 Plymouth State players selected for the N.E. Conference all-star team.

Dudek was a near-unanimous choice for halfback on the offensive squad.

Also named to the offensive squad was end Scott Anson of Quincy, who broke the school record for most catches in a season (37) and scored five touchdowns. He was third in the conference with 33 catches (he caught four passes in a non-conference win over Norwich).

Selected on the defensive squad was Quincy's Ed Iodice, who finished sixth among the nation's NCAA Div. 3 punt returners and intercepted four passes, including one returned for a touchdown against Nichols.

Livingstone, Haugh On Regis Varsity

when they host Babson College.

Kim Livingstone of North Quincy and Marguerite Haugh of Wollaston are starting for the Regis College varsity basketball team as freshmen.

Marguerite, a 5-6 guard, is averaging 5.4 points and 4.8 rebounds a game, while Kim, a 5-11 center, has scored 47 points for a 6.7 game average. She is second on the team with a .465 field goal average. Her best game was a 16-point effort in a win over Hellenic College.

The Regis Beacons have a 2-5 record and are idle until Jan. 25

STARSCOPE

by Clare Annsell

WEEK OF: DECEMBER 30.

AQUARIUS - January 21-February 19

Combining old ideas brings about important new ones. The limelight is yours for a brief but memorable moment this weekend. Collect large debts before the year ends.

PISCES - February 20-March 20

Though your taste is for caviar this week, your budget wants you to stick to stews and salads. Faraway friend is trying to reach you. Are you making yourself accessible?

ARIES - March 21-April 20

Reaching a compromise with an older friend or relative is the week's chief task. Influential individual becomes your new ally. Adaptability is all-important through the weekend.

TAURUS - April 21-May 22

Correspondence with a favorite friend is accented; you achieve more via the written word than the spoken one. New year is favorable for changes in home environment.

GEMINI - May 23-June 21

You excel in the roles of leader and teacher, and curiosity among youngsters should be encouraged. Think again before making complaints you'll regret later on in the new year.

CANCER - June 22-July 22

Encouragement from respected senior helps you pursue last year's goals with new gusto. Assume a more realistic approach in your financial resolutions. Be more spontaneous in matters of the heart.

LEO - July 23-August 22

It's time to stop losing sleep over past mistakes and to think optimistically about the future. Planning, organizing and taking the reins are what you do best right now.

VIRGO - August 23-September 22

Being receptive to the enthusiasm of youngsters helps them gain needed confidence. Meanwhile, your own self-esteem gets a boost when you receive kudos from someone in a high position.

LIBRA - September 23-October 22

Year ends on a financially optimistic note. New Year's Eve may find you spending more time settling disputes than celebrating. Health resolutions should be your priority in the new year.

SCORPIO - October 23-November 21

1982 concludes on a practical note — you succeed now in finalizing sales. The new year starts in a whimsical way — friendship is at its lightest, brightest and most affectionate.

SAGITTARIUS - November 22-December 22

You and partner may be after the same goal, but your methods are utterly different. Appointments cancelled at the last minute give you time to perfect a profitable idea.

CAPRICORN - December 23-January 20

Parties arranged now are organized with flair. In fact, organizing is a current theme — the week finds you sorting out misunderstandings and setting up procedures for a large-scale project.

BIRTHDAY THIS WEEK

Careful and ambitious and the owner of a delightful sense of humor, you sometimes lean toward the pessimistic and your outlook is often rigid. Expect delays in the first months of 1983; then, from early spring on, much positive action happens in areas of personal income and romance.
